The New York Clipper's poetical contributors are generally of the muscular order. There's not too much sentiment in them. It has one of the name of "Dobbs," (pretty name, "Dobbs") who contributes some lines headed "Insanity," which embody much truth and sharp satire. They are worth republishing. We have a few poor lunatics in jail who are soon to be tried:

Hurrah for New York, with its justice and law,
Hurrah for New York, with its bail bonds of straw;
'Tis too grand Eldorado for cut throat and thieves,
Backed up by a power that never deceives;
Commit murder with car-hooks, rob on the highway,
Break houses by night, pick pockets by day;
Break heads out of vengeance, break houses for gain:
It's all right in the sod, for they'll find you insane.

'Tis a running defence, 'tis a beautiful plea,
And with a smart lawyer will soon get you free.
No matter what crime you may choose to commit,
This elastic defence in your case will just fit;
You may kill a policeman in the way of a joke
(For an officer's skull was just made to be broke)
But your lawyer will show that you can't be to blame,
He knows fifty (8)reasons why you are insane.

What's the use of a country unless it is free?
Who fears to do a crime when he has a safe plea;
What use is a lawyer without plenty of law?
Who cares for indictments when there's always a flaw?

Who's afraid of a trial, when you plainly can see
That the jury are crazy—they'll never agree.
With a lunatic judge—a political Cain—
Even justice her victims has driven insane.

Rash Proceeding.

The San Jose Mercury of Saturday says:

Miss Anna Mehlig, the famed pianist who has created quite a furore in San Francisco musical circles, will give two concerts in this city next week, assisted by other musical talent. Her agent will be down in a day or so and make all the necessary arrangements.

We thought that Miss Anna Mehlig played the piano for money, but it appears that she is willing to go as a musical missionary into the wilds of San Jose, where there is no prospect of her making her hotel expences.

A Cat and Mouse Story.

We find the following in an exchange:

A cat with one kitten, in Marion county, brought a mouse to her offspring the other day for its noon-day meal, but the kitten adopted the young stranger for a playmate, and since that time the three have lived on the most amicable terms together.

The mouse can't get away or he certainly would do so.

He who receives a good turn should never forget it; he who [illegible] one should never remember it.

Up in a Balloon,

An aeronaut named Prof. Sleinor made an ascent at Chicago on the 4th, of which the following description is given: The athlete held by one leg as he left the level of the earth. To the loud shouts that arose from the crowd he replied with cool, derisive gestures. At the height of a thousand feet he performed a somersault, and lay horizontally across the bar. As the ascent continued he performed a variety of feats, ending when nearly the height of a mile had been reached by sliding head downward from the ring and catching his toes upon the bar. After keeping this position for awhile, he carefully drew himself up, seated himself upon the bar, and thrusting his hands and feet through the loops, so continued for the remainder of the voyage. The atmosphere was almost too fresh for comfort upon the surface of the earth, but at the height of a mile and a half, which was soon reached, the cold became intense. The traveller began to suffer from the change in temperature, his exertions being past. He was alone in the heavens. Clouds were around him, and occasionally a field of mist passed beneath his feet. From below only the great gray body of the balloon was visible. Those who looked intently could just espy a little speck below it—that was all. A life-preserver had not been appended. The balloon was soon carried over the lake. The alarmed navigator loosed the sandbags, hoping to descend into another strata of air which would carry him landward, and also allowed the escape of a certain amount of gas. The descent was at first slow, and the shore grew farther and farther distant. Numbness was gradually creeping over the adventurer's limbs. Nothing could be seen beneath him but the glittering surface of the water. The last weight was loosened, and a large part of the gas having escaped, the balloon began to descend rapidly, and at last struck the water about two miles from shore. Cold as the air had seemed, the water which closed over his head for a moment sent shivers through his exhausted frame and made him almost helpless. The wind was blowing freely at the surface, and took the strange craft along with it. His course seemed to be parallel with the shore, and for some time he could not tell whether he was nearing it or was becoming more remote. Being encumbered by the cord of the trapeze, he disentangled himself, cut it loose from the balloon, and clung to the ring and network. Steam tugs and other smaller craft were moving briskly about, but kept on their several ways unheeding. After having drifted a mile or two, a train of cars was just leaving the city. Taking a white handkerchief from his pocket he wrung it and waved it in the air. The signal was at once responded to. A hundred handkerchiefs were seen fluttering from the windows and platforms, like flags of succor and good cheer. The train ran rapidly, but the balloon kept pace with it. The interest of the passengers in the fate of the being whose fate seemed sealed was heartfelt and intense. Just as the cars ran into Kenwood station the balloon approached the shore at a perilous speed. The aeronaut was thrown violently against a projecting pier, and dragged through the surf for fifty feet before his craft could be secured. He was rescued stiff with cold and badly bruised, and taken to a house near by, where he was put to bed. Rested and recuperated, he returned to the city in the evening.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Origin of Popular Tunes.

When and how tunes became popular is a somewhat curious theme for reflection. We wake up some fine morning and hear almost everybody whistling a melody we have never heard before. We wonder whence it came and think how pretty it is, and while we are pondering on the subject we find ourselves taking up the strain and adding our mite towards increasing its circulation. Before the day is over the streets resemble grottos of bricks and mortar echoing to the shrill pipings of unfeathered songsters. In a week what had been a thing of beauty, promising to be a joy forever, becomes an intolerable bore, and we wonder how we could have ever seen anything to admire in the dreary, commonplace thing. As length it ceases as suddenly as it began, and Earth knows it no more. Now the mystery is, who first began to whistle it? It must have had a beginning, and yet it comes upon us so suddenly from a thousand lips at once, and appears in full bloom without having budded. But this, though strange, is less so than the suddenness with which it ceases to be heard. Who is the last man who whistles a popular melody? The same mystery enshrouds him as attaches to a dead donkey, the which, it is popularly believed, has never been seen by man. And yet there must exist such a being. But when he, too, has deserted the neglected air, it breaks forth in a new form, and acquires a fresh lease of life through the agency of the barrel organ, and is listened to with a pleasure akin to that which hailed its first appearance; and through this agency it long remains a welcome friend.

Too Bad.

Bierce, formerly Town Crier of the News Letter, has started a Town Crier department in the London Figaro. The News Letter now publishes one column of the the Town Crier and fills up the other with extracts from Bierce's contributions to the London Figaro under the head of "Our Late Town Crier." This is cruel. The silly attempts at smartness in the Town Crier column appear at a shocking disadvantage when placed side with the really smart paragraphs of our late "Town Crier." The only satisfaction that Mr. Marriott has is that they don't cost him one tenth part as much as Bierce's. They are cheap and often nasty.

Cause for Fear.

A little girl remarked to her mamma on going to bed, "I am not afraid of the dark." "No, of course you are not," replied her mamma. "I was a little afraid once, when I went into the pantry once in the dark to get a tart." "What were you afraid of?" asked her mamma. "I was afraid I could not find the tarts."

A Beautiful Peroration.

An actual peroration of an Alabama lawyer's plea in a recent assault and battery case was as follows: "Let the harmless ass crop the thistle of the valley! Let the sagacious goat browse upon the mountain's brow, but men of the jury, I say that John Gundle is not guilty."

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

GENERAL NOTICE IS HEREBY given to the following reductions on this year's assessment made by the Board of Supervisors, now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Morning [illegible] of Monday, July [illegible] 1872. [illegible]

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization for the Rich.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Joe Murphy is the most popular of stars. Certainly few who have visited San Francisco have so well suited the taste of a large portion of the community. "Maum Cre" was played at the matinee on Saturday, again in the evening to a crowded house each time. It will be presented once more to-night with Joe Murphy as Pat Donnolly.

Alhambra Theatre.

This week will be the last of the engagement of Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels and a programme of extraordinary attractions has been prepared. Cool Burgess, who is in the wholesale laughter business, will produce another "bundle" to-night. Charles Sutton and E. N. Slocum will appear in "The Big Bug;" Billy Sweatman will sing some of his best ballads; Welch and Rice will appear in a double jig; Add Ryman and Sam Rickey in amusing acts, and the original sketch entitled "Trix," will conclude the evening's entertainment. On Wednesday evening three of the brightest stars in the Minstrel profession will make their first appearance—Bob Hart, of whom everyone has heard, and Delahanty and Hengler, the great double song and dance men.

California Theatre.

Large and fashionable audiences were present at the closing performances of Aimée's season of French Opera Bouffe. Last night "La Grande Duchesse" was played in splendid style. This Theatre will remain closed for about six weeks, during which time the interior will be remodeled.

Bella Union.

The reproduction of the stirring melo-drama entitled "The Game of Life," the first appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell, "The African Circus," and other attractions presented on Saturday night and last night drew overflowing houses. The same capital bill will be played to-night. The performance was long enough, continuing till past 1 A. M. Johnny Tuers makes great fun on the flying trapeze business in "The African Circus," and now and then makes a startling fall from the perch.

American Theatre.

A fine first part, sparkling interlude, and two moral dramas of the day, "The Social Evil" and "Divorce," crowd this house nightly.

Mercantile Library Hall.

Dr. Payne, the eminent author and physician, is now at his private parlors, Russ House, ready to cure special diseases. Dr. Payne lectures to-night again free at Mercantile Library Hall. All lectures are purely scientific. Medical and phrenological examinations daily.

Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire.

Alderson's Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire has arrived, and will be exhibited in Platt's Hall on Friday evening next. This painting which covers over thirty seven hundred square feet of canvass was executed from actual views and drawings, by Henry O. Crore, of the Academy of Design; J. Howard Rogers, scenic artist of McVicker's Theatre; Henry O. Tryon, scenic artist of Wood's Museum; Henry Dreissel, scenic artist of the Globe Theatre, and Thomas Megann, scenic artist of Crosby's Opera House. The mechanical appointments are by the celebrated John Faust of the Dearborn Theatre and Opera House, all famous artists in their line. The panorama represents Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, and afterwards the ruins. Other sections present views of the old cemetery, with its scenes of suffering representations of the public buildings, printing offices, the water works and other prominent places. Succeeding these, are views of the ruins of the churches, the exhibition closing with the ruins of the Masonic Temple by moonlight. A lady of Chicago will deliver a descriptive lecture, interspersed with appropriate ballads, anecdotes and incidents. The approaching anniversary of this dreadful event which took place October 8th and 9th, recalls its horrifying scenes to memory, and these will be found faithfully depicted in this great panorama. The prices of admission have been fixed at the low rates of 50 cents and 25 cents, and on Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given at half prices.

Pacific Hall.

A grand series of orchestral concerts, under the direction of Louis Schmidt and Oscar Weil, will commence on Tuesday evening, August 6th, at Pacific Hall. During the period the California Theatre is closed, these concerts will pleasantly fill the gap thus left, and Pacific Hall will be crowded by large and fashionable audiences. The names of the soloists engaged for the series appear on our first page.

Miss Rose Evans.

This favorite actress left on Thursday for Honolulu, S. I., whence she will proceed by the next steamer to Australia.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Eahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. THE ENGLISH, FRENCH AND GERMAN BANDS.

The New York Mercury thus describes the appearance of the English, French and German bands, and their doings:

The English Band.

The band of the British Grenadier Guard concertized on the 5th at the Academy of Music to a very full but not fashionable house. It was what might be defined as a "popular" audience, who grew frantic over "Auld Lang Syne," "Yankee Doodle," and the "Star Spangled Banner." They raised a hubbub also over "God Save the Queen," which was much stimulated by a large attendance of Johnny Bulls. The musicians wore red frock coats, well laced, black pantaloons with a red stripe, and red fatigue caps with round, flat tops, which they removed while playing. All were English, Irish or Scotch. No continental Europeans were among them. Dan Godfrey, their leader, is a light-haired, brown-whiskered man of forty-five, of medium height and well set figure. Lieutenant-Colonel Fludyer, commander of the band, is a tall, handsome, polished-looking man, with a dark mustache and hair thickly silvered. He sat in citizen's dress in a side box. The band showed great precision and excellent training, but played no better than many of the orchestras to which this city has long been accustomed. The concert was for the benefit of the St. George's Society. The Britishers departed for the land of 'alf-and-'alf on the 6th, in the City of Antwerp. Four or five thousand spectators were in waiting, and as the musicians boarded the vessel they were loudly cheered. They soon assembled upon the forecastle with their instruments, and played the national airs of America, England and Ireland. As the ship departed they played "Auld Lang Syne."

The French Band.

The band of the French Garde Republicaine has been in this city during the week playing to large houses. The men are in large part little, swarthy, black haired fellows, fifty-four in number. M. Paulus, their leader, participated in their leading characteristics. He is a man of fifty, crops his dark hair short, and shaves his moustache. If he let it grow he would much resemble Louis Napoleon. He dispenses with a baton, and leads with his left forefinger, using frequently both hands. The Latin race may be called the tenor of civilized races. In contrast, therefore, to the rich sonority and masculine blare of the Kaiser Franz band, the brass instruments of the Frenchmen are small and mellow, and reeds are numerous. The flute and clarionet soloists sometimes combine, and their clearness, precision and exquisite melody are enchanting. A young cornetist named Sylvestre is one of the features. He is a small, yellow-haired and freckled youth of nineteen, and may in the future become distinguished. At present, notwithstanding the compliments paid him, he is much behind Levy in clearness, precision and strength. His playing is softer, and betrays more sentiment, but he frequently slurs notes in difficult passages through lack of breath. The uniform of the band is a coat and pantaloons of dark blue with red trimmings. Their kepis are also blue with a red band. They all carry rapiers with black leather sheaths.

The German Band.

Kaizer Franz Grenadier Guard Band, Providence, 5th, at a matinee. Played at Jones's Wood, New York, afternoons of 6th and 7th; at Astoria, afternoon of 8th; and at Atlantic Garden, evenings of 8th and 9th; Brooklyn Rink, 11th; New Haven, 12th; Baltimore 15th, 16th, 17th; Philadelphia 18th, 19th; New York, 20th and 21st. The men wear blue frocks and pantaloons, the former being edged with red, and faced with red and gold. They have also imitation epaulettes of red and gold sewed on each shoulder, and their piked helmets are showily ornamented with brass. Saro, their leader, is a tall, broad-shouldered, large-featured man, who looks like a sturdy mechanic, and offers no suggestions of a musician or a student in his aspect. His light brown hair is worn clumsily cut and badly brushed. Six or seven ribbons with small pendant medals are ranged in a straight row upon his breast, like clothes hung out from the wash. The men are light-haired and of unmixed Teutonic aspect. They carry a short Roman sword.

A cup of tea is better than a gallon of ice water. The way to keep perpetually hot is to fan furiously.

BOUGHT AND SOLD.

I stood to-night in my foam-white lace,
With pearls in my shining hair,
And I hid my heart with a smiling face,
And the gazers said, "How fair—
How blithe and bright is the maid to-night
Who stands at the altar there!"

And I heard them praise the costly rings
That purchased my nuptial vow—
Praise the jewel that clings and stings
And burdens my finger now—
The milk-white pearls twined in my curls,
And hung like a burden on my brow.

Praise, as we praise the frozen tree
That the hoar white frost begems,
And the cold cuts keen; but we only see
The glittering diadem;
And the leaves beneath, in the cruel wreath,
We've never a thought of them.

Bought with a heap of shining gold!
Bring hither a red-hot rod,
And brand my forehead, and write there Sold!
And lost to Heaven and to God!
Yet, weak heart, wait! you chose your fate,
All jewelled and golden shod.

Good and Bad Indians.

As a contrast to the case of Miss Barber, who married the Sioux chief, Squatting Bear, and whose doleful story has gone the rounds of the press, a New York journal tells us of Miss Ayres, of Philadelphia. When Col. Downing, chief of the Cherokees, was in Philadelphia, his eloquence so impressed Miss Ayres that, disregarding the remonstrances of friends, she resolved to cast her lot with the noble red man. She established her home at the beautiful Cherokee village of Telequah. Here she devoted herself to advancing the educational interests of the people. She soon became a Lady Bountiful among the Indians, and by the friendship of the grateful chief, Col. Downing, was able to able to effect much good. When the Indian wife of Col. Downing died she married him and now is Queen of the Cherokees, and apparently as happy as poor Miss Barber is miserable.

A Musical Critic.

A member of a military company was in Boston, and went to the Jubilee. On the programme was a march from "Mozart's Twelfth Mass." After the performance he happened to be introduced to Mr. Gilmore, who asked which of the pieces he was most pleased with. "Well cap," replied the young soldier, "the thing that knocked me most was that ere march you called Mozart's Twelfth Massachusetts!" Mr. Gilmore stared at the creature, looked down on one side of him and up the other, bowed a disdainful bow, and left that man from Newburyport.

Pay the Printer.

The Wilton dramatic troupe performed in Woodland, and this is what their manager gets from the Yolo Democrat:

Of Wilton little need be said. He is not only a finished actor of excellent voice, handsome face, and well developed physique, but is withal a gentleman, a good business man, and always pays the printer.

That is the secret of Wilton's success in the interior.

A Wisconsin girl was so anxious to know who was making the music under her window the other night that she fell out of the window, and so scared her serenader that he fled and left her to her fate.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. Vindictive.

Something of the grandeur of "boundless prairies," something of its fierce heat when the fire fiend envelopes it, is to be discovered in the rhetoric of the Western editor as he goes for the enemy who has trifled with his forbearance and defied the lightnings of his wrath. Illustration—"The flannel mouthed poll-parrot of the Paoli Scavenger has too long roosted in the shadow of our good nature. Let him beware. Forbearance is no longer a virtue. We shall set his dainty plumage scurrying on the four winds of heaven, and give his bloated carcass to the vultures."

Oyster Palace Restaurant.

London and Paris can boast of their Crystal Palaces, but it remained for Messrs. Thompson & Seeatz to inaugurate the "Oyster Palace," where succulent oysters, and full meals with wine at 50 cents, and every good thing in market, are served up in unequalled style of cuisine excellence. The locality of this desideratum is in the California Theatre Building, adjoining the main entrance to the theatre, on the west. Mr. Thompson, who will be remembered as the former popular Boniface of the saloon under the Odd Fellows' Hall on Montgomery street, and Mr. Senatz are both experienced caterers, and the public can rely upon finding everything served in unapproachable style, at reasonable charges, at the Oyster Palace Restaurant. DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charge. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are reccommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

On the Free List.

A rural Marylander visited a Baltimore restaurant, heartily enjoyed a cup of delicious coffee, and was on the point of leaving when asked if he hadn't forgot something. He made an examination of the table, and said he believed not. "Ten cents," was the next laconic remark. "One of the neighbors said tea and coffee was on the free list now," replied the Eastern shoreman, "but I won't be small; I allow its worth ten cents, anyhow," and tendering a very emaciated piece of currency, he left.

Valuable Notes.

Adelia Patti is to receive $9,000 a month for singing at St. Petersburg next season; Miss Nilsson $7,000, and Mme. Volpini $4,000. Miss Nilsson has been receiving $1,000 a night at Drury-Lane, and Patti $600 a night at Covent Garden. Paulina Lucca is to have $7,000 a month in gold and a benefit for singing in the United States during the coming season, and M'lle Floretta, the danseuse, is to have $5,000 a year at the Scala, Milan.

Tattling.

Never repeat a story unless you are certain it is correct, and not even then unless something is to be gained, either of interest to yourself, or for the good of the person concerned. Tattling is a mean and wicked practice, and he who indulges in it grows more fond of it in proportion as he is successful.

Thrilling Despatch.

Neither, Veni, Vidi, Vici, nor, we have met the enemy and they are ours, can make the tears unbidden start like this Texas despatch to a man who had advertised a lost mare: "Mare here. Come and get her. Thief hung."

A Scotch contemporary has the following on the marriage of a dear friend: "He stepped upon the hymeneal platform, adjusted the fatal noose, and was swung off into that unsilent bourne whence he can never return save by the decease of Mrs. McClum."

A "Society Item."

Of course there is no certainty that "the art preservative of all arts" will be honored by the election by the people of the United States of Horace Greeley, who commenced life as a printer, to the position of President. The following from the Red Bluff Sentinel of the 29th, shows that there is one city where a practitioner of the "art preservative," etc., is appreciated:

Mack Glenn, a typo of the Sacramento Union, paid his many friends of the Bluff a visit on Saturday last. Mack learned the art of printing in our town, and in honor of his visit the beau monde gave a hop in Roley's Hall on Monday night, which was kept up till the small hours.

We honor the "beau monde" of Red Bluff. That city will certainly give Greeley a majority.

As Bad as Ever

We thought after that dreadful fire, a panorama of which, by the by, is to be exhibited at Platt's Hall on Friday evening, the Chicago editors would mend their ways. They havn't done so. The fate of Ananias and Sapphira serves as no warning to them. They keep at it still. Here's another:

Chicago is undoubtedly the finest fruit market in the world. By our unequalled railroad facilities we receive, at all times of the year, more than any other city.

The editor of the Hotel Reporter told that one, though he knew that the San San Francisco fruit market can supply Chicago and then have enough left for three other cities the same size.

Musical Footmen.

The Washington Critic says:

A musical man drives four-in-hand this year at Long Branch. His footmen are dressed in scarlet livery and have all the airs of the Grenadier Guards Band. When the equipage comes dashing down the shore road everybody rushes to the front windows.

If the footmen have all the airs of the Grenadier Guards Band they are accomplished musicians. Such airs as these are not, however, those which best serve to make a musical man famous.

She "Soured" on Him.

A blue stocking young lady of Boston, who just "doted on Longfellow," declares she has lost all interest in his poems since he ran that race with Harry Bassett the other day. She says there is no accounting for the eccentric habits of some poets, but she did think Longfellow was too old, and had too much sense to make such a spectacle of himself! "And to run against Harry Bassett—a man whose name has never appeared in the world of letters!"

Five things to Beware of.

Beware of the boarding house where you are to be "treated as one of the family."

Beware of cigars that are offered by a cute smuggler in the street.

Beware of a young lady who calls you by your Christian name the first time she meets you.

Beware of the man who sells goods below cost—upon his honor.

Summer Occupation.

The Princess Louisa and the Marquis of Lorne, it seems, have been spending the "heated term" in the building and equipping of a hospital for children in the East End of London. And a very excellent way of spending the heated term it is.

"Kepatomeataterin." This was the note sent by a farmer to the school teacher, in the potato-digging season, to explain his boys absence from school.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

LIVE AND LOVE FOREVER.

Along the silver, Summer sea,
  We saw the white sails drifting,
And sunset glories silently
  Their golden lights are lifting;
My Love sang low as sank the glow
  Across the homeward river;
"The day may die, but you and I
  Will live and love forever."

We shall live and love forever,
  Where the shadow falleth never;
The song may die, but you and I
  Will live and love forever!
Sweet day that died in sunset light,
  Sweet song that failed for sweetness,
Sweet soul that rose beyond my sight
  To bathe in Heaven's completeness;
The song rings still—I hear it thrill
  Across Death's solemn river;
"The day may die, but you and I
  Will live and love forever.

We shall live and love forever,
  Where the shadow falleth never;
The song may die, but you and I
  Will live and love forever.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.
W. A. Macondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.
E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $126,000.
Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.
D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.
Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.
Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.
Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.
H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000,
Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there now any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

The new programme presented at this house is one of the liveliest of the season. The circus finale to the first part, in which Slocum, Sweatnam, Sutton and company appear evokes much applause. Cool Burgess' new comicalities are even more laughable than those which he presented last week. "The Big Bus," by Charles E. Sutton and E. N. Slocum, is a side-splitting act, and the original sketch entitled "Trix," in which Cool Burgess, Add Ryman, Justin Robinson, M. Ainsley Scott, J. Robinson, J. H. Murphy and John Rice appear terminates a performance which for merit and variety is hard to beat. To-morrow evening there will be no standing room after 8 o'clock for the famous Bob Hart and the wonderful double song and dance men Delehanty and Hengler, will on that occasion make their first appearance.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The very successful engagement of Joe Murphy is fast drawing to a close. Those who have not seen him in the character of Pat Donnelly in the play of "Maom Cre," should not delay doing so. On Monday next, Miss Ada Grey, whose personal attractions and versatile talent have been the subject of many complimentary notices in our Eastern exchanges, will make her first appearance in the latest of Daly's many successes, "Article 47."

Bella Union.

"The African Circus" at this house is funnier than any "real" circus that ever performed under canvas, and the gymnastic feats of Johnny Tnare, who doesn't seem a bit afraid of breaking his neck, are received with roars of laughter. The Reynolds Brothers appear in this piece of extravagance, and also in songs and dances. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell are great favorites, and "The Game of Life" is an attractive melo-drama.

American Theatre.

A fine first part, sparkling interlude, and two moral dramas of the day, "The Social Evil" and "Divorce," crowd this house nightly.

City Gardens.

A grand German musical festival will be given at these gardens on Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. John Manning will give a daring trapeze performance. A social ball in the new Pavilion and other entertainments will be given.

Woodward's Gardens.

The great Bnislay Family of ten performers, who seven years ago made such a furore by their extraordinary performances and grand balloon ascensions, will perform next Saturday and Sunday. Performance and free skating to-night.

Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire.

Alderson's Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire has arrived, and will be exhibited in Platt's Hall on Friday evening next. This painting which covers over thirty seven hundred square feet of canvass was executed from actual views and drawings, by Henry O. Crere, of the Academy of Design; J. Howard Rogers, scenic artist of McVicker's Theatre; Henry O. Tryon, scenic artist of Wood's Museum; Henry Dreisel, scenic artist of the Globe Theatre, and Thomas Megann, scenic artist of Crosby's Opera House. The mechanical appointments are by the celebrated John Faust of the Dearborn Theatre and Opera House, all famous artists in their line. The panorama represents Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, and afterwards the ruins. Other sections present views of the old cemetery, with its scenes of suffering, representations of the public buildings, printing offices, the water works and other prominent pieces. Succeeding these, are views of the ruins of the churches, the exhibition closing with the ruins of the Masonic Temple by moonlight. A lady of Chicago will deliver a descriptive lecture, interspersed with appropriate ballads, anecdotes and incidents. The approaching anniversary of this dreadful event which took place October 8th and 9th, recalls its horrifying scenes to memory, and these will be found faithfully depicted in this great panorama. The prices of admission have been fixed at the low rates of 50 cents and 25 cents, and on Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given at half prices.

Pacific Hall.

A grand series of orchestral concerts, under the direction of Louis Schmidt and Oscar Weil, will commence on Tuesday evening, August 6th, at Pacific Hall. During the period the California Theatre is closed, these concerts will pleasantly fill the gap thus left, and Pacific Hall will be crowded by large and fashionable audiences. The names of the soloists engaged for the series appear on our first page.

Chiarini's Circus.

Chiarini, who has been traveling for the last five or six years with his troupe in South America, is now in New York, and proposes to give a circus season in this city in September next. Mr. Astredo, the popular boniface, has received instructions to engage the circus lot for Chiarini.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. A negro was once hung in Hillsboro, N. C., for stealing a hymn book.

The veritable "Maid of Athens" now Mrs. Black, is destitute in Greece.

Doesn't Like It.

A man in Darby, Penn., bought a dog to guard his shop from burglars, and the next morning when he opened the store the creature very nearly devoured him. He shut the beast in, took a week's vacation, and spent it in firing through the windows, and through the chimney, and up through the cellar ceiling with a shotgun, trying to exterminate him. And that mercantile establishment did not open for trade until the man had paid twice the first cost of the dog to the dog's first owner to come and take it home; and then, when he got in he found that during the bombardment holes had been shot through mackerel barrels and molasses cans, and coal oil cans, so that there was misery and ruin everywhere. Dogs have no more charms for this man and if you allude in his presence to the noble work that is being done by the woman's branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, that merchant is always observed to rise up and swear.

Business.

The New York Atlas says:

P. T. Barnum, the great showman, who was a Republican candidate for Congress three years ago, now goes for Greeley. Traveling all over the country with his big show, he comes in contact with more people than any other man in the nation, and is therefore better acquainted with public sentiment. Barnum's motto is "Success," and it is not likely that he would ally himself to a losing cause.

There may be some business arrangement between Barnum and the Sage of Chappaqua. If Horace should be defeated and should spend all his money in the fight, Barnum would give him a higher salary than the President receives, to lecture on "What I know about Farming" or, anything else, and would make money out of him.

The United States has now 65,000 miles of completed railroads.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

MY GRANDMAMMA.

She tells me she was handsome once,
Her eyes like jewels bright,
The snowy locks upon her brow
As jetty as the night;
And o'er her polished shoulders fell
A shower of raven curls;
Her lips were of the coral hue,
Her teeth twin rows of pearls.

The roses on her youthful cheeks,
Like those that blush in June,
When sky, and earth, and sea and air,
To beauty all attune;
Her form a sculptor's model rare,
More glorious than her face,
While e'en her slightest gesture was
The very soul of grace.

Her voice in tone as softly clear
As song bird's liquid note,
When waves of richest melody
On Summer zephyrs float;
I know, 'tis true; for I have heard,
At time when she was wed,
The country round knew none so fair,
Or so my grandpa said.

But now she's withered, bent and old;
Her voice is cracked and shrill;
Her trembling hands almost refuse
The mandates of her will;
Her brow is seamed with furrows deep,
Her eyes are dimmed and blear,
And often on their silvery fringe
There hangs a crystal tear.

For she has seen, like Autumn leaves,
Her dead around her fall,
And followed to the churchyard near
Full many a sombre pall;
And back again to earth she has
Her dearest treasures given—
But, looking up, she smiles and says,
"I'll see them all in Heaven!"

And as I bend above her head
And stroke her wintry hair,
Or stoop to kiss her brow and cheeks
So seamed with lines of care,
I feel that in my very soul
I worship at her shrine,
And pay to child of mortal birth
Homage almost divine!

Coroner's Juries.

A coroner's jury in city of Brooklyn has been guilty of a "new departure" by bringing in a verdict pronouncing a railroad conductor and engineer responsible for the death of persons who were killed in a collision. A short time ago, a coroner's jury in this city brought in a verdict of wilful murder against a man who shot another in the back while he was running away from him. "Crowner's quest law" is clearing itself of the odium so long attached to it, and jurymen are learning something of their duties.

A Smooth Celebration.

Chasing a greased pig, climbing a greased pole, an oration by E. M. Fuller, of Bowdoin College, a foot race, reading of the Declaration of Independence, a picnic dinner in the grove, and vocal music by the school chorus, were all on the programme made up by the citizens of East Turner, Mass., for the Fourth of July. Chasing greased pigs and shinning up greased poles are very appropriate ways of expressing one's patriotism, no doubt.

A whitewashed picket fence has been taken down in Detroit, and one of the papers mourns another old landmark gone.

THE PLACE TO BUY.—If any one in city or country contemplates buying furniture and bedding, they can find no better place than at J. A. Sheber's, 707 Market street, near Third San Francisco. They buy and sell only for cash, and their prices are always very low. Y

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

A Kindly Notice.

The Golden Era answering a correspondent says:

Oyster Palace Restaurant.

London and Paris can boast of their Crystal Palaces, but it remained for Messrs. Thompson & Senatz to inaugurate the "Oyster Palace," where succulent oysters, and full meals with wine at 50 cents, and every good thing in market are served up in unequalled style of cuisine excellence. The locality of this desideratum is in the California Theatre Building, adjoining the main entrance to the theatre, on the west. Mr. Thompson, who will be remembered as the former popular Boniface of the saloon under the Odd Fellows' Hall on Montgomery street, and Mr. Senatz are both experienced caterers, and the public can rely upon finding everything served in unapproachable style, at reasonable charges, at the Oyster Palace Restaurant. A City of Women.

Mrs. Leonowens, in her lecture on Siam tells the following: The central part of the capital city of Bangkok, in Siam, is devoted exclusively to the residence of some nine thousand women, among whom no man but the King may enter. The inhabitants of this inner city are the thousand women of the royal harem, and some eight thousand more, who are soldiers, artificers and slaves. This little world is ruled by women as magistrates, who administer the laws of the kingdom. There is no appeal from their decisions. Prisoners are arrested by sheriffs of their own sex. If it is necessary to chain them, it is done by blacksmiths of their own sex. If a disturbance arises, it is suppressed by a force of five hundred Amazons, trained from infancy to the use of sword and spear. Meanwhile the slave women carry on a variety of manufactures, or go outside the walls to till the fields. The women of higher birth are "sealed" to the King; the slave women may marry, but their husbands dwell outside the walls. The children, if boys, are banished from the city of women at six years old; only the girls remain. All the Oriental distinctions of rank are scrupulously observed in this strange realm, except that the magistrates are chosen for personal character and wisdom. Mrs. Leonowens speaks with great reverence of the woman who was Chief Justice, when she lived in Bangkok, and tells some remarkable anecdotes of the courage with which she enforced justice against offenders far superior to herself in social rank.

The Difference.

That was a sly old Scotchman who, on marrying a very young wife, was rallied by his friends on the inequality of their ages. "She will be near me," he replied, "to close my een." "Weel," remarked another of the party, "I've had two wives, and they opened my een."

A Theatrical Definition.

Teacher—"Boy at the foot of the class, spell admittance."

Boy—"A-d-m-i-t-t-e-n-c-e, admittance."

Teacher—"Give the definition."

Boy—"Fifty cents, children half price; front seats reserved for ladies."

A Small Beginning.

Some people can never be too poor to marry. A young couple commenced to keep house recently, whose only crockery consisted of an ink bottle and and imperfect chart of China.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

The Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors of San Francisco is a progressive body. Time was when its members were stupid but honest. Anyone who thinks Supervisors are stupid now is mistaken. At their present rate of progress the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco will in the course of four or five years attain the same bad eminence as the Board of Aldermen of New York. The term City Fathers as applied to them is full of irony. Such fathers as these make their children work for their support while they live in luxury. In their own estimation these Supervisors are a little more than ordinary men. There is no ordinance passed by them which may not be broken by a single Supervisor; he makes the law and is above the law. He is elected to the office by the people, who have observed with pain that he is not wealthy, in order that he may become wealthy. Anything about a Supervisor is interesting to the public and it is proposed shortly to publish a sort of Court Journal for the purpose of chronicling their doings. In the meantime the Alta supplies the place of such a journal as far as it can. In yesterday's issue under the head of "Giving a Supervisor an Idea," it had this:

The following conversation is reported to have taken place between a Supervisor and his child:

Child—Papa, I have got an idea?

Supervisor—Have you, what is it?

Child—Well, the flume at the mill leaks, doesn't it?

Supervisor—Yes; what is your idea?

Child—Don't you want to make it tight?

Supervisor—Yes, guess we must.

—I have an idea about making it tight?

Supervisor—Well, what is your idea, let us have it?

Child—Well, just put a little whisky in it, that will make it tight, won't it?

Supervisor—that's a good idea. If suggested in the Board it might pass to an order, but it will not pass current outside.

There would be nothing actually brilliant in this had it not been said by a Supervisor's child, a child who had made its father's habits a study. If this body of men do not own the whole city they at least act as if they were willing to do so and will probably succeed in sucking it as thoroughly as a child sucks an orange unless the dear stupid people wake up in time to prevent it.

Shocking.

By the latest report of the doings of the Board of Police Commissioners, we notice that "Officer Triber charged with vending peanuts while on duty, had the charge dismissed." We hope that the charge was disproved. If Officer Triber was guilty of vending peanuts while on duty, not the charge, but Officer Triber should have been dismissed. There is no excuse for any police officer in San Francisco so degrading his office. If he wishes to increase his income, there are many modes known to the older members of the force more profitable than selling peanuts. Officer Triber could take lessons in the art of playing seven-up and make money by it. The respectability of the force is shocked by the idea of one of its members selling peanuts. It is an honest occupation, but it is not respectable. Anyone can sell peanuts. Anyone has not however the hundreds of chances of "making a piece," which the average policeman has. Any policeman who would neglect his many opportunities and take to selling peanuts, should make way for a smarter man.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

LADIES, READ THIS!

DO NOT ALLOW YOURSELVES TO BE IMposed upon any longer by purchasing TUCK MARKERS which are neither durable nor practical. Before purchasing one, try Graff & Co's make, and if you have one already that is not Graff & Co's make, throw it away, get a good one, and you will save both time and money. The self-registering slides of Graff & Co's TUCK MARKER are invaluable, and ought to be examined by all ladies.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

To-night in addition to the other attractions, the famous song and dance artistes, Delehanty and Hengler, will make their first appearance in their celebrated specialties. These artists have held their position at the head of their line of business for years past, and in conjunction with such an array of talent as Cool Burgess and Simmons & Slocum's combination will doubtless draw immense houses. There will be no standing room after 8 o'clock to-night, therefore those who wish to see Delehanty and Hengler this evening must go early.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The last few nights of Joe Murphy and the last nights of "Maum Cre" is the announcement at this theatre, and everyone is going to take a last look at this popular Irish comedian, and enjoy the last representations of the newest Irish drama. "Maum Cre" will be played at the matinee on Saturday, and on Sunday night for the last time. On Monday the fascinating Miss Ada Gray will commence an engagement in Augustin Daly's new sensation, "Article 47." Joe Murphy will take his farewell benefit on Friday evening.

Bella Union.

The "African Circus" at this house has created a veritable furore, and causes shouts of laughter nightly. A splendid bill is presented, comprising acts, songs and dances by the Reynolds Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Corlell in ballads and other specialties, J. H. Lark in and Carrie Armstrong in original Dutch acts, and a variety of other performances. The whole concludes with the thrilling melodrama entitled "The Game of Life."

American Theatre.

Al ara lively first part and entertaining interlude, the new sensation drama of "The San Francisco Milliner" and "Divorce" will be presented this evening. Mr. Delmar he has been engaged to take the leading part in "The San Francisco Milliner," which is said to be strong in local hits.

Pacific Hall.

The Hon. Charles E. Jonge will on Friday evening next deliver a "live lecture," entitled "Stage and Pulpit," at Pacific Hall. He will give comic illustrations and imitations of pulpit peculiarities stammering, whistling and whining preachers. The lecture will be a sound sense and a great deal of fun. A synopsis appears on our first page.

Woodward's Gardens.

By an advertisement in another column it will be perceived that the famous Bolslay Family of ten performers, who created such a sensation here seven years ago, and who have lately returned from South America, have been engaged by the enterprising management of Woodward's Gardens. They will appear on Saturday and Sunday next in a varied performance. Signorina Stacy will make her first appearance in this city in her swinging high noce trapeze. The troupe will present their great acts of the Spiral Mountain, the Niagara Leap and Japanese balancing. The crowning feature of the entertainment will be a balloon ascension (the first in many years), and performance on a trapeze in mid-air. The Curtis Brothers perform every day, and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, when skates are free.

Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire.

Alderson's Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire has arrived, and will be exhibited in Platt's Hall on Friday evening next. This painting which covers over thirty seven hundred square feet of canvass was executed from actual views and drawings, by Henry C. Cross, of the Academy of Design; J. Howard Rogers, scenic artist of McVicker's Theatre; Henry C. Tryon, scenic artist of Wood's Museum; Henry Dreissel, scenic artist of the Globe Theatre, and Thomas Megann, scenic artist of Crosby's Opera House. The mechanical appointments are by the celebrated John Faust of the Dearborn Theatre and Opera House, all famous artists in their line. The panorama represents Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, and afterwards the ruins. Other sections present views of the old cemetery, with its scenes of enflame representations of the public buildings, printing offices, the water works and other prominent places. Succeeding these, are views of the ruins of the churches, the exhibition closing with the ruins of the Masonic Temple by moonlight. A lady of Chicago will deliver a descriptive lecture, interspersed with appropriate ballads, anecdotes and incidents. The approaching anniversary of this dreadful event which took place October 8th and 9th, recalls its horrifying scenes to memory, and these will be found faithfully depicted in this great panorama. The prices of admission have been fixed at the low rates of 50 cents and 25 cents, and on Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given at half prices.

New Method of Music Teaching.

Mons. Alexander Wolowski, a composer and pianist, now in this city, proposes to give a course of lessons for the piano and for vocal music in his new method of teaching, which has been very popular in Europe and the East. See card.

Miss May Howard.

This lady, so long the leading lady of the California Theatre, returned from the East by the Overland train last evening.

Bob Hart.

This Ethiopian comedian and comic genius generally arrived from the East last evening. He is one of the new company Manager Maguire is engaging for the Alhambra, and will make his first appearance on Monday evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Appreciated Abroad.

The Call is a paper well-known all over the United States, and though it does prig FIGARO's dramatic news without credit we like to republish any pleasant little paragraphs about it that we see in our Eastern exchanges. The Boston Courier of the 21st ult. has one:

The Call, of San Francisco, has a new critic who says, concerning the performance of Mlle Dubois as Wanda in "La Grande Duchesse:" "Her voice is fresh and pleasing, and she performed her allotted part in an easy, unaffected manner, displaying skill not only as an artiste but also as an actress." What he means by the last part of the sentence is something that no fellow can find out.

Poor Dog Tray.

A story combining the essential dramatic elements of woman's love and constancy, man's cruelty, pistol shots, blood, and death agony, comes from Lincoln. The city marshal had killed sixteen dogs and buried them in one common grave. A German woman heard of the burial, and about the same time missed her dog. With that beautiful devotion characteristic of the sex, she took a spade and dug up the whole sixteen of them, carefully turned over each terrier, mastiff, and cur, but was immensely relieved by not finding her own. Now, wasn't that beautiful?

Miss Mehlig.

A London paper says: "M'lle Mehlig, whose admirable pianoforte playing some seasons ago, in London, was much admired, has quitted the States of California, where she is creating a furore and making a fortune. England is no longer the Eldorado of musicians—America and Russia beat John Bull out of the field in terms paid to singers and pianists." Miss Melig will make $5,000, more or less in San Jose. It may be less $00,5. We think it will.

Hoping for the Best.

The rising generation "age" rapidly in Detroit. A mature specimen, eight years old, was hunting about the police stations for a stray father, the other night. "You see," he remarked, with filial exultation, "the guv'ner's a little wild yet, but he'll grow out of it."

Wants to Know.

A man in Wilmington, Del., whose feelings have been disturbed by the impertinence of the local press, writes to the Commercial of that city to know if he has a right to whitewash his chicken-coop.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 649, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Soochong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

LOVE UNEXPRESSED.

The sweetest notes among the human heart-strings
Are dull with rust;
The sweetest chords, adjusted by the angels,
Are clogged with dust;
We pipe and pipe again our dreary music
Upon the self-same strains,
While sounds of crime, and fear, and desolation,
Come back in sad refrains.

On through the world we go, an army marching,
With listening ears,
Each longing, sighing for the heavenly music
He never hears;
Each longing, sighing for a word of comfort,
A word of tender praise,
A word of love, to cheer the endless journey
Of earth's hard, busy days.

They love us, and we know it; this suffices
For reason's share.
Why should they pause to give that love expression
With gentle care?
Why should they pause? But still our hearts are aching
With all the gnawing pain
Of hungry love that longs to hear the music,
And longs and longs in vain.

We love them, and they know it; if we falter,
With fingers numb,
Among the unused strings of love's expression,
The notes are dumb.
We shrink within ourselves in voiceless sorrow,
Leaving the words unsaid,
And, side by side with those we love the dearest,
In silence on we tread.

Thus on we tread, and thus each heart in silence
Its fate fulfills,
Waiting and hoping for the heavenly music
Beyond the distant hills.
The only difference of the love in heaven
From love on earth below
Is: Here we love and know not how to tell it,
And there we all shall know.

Bold Advertising.

People who imagine that novelty in advertising is impossible, are clearly mistaken, and will be until they shall change their minds or until Chicago shall cease to exist. A dry-goods dealer there heads his advertisements, "The most alarming sacrifice since the days of Abraham and Isaac."

Grateful Slavey.

Mistress (to the new housemaid): "Jane, I'm quite surprised to hear you can't read or write. I'm sure one of my daughters would gladly undertake to teach you." Maid: "O, Lor, mum, if the young ladies would be so kind as to learn me anything, I should like to play the pianner."

Oyster Palace Restaurant,

London and Paris can boast of their Crystal Palaces, but it remained for Messrs. Thompson & Senatz to inaugurate the "Oyster Palace," where succulent oysters, and full meals with wine at 50 cents, and every good thing in market, are served up in unequalled style of cuisine excellence. The locality of this desideratum is in the California Theatre Building, adjoining the main entrance to the theatre, on the west. Mr. Thompson, who will be remembered as the former popular Boniface of the saloon under the Odd Fellows' Hall on Montgomery street, and Mr. Senatz are both experienced caterers, and the public can rely upon finding everything served in unapproachable style, at reasonable charges, at the Oyster Palace Restaurant. Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Mocondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $171,800 to $ 26,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rodolph Jordon, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.

H. D. Coswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

THURSDAY............ AUGUST 1, 1872

"The Fat Contributor's Saturday Night"

A. M. Griswold, who has long been writing for papers over the signature of "The Fat Contributor," has started a paper of his own in Cincinnati, entitled as above. We have received the first number; it is good. We hope the Fat Contributor will succeed as well as a publisher as he has as a writer. He addresses himself in the first number to "A Good Natured Public," and says:

> We have known the good natured public long and well, and believe in it. It is a more extensive corporation than many suppose who are only looking up a morose, disagreeable, or malignant public, or fighting a stubborn, wicked and irreclaimable one. We are proud and glad of the acquaintanceship, and ready to do whatever is in our power to continue present friendly relations. We don't know how we should be able to get along with any other public than the G. N. P. Conscious of our shortcomings, we shouldn't dare to bring our case before any other tribunal. We throw ourselves upon the indulgence of the court, because we know the court to which we appeal is indulgent. And yet it is not a weak or indiscriminating jury because amiable. On the other hand it is often critical in the highest degree, and while smiling graciously when pleased, it grieves most judiciously when we who attempt to cater to its entertainment overshoot the mark or "come tardy off."

A "Nice Gurl."

The heroine of Charles Reade's last novel, "A Simpleton," is named Rosa Lusigoan, and the novelist thus describes her in her introduction to the reader: "She was a dark but dazzling beauty, with coal-black hair and glorious dark eyes, that seemed to beam with soul all day long; her eyebrows, black, straightish, and rather thick, would have been majestic and too severe had the other features followed suit; but her black brows were succeeded by long, silky lashes, a sweet oval face, two pouting lips studded with ivory, and an exquisite chin, as feeble as any man could desire in the partner of his bosom. Person—straight, elastic, and rather tall. Mind—nineteen. Accomplishments—numerous; a poor French scholar, a worse German, a worst English, an admirable dancer, an inaccurate musician, a good rider, a bad draughtswoman, a bad hairdresser, at the mercy of her maid, a hot theologian, knowing nothing, a sorry accountant, no housekeeper, no seamstress, a fair embroiderer, a capital geographer, and no cook. Collectively, viz., mind and body, the girl we kneel to.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

New York Dry Goods Store,

The San Jose Mercury says:

> Ever since FIGARO failed to make itself the medium for furnishing the programme of entertainments at our Opera House, it never lets an opportunity slip to say something mean about San Jose. It persistently insists in intimating that no first-class entertainment will pay expenses in San Jose; when the fact is that it is very rarely that a first-class performance does not pay here and pay well.

What on earth is the Mercury talking about? When there is a first-class dramatic company at "our Opera House," FIGARO is, as a matter of course, the programme. It was programme for Emerson's Minstrels and programme for Lotta. The only reason we say "mean" things about San Jose is that that town is very mean in its patronage of amusements and that many members of the profession have lost money by endeavoring to furnish amusement to a community which cares nothing about it. The Mercury itself has again and again taken the people of San Jose to task for not going to see and hear excellent entertainments. The denizens of that town seem to be afraid of "money being taken out of the town." That is a mean spirit and that is what we reprehend on all occasions. A meritorious performance in San Jose will not pay and the Mercury knows it. As to being programme of "our Opera House" once or twice in the course of a year that is really a matter of very little importance to FIGARO. When San Jose does patronize a good entertainment liberally and shows some appreciation of music and the drama we shall most willingly chronicle that remarkable fact. Until then we shall repeat again and again for the guidance of the profession our assertion that San Jose is a bad "show town."

Peanuts and Dyspepsia.

An exchange says:

> Of all practices that are calculated to work up a first-class dyspepsia, none are more prolific in their effects than that of eating peanuts. In the first place they are crude and indigestible, and added to this is the manner in which they are eaten. If an individual would make a regular meal of peanuts, or take them in moderate quantities at stated intervals, they would be a little less harmful; but instead of this they are invariably taken between meals, at this time or that, or whenever it is agreeable, and the consequence is, a constant wearying effort imposed upon the digestive organs, which wears them out and gives no time for recuperation.

That's what we have said to Mr. Pickering a hundred times. If he would only make a meal of peanuts he wouldn't be dyspeptic; but he won't; he goes on munching those peanuts that he gets in exchange for political articles in the Call, all day long. He has to do it, he says, because even his dramatic critic refuses to take his pay half in peanuts and half in cash.

The Showman's Wolf.

The following has the merit of truth, and shows how sly and humorous are the methods adopted to circumvent laws enacted to prevent the vending of alcoholic drinks:

> During the brief liquor law a live showman made his appearance in a small village with a small, tattered tent, a half-starved wolf and a suspicious-looking keg. The admission fee of ten cents was cheerfully paid by a number of "old sports," who manifested a peculiarly strong desire to see this very common and villainous-looking specimen of the animal kingdom. But the oddest part of the show to the bystanders was that one particularly "hard old case" had pressed in to "take another look at that ar wolf" no less than seven times during the afternoon. The secret was at last revealed. After several unsuccessful attempts to start for home, he at last approached the tent with an unsteady step, and handing his last dime to the showman(?), hiccoughed, "I-I b-b-h'lieve I'll take jus' one more look at that wolf!"

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

This theatre was crowded in every part last night, when the famous song and dance men, Delehanty and Hengler, made their first appearance. These artistes more than came up to the high reputation which had preceded them, and by the originality of their style, neat execution and quickness of movement, at once established themselves as favorites with the audience. These dancers seem to be masters of every possible step, and they sing better than the generality of song and dance men. They received no less than six encores last night, and then the unreasonable audience, though they could see that the performers were pretty nearly fagged out by their thorough, hard work, would have liked a little more. Delehanty and Hengler, Cool Burgess, and the rest of the brilliant combination at present performing at the Alhambra, will appear to-night in the capital bill published on our first page.

Metropolitan Theatre.

But a very few nights more remain of the engagement of of Joe Murphy, who appears nightly to large houses in the drama of "Maum Orée." This play which bids fair to rival "Help" in popularity, will be performed at the matinee on Saturday. On Sunday evening Mr. Murphy will close his engagement appearing in the same play. To-morrow night farewell benefit of the popular Murphy.

Bella Union.

The exciting play of the "Game of Life," with its attempt at murder, chase of the villain, and other stirring scenes, is very popular; the African Circus is full of fun and the Reynolds Brothers, J. H. Lerkin and Carrie Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Ceriell, and others present a very pleasing entertainment.

American Theatre.

Ocall and Cooper, the clever song and dance men, will make their first appearance at this theatre to-night in "The Apple of my Eye," "Dis is what we did," and other sketches. The new local play of "The San Francisco Milliner" and "Divorce" will conclude the entertainment.

Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire.

The 8th of next month will be the anniversary of the great fire of Chicago. To-morrow evening, a panorama of their terrible scenes presented on this occasion, will be placed on exhibition at Platt's Hall. This beautiful painting which covers over thirty seven hundred square feet of canvass was executed from actual views and drawings, by Henry C. Orore, of the Academy of Design; J. Howard Rogers, scenic artist of McVicker's Theatre; Henry O. Tryon, scenic artist of Wood's Museum; Henry Dreissel, scenic artist of the Globe Theatre, and Thomas Megann, scenic artist of Crosby's Opera House. The mechanical appointments are by the celebrated John Fenst of the Dearborn Theatre and Opera House, all famous artists in their line. A descriptive lecture will be delivered by a lady who will explain why Mrs. O'Leary's cow was not brought with the panorama. On the canvass will be shown vivid scenes of Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, and afterwards the ruins. Other sections present views of the old cemetery, with its scenes of suffering, representations of the public buildings, printing offices, the water works and other prominent places. Succeeding these, are views of the ruins of the churches, the exhibition closing with the ruins of the Masonic Temple by moonlight. There will be music, anecdotes, recitations and descriptive ballads. For schools and families, there will be a matinee performance on Saturday. An advertisement of this entertainment appears in a programme space on our first page.

Pacific Hall.

The Hon. Charles E. Jones will on to-morrow evening deliver a "live lecture," entitled "Stage and Pulpit," at Pacific Hall. He will give comic illustrations and imitations of pulpit peculiarities, stammering, whistling and whining preachers. The lecture will contain sound sense and a great deal of fun. A synopsis appears on our first page.

"Humpty Dumpty" at the Metropolitan Theatre.

At the conclusion of Miss Ada Gray's engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre, Fox & Denier's "Humpty Dumpty," which was played a thousand nights in the Olympic Theatre, New York, to crowded houses, will be produced under the immediate direction of Tony Denier, who will arrive on Saturday next, with the full company. No expense will be spared to make the pantomime the most gorgeous ever produced.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

A Pleasing Performance.

A Parisian grandfather consented that his daughter should go to the theatre only on condition that she should be at home again at half-past ten o'clock at the latest. "But, grandpapa," pouted the little girl, "I shall never see any of the last acts." "Never mind, my child," was the indulgent response, "I will remember that, and, if you are faithful to your studies, I will arrange with the managers to give once a month a performance made up of all the last acts in their repertory so there shall be nothing but marriages the whole evening."

[illegible] a mooted question as to whether animals possessed souls. Some act as if there was something more than instinct which governs them. The following is related by a correspondent of Once a Week: There are innumerable stories related of dogs. Here is one—true, upon mine honor. My cousin went out one evening to dine with a friend, about half a mile distant, and having foolishly taken a bottle of wine, fell asleep on the side of a lonely path on his way back. It was a cold night and he probably would have been dead if he had remained there till morning, and so it appears, his little spaniel dog thought, for he set off to give the best notice he could of the occurrence. First he came barking violently at the door, and then he went to the housekeeper, and pulled her by the skirts of her gown to the door. She instantly suspected something was wrong with the master; and great was the little fellow's joy when she put on her bonnet to follow him. He kept looking back every few seconds to be sure she was behind him and when he was in sight of his master, stood still and gave her a pointing, melancholy look with his eyes and head. All that I can say is, that if such dogs as this have not souls, it's a great shame.

Too Broad Altogether.

The dambroad is known to be the ordinary Scottish name of what in English is termed a draughtboard. A Scotch lady newly come to London, and rather too familiar with her own mode of expression, inquired at a linen draper's shop for a table cloth of dambroad pattern, meaning chequered pattern. The cockney shopman, amazed at such a question from a lady, answered: "Why, ma'am we have patterns pretty broad, but—e—a—but none quite as as broad as that."

Better Prepared.

A clergyman in one of the interior towns of Massachusetts lately forgot his notes on a Sabbath morning, and as there was not time to send for them, he said to his audience that "this morning I shall have to depend upon the Lord for what I may say, but in the afternoon I shall be better prepared."

Something of a Moustache.

The handsomest moustache at Saratoga is described as one of those formidable hirsute appendages that instantly overcomes young ladies, and in a twinkling awes civilization in general. In dimensions it is ten inches over all, and two inches breadth of beam.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. NEVER AGAIN.

Never again will the roses blow
For us like the roses we used to know.

Oh! never again will the wide sky hold
Such wealth of glory and sunset gold;

And never again will I whisper, dear,
The pleasant fancies you smiled to hear.

And never again, at the day's decline,
Shall I sit with your little hand in mine,

And look at the beauty of sunset skies,
And the sweeter beauty of your sweet eyes.

Never again! for the dream is done
That a word, and a look, and a touch begun.

Love, if we always could dream, ah, then!
The words are as sad as "it might have been!"

For us, there is nothing but memory,
In the coming days of what could not be!

Love, you are near to me, and yet as far
As the round earth is from the farthest star.

Kiss me and smile in my eyes once more,
Tho' your lips should quiver and eyes run o'er.

Put your hand in mine for one moment—one,
And then good-bye, for the dream is done!

A Learned Pig.

A bored sojourner at the summer residence of the American Court relieves his ennui by sending the following to the World:

There is a learned pig here, kept in a tent and you can go and see him if you like by paying 25 cents. Except bathing there is nothing else to do between breakfast and evening, and after awhile the pig becomes tedious. We went to see him one morning. He is an elderly animal, with an aspect of stupidity exceeding that of many aldermen, but he seems to possess remarkable mathematical powers. He is good at addition and division but has not yet mastered the art of silence, for he grunts consumedly; I had pictured him in my mind an agile and fugacious pig with a twist in his tail, full of jocund capers and merry squeaks; but this was as mere a hog as ever died into lard or rose again in the transfigured form of bacon.

Not Much.

WORKING MAN—Ain't you going to send that boy of yours to school, Bill? BILL—"O, will I? He went one day, and when he came home he told me it was rep'ensible to get drunk! Think I'll have p'rental feelin's outraged, and all the sweet an' 'oly union of 'ome 'fection broken by swells teach'n of him! Come an' stan' a pint!"

A Difficulty.

Two children out at play were trying to think of a new game. One said: "I know what we'll play. We'll play at being husband and wife. I'll be mamma and you'll be papa." The brother objected to this, saying: "If I play papa and you play mamma who's to play Freddy."

Acquitted.

A Detroit girl, arrested for theft, has been acquitted, because she had never heard of the Bible or the ten commandments, though no other city would consider that a virtue sufficient to balance her crime.

Oyster Palace Restaurant.

London and Paris can boast of their Crystal Palaces, but it remained for Messrs. Thompson & Senatz to inaugurate the "Oyster Palace," where succulent oysters, and full meals with wine at 50 cents, and every good thing in market are served up in unequalled style of cuisine excellence. The locality of this desideratum is in the California Theatre Building, adjoining the main entrance to the theatre on the west. Mr. Thompson, who will be remembered as the former popular Boniface of the saloon under the Odd Fellows' Hall on Montgomery street, and Mr. Senatz are both experienced caterers, and the public can rely upon finding everything served in unexceptionable style, at reasonable charges, at the Oyster Palace Restaurant. 1

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. Dreadful.

A seedy individual went into a store in Detroit the other day, wiped his weeping eyes, pulled out a greasy Bible, and requested the clerk to purchase the sacred volume. "It belonged to my dead mother," he sobbed, "and if I wasn't starving no money could get it from me." The clerk gave him a quarter, and told him to keep his scriptures. Toward night the man was taking to the station howling drunk. He had the Bible in his coat-tail pocket, though several leaves had been torn out and wrapped around a herring.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Joe Murphy will take his farewell benefit this evening and present a new bill for the occasion. The performance will commence with "More Blunders than One," to be followed with his character sketches of General Grant, Horace Greeley etc., the whole concluding with "Barney the Baron." There need be no fear but what Joe will have a bumper. Saturday afternoon "Maum Cre" matinee. Saturday and Sunday evenings last two nights of Joe Murphy.

Alhambra Theatre.

Another large audience assembled last to enjoy the eccentricities of the famous Cool Burgess; admire and laugh at the original songs and dances of the great Delehanty and Hengler; listen to the sweet singing in the first part, and be amused by the screaming acts entitled "The Wrong Man," by Sweatnam, Slocum and Simmons; "Inside and Outside," by Sweatnam, Rickey and Slocum, and "Trix," by Cool Burgess, Add Ryman and others. The same capital bill will be played at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

The Reynolds Brothers in song and dance; Mrs. Charlee Coriell in beautiful ballads; Charles Coriell in his wonderful bone solo; J. H. Lerkin and Corrla Armstrong in their Dutch sketches; 'The African Circus" and "The Game of Life," are some of the attractive features in the performance to be given to-night.

American Theatre.

Cogill & Cooper, the favorite California artistes, appear again to-night in "The Apple of my Eye,' "Dis is What We Did," etc., and the local drama of "The Milliner of San Francisco" will conclude a varied and entertaining performance.

Panorama of the Great Chicago Fire.

The 8th of next month will be the anniversary of the great conflagration in Chicago. This evening, a panorama of the terrible scenes presented on this occasion, will be placed on exhibition at Platt's Hall. This beautiful painting which covers over thirty seven hundred square feet of canvass was executed from actual views and drawings, by Henry C. Crore, of the Academy of Design; J. Howard Rogers, scenic artist of McVicker's Theatre; Henry O. Tryon, scenic artist of Wood's Museum; Henry Dreissel, scenic artist of the Globe Theatre, and Thomas Megann, scenic artist of Crosby's Opera House. The mechanical appointments are by the celebrated John Faust of the Dearborn Theatre and Opera House, all famous artists in their line. A descriptive lecture will be delivered by a lady who will explain why Mrs. O'Leary's cow was not brought with the panorama. On the canvass will be shown vivid scenes of Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, and afterwards the ruins. Other sections present views of the old cemetery, with its scenes of suffering, representations of the public buildings, printing offices, the water works and other prominent places. Succeeding these, are views of the ruins of the churches, the exhibition closing with the ruins of the Masonic Temple by moonlight. There will be music, anecdotes, recitations and descriptive ballads. For schools and families, there will be a matinee performance on Saturday. An advertisement of this entertainment appears in a programme space on our first page.

The Orchestral Concerts.

The full programme of the first of the series of Orchestral Concerts to be given at Pacific hall under the direction of Mr. Louis Schmidt and Mr. Oscar Weil, appears on our first page. It presents an excellent combination of classical and popular music and is a programme that should fill the Hall on Tuesday evening, and doubtless it will as the series promise to be very "fashionable."

Woodward's Gardens.

All old residents will remember the great sensation the Bolslay Family made by their performances and balloon ascensions here some eight years ago, and the immense crowds that went to see them. After years of wanderings in Mexico and South America, the Bolslays, ten in number, have returned, and will give their first performances at Woodward's Gardens to-morrow and Sunday, making their famous balloon ascension, if the weather permit, in their 70 foot balloon. They will also give a grand performance in the Pavilion consisting of the swinging, balancing Trapeze act by one of the ladies of the company, the famous Spiral Mountain ascension, the Niagara Leap, and other acts. Thousands will visit Woodwards on Sunday.

City Gardens.

The children of the public schools, accompanied by their teachers, will visit the City Gardens to-morrow afternoon, by the kind invitation of Mr. Stevens, the proprietor. A grand concert by an orchestra of twenty soloists, under the direction of Henry Maiden, will be given, and every effort will be made by the proprietor to add to the enjoyment of the little ones while on the ground. The members of the Board of Education have signified their approval of the invitation, and the attendance will be very large.

Pacific Hall.

The Hon. Charles E. Jones will this evening deliver a "live lecture," which is entitled "Stage and Pulpit," at Pacific Hall. He will give comic illustrations and imitations of pulpit peculiarities, stammering, whistling and whining preachers. The lecture will contain sound sense and a great deal of fun. A synopsis appears on our first page.

Badger's Central Park.

The Oscar Bros. and Prof. Griffith, the wizard, will give a performance here on Sunday. The Professor does the famous Davenport Bros. Rope-tying feat to perfection. Grand Concert by Alpers' Band, skating, etc.

Anatomical Museum.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentleman only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. x

Clairvoyant.—Madame Clara Antonia, the clairvoyant, Independent Trance Medium. Office, 426 Kearny Street. Consultations in English, French and German. G

F— for Gasmen.

It has has been ascertained that the fumes of the purifying rooms of gas works will cure whooping cough. To test it, a lady, the wife of one of our merchants, took two of her children there. The superintendent of the works kindly waited on her to the rooms. After a few moments he noticed a black streak along the forehead, near the hair, but supposing she had made it by some crook from her fingers, thought nothing more of it, and he left the parties to inhale the vapors. When ready to depart, he suggested to the lady that before she left she had better look in the mirror, which she did, and was not a little surprised to find her face as black as charcoal. After much scrubbing with soap and water she succeeded in making herself white. She inquired anxiously of the superintendent, who is a family man, and knows how it is himself, what could have caused it. He very politely intimated that it might be something she put on her face before she came there, which she indignantly denied she didn't powder; not she! "Madam," said he, "that's too thin. You can't cheat the gasworks."

Terrible!

A Grant organ depicts some of the dire consequences which would result from Horace Greeley's election to the Presidency. It declares that "Infidelity, free-love and Mor-"monism would run riot, sap the founda-"tion of all that is sacred and binding in "society, and spread moral ruin and blight "on this once fair, happy, prosperous and "peaceful country." Good gracious! This is indeed terrible. That's what H. G. wants to be elected for. The miserable old sinner! We never should have thought he was that kind of a man if we hadn't seen it in print. Can't something be done to prevent it? Do something, somebody. Shame him into withdrawing. Tell him knows nothing about farming, and make him mad.

In Place of a Club Room.

There are social clubs in San Francisco, but they are of an exclusive character, and it is not in their rooms that the wits and good fellows about town most do congregate. The Lick House Saloon is more like a club room than anything else. It was always beautiful, and the late improvements have made it perfectly gorgeous. The walls have been beautifully frescoed, a magnificent velvet carpet imported directly from Brussels has been laid down, and the artistic carvings executed in California laurel, the costly glass and silver ware, the mirrors and statues, give this symposium a most brilliant appearance. The wines and liquors are the very rarest and best, and Messrs. Porter & Lewis understand their business so well that everyone feels at home. The Lick House Saloon is one of the institutions of San Francisco, and should be seen by all. B

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

New York Dry Goods Store.

813 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.

DO AS NEAR RIGHT AS YOU CAN.

The world stretches widely before you,
  A field for your muscle and brain;
And though clouds may often float o'er you,
  And often come tempests and rain,
Be fearless of storms which o'ertake you—
  Push forward through all like a man—
Good fortune will never forsake you
  If you do as near right as you can.

Remember, the will to do rightly,
  If used, will the evil confound;
Live daily by conscience, that nightly
  Your sleep may be peaceful and sound.
In contests of right never waver—
  Let honesty shape every plan,
And life will of Paradise savor,
  If you do as near right as you can.

A Rich Dish.

A late letter from Paris says: "Our little experimental dinner at the Restaurant Lafitte reminded me by contrast of the one given by Eugene Sue, when he was living en grand seigneur I heard the story years ago, though M. Villemessent has recently revived it. Sue gave a dinner to his former tenants, and astonished them by the display of cut glass, plate and dishes forwarded from Paris by Chevet, of the Palais Royal. But there was one silver tureen kept covered. Rustic curiosity was excited and many were the surmises as to what the contents of this tureen might be. At length Sue raised the cover saying, "I have reserved this little dish of my own preparation for the last and hope you will appreciate it. The tureen was full of louis d'ors. Sue gravely ladled out the golden coins and placed ten on the plate of each guest. It is no wonder that he was the most popular of landlords when he feasted his tenants in this manner.

"George," asked the teacher of a Sunday-school class, "Who above all others shall you wish first to see when you get to heaven?" With a face brightening up with anticipation, the little fellow shouted: "Goliah!"

A Danbury boy can make one hundred and sixty-five "faces" without sitting down. The feelings of his broken-hearted father when reaching for him with a strap can better be imagined than described.

Smiggles says that in his boyhood he used to sing with some spirit, "I want to be an Angel," but since he began to play baseball, the very thought of going "out on a fly" makes him shudder.

Oyster Palace Restaurant.

London and Paris can boast of their Crystal Palaces, but it remained for Messrs. Thompson & Senatz to inaugurate the "Oyster Palace," where succulent oysters, and full meals with wine at 50 cents, and every good thing in market are served up in unequalled style of cuisine excellence. The locality of this desideratum is in the California Theatre Building, adjoining the main entrance to the theatre, on the west. Mr. Thompson, who will be remembered as the former popular Boniface of the saloon under the Odd Fellows' Hall on Montgomery street, and Mr. Senatz are both experienced caterers, and the public can rely upon finding everything served in unapproachable style, at reasonable charges, at the Oyster Palace Restaurant. Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. C

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a Branch of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street.

Savings and Loan Society

25th SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.

A Dividend of Nine per cent. per annum net (9 per cent.) upon the operations of the French Savings and Loan Society for the six months ending June 29th, 1872, has, in conformity with the report of the Committee of Verification appointed by the members of the Society, been declared by the Board of Administration, at the Semi-Annual Meeting held on the 16th inst. This dividend will be payable on and after the 18th inst. at the office of the Society, 411 Bush street.

LADIES, READ THIS!

Do not allow yourselves to be imposed upon any longer by purchasing TUCK MARKERS which are neither durable nor practical. Before purchasing one, try Graff & Co's make, and if you have one already that is not Graff & Co's make, throw it away, get a good one, and you will save both time and money. The self-registering slides of Graff & Co's TUCK MARKER are invaluable, and ought to be examined by all ladies.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S
PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N. E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

The great eradicator of special complaints, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. Dr. Tozer informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has re-opened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent cure, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has cured of diseases which others have failed to cure.

The Deserted Village.

The San Joaquin Argus has a correspondent who does for Snelling in prose what Goldsmith did for Auburn in poetry. He does it in a measure. It seems that Snelling, "love iest village of the valley," is deserted. The correspondent of the Argus, who writes over the romantic signature of "Vacuna" (cow-pox), though there is not a word about vaccination in his letter, thus mourns over the departed glories of the Town Hall:

Our Town Hall. Our merry, noisy, hilarious Town Hall, where the shouts of laughter, and the voices of mirth and glee, and pleasant jest and strains of music rang out upon the still night air; where rich silk trains, and lace and flowers, and jewels, have shown on beauty's brow, and decked the lovely form; where little feet have glided through the mazes of the graceful dance; where the jauntily attired skaters have whirled round and round, jocund and sportive as birds upon the wing; where the voices of ambitious politicians have stirred the souls of men; where these bright, gay scenes have passed within a few brief months, is now the receptacle for provender—converted into a hay mow.

A Forlorn Hope.

The Danbury News says:

We have a boy this week collecting up back accounts of subscribers to the late Evening News. We have a longing to possess a pair of pants with a pocket behind. Whenever we feel this craving coming on we have that boy start out. He has already enough to get the pocket, but we should like more of the pants before appearing publicly in them.

That editor of the late Evening News must must have the organ of Hope wonderfully largely developed. People who pay up back accounts owing to a dead newspaper or whisky-bills to a saloon sold out by the Sheriff are very scarce. We don't believe there are such people.

Very Cunning.

A distinguished journalist announces in his columns that he has positively received the following request: "Sir—I should feel much honored by having your autograph for my album. If you deem the request unwarrantable on my part, pray pardon me; but at the same time, send me the refusal in your own hand writing, and with your own signature, that I may know the refusal is authentic."

Very Careful.

It is said that the Duluth people won't allow small pox patients to be interred in their cemetery, because there are several unvaccinated corpses buried there.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Local.

An exchange whose local has evidently had no watches presented him, or oyster stews forced on him lately, thus complains: "If a man buys a new buggy, or his cow can bawl three times without winking, the 'local' is expected to proclaim the fact with a great flourish. If he starts a two-penny business his first thought is to bribe the 'local' with a five cent cigar to write up a five dollar puff. Indeed he thinks it is the mission of the 'local' to make his fortune for him by 'free blowing.' He will take the local to one side and point out the superior qualities of a rat-terrier dog, and coolly ask him to 'give the pup a hoist.' He don't care anything about it, only Spriggins has a dog that he thinks is a buster and some of 'em wanted his 'put in just to take the conceit of Spriggins.' Oh, yes, 'put it in' by all means. Everybody wants us to 'put it in' that they are the 'GREAT I AM,' but nobody says: 'Here, local, put yourself inside this suit of c'othes, or throw yourself outside of this oyster stew, or stuff this watch in your pocket.' Oh, no, of course not; that would cost something. The shoe is on the other foot, you see. The local is supposed to know everything about other people's business, and is expected to 'show up' all the actors in every family broil in town. If the vile tongue of scandal finds a victim, people wonder why he don't run about with his note book and gather up the vituperative bits of slander for the paper. If he steps into a billiard saloon he is requested to make a note of the astonishing fact that Bill Thompkins has just made a run of eleven points. When the minstrel troupe arrive in town the agent immediately rushes to the printing office and calling for the 'local' he slips three or four tickets into his hand and whispers—'Draw us a big house!' 'Put it in strong!' and the agent admits the inferiority of the troupe, but we are not to let on. All are anxious to appear favorably in print, but few are willing to pay for it! The local's time is worth nothing. It don't cost him anything to live. He never eats, or drinks, or travels, and money is of no use to him."

An Ungrateful Sufferer.

The exhibition of the Panorama of the great Chicago fire which is to take place this evening at Platt's Hall recalls to memory the story of one of the sufferers by the Wisconsin fires which occurred about the same time. This individual wrote the following letter to one of those noble-hearted men who sent relief to the sufferers:

The committy man giv me, amongst other thiogs, wat he celled a pare ov pants; and 't would make me pant to ware 'em. I found your name and where you live on one of the pockits. My wife laffed so when I shode 'em to her I thought she would have a compshun fit. She wants to know if there lives and breathes a man who has legs no bigger than that. She said if there was, he orter to be taken up for vagrinsy, for havin' no visible means ov support. I couldent get 'em on my oldest boy, so I used em for gun cases. If you have another pare to spare, my wife wood like to get 'em to hang up by the side of the fire place too keep the tongs in.

Better Late Than Never.

A monument is to be erected at Northfield, Mass., to the memory of Nathaniel Dickson, who was killed there by Indians a century and a quarter ago.

This is done on the principle, "Better Late than Never," but after all it is better to let bygones be bygones. These old animosities ought not to be raked up.

Dear Enough.

The Cincinnati minister who was struck with an axe for kissing a fair parishioner will recover. It is paying pretty dear for a kiss, but it might have cost more. It was hard for him to be axed for a kiss in that style.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men
The 'clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game.
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "lunch pic- dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

In Place of a Club Room.

There are social clubs in San Francisco, but they are of an exclusive character, and it is not in their rooms that the wits and good fellows about town most do congregate. The Lick House Saloon is more like a club room than anything else. It was always beautiful, and the late improvements have made it perfectly gorgeous. The walls have been beautifully frescoed, a magnificent velvet carpet imported directly from Brussels has been laid down, and the artistic carvings executed in California laurel, the costly glass and silver ware, the mirrors and statues, give this symposium a most brilliant appearance. The wines and liquors are the very rarest and best, and Messrs. PORTER & LEWIS understand their business so well that everyone feels at home. The Lick House Saloon is one of the institutions of San Francisco, and should be seen by all. B

Good Things.

Those who can appreciate anything rich, luscious and piquante, are invited to call in at 330 Bush street, nearly opposite the Alhambra Theatre, and try Jones & Schroeder's celebrated crab chowder, served from 12 M. to 12 at night. CA

The Old Oyster House.

For the last eight years The Bivalve kept by W Spreen 649 Market street, has been THE fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. The private rooms up stairs are very popular for wedding parties and supper parties. After the theatres call at the Bivalve three doors below Kearny for your oysters.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bockes, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

New York Dry Goods Store.

613 Stockton street, between Clay and Sacramento, receives new goods daily from New York auctions very cheap. Remember the number.*

Foreign and Domestic Drugs.

Assayers, Bakers, Confectioners, Hair Dressers, Dyers, and all manufacturers needing druggist's articles, will find it to their advantage to examine the cash price list of Stroh, Schmidt & Co., importers, (successors to Hug & Schmidt) 535 Commercial st., one door below Montgomery. Agents for Horton's Tobacco Antidote. W

New Style Jewelry.

Strangers and others contemplating making purchases of Jewelry should inspect A. Hirschman's elegant stock of new styles of jewelry, watches and silverware, at 133 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post. Everything at lowest cash rates. F

CLAIRVOYANT.—Madame Clara Antonia, the clairvoyant, Independent Trance Medium. Office, 426 Kearny Street. Consultations in English, French and German. Q

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

J. K. Emmett is in Berlin, studying Teutonic characters in their native haunts. Andrew Halliday, of London, is re-writing "Fritz," and Joe will probably produce the piece in that city the coming fall.

Up to July 6th the following was the record of theatricals in London: The Italian Opera, Covent Garden Theatre, continued running Adeline Patti, Parepa-Rosa, M'lle Albani (Miss La Jeunesse, the young prima donna from Albany, New York), and M'lle Heasl. The theatre was to close July 20th to prepare for Boucicault's autumn and winter season......The Drury Lane Italian Opera still offered Nilsson, Tietjens, Trebelli, Bettini Olara Louise Kellogg, and the new tenor Campanini .....The evening business of the London theatres offered no novelty over the previous week. At the Adelphi, "Leatherlungs, the Great: How He Stormed, Reigned and Mizzled," produced on the 1st, illustrates the confusion which would arise and the abuses which would follow should mobocracy succeed aristocracy, and what a pleasant time would be had with a Bradlaugh or an Odger for the president of a republic.

It was stated that Viscount Hinton, aldest son of Earl Poulett, was from 1868 to 1871, inclusive, a pantomimist at the Surrey Theatre, and at several London music halls, under the name of Coleman. He was born in 1819, and married in 1869 Lydia Ann Shippey, a dancer and comic singer known as Miss Smythe.

It seems that Dion Boucicault is not going to allow M. Sardon to have all the honors of operatic feerie. He has written an operatic spectacular piece, which he calls "Bibil and Bo joo," and intends to produce it at Covent Garden, London, in August.

Little Rose Horsee announced a few representations with her traveling English opera company at the Standard Theatre, London, preparatory to her departure for New York, where, with a flap of her wings, she announced that she was to be prima donna assoluta at the Grand Opera House.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews had arrived in London. The latter is to retire permanently from the stage. The former will appear at the Gaiety in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wigan were to take a farewell of the stage benefit at Drury Lane on the 6th, in "Still Waters Run Deep" and "The First Night."

E. A. Sothern and his son Lytton arrived in London from New York on the 2d. Mr Sothern was announced to play "Dundreary" at Drury Lane, July 25th, for the benefit of the Royal Theatrical Fund, which would be his only appearance.

Mme. Parepa-Rosa has been offered an engagement in St. Petersburg, which she has declined, having in contemplation the establishment of English opera in London. She achieved a magnificent success in "Norma" at Covent Garden on the 4th.

Talk about high prices! A seat in Drury Lane Opera House costs $6, in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandmann are at the Queen's Theatre, London.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels, the great Cool Burgess, the lively Charles Sutton, and the inimitable song and dance men, Delehanty & Hengler, will all appear at the matinee performance to-day and again this evening. The engagement of Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels closes to-morrow night. The first part performance given by these artists has always been a great feature of their entertainment, and E. N. Slocum, Lew Simmons, Billy Sweatnam and the others have all done well in their respective lines. On Monday evening Bob Hart, than whom there are few greater favorites in the minstrel profession, will commence an engagement at this house, and with Cool Burgess, Charles Sutton, Delehanty and Hengler, Add Ryman, and a host of others, will present a programme of unexampled excellence.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—"Mann Cre" will be played at the matinee to-day, and again this evening. With to-morrow evening the highly successful season of Irish comedy so well carried through by Mr. Murphy and the Metropolitan Theatre company will close, and this popular favorite will make his farewell bow to the San Francisco public, who admire him so much and will welcome him so heartily on his return at some future period.

BELLA UNION.—Another new piece will be produced to-night at this go-ahead theatre. It is entitled "Wanted a Husband," H. Sinclair, R. G. Marsh, Lon McCarty, Minnie Fillmore, Johnny Tuers and others will take part in it. It will be preceded by a capital first part, and an interlude in which the Reynolds Brothers will present their capital act of "The Happy Hottentots;" J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong in a new Dutch act; Mrs. Charles Coriell will sing "Driven from Home" with character changes and invisible chorus; the Reynolds Brothers and others will appear in "One Night in a Bar-room." Mr. and Mrs. Coriell, H. Sinclair and J. H. Larkin in "Shinks and Jinks;" Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine in a double song and dance; Miss Carrie Chapman in medley dance, and others in ballads, acts and other entertaining performances.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—The new play of "The Milliner of San Francisco" has proved a great success. Coghl and Cooper, the double song and dance men, are very popular and a very varied and attractive entertainment is given.

PANORAMA OF THE GREAT FIRE IN CHICAGO.—Platt's Hall was crowded last night when Alderson's Panorama of the Chicago Fire was unrolled for the first time in this city. The Panorama shows views of Chicago before the fire, the city in flames, scenes in the old cemetery, ruins of the churches and views of the prominent buildings. The "critic" of the Call lets himself loose on this panorama and says it is out of drawing. As this is not the case we are forced to conclude that the critic squints, which is a pity as a cross-eyed criticle is a disfigurement to a "nice" paper like the Morning Call. Miss Laura Honey read the lecture and caused some impatience by giving readings out of books which had nothing to do with the subject; a lot of boodlums in the gallery with no appreciation of her elocutionary powers, stamping with their feet to hurry up the painting. The panorama will be exhibited at the matinee to-day and again this evening and the descriptive portion of the lecture will be given, without any long stories. To-day is the birthday of Chicago, the city to-day completing its 42nd year. Former residents of the city can easily recognize all parts of it represented in this panorama and Platt's Hall will be filled, doubtless, both at matinee and evening performances as it was last night.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS—THE BUISLAYS.—All old residents will remember the great sensation the Buisley Family made by their performances and balloon ascensions here some eight years ago, and the immense crowds that went to see them. After years of wanderings in Mexico and South America, the Buislays, ten in number, have returned, and will give their first performances at Woodward's Gardens this afternoon and Sunday, making their famous balloon ascension, if the weather permit, in their 70 foot balloon. They will also give a grand performance in the Pavilion consisting of the swinging, balancing Trapeze act by one of the ladies of the company, the famous Spiral Mountain ascension, the Niagara Leap, and other acts. Thousands will visit Woodwards on Sunday.

CITY GARDENS.—The children of the public schools, accompanied by their teachers, will visit the City Gardens this afternoon by the kind invitation of Mr. Stevens, the proprietor, who will make every effort to add to the enjoyment of the little ones while on the ground. The members of the Board of Education have signified their approval of the invitation, and the attendance will be very large. On Sunday a grand German musical festival will be held, when a concert by an orchestra of twenty soloists, under the direction of Mr. Henry Maiden, will be given.

LAFAYETTE GUARDS' EXCURSION.—The Lafayette Guards will have a pleasant excursion to San Jose to-morrow on the steamer Cora, chartered for the occasion. The Mc Mahone, French Zouaves, and Philharmonic Society will accompany them. At Alviso carriages will be in waiting to take the party to Live Oak Park. Tickets for the round trip two dollars. The Cora will leave Pacific Street Wharf at 8 o'clock. This is sure to be one of the jolliest excursions of the season as the French always manage such things well.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY HALL.—Dr. Payne will deliver the first of his course of star lectures at Mercantile Library Hall on Monday evening. The subject will be "Love, Courtship and Marriage," with amusing illustrations of affinities and the contrary. Another lecture will be delivered on Tuesday evening on "The Golden Rules of Physical Life," with illustrations of character and on Wednesday a physiological lecture will be given describing the throat, lungs, heart and other organs. Dr. Payne endeavors to combine instruction and amusement and conveys information in a popular manner.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The road to the Cliff House is in splendid order. Captain Foster has the most talented cooks, and his dinners are famous. The seals happily sporting about in freedom, present a pleasing sight.

CAPT. BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND. The Oscar Brothers and Prof. Griffith, the wizard, will give a performance here on Sunday. The Pro- [illegible] famous Davenport Bros Rope-

ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS AT PACIFIC HALL. That there are a large number of people in San Francisco who can appreciate and will go to hear really good music, was sufficiently proved by the large attendance at the concerts given by Miss Anna Mehlig. The concerts given by Theodore Thomas's great band in New York have drawn immense audiences. We have a sufficient number of talented musicians in this city to give concerts quite equal to those which have made Theodore Thomas's name famous throughout the United States. Such concerts cost much money, and of course there is some risk in attempting them in a city of limited population like San Francisco. The experiment, however, is to be made. On Tuesday evening, August 6th a series of concerts will be commenced at the Pacific Hall, under the direction of the well-known impresarios, Oscar Welt and Louis Schmidt, with Fred Lyster of the California Theatre as manager. The programme of this first concert which appears on another page is a very good one. It is so arranged as to please those who have a taste for classical music, and at the same time afford pleasure to the great public, who care more for catching melodies and pretty music, than for the grand compositions of the old masters. This latter class will certainly be delighted with Strauss' beautiful "Blue Danube Waltz," which was one of the greatest successes of the late Boston Jubilee. The overture to "Semiramide," by Rossini, played by a magnificent orchestra will delight all, and the vocal part of the entertainment by the popular favorite, Miss Helen C. Dingeon, cannot fail to be appreciated. Altogether these concerts are so planned as to insure success, and Pacific Hall will be the fashionable resort par excellence, during the time the California Theatre remains closed. Seats for these concerts may be reserved nine days in advance.

"ARTICLE 47."—On Monday evening Miss Ada Gray, of whom our Eastern exchanges speak in the highest terms as an accomplished and beautiful actress will commence an engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre in the latest New York sensation, "Article 47." The plot of this play is a most thrilling story of woman's love and revenge for an injury, said to be unequalled by few plays of the present day. "Article 47" had a long run in New York. The management of the Metropolitan Theatre will spare no expense in placing this play on the stage and though its run must necessarily be short in consequence of the great preparation to be made for the production of the success of all successes, "Humpty Dumpty," with Tony Denier's brilliant combination, mentioned in our Eastern summary, it will draw many crowded houses.

PACIFIC HALL.—The Hon. Charles E. Jones, formerly member of Parliament in the Australasian colonies, gave a capital lecture on "Stage and Pulpit" last night. There was enough good, sound sense in it to serve as material for a dozen sermons, and many good stories were told in amusing style. We hope that Mr. Jones will repeat this lecture when we are sure he will have a larger audience than was in attendance last night; our public being wary of going to hear lecturers whose reputation is unknown to them.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

STOCKTON.—Mrs. A. J. Duniway lectured at Hickman's Hall last night.

GRASS VALLEY.—"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and the farce of "The Bonnycastles," were played at Hamilton Hall for D. F. Dodge. Grass Valley is rejoicing in the prospect of a new brass band; we suppose the old one is worn out.

QUINCEY.—The Morrell Blind Troupe performed at the Town Hall last week.

PORTLAND, Or.—"A spare but select audience" attended the readings of Mr. Maybell, "the workman poet," at Masonic Hall on the 26th. Geo. B. Waldron will open East Portland Park on the 5th with Ed Montague, M'lle Cerreita and other attractions.

HOLLISTER.—The Child American Troupe gave concerts on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

MARYSVILLE.—Miss Anna Mehlig is announced to give a concert assisted by Miss Helen Dingeon on or about the 9th.

VIRGINIA CITY.—The Aimee Troupe opened at Piper's Opera House on Tuesday in "La Grande Duchesse." "La Perichole," on Wednesday. "Orphee aux Enfers," on Thursday, "Barbe Bleue" for Aimee's benefit on Friday, will give a matinee to-day and to-night will close in "Fleur de The."

SAN JOSE.—On Monday Joe Murphy with a company from the Metropolitan Theatre, will appear in "Help" at Brohaska's Opera House.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York the record of theatricals at the few theatres open stands as follows: The Vokes Family at the Union Square; a variety entertainment at the Olympic; and Marius Turck at Tony Pastor's Opera House.

House.

The Lydia Thompson Troupe opened at Wallack's Theatre on the 22d. The World gives the following account of the performance:

> The burlesque of "Robin Hood" is in itself not remarkable for plot or situations, or indeed any dramatic excellence, but it is bright, melodious, and full of hop, skip, and jump. The bouquets began to fall about a quarter after eight, and continued falling with but few intervals throughout the evening, the shower being heaviest when Miss Thompson made her appearance as the trim little Robin Hood. The actress has not lost any of her sprightliness, but her singing betrayed evidences of a change of climate. The particular stars of her troupe are Beckett and Edouin. The other conspicuous personages were Miss Amy Sheridan, who played the part of the Black Knight, and appears to have been selected on account of her physical proportions and beauty solely; and Miss Weathersby, well known by her connection with the former troupe. "Robin Hood" overflows with new and taking popular melodies, nearly all in the waltz measure, and nearly all accompanied by the automatic business which had its origin in "Les Brigands." A tea cup song, in which the company rattle their teaspoons; a Dolly Varden dance with skipping ropes, a walk-around, and a troop of soldiers, (also borrowed from "Le Brigands," and called "Idictr in Tin"—these are what the conscientious reviewer must call the salient points. The text of the piece has some verbal wit of the Byron stamp, but very little humor. The latter is contributed by the actions of the company. The dresses are as usual scanty and beautiful. The women are prepossessing, but not gifted. The singing is of the kind that sets the gallery to beating time with its feet. Some of the voices are fresh and melodious. Miss DuBois having altogether the best, and the choruses are well managed and effective. "Robin Hood" may therefore be summed up as others of the burlesques have been summed up. It is a showy and pleasant divertisement, perfectly innocuous and without much meaning.

McVicker's new theatre at Chicago is advertised to open early in August. The Reporter says the inside of McVicker's Theatre is far more elegant than the splendid auditorium burned. A view of this theatre is shown in the Panorama exhibited this evening at Platt's Hall. James O'Neil will be leading man.

The Mercury says of Miss Ada Gray, who is to commence an engagement on Monday at the Metropolitan Theatre in this city: "She has an abundant talent and much personal beauty."

The Martinnetti troupe closed their travelling season at Williamsport, Pa., on the 16th, after five nights. Ten of the troupe are to Summer for six weeks at Jersey City, fourteen miles from that city.

Capt. Bates, the Kentucky giant, has arrived in New York with his wife, lately Miss Anna Swan, the Nova Scotia giantess, from England. Bates

The Boston Folio says:

> Mr. Joseph Heine, the eminent blind violinist, has just composed a beautiful set of waltzes, full of true inspiration, which he proposes to publish soon.

It also has the following kindly notice of a California vocalist:

> We are glad to welcome to Boston Mrs. Louise S. Marriner, a sweet soprano vocalist from San Francisco, Cal. She possesses one of the most tuneful of voices, full of power, and good effect. She will rank with any one of our own favorites.

Mr. and Madame Heine started on a started on a concert tour through the N. E. States on the 15th of July, in company with Barnabee, Mrs. Marriner of Cal., and The Temple Quartette. The Boston Folio says they will meet "with high encore: no better combination ever left Boston."

Niblo's Garden in New York is fast nearing completion. The owner, Mr. A. T. Stewart, intends that it shall not remain idle a day after the regular season opens.

The National Theatre, Washington, opens September 23d, with Charlotta Thompson and the Varieties Theatre Company of New Orleans, who will travel up to the time of opening the latter part of October. The manager has engaged Mrs. D. P. Bowers and company, Lingard and company and others. Dion Boucicault and wife will open there in January.

The New York Mercury says:

> Tony Denier leaves on July 24th for San Francisco, Cal., where he commences an extended engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre on August 19th, playing in "Humpty Dumpty." He will take with him Miss Linda or Rhona for Columbina, A. W. Maffin for Harlequin, Joseph M. Sloan for Pantaloon, and his trick elephant.

Miss Charlotte Crampton has been engaged for next season at Booth's Theatre. She can not only support Edwin Booth in his round of Shakesperian characters but in the event of his being unable to appear can take any one of the male characters—Hamlet, Shylock, Romeo, or any other and perform it better than most actors on the stage. Miss Charlotta Crampton, when she appeared as Hamlet at Maguire's Opera House in this city read the advice to the players with a truer conception of the spirit in which that advice was given than we have ever seen evinced by any impersonator of the character before or since. We are glad that this talented actress after many strange vicissitudes of fortune has attained a position in which she will be able to gain appreciation.

The Theatrical News says:

> One of the most touching incidents we know of is the refusal of a little school-girl to define "clown," as "a low, vulgar fellow." For her stubbornness the teacher whipped her and kept her detained in play hour, but probably felt some remorse when she found that the little child's father was clown in a circus.

We know who that little school girl was. It was pretty little lisping Jennie Worrell, who was such a nice little girl when she was in San Francisco but has been and gone and got married since.

Clara Louise Kellogg is to return from London in August.

Levy, the cornet-man, is in the employ of the Russian Czar at a handsome compensation.

Strauss sailed for Germany 13th. He is engaged for a series of concerts at Baden, August 24th, and subsequently will lead at a number of concerts and balls at Vienna. He may be expected again in this country as soon as his European engagements permit perhaps during next winter.

Madame Rudersdorff's concert party is to consist of Alice Fairman, English contralto; Alberto Randegger, Therese Liebe, violinist; J. F. Rudolphsen, baritone; and George W. Sumner, pianist and director.

The Zavistowski Sisters arrived in New York recently, and are rusticating at a little country place they have somewhere in New Jersey. If they appear on the stage again they must learn new business, if they cannot learn to act.

Frank A. Howson goes with the Mrs. James A. Oates's Troupe, as musical director, in the fall and John Howson has been engaged as comedian.

Charlotta Thompson appeared at the Olympio, on the 26th, New York, in a new piece, entitled "One Wife," adapted from Alexander Dumas', Jr.'s recent play of "La Princesse Georges.

The New York Mercury says:

> The Bohemian Club of San Francisco, Cal, counts among its members every member of the theatrical and musical professions. It is like the Lotus, of N. Y., and extends hospitality to all professionals from the East.

This is not exactly true. There are a few members of the dramatic and musical profession who don't and can't belong to the Bohemian Club.

Minnie Monk will travel with Joe Jefferson.

"The Red Pocket Book" is to be produced at the Olympic Theatre, New York, on Sept. 2d. Mr Joseph Proctor has also arranged for its production at the Boston Theatre about the same time; also at the Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, early in October, and is rapidly closing time for it in all the principal theatres of the country.

Billy Sheppard, Ethiopian comedian and banjo performer, died at Fort Washington July 8th, and was buried at Woodlawn Cemetery by the B. P. O. of Elks. The members of the order who attended the funeral were Henry P. O'Neil, Claude Galda, John P. Smith, Charley White, Hen Mann, Robert Martin, Thomas Gaynor, George Green and Johnny Quinn. He died of quick consumption, and for some time past has been afflicted with a loss of voice. He went on the minstrel stage in San Francisco, where he became very popular. He had performed with many prominent companies, and had visited England, where he played in London with Moore & Burgess' Minstrels. His last appearance in public was at the Thirty-fourth-street Theatre, New York. He had married one of the Clinstop sisters, whom he left, with one child, to mourn his demise.

John H. Selwyn returned from San Francisco on the 13th, with Maggie Mitchell. He will be manager of the Chestnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia, next season, where E. L. Davenport will open with a comedy, Sept. 7th, and play in a new piece by Augustin Daly, commencing Sept. 9th.

William Horace Lingard and company will appear at the Olympic, New York, August 12th. September 2d Mr. Sam Colville will produce "The Red Pocket Book."

For the new play which is to be produced at Niblo's Garden, on its opening, the following artistes have been engaged: M'lle Cornelie d'Anka, said to be a remarkable handsome woman, and a French artiste of great celebrity; M'lla Salvioni, premiere danseuse from Milan, Italy; Rosutte, said to be one of the finest prima donnas in Europe, and the "Pocket Sims Reeves" (Master Henry Collard), a dwarf with a phenomenal voice.

Mrs. Emma Wheatley, mother of Chas. Wheatley, and formerly a member of the old Park Theatre company, died recently in New York.

Maggie Mitchell has purchased Mr. McVickar's cottage at Long Branch. It is valued at $45,000.

Robert McWade plays "Rip Van Winkle" at Pike's Opera House, Cincinnati, in September.

L. P. Barrett will play "Julius Cæsar" throughout New England, commencing Sept. 2d.

Lingard, Alice Dunning and company appear at the New York Olympic, August 30th, in a new play entitled "A Life's Dream." Among the new members of Aimee's troupe to appear at this theatre in the Fall are M'lles Bonalli, Louise Rolland and Juteau, and MM. Juteau, Nardin, Gabel and Ginat.

Hot weather is playing the very deuce with theatricals in Brooklyn, L. I. The Theatrical News commenting on the business done by Sharpley's Minstrels at the Park Theatre for the week ending July 20th, says:

> When it will be remembered that the experience of Mr. O. D. Byron during the six previous weeks, cost that gentleman nearly $2,000, notwithstanding his indomitable enterprise and liberality, it's Emerson's Minstrels were to commence an engagement of one week at the Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, August 5th. Ben Cotton is with them, and Andy McGee and Steve Rogers were to join the 29th ult. Milburn was to rejoin them at that date.

Frank Mayo commenced an engagement in "The Streets of New York" on the 22d ult.

Mr. J. W. Carroll, the late successful manager of the Park Theatre, has been appointed acting manager of the Brooklyn Theatre.

Manager Stetson is in New York, making arrangements for the grand fall opening of the Howard Athenæum, Boston, on August 26th.

Mr. Wolcott, agent of Chiarini's Italian Circus was in Chicago on the 25th making arrangements for the appearance of the troupe at Nixon's Amphitheatre.

The next regular dramatic season at the Globe Theatre, Boston, will begin October 21st.

Sam Sharpley's company abruptly disbanded on July 20th, his late speculation having proved a decided pecuniary failure.

Dan Bryant has closed his traveling season without completing his engagements.

"The Child of Poverty."

Wilson enters on the campaign as "the child of Poverty." It is a good word. Every political candidate must have a sobriquet and Wilson has chosen "the Child of Poverty." Sounds well, doesn't it? It is likely to disarm adversaries. If anyone attacks Wilson he will cry out "You just quit now. Do you know who you're pitchin' into? I'm 'the child of Poverty,' I am, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself." It's good, denced good. If he had started in as the "Natic Cobbler," he wouldn't have done half as well, and every editor opposed to him would have aired his Latin by quoting "Ne sutor ultra crepidam," "The Child of Poverty!" The name inspires us, we must drop into poetry:

The sad Child of Poverty asks you to vote for him;
He's rich now, but once he was deucedly poor;
"Hasn't got eddication; his speeches was wrote for him;"
But in speeches he's shous when he stood on the floor.
The sad Child of Poverty! Poor men can trust to him!
He won't put on airs 'cause he's made a pile;
All should be willing to blow till they bust for him.
All those who do so will find it worth while.
Temper the winds to the sad Child of Poverty,
....

Oh pshaw? There isn't a word in the English language rhymes to "poverty," so the whole thing's spoiled. Someone ought to write an ode to the "Child of Poverty." Perhaps Joaquin Miller would undertake the job.

Bosh.

The Call's amateur critic says:

Delehanty and Hengler are the perfection of song-and-dance men, and are called before the curtain six and seven times every evening.

"Called before the curtain" is a good phrase, but it doesn't do to use it too often in describing the performances at the Alhambra, as the curtain only falls once during the performance. Delehanty and Hengler "are called out" should be the expression. Now say "thank you," and we will give you some more lessons in writing dramatic notices.

Happy Couple.

The following paragraph is going the rounds of the Eastern press:

A San Francisco husband refused to buy a carriage for his wife, and the lady is trying to swear him into an insane asylum in consequence.

We will match it. A San Francisco wife refused to live on laudanum and her husband tried to swear her into a lunatic asylum.

The Gentile sisters at Salt Salt Lake wear silks at church goings, and flash their diamonds in the eyes of their Mormon sisters. The female adherents of the prophet don't like the contrast very much.

The Freeport Journal says: "Pairs are abundant in this place, and front gates are loaded down with them on fine evenings."

The Cleveland Leader mentions an old organ-grinder of that city as "a veteran suicide inducer."

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. Q

Douglas Jerrold.

Douglas Jerrold's reputation for instant repartee, if it has occasionally been rivalled, has certainly never been surpassed. No readier coiner of mots—ringing harmoniously as of the purest gold, and bearing each the true guinea stamp—ever scattered more affluently the largess of his wit among those by whom he chanced at any moment to be surrounded. Even the victims of his sarcasm, if they winced, were exhilarated. Who could resist, or seriously, for that matter, who could resent, the most fleering gibe he ever uttered? His replying—to the manager's boast as to his company—"There's Dash, now why, he's been bred upon the boards!" "He looks as if he'd been cut out of them." His comment on the enthusiast about sheep's heads, who, after supper on that homely dish, laid down his knife and fork exclaiming, "Well, sheep's head forever, say I!" "There's egotism." His eager inquiry when some one, raving about an air, declared, "Whenever I hear it it carries me away." "Can nobody whistle it?" His answer to Mr. Planche's interrogation, "Do you remember my Baroness in 'Ask No Questions?'" "Yes, indeed; I don't think I ever saw a piece of yours without being struck with your barrenness." His quiet put down of one who majestically interposed between two excited disputants, and who had begun by saying to them majestically, "Gentlemen, all I want is common sense." "Exactly; that is precisely what you do want." His adding to an order for a bottle of old port, "Not elder port!" His answering a tipsy gent who staggered up to him in the street with a hiccupped inquiry as to which was the way to the judge and jury, "Straight on, young gentleman; keep exactly in the way you're going and you're sure to get there!"

Badly Hurt.

Not long ago, a gentleman connected with one of our railroad corporations, while taking a ride through one of our country towns, accompanied by an Irish servant, had the misfortune to have his vehicle smashed, and himself and his companion thrown to the ground, by his horse taking fright and running away. The gentleman was somewhat bruised, but not seriously. His principal loss was that of his wig, which had been shaken off; and on picking himself up, he found Pat in a much worse position, holding on to his head with the blood trickling through his fingers, which he was surveying with the most ludicrous alarm and horror.

"Well, Patrick," said the employer, "are you much hurt?"

"Hurt, is it? Ah, holy mother, sir, dear, do you see the top of my head in my hand?"

Pat, in his terror and confusion, had mistaken the gentleman's portable head-piece for his own natural scalp, and evidently regarded his last hour as arrived.

The Height of Impudence.

A Paris correspondent relates a story which may be taken as an illustration of sublime impudence. He says that a gentleman walking with his little boy on the banks of the river, the child slipped over the bank into the water, and would certainly have been drowned but for the courage of a man who was fishing, who jumped in and saved the boy. The father thanked him cordially, but asked him if he would add to the obligation, as he was already wet through, by swimming out for his son's cap!

The Christian View of It!

A prisoner in the Tombs wrote on the wall of his cell: "In New York City, the spires of 342 churches, worth $41,130,000 point heavenward. I'm here for stealing a loaf of bread for my starving child." A "christian" would say that in a city with 342 churches, that man had a good chance to be taught that it was wrong to steal. Three hundred and forty-two churches and most likely he had never been to one of them.

Solomon City, Kansas, is a hard place for husbands. One day last week five wives left their better halves without adieux, and went back East to "live with mamma."

Fat equestriennes who ride in Rotten Row, London, are called by an ungallant American "mounted blanc-mange."

Notice to Housekeepers.

Fortune Telling.

An exchange says:

Fayetteville, N. C., is waging legal war upon clairvoyants, astrologers, seventh sons and daughters, and fortune-tellers generally whom it punishes for obtaining money under false pretences.

There is no doubt but that these people people are terrible nuisances, and sometimes do a good deal of harm. A married woman goes to consult one of the fortune tellers; she cuts the cards and jabbers away something in the following style: "You've had trouble with your husband about a dark man, the dark man loves you, there's a good deal of scandal, and if there isn't any cause for it now, there soon will be. Here you are, and here's the dark man, he's following you. Here's your husband, he's in company, and here's a fair lady that he seems to be following, there's something between them more than you know of. Here you are, and here's water, and here's the dark man, he's always near you, can't stay away," and so on. Now this isn't healthy talk at all, and is apt to put bad ideas into a foolish woman's head, and very often she works out her own bad fortune in the manner first suggested to her by this card-cutting fraud.

Matter of Fact Woman.

A most matter of fact death of a woman is reported in Chicago. She had been sick for some time and feeling better the the other morning sent her husband to market to purchase sundry articles. On his return home she said, "Did you get the veal?" "Yes," "And the cauliflower?" "Yes." "What did you pay for them?" He answered so much. "That was about right," answered the prudent wife, then turned her face in the bed, and died almost instantaneously.

Irreverent.

An Irishman, attending a Quaker meeting, heard a friend make the following announcement: "Brethren and sisters, I am going to marry a daughter of the Lord." "Och! 'n ye are! said Pat; "faith, it 'll be a long time before ye see yer father-in-law!"

Greeley will get all the votes in the Tribune office except the man who sets up the copy; he has been waiting for years for a diabolical revenge, and now finds his opportunity.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night, Miss Ada Gray will make her first appearance in California in the last New York sensation entitled "Article 47." The play is in four acts, the story is exciting, and the character of Cora Delafield affords much opportunity for good acting. Miss Ada Gray will be supported by W. J. Coggswell, Harry Constaine, W. Simms, Miss Fanny Young, Miss Maggie Moore and others of the Metropolitan Theatre company. The furniture in the drawing room scenes is from the house of N. P. Cole & Co.

Alhambra Theatre.

Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels have departed, and now Maguire's California Minstrels take the field. All must confess that this is a brilliant combination, comprising as it does Bob Hart, one of the most famous Ethiopian comedians in the world, who will make his first appearance in California to-night; Delehanty and Hengler, the great song-and-dance men; Cool Burgess, the most original of comedians; Charles Sutton liveliest of end men and clever in general business; Add Ryman, stage manager, and here, there and everywhere acts, stump speeches, etc.; Sam Rickey, the California comedian, and comical of burnt cork character actors; M. Ainsley Scott, fine bass singer and general actor; J. G. Russell, the finest baritone in the minstrel profession; Willie Hayes pleasing in popular ballads, and last though not least the favorite prima donna of many a burnt cork opera bouffe and always popular balladist, Miss Fanny Gibson. These and others will appear to-night in the capital bill given on our first page.

Bella Union.

The revival of the Reynolds Brothers' most original act of "The Happy Hottentots" was a good idea as was proved by the shouts of laughter and applause it drew on Saturday night and again last night. J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong made a hit in their new Dutch act; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell, H. Sinclair and J. H. Larkin caused much amusement in the farce of "Blicke and Jinks;" the new play of "Wanted a Husband" was quite a success, and altogether the new bill gave general satisfaction and will draw crowded houses.

American Theatre.

"The Milliner of San Francisco" has proved a popular hit. It will be presented this evening with a varied programme of songs and dances, and the moral drama of "The Drunkard," will also be played.

Mercantile Library Hall.

Dr. Payne, professor of phrenology and a philosophical student of nature, will deliver the first of a series of lectures at Mercantile Library Hall this evening. The subject will be "Love, Courtship and Marriage," with illustrations of well matched and ill-matched couples. Dr. Payne's lectures are decidedly popular, combining amusement and instruction.

Piano-Forte Recital.

The delightful pianiste, Miss Anna Mehlig, will give a piano-forte recital at Platt's Hall, on Saturday at 2 P. M. A fine programme will be performed. Seats can be secured on Friday without extra charge. Chas. Fritsch has the management of this as of the other Mehlig concerts.

City Gardens.

The German musical festival was well attended yesterday. Next Sunday the Germania Rifles, Steuben Guard and San Francisco Fusileers will hold a grand united festival at these gardens.

Woodward's Gardens.

An immense crowd visited these beautiful Gardens yesterday, when the famous Buislay Family were announced to make their first appearance in seven years. There could not have been less than eight thousand people in and about the mammoth Pavilion at the time the performance was going on. The programme was well carried out. August and Joaquin Buislay gave the finest performance on the trapeze ever witnessed in this city Etienne Buislay and two sons, one a little mite of seemingly three years old, did some acrobatic feats, and then Fredrica Buislay, looking very attractive in blue satin and silver fringe, gave a graceful performance on the trapeze. The thrilling exhibition of "The Spiral Mountain and ascending Globe," by Etienne Buislay, concluded the entertainment in the Pavilion, and the immense crowd flocked to the amphitheatre to witness a balloon ascension by August Buislay, the hero of a hundred flights. We have always insisted that the climate of San Francisco is delightful but we must confess that it is bad—for balloons. It is next to impossible to send up a Mongolfier balloon on this side of the bay late in the afternoon, the high wind tilting it over and letting the hot air out. This was the case yesterday afternoon. Next Sunday the balloon will be filled at two o'clock, before the wind springs up, and an ascension will doubtless be successfully accomplished. Even without a balloon ascension all present yesterday must confess that they had twice the worth of their money.

George Francis Train.

George Francis Train, "next President of America," will visit San Francisco next week, "on his way to the White house," and will hold mass meetings at Maguire's Opera House. As there is more sound sense as well as sensation in Train's lectures than is generally heard in political speeches, thousands will go to hear him.

Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels.

Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels, fifteen in number, after concluding a highly successful engagement of ten weeks at the Alhambra, in this city, left this morning for Philadelphia, via Niagara and Erie Railway. Messrs. Simmons, Slocum, and the other members of the company gained hosts of friends, both off and on the stage, during their short sojourn in this city.

Testimonial.

On Saturday, Sam Wetherill, the manager of the Alhambra Theatre, was presented with a pair of sleeve buttons by the members of Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels as a token of his many kindnesses to them. The buttons are of California gold quartz. The Call's critic calls them "solitaire sleeve buttons," but then he thinks "solitaire" means gold quartz.

Anatomical Museum.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

A real Havana at Marks Wilzinski's "Bulletin" Cigar Store, northeast corner Bush and Kearny, is a real Havana. Nuff ced.

THE THEATRICAL SUPER.

Not long since "The Undergraduate" was played before an audience largely composed of young gentlemen from Cambridge and Oxford, who resented the slightest departure from what they considered the actual life at Alma Mater. It is very difficult to get supers at a few shillings a week to represent with much exactness the dons in an English University, and so the piece was "damned" there and then, and withdrawn from the stage. The super is a peculiar institution, like unto ex-American slavery. With him salary is literally no object, it is so small. The manager cannot be expected to come down handsomely for an employee who has a mere half-hour's actual work or play. Therefore it happens that the super divides his usefulness between the mimic and the actual, eking out a timid existence on minimum receipts. Cities only are his abiding places, for the minor towns cannot afford him at all except as he is improvised; and if now and then a super strays beyond the area governed by a city ordinance, his senses are regaled by a new revelation of the wondrous possibilities in trees, fields, rivers, mountains and barns. He is not long in his business; in time he advances to a "part," or sprouts off into new employment, leaving room for others to fill and be received with discouraging cries of "supe," "Romeo," "soldier," etc.

The life of a super is little varied, albeit he is in the same evening perhaps a peasant of France and a Roman soldier, a follower of Pizarro, or an adherent of Richard III. He has, as it were, a front seat at all good acting, and a back seat in real living on his "few shillings a week." But what thrills the auditorium, calling forth plaudits, seems terribly commonplace to the super. As one of Jack Cade's bondsmen, Marc Antony's audience, Lydia Thompson's crowd of retainers, or in the changing splendors of "Roi Carotte," he has ever a part to do, a cue to watch, a "few shillings" to earn.

His lesson, like that of all mortals, is that of patience, only that he must commit and practice it in a pre-eminent degree. The gibes and scurrility of juveniles and adolescents must not disturb the equanimity of his mind, and he must maintain an outward seeming which is childlike and bland, although internally smarting under the often well put sallies of the coarser of those who see but never hear him. This nightly lesson impresses itself in his daily walk and conversation, rendering the super quiet, forgiving, long-suffering, helpless.

Old Established Merit.

The oldest established shirt manufactory and the best in the city is the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Everything in the way of gentlemen's furnishing goods at the lowest prices.

In Place of a Club Room.

There are social clubs in San Francisco, but they are of an exclusive character, and it is not in their rooms that the wits and good fellows about town most do congregate. The Lick House Saloon is more like a club room than anything else. It was always beautiful, and the late improvements have made it perfectly gorgeous. The walls have been beautifully frescoed, a magnificent velvet carpet imported directly from Brussels has been laid down, and the artistic carvings executed in California laurel, the costly glass and silver ware, the mirrors and statues, give this symposium a most brilliant appearance. The wines and liquors are the very rarest and best, and Messrs. Porter & Lewis understand their business so well that everyone feels at home. The Lick House Saloon is one of the institutions of San Francisco, and should be seen by all. B

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Sheber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. Y

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a Branch of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street.

Everybody Goes There.

The place to buy a hat is The Hat Store, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. The stock is immense, the fashions are the latest, and the prices are the lowest.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

A Modern Melnotte.

The "heir-apparent to the Emperor of Morocco" is in trouble. He came to Paris in 1867, and was reputed to be wealthy; by some means he became acquainted with the clergy, who introduced him into the fashionable society of the Faubourg St. Germain. Here he won the heart of a baroness with a fortune of two million of francs and an honored name. They were married, and lived happy, until one day when the prince was leaving his mansion with his wife for a promenade, a policeman on his beat stopped, exclaiming, "Joly, my boy, how are you!" putting out his hand for a shake. His Highness was shocked, but the Blue concluding that something was wrong, insisted on his friend Joly explaining, when the deception was discovered. He is now being tried, and strangest of all, his wife loves him and believes him to be a real prince, and not an ex-detective.

Theodore Tilton says in his paper: "Save me from a God who damns." An acquaintance replies: "We would like to do it, my boy, but the thing is impossible."

This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahmen, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.
W. A. Macondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.
E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $126,000.
Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.
D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.
Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.
Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.
Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.
H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has re-opened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

A Heartrending Appeal.

The Brooklyn (Alameda county) Home Journal of the 2d inst. has an appeal which would touch a heart of stone. From it we gather that it has a rich subscriber—a bloated female aristocrat; also that it has a newspaper carrier who is sick; that this newspaper carrier before he became a newspaper carrier was climbing the ladder of fame, but he doesn't do so any more. We moreover gather the painful fact that this bloated aristocrat does not pay for the Home Journal. We have only room for a portion of this appeal, which reminds us so much of—

"You house erected on the rising ground.
With tempting aspect drew me from my road—
For plenty there a residence had found,
And grandeur a magnificent abode."

Oh, Lady Fair, you who live in the lap of luxury—you who have a fine house, fine garden, fine fruits, fine horses, beautiful children and a noble husband—do not be discourteous, do not be hard with those who call upon you unobtrusively and with politeness on their life's errand. It is hard enough on that sensitive youth—once bright and gay and proudly climbing the ladder of fame, with the lamp of promise shining brilliantly before him, but now struggling with fell disease for dear life—to call month after month for the small pittance that your local newspaper claims, and patiently listen to the put-off words "Call again" twenty times a day, without listening to hard and inconsiderate words where he naturally expects kindness and encouragement. Have consideration, Fair Lady, for the paper you now despise may be a comfort to you and yours when you may least think of caring for words of sympathy.

Pretends to be Shocked.

The Sacramento Bee is a very particular journal. It published among its local items last week the following:

HORRIBLE.—The name by which a whisky saloon—at the very entrance to the Cemetery—is known, is the "Paradise" saloon. Can anything more revolting be imagined?

Is it possible that the Bee can really be shocked at this pleasing flight of fancy on the part of the proprietor of the whisky saloon in question? Doubtless in choosing this name he was led by a desire to extol the the excellence of his liquors, Paradise being the home of good spirits.

Jones's Idea of It.

Smith, a red-hot Republican, all smiles, met Jones at the restaurant this morning, and the following conversation took place between him and that unswerving Greeley Democrat:

SMITH (exultantly)—Mornin', Jones. See the election returns this morning? North Carolina is all safe, ha! What d'ye think of the election there now?

JONES—Think? Why, I think it took Grant's office-holders a d—d long time to fix things so that they could give the State to the Republicans. Our boys would have done it in half the time.

As a Matter of Course.

"Strauss is fond of dogs."—Ex. Of course he is. There never was a man worth anything who was not fond of dogs. All great writers, all great musicians, all great poets, all good men, are fond of dogs. All low, mean, insignificant mongrel-bred men dislike dogs.

A SCHOLAR AND A GENTLEMAN.

The Alta newspaper hates with a deadly, malignant hatred any one who can justly lay claim to the title of "a scholar and a gentleman." It looks with suspicion on any one who speaks English grammatically, and carefully avoids employing any but "self-educated" men on its editorial staff. In Tuesday's issue it had a savage "editorial note" about the case of Robert Gordon Milne, spoken of as a scholar and a gentleman, who was found guilty of the theft of half a gallon of wine in Anaheim, and sentenced to the Los Angeles chain gang. It says:

Los Angeles, among its other attractions, offers to men of letters the privilege of getting drunk and disturbing the public peace without danger of suffering the same punishment meted out to the ignorant multitude. For several days our telegrams from that town have informed us of the mortification of public sentiment in the Angelic community over the discovery that the Police Judge had sentenced a graduate of English Oxford to the chain gang.

Mentioning the fact that he was released on Saturday after working nine days, the Alta continues:

We draw two inferences from this action: first, a scholar may make a beast of himself in Los Angeles with impunity; and secondly, the District Judge and the District Attorney together hold the pardoning power in Los Angeles.

The Star tells the story of the heinous offence for which this gentleman was condemned to the chain gang:

He visited an Anaheim vineyard to purchase a half gallon of wine; no one was at the premises but some women, who declined to draw the wine for him; he proceeded to draw the wine for himself and offered payment which the women refused. He then poured the wine out on the ground and left. When we consider the abundance of wine at Anaheim this seems a slight offense and not sufficient to merit $50 fine or twenty-five days in the chain gang. This man would well grace the office of Mayor of any city, and Los Angeles would do herself a world-wide credit by placing this very member of the chain gang at the head of our municipal affairs at the next election.

The Alta would gladly institute a crusade against all men of education and decent bringing up and does not scruple to suppress and misrepresent the facts in this case because the victim of this severe sentence for an indiscretion happened to be a graduate of Oxford University. An English gentlemen's flunkey would receive most courteous treatment at the hands of the Alta, and be accepted as a "high-toned gentlemen," that paper being unable to distinguish between a thorough-bred gentleman and a "gentlemen's gentleman," and the sight of a men of birth and education working in the chain gang would afford that paper exquisite pleasure. We verily believe that the grammatical language in which Mr. Gordon's communication to the Star was couched, was the chief cause of the Alta's savage attack on him. The Alta utterly abhors anything above a "common-school education" and all men who have had grandfathers.

H. G.'s Penmanship.

The latest and one of the best anecdotes of our friend Mr. Greeley shows how desirable it is at times to be able to write one's name legibly. Soon after arriving and entering his name on the great register of a hotel in the town where he was to deliver a lecture, an elderly countryman came into the office, and, after examining the register, asked if Dr. B—— was in.

"No such person here," said the clerk.

"No such person here?"

"No, Sir."

"Young man," said the elderly one, with solemn tone, "don't lie to me. It won't do. You can't fool old Gill Parks. Dr. B—— has been here, sure, and pretty drunk too, I reckon, for he's left one of them air Latin prescriptions of his on the register!"

And he looked down again at H. G.'s autograph.

Peevish Woman!

There is a woman in Illinois who wants a divorce simply because her husband beats her with an iron boot-jack. Of course she won't get it, but the application goes to show how unreasonable some people are.

An Artiste Gone.

The intelligent donkey which assisted Mr. G. L. Fox at the Globe Theatre, Boston, in "Humpty Dumpty," died July 1st, from the excessive heat.

Luckily we have an intelligent donkey in San Francisco, who can assist at the performance of "Humpty Dumpty" at the Metropolitan Theatre, so this vacancy in the company will be filled. Our San Francisco donkey has appeared hundreds of times on the stage in "Arrah na Pogue," burlesque of "Mazeppa" and other pieces, and always played his part to perfection.

Only Too Happy.

Alexandre Dumas, pere., was one day asked by a friend to contribute ten francs for the funeral of a bailiff who had died in destitute circumstances. "What!" exclaimed the great novelist, "ten francs for burying a bailiff! Here are one hundred francs—bury ten bailiffs."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"Article 47" has made a decided hit, and Miss Ada Gray has captivated the public of San Francisco. Another large audience was present last night, and the play went off better even than on the first night. In the original French play the sympathy of the audience is more fully enlisted for George Duhamel than in the translation, as it is made to appear that he did not draw a pistol on Cora, but that she attempted to shoot him, and in the struggle the pistol went off and wounded her while George was attempting to take it from her. The translation has altered this incident in order to give Cora some excuse for her terrible persecution of her former lover. The play is a very interesting one—quite as much so as "The Red Pocket Book," which had such a run at this theatre.

Alhambra Theatre.

A crowded house listened last night to the learned discourse of Senator Hart on the Darwinian Theory and other matters. Cool Burgess, Add Ryman and Charles Sutton fairly brought down the house in "Tomatoe;" Delehanty and Hengler were encored again and again in their artistic dances, and the very laughable sketch of "The Baby Elephant," in which Bob Hart, Sam Rickey, Miss Fanny Gibson, Add Ryman, Charles Sutton, J. Robinson and J. Kemp appeared, terminated one of the best bills of the season. It will be given again to-night.

Bella Union.

The Reynolds Brothers in their great act of "The Happy Hottentots," Charles Coriell in "The Cove what Spouts," Jennie Johnson in her serio-comic songs, Maria Zoel and Miss Josephine in double song and dance, Mrs. Charles Coriell in "Driven from Home," "One Night in a Barroom," "Blinks and Jinks," "Mme Gassyneger," and the farce of "Wanted," a Husband," are some of the attractive features in the programme to be given this evening.

American Theatre.

Josie Mayfield in ballads, Tommy McLaughlin in jigs, Miss May Leroy in fancy dances, and many others, will appear to-night. The programme comprises the popular plays of "The Milliner of San Francisco" and "The Drunkard." "The Murder of the Ku-Klux Klan" is in rehearsal.

Pacific Hall.

The first of the series of orchestral concerts given at Pacific Hall last night was largely attended. The programme was a well-arranged one and and the music was beautifully performed. One of the gems of the performance was the entre acte "Rosamunde," by Schubert. Miss Helen O. Dingeon gained applause for her canzone in the first part, and in the second part was forced to yield to the demand of the audience and repeat Maeder's "Sons of Home." Those who stayed away from this concert because they thought the music would be too severely classical for their taste and comprehension made a mistake by which they were the losers. All could understand Schuman's delicious "Reverie," and the stirring "Cavalier's Trot," and the joyous "Blue Danube Waltze," most certainly be pronounced "popular music." The next concert will be given on Sunday evening.

Mercantile Library Hall.

Dr. Payne delivered the second of his series of star lectures last night, and the audience were well pleased with both subject and style. Many of them will doubtless pay more consideration in future to the observance of the golden rules of physical life as said down by Dr. Payne. The third lecture will be delivered this evening, and will consist of a description of the throat, lungs, heart and other organs, with their uses and abuses.

Benefit of Signorina Speranza.

Signorina Adelina Speranza, the popular prima donna, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Platt's Hall on the 15th. Signora Assunta Speranza, a prima donna contralto, will appear on this occasion for the first time in public in this city. Other artists of acknowledged talent, as well as the pupils of Maestro Speranza's Musical Institute, will also appear at the same time. The concert will be given under the directorship of Senor Speranza.

Joe Murphy.

Joe Murphy opened in "Help" at the Opera House, San Jose, on Monday to an immense house, many being unable to obtain admission. "Help" suits the San Jose people exactly, and they flock to see it. Joe Murphy is the only star who could draw a house in San Jose, and he feels rather proud of his success.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Buislay Family attracted over 6,000 people on Sunday. They perform again Saturday and Sunday. The Carlie Brothers perform Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, when skates are free.

In Place of a Club Room.

There are social clubs in San Francisco, but they are of an exclusive character, and it is not in their rooms that the wits and good fellows about town most do congregate. The Lick House Saloon is more like a club room than anything else. It was always beautiful, and the late improvements have made it perfectly gorgeous. The walls have been beautifully frescoed, a magnificent velvet carpet imported directly from Brussels has been laid down, and the artistic carvings executed in California laurel, the costly glass and silver ware, the mirrors and statues, give this symposium a most brilliant appearance. The wines and liquors are the very rarest and best, and Messrs. Porter & Lewis understand their business so well that everyone feels at home. The Lick House Saloon is one of the institutions of San Francisco, and should be seen by all. B

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a Branch of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. •

Ocular Demonstration.

In the eighteenth century Judge Powell, in England, meeting the Bishop of Gloucester, who was a firm believer in apparitions, said to him:

"Since I saw you I have had ocular demonstration of the existence of nocturnal apparitions."

"I am glad you have become a convert to truth," said the bishop; "but do you say actual ocular demonstrations? Let me know the particulars."

"Last Friday night I was suddenly awakened by an uncommon noise, and I heard something coming up stairs and stalking directly toward my room. The door flying open, I drew back my curtain, and beheld a feint glimmering light enter my chamber."

"Of a blue color, no doubt?"

"The light was of pale blue, my lord, and followed by a tall meagre personage, his locks hoary with age, and clothed in a long loose gown; a leathern girdle was about his loins, his beard thick and grizzly, a large fur cap on his head, and a long staff in his hand. Struck with astonishment, I remained for some time motionless and silent. The figure advanced, staring me full in the face. I then said, 'Whence, and what art thou?'"

"What was the answer—tell me—what was the answer?"

"The following was the answer I received: 'I am watchman of the night, an't please your honor, and made bold to come up stairs to inform the family that their street door was being open, and that if it was not soon shut they would probably be robbed before morning.'"

A Judgment on San Jose.

The people of San Jose live chiefly on pork, a meat which has the effect of making people stupid and obstinate. It flies to the head, like whisky, and makes them pig-headed. No wonder those people don't care anything about music and the drama. Now a judgment has fallen on the city. The Mercury of the 4th has over half a column of pleasant Sunday reading, headed "Trichina Spiralis," telling how Mrs. Harrison, of San Jose, discovered trichina in a ham. This ham was not grown in San Jose, but came from Chicago. It was found to be swarming with trichine. The Mercury says that the discovery of the existence of these parasites in Illinois destroyed the trade in that part of the country. It thus expresses it:

The consequence was that a large quantity of hams, bacon, shoulders, etc., were left on hand. Some of it was inspected and destroyed, but the most part was still held, and the increasing California demand has induced some conscienceless dealers to ship the deceased meat to this coast.

We don't know how the Mercury can sell pork alive with trichina, "deceased meat." We hope this judgment which has fallen on the chaw-bacons of San Jose will lead them to live cleanly henceforth, to change their diet and become æsthetic in every way.

Very Pretty!

The Call's amateur critic, whose amusing blunders have found their way into the columns of the Eastern press, supplies more food for laughter in his notice of the first appearance of Miss Ada Gray, in which he says "and the withering words of rage were depicted to the life." To depict withering words of rage to the life without a paintbrush certainly requires some skill. We wonder if the proprietor of the Call doesn't "depict" "d—n it!" sometimes, when he reads the blunders of his cheap critic.

Old Established Merit.

The oldest established shirt manufactory and the best in the city is the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Everything in the way of gentlemen's furnishing goods at the lowest prices.

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. Y

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the O. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of Figaro among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices. •

A real Havana at Marks Wilzinski's "Bulletin" Cigar Store, northeast corner Bush and Kearny, is a real Havana. Nuff ced. •

DISCORDS.

It had some grains of truth, at least,
That fable of the Sybarite,
For whom, because one leaf was creased,
The rose-strewn couch had no delight.
I think not even sanguine youth
Expects its gold without alloy;
But this is still the sober truth:
A little pain can mar much joy.

'Tis pity that one thwarting thought,
One adverse chance, one sudden fear,
One sharp regret, can turn to naught
The full content that seems so near!
But this strange life of ours abounds
With notes so subtle, they afford
A thousand discords and harsh sounds
For one harmonious, perfect chord.

"A Barking Dog Never Bites."

Never be afraid of a barking dog, as he is a class of the canine species who never bites, and is better known as the cur-dog. There are a class of men just like the above dog, who are continually blowing about what "they're going to do," etc. Yet they never accomplish anything, from the fact that they consume so much of their time worrying and fretting about what their neighbors are doing that they have no time to attend to their own affairs. They bore all their acquaintances about "putting a head on" some one," or they'll "make him sick," or perhaps with "I'm going to warm him," etc. This class of buncombe blowers are not worthy of notice; never pay attention to their talk; it is like so much gas they have to get rid of in some manner, and they take this method. They are more to be pitied than otherwise.

Not So.

Loafers don't make their bread.

Fast men don't get on in the world.

Men who are always indulging in "smiles" are not the happiest.

Love isn't fattening because it increases a man's sighs.

A loose companion isn't afraid of getting tight.

A theatrical supe isn't always a broth of a boy.

Polite Man!

Of course this didn't happen in California, where men are always polite to ladies. A man entered a railway carriage, seated himself next to a lady, and pulling out a pipe and some tobacco asked: "Madam does the smell of tobacco annoy you?" "Yes sir," answered the lady, "very much indeed." "Then you'd better get out," said the man, "for I am going to smoke."

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Clean Your Walls.

James C. Sellers, whitner, 31 Second street.

Got his Answer.

It doesn't do to ask your wife conundrums because women are so perverse that they won't always give the expected answer. The Indianapolis Evening News says that a man in that city has decided to cease conundrum making. The other day he asked his wife why he was like a donkey, and she said because he was born so. This reminds us of a conundrum which a friend of ours put to his wife—he was always struggling to get at something verbally atrocious. "My dear," he said, "why am I like one of Martin Farquhar Tupper's books?" "Because you're so stupid," was the instant reply. He hasn't been so much of a first-class idiot since.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Macondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $126,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $23,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.

H. D. Coswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

Another Way.

The Sacramento Bee of Monday had the following among its dispatches:

Rumor has it that a Vigilance Committee has been organized in San Francisco, to put down ruffianism. Doubtful.

This will not be necessary if all juries will perform their duties as conscientiously as the coroner's juries lately impanelled have done. These in several instances, instead of beating about the bush, and saying that "Tom Jones came to his death by injuries received from a pistol in the hands of Bill Jackson," or something of that kind, have brought in verdicts directly charging man-slayers with wilful murder. Now, if the jury in the higher court will cease to trouble their heads as to what will follow their verdict, and be content with bringing in a verdict in accordance with the evidence we shall have no need of a Vigilance committee. When juries cease to abrogate to themselves the duties of judges, and simply confine themselves to those strictly appertaining to their position, murders will cease for a time. It will be as well for the moral health of the community to have at least six hangings in the next six months, but these can be accomplished by due process of law, if jurymen will do their duty instead of commiting perjury through a sickly humanity. With murders occuring almost daily it is full time something was done, and we hope that it will not be found necessary to compose the jury, in the many murder trials to come, entirely of idiots with no regard for the duties which they owe the community.

Go Slow.

A man in a mint was once told that he might take away one pocket-full of gold, if he would run straight home with it and not stop by the way nor touch his pocket. So he filled his largest pocket full of gold and started for home. But as he was running down a little hill, the gold hung heavy, tore off his pocket, and fell down in the road. When he had got home and found his gold and his pocket gone together, "Alas!" said he, "had I taken less, I should have more." All the real fun that we ever get, we must take in by little, temperate pocketfuls. If we overload once or twice, that ends the matter. That pocket will never hold any more fun at all.

Willing t Be.

Muffington while crossing the Bay on the Oakland boat yesterday, was addressed by a gentleman as follows: "I beg your pardon, sir, but are you not Michael Reese." "No, sir," replied Muffington, "I am not—but I have often wished to be."

Rather Thin.

The hay crop must be a failure in some parts of Lower Canada, as it is reported that the grasshoppers there have got lame hopping from one blade to another.

Sensible Farmers.

Tobacco juice is said to be the best exterminator of potato bugs, wherefore farmer in Illinois invite their neighbors to "chewin picnics" in their potato fields.

A Timely Present.

At this festive season, a dozen of Squarza's exquisitely flavored punches form a most appropriate present. The egg nog punch saves a great deal of trouble, and is compounded with great skill. His famous symposium is at 20 Leidesdorff, and is presided over by A. Bona, his worthy successor. D

Redeemed Themselves.

The Call's San Jose correspondent speaking of Joe Murphy says:

This California favorite has received a generous patronage from our citizens during his three nights' engagement. The crowded houses that greeted him every night shows clearly that real merit is appreciated in San Jose, the FIGARO to the contrary notwithstanding. Our theatre-going people have been so fearfully cheated by catch-penny shows from San Francisco that they often stay at home when a first-class entertainment comes to town.

All honor to the people of San Jose for going to see Joe Murphy; a number of leather medals ought to be manufactured and distributed among them. Who dare say there is no encouragement given to the drama in San Jose, when "Help" drew three crowded houses and the people laughed—yes actually laughed, didn't smile, but laughed out loud at Joe Murphy's comical acts? We know that the people of San Jose have been cheated by catch-penny shows from San Francisco. One company gave a concert there and then tried to leave town with seven dollars and a half that they had cheated the people of San Jose out of, but they were stopped and forced to disgorge. We hope Joe got away with the money he made, though that will have the effect of of so impoverishing the city that it won't be safe for another show to go there for at least a year. We have been bullied enough by correspondents, and the San Jose Mercury and don't want any more of it. Let us have peace. The San Jose people can appreciate real merit (of a certain kind) and they crowded the Opera House three nights to see "Help" and enjoy Joe Murphy's wonderful bone solo. Now we have hope this persecution of FIGARO will cease. We've done the handsome thing by San Jose and will never say another word against it—until we have good occasion.

A Spartan Mother.

Lovely woman is destined to take her part in all this world's affairs, and no mistake. In the North of England, and near Newcastle, as we are informed by the local newspaper of that town, 500 women were recently assembled to consider the outrageously high prices of butcher's meat, potatoes and milk. The dames and their daughters marched in from every quarter, "carrying banners, fire blowers, shovels and trays, which they continued to beat, making a wild, unearthly music." A matron by the romantic name of May Heatherington was summoned to the chair, and made an animated speech. She declared that hereafter the women would not pay more than 7½d. per pound for choices of beef and mutton, and 6d for inferior cuts, and a penny a pint for milk. Here a pathetic voice exclaimed: "I must have milk for my bairn." But Mrs. Heatherington, with the spirit of a Roman matron, replied: "I have a bairn, and I can make it some flour that will answer the same purpose. If we lose a bairn it is a reparable loss which can be easily overcome." The coolness of this remark must fill even the hard heart of a man with pitiful wonder. There has been nothing heard like it since Lady Macbeth addressed to her lord the ferocious speech about her baby.

Naughty Old Man.

It was very naughty in Dr. Livingstone to call the dark-eyed daughters of Oszembe "dears," and to dwell so lovingly on the fascinating manner in which they tattooed their dusky cuticles; but it was worse than naughty to quote from Hawthorne's English Notes about being "bulbous below the ribs." Inasmuch as the book which he quotes so glibly was not published until after the Doctor's disappearance, we are at a a loss to account for his acquaintance with its contents. Could he have got it from the Book and News Company of Unyanyembe, or trified with its pages at the circulating library of Ugago? An explanation is needed somewhere.

The daughter of a Maine lumberman, in referring to the failure of her father, stated the whole case by saying: "A sudden rise in the river swept our fortunes down."

A Minnesota ex-Governor recently said: "Minnesota has the loudest thunder, the most vivid lightning, and the most splendid Northern Lights, of any of the States."

One of Greeley's Pumpkins!

Mark Twain, in a report of a Farmer's Club, says:

Mr. Greeley exhibited a pumpkin of his own raising. As it embodied his solitary and crowning success, after several years of discouraging failure in pumpkin culture, the club surrounded it with uncovered heads and mingled emotions of surprise, admiration and envy. It was a superb fruit; and when Mr. G.'s hat was placed on it to illustrate size and symmetry; the hat and pumpkin seemed so perfectly adapted to each other, and together produced an effect so startling, that several enthusiastic members swore that they would have known who raised that pumpkin if they had seen it anywhere. It is to be photographed by Gurney, and next year's Tribune subscribers will receive copies. The pumpkin was the flattering product of one bushel of seeds planted on the farm at Chappaqua. Soon after blossoming the vine manifested an inclination to wither. It was, therefore, transplanted to a large flower pot, and removed to the town residence of its founder. For some time it pined and drooped, and they sat up nights with it, expecting that every moment would be its last, but every moment turned out not to be its last, and with careful nursing it finally rallied and came up to maturity, as cherished and tough a pumpkin as ever grew.

AMUSEMENTS. Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night "Article 47," which has proved so great a success, will be presented for the benefit of Miss Ada Gray, and we are sure the public of San Francisco will show their appreciation of that lady's talents by crowding the house. This piece can be kept on the boards but a few nights longer, as Miss Ada Gray is anxious to produce the new piece written for her by De Walden, (author of "Sam" and and other popular plays), entitled "Woman." It will be played at the matinee, and on Sunday evening for the last time. t

Alhambra Theatre.

This theatre is nightly crowded with a fashionable audience. Such an array of talent as Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Delehanty and Hengler, Charles Sutton, Sam Rickey, J. C. Russell and others, forming the combination known as Maguire's California Minstrels, would fill a larger theatre than the pretty little Alhambra. The excellent bill which has proved so popular during the week, will be played at the matinee on Saturday.

Bella Union.

The lively act of "The Happy Hottentots," by the Reynolds Brothers, is received nightly with great applause. Mrs. Charles Coriell pleases every one in her descriptive ballad, with character changes, "Driven from Home." "One Night in a Barroom" causes much fun, and the farce entitled "Wanted, a Husband," which terminates the evening's amusement, is full of life.

American Theatre.

To-night the great sensation drama entitled "Murder of the "Klu Klux Klan" will be produced. A capital first part and lively interlude precedes the dramatic portion of the entertainment.

City Gardens.

The grand festival in aid of the Dominican Friars, exiled from Guatemala, now being held, will continue until Saturday evening. Addresses by the clergy, concerts, balls, games, and sports, will form the programme. On Sunday the Germania Rifles, Steuben Guard, and the San Francisco Fusileers, will hold a grand Military Festival. Two grand Bands will be present. Concerts and games will enliven the day.

Platt's Hall.

To-morrow the world-renowned pianiste, Miss Anna Mehlig, will give a matinee pianoforte recital at Platt's Hall. She will perform a fine programme of music, which appears on our first page. It comprises Prelude and fugue M. by Mendelssohn, Impromptu and variations by Schubert, and selections from the best compositions of Tausig, Shumann, Chopin and Liszt. Seats may be secured at M. Gray's music store to-day, from 6 A. M. to 5 P. M., without extra charge.

Mercantile Library Hall.

A children's matinee will be given to-morrow at Mercantile Hall. Professor Karline will give an exhibition of ventriloquism, a magic lantern exhibition with comic scenes, and the rest of the programme will consist of songs, dances, and other amusing features. As this entertainment is especially for the children they should muster in goodly numbers.

Pacific Hall.

A grand sacred orchestral concert of classical and popular music will be given on Sunday evening at Pacific Hall by a full orchestra of forty instruments, including the band of the California Theatre. The full programme appears on our first page, and we shall call attention to its prominent features in to-morrow's issue.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Buisley Family attracted over 8,000 people on Sunday. They perform again Saturday and Sunday. The Curtis Brothers perform Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, when skates are free.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Free-and-Easy Marriage.

A French avocat has just published a life of Charlotte Corday, from which we learn that Marat, at his marriage, dispensed with both priest and lawyer. He knelt on one knee, took the bride's hand in his, called the universe to witness that he loved Simonne Evrard before all women, and regained his feet a Benedict. This beats the late Gretna Green.

Despite all the efforts of political economists to reconcile capital and labor, current events show that there is a "striking difference" between them.

"Ksptaomeataterin," was the note sent by a farmer to the school teacher, in the potato digging season, to explain his boy's absence from school.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. H

Old Established Merit.

The oldest established shirt manufactory and the best in the city is the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, No. 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Everything in the way of gentlemen's furnishing goods at the lowest prices.

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 817 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. •

We Pass.

The Sacramento Bee of Tuesday tells a story which is to say the least improbable. It thus relates it: A few days ago a young man fresh from the country (or a fresh young man from the country) walked into the tonsorial and bathing establishment on K street and aidling up to one of the employees as stealthily as if he were about to lasso a pig, he drew a greasy pack of cards from his pocket, which he exhibited to the barber with the inquiry, "Kin yer wash them yar keerds?" The knight of the shaving-cup, who rather liked a joke, replied that he had not been fifteen years in the business for nothing, but that the job would cost fifty cents—in advance. The stranger was told to call in half an hour, as it would take some time to iron and dry them. Greeny handed over the four bits, with the remark: "All right, old fel! Here's yer coin; do 'em up brown!" At the expiration of the time he returned, and was handed a pack of cards of the same pattern as the greasy ones, but fresh from the store, in all their unsullied purity. He was delighted with their appearance, and expressed his satisfaction as follows: "Well, dog-on my buttons! ef you Sacramento fellers ain't on it—guess not! So long!" He departed evidently impressed with the virtues of "Sacramento straight."

Ruskin and the Dear People.

Mr. Ruskin is either in in poor health or bad temper—or was, at least, on the 23d of June, when he wrote the following lines from Venice for publication in the current number of Fors Clavigera: "I can't write this morning because of the accursed whistling of the dirty steam-engine of the omnibus for Lido waiting at the Quay of the Ducal Palace for the dirty population of Venice, which is now neither fish nor flesh, neither noble nor fisherman—cannot afford to be rowed, nor has strength nor sense enough to row itself, but smokes and spits up and down the piazza all the day, and gets itself dragged by a screaming kettle to Lido next morning, to sea bathe itself into capacity for more tobacco. This miserable mob which has not brains enough to go aboard a boat without being whistled for like dogs, choking the sweet air with black smoke, which no properly bred human being could endure within a quarter of a mile of them—that so they may be sufficiently assisted to embark, for the washing of themselves, at the Palace Quay.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam send orabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. 0

THE JURY LAW VICTIM.

Summoned to serve on the jury!
Oh, I shall go the bad!
Driven with distraction and fury,
Ruin in prospect, stark mad!
Dragged from the work that's my living,
Other men's business to mind,
I shall no thought have for giving
Save to my own, left behind.

Truly to try they may swear me,
Off my employment when torn;
While my anxieties tear me,
'What can I be but forsworn?
Counsel will vainly harangue me,
Witness depose all in vain,
Judge's charge—though he could hang me,
Naught of my mind will obtain.

As for all criminal cases,
I shall the prisoner acquit,
Like a deaf man's while my place is;
Give him the doubt's benefit.
And in all civil, as hearing
Not either side what they may say,
I shall toss up, that appearing
Nearest for me the right way.

If you'd have juries' attention
To your confounded affairs,
Press men by fortune, or pension,
Freed from life's personal cares.
Idle is all adjuration
When the adjured are not free.
So much for the administration
Of justice you'll get out of me!

Live as long as you may, the first twenty years form the greater part of your life. They appear so when they are passing; they seem to have been so when we look back to them, and they take up more room in our memory than all the years that succeed them.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. z

NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.
W. A. Mccondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.
E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $ 26,000.
Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.
D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.
Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.
Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.
Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.
H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. H

Good Things.

Those who can appreciate anything rich, luscious and piquante, are invited to call in at 330 Bush street, nearly opposite the Alhambra Theatre, and try Jones & Schroeder's celebrated crab chowder, served from 12 M. to 12 at night. CA

The Old Oyster House.

For the last eight years The Bivalve kept by W Bpreen 640 Market street, has been THE fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. The private rooms up stairs are very popular for wedding parties and supper parties. After the theatres call at the Bivalve three doors below Kearny for your oysters.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

Ristori is acting in Paris.

Miss Glyn continues to read with success in London.

Barry Sullivan will likely visit New York this winter.

Signor Brignoli has been singing in concert in London with Miss Nilsson and Mr. Stanley.

There is soon to be a musical festival at Breslau, at which Miss Minnie Hauck is to appear.

A new theatre is to be built in Rome, which is to serve as a model theatre, and as a school for the improvement of the Italian drama.

Miss Matilda Phillips, a younger sister of the favorite American contralto, was to make her debut in "Cenerentola," at Milan, on the 22d of June.

Mr. W J. Florence proposes to return to the United States in the latter part of August. He will bring some novelties, and will go starring. His wife will remain in Europe for a year or two for rest and study.

The "Woman in White" is been fitted for the French stage under the title of "La Femme en Blanc."

A German Musician has discovered that the tone of a violin can be greatly improved by immersing the instrument in lager beer, and leaving it there until it becomes thoroughly saturated. Some of our German musicians believe in lager beer and saturate themselve with it.

The London Athenæum thus speaks of a debutante at Covent Garden: 'M'lle Smeroschei, in one word has neither physical power, dramatic talent, nor vocal ability enough to justify her in aspiring to be a London 'prima donna.'" The San Francisco papers don't treat debutantes in that cruel way. They talk about their "charms of person" if they can't praise their singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bandmann have been well receievd at the Queen's Theatre, London. The Figaro of July 13th, says; "Two stars, of more than average magnitude, have been provided in the shape of Mr. and Mrs. Bandmann, who now return to us after a very prolonged tour in the provinces such as Australia. Both husband and wife are evidently welcome to a large class of play-goers, and justly so; for the actor has an undeniable power of his own, and the lady has a winning sweetness and a womanly grace about her style, which makes her a fair specimen of an ordinary, though popular type of actresses. Mr. Bandmann shows no small power of expression in the scene with Doris Quinault, in act 1, where he tells the sympathetic little actress how his life has been wrecked by his mysterious loss of his beloved wife; but he rants sadly, later on in the piece, when he is conning over the words which are to terrify le Pompadour. He shows himself moreover, to have failed in acquiring the art of repose, especially in his extraordinary introduction, all ragged and dishevelled, to that society which he takes such bitter pleasure in insulting. He succeeds, however, from first to last, in obtaining a good grasp of his audience, by means of a certain rude vigor which, to some extent, atones for his want of refinement. One cannot help wishing that he would not make such grotesquely ugly faces when he attempts to show that he is suffering from strong emotion. A word must be given to the pretty way in which the Queen's confidante, Doris, is played by Mrs. Bandmann.

Mrs. Scott Siddons is at the Theatre Royal, Portsmouth, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Castle and Campbell, the baritone, all of the late Parepa-Rosa English Opera Troupe, left London 9th for Milan.

London dates are up to the 13th. At the Drury Lane, Italian Opera, Auber's "Cnterina" was to be shortly presented, for the first time on the Italian stage, with Marie Marimon as the heroine. Nilsson was to appear but three times previous to her marriage, 27th. The theatre was to close 27th. Covent Garden was also to close 27th, and offered nothing new.

Benjamin Oliver Conquest, long manager of the Grecian Theatre, and the Eagle Tavern, prior to being succeeded by his son George, died 5th, aged sixty-eight. Conquest was once an actor, and acquired his chief celebrity by singing "Billy Barlow" many years ago at the Pavilion for twenty-eight weeks in succession, four times a night...... George Turpin, late box-keeper for twenty-five years at the Haymarket, died, 10th, of dropsy, aged sixty-one......Kate Newton and her minstrel husband, Charley Rooks, had arrived from New York, on a short summer tour......Barry Sullivan gave a banquet, 10th at the Freemason's, to a party chiefly composed of his early friends. The company included Crawford Wilson, William Creswick, Richard Lee, Andrew Halliday, Thos. Spencer, William Sawyer. G. A. Sala, E L. Blanchard, John Oxford, Tom Hood, George Painter E. Boys, and Ambrose Bierce, "the late Town Crier" of the News Letter.

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shober, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. Y

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Notice to Housekeepers.

Leave your orders at the office, 128 Kearny street, the New York Carpet Renovating Co., where Mr. Simon Leopold is the manager. He will make your carpets look as new as when they were first put down, without taking them from the floor or removing the furniture. You had better look to your costly carpets.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.—"Article 47," with Miss Ada Gray as the interesting but wicked Cora, has drawn large and fashionable audiences every evening during the week. It will be played at the matinee to-day, this evening and to-morrow evening for the last time. On Monday evening a drama entitled "Woman; her Charms, her Graces and Follies," written expressly for Miss Ada Gray by Thomas B. De Walden, author of "Sam," and other popular plays, will be presented for the first time on any stage. Those who admire the drama more than pieces which delight the eye, must make the most of the brief season remaining, as "Humpty Dumpty," which we prophesy will achieve a success even surpassing that of "The Sheep's Foot," over which all San Francisco went wild, will soon be placed on the stage.

Alhambra Theatre.—The full performance which has delighted large and fashionable audiences every night during the week will be given at the matinee at 2 o'clock to-day and again this evening. Bob Hart, the most mysterious and learned of lecturers, who would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer; Delehanty and Hengler, the most original, dashing and untiring of song and dance men; Cool Burgess the Prince of burnt cork burlesque business; Charles Sutton, J. G. Russell, and a host of others will appear in a programme which is hard to beat. "The Baby Elephant" sends the audience into fits of laughter and from the time the curtain rises until it falls the fun is fast and furious.

Bella Union.—For variety and excellence, the performance given here can scarcely be surpassed by that at any variety theatre in the United States. A new bill has been prepared for to-night. After a first part concluding with a new walk-around entitled "Sift Sand Sal," Geo. and Charles Reynolds will appear in the double song and dance of "Pretty Black Eyed Kitty;" Marie Zoe and Miss Josephine in double song and dance of a different style; Jennie Johnson in comic songs; J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong in a Dutch act; Mrs. Charles Coriell in one of the beautiful ballads which she sings so sweetly, and with Mr. Charles Coriell in the comical sketch of "Proposition Opposed," others will appear in specialties, and the romantic supernatural drama entitled "The Dice of Death" will terminate the performance.

New American Theatre.—The new play entitled "The Murder of the Ku Klux Klan" has made a hit, and will be played again this evening and until further notice. Cogill and Cooper receive rounds of applause in their double songs and dances, and the entire bill presented is the most attractive one.

Pacific Hall.—To-morrow evening a sacred concert of orchestral music by an orchestra of 40 instruments will be given at Pacific Hall under the direction of Louis Schmidt and Oscar Weil. The attendance at the last proved that these concerts must always be "fashionable," but they should be also popular. The admission to the gallery, where a goodly number of cognoscenti assembled last Tuesday, being only fifty cents, that portion of the house should always be crowded. Five hundred dollars worth of music (that is what each concert costs) for four bits is cheap enough even for San Francisco, where people don't care about paying more for admission to an operatic concert than to a circus. The programme for Sunday is a very fine one. It comprises one of the most taking pieces performed at the first concert: "Le Trot du Cavalier," and selections from Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann and other composers. It appears on our first page. The third concert of the series will be given on Tuesday when Lincoln Vernon, a tenor lately arrived from London, will make his first appearance.

Woodward's Gardens.—The Buislay Family will appear this afternoon in a great acrobatic and gymnastic performance in the Pavilion, and weather permitting, the mammoth balloon will be sent up. To-morrow an extraordinary entertainment will be given by the Buislays, including the Spiral Mountain. The great balloon has been thoroughly repaired, and unless it blows a hurricane, an ascension will certainly be accomplished. August Buislay will go up with the balloon, suspended from a trapeze, and will perform wonderful feats in mid air. As the ascension will take place at an early hour, in order to avoid the interference of the winds which prevails later in the day, it will be as well for those who wish to see it to go early.

City Gardens.—The grand festival in aid of the Dominican Friars, exiled from Guatemala, now being held, will come to an end this evening. Addresses by the clergy, concerts, balls, games, and sports, will form the programme. On Sunday the Germania Rifles, Steuben Guard, and the San Francisco Fusileers, will hold a grand Military Festival. Two grand Bands will be present. Concerts and games will enliven the day.

Miss Anna Mehlig's Pianoforte Matinee.—To-day the world-renowned pianiste, Miss Anna Mehlig, will give a matinee pianoforte recital at Platt's Hall. She will perform a fine programme of music, which appears on our first page. It comprises Prelude and fugue M, by Mendelssohn, Impromptu and variations by Schubert, and selections from the best compositions of Tausig, Schumann, Chopin and Liszt.

Mercantile Library Hall—Fun for the Children.—A matinee will be given to-day at Mercantile Hall. Professor Karline will give an exhibition of ventriloquism, a magic lantern exhibition with comic scenes, and the rest of the programme will consist of songs, dances, and other amusing features. As this entertainment is especially for the children they should muster in goodly numbers.

The Cliff House.—San Francisco should draw crowds of visitors from the Eastern States every Summer. No city can boast such a sea-side resort as the Cliff House; there is nothing like it anywhere else. Captain Foster's dinners and suppers are famous. Hundreds will go there to-morrow.

George Francis Train.—This most original of public speakers, who draws crowded houses wherever he appears, is expected to arrive in this city in time to hold his first mass meeting at Maguire's Opera House on Tuesday evening.

Anatomical Museum.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour can be profitably spent there.

Humpty Dumpty.—Great preparation are being made for the production of the great pantomime of "Humpty Dumpty" by Tony Denier and company at the Metropolitan Theatre. Two or three car loads of machinery for this piece are on their way here and if they arrive in time "Humpty Dumpty" may be produced during the latter part of next week. Burbury, the scenic artist of the Metropolitan Theatre, has been for months past at work on magnificent scenery for the grand transformation scene. Tony Denier has been here for the last week superintending the production of "Humpty Dumpty." It will be presented in a manner equal in every respect to that which characterized its representation in New York, where it ran for 1,000 nights to delighted audiences. Of the leading members of the company the Brooklyn Union of June 11th speaks as follows:

> "Humpty Dumpty."—The enjoyment of pantomime performances is born of perennial freshness in the juvenile breast. The wonderful Ravel Family years ago in "Night Owl," and the "Golden Star," illustrated its fascinations to the American youth of that city, who, now, in their middle age take their children to witness the mishaps of the clown and pantaloon in performances less original or imaginative perhaps, but judiciously modernized to meet the comprehension of critical minds fresh from the study of nursery rhyme books. The most successful of these has been "Humpty Dumpty," which has had a wonderful and unprecedented run of one thousand nights in New York and has never failed to attract crowded audiences. Mr. Tony Denier, whose company opened at the Park Theatre last evening, has also earned a flattering celebrity in the same peculiar line, adding to the humorous buffoonery of the clown's character, an exceptional degree of skill as a gymnast. The performance last night of "Humpty Dumpty" was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic audience, which is not likely to diminish in numbers during the week to which the company's stay in Brooklyn is limited. The highest mental food is the most satisfactory diet in the warm weather, and spectacular divertisements and comic absurdities are found to be a relief from the heavier and more solid entertainments of the winter. The leading members of the company carried through their respective parts with creditable skill. M'lle de Rhona as Goody Two Shoes, and afterwards as Columbine, was very airy and graceful. Mr. Raymond as Harlequin, was also fully up to the requirements of the occasion, Mr. Denier as Humpty Dumpty, was the incarnation of imbecile absurdity, and his tricks and mishaps kept the audience continually laughing. In the first portion of the performance he danced a hornpipe on a slate, and afterwards went through a variety of amusing performances on the same ticklish props. The performance with the Wooden Headed Acrobats also was an excellent feature. The three wooden figures in the hands of Mr. Denier go through nearly through every variety of pose and posture which are performed by circus acrobats. These wooden figures probably are as respectable off as on the stage, and they can twist and stretch and writhe about their master with life-like grace. The other characters, the list of whom is too extensive to discuss in detail, are likewise well adapted to their various parts, and the performance went off last evening very smoothly and satisfactorily.

Horticultural Pavilion.—In our issue of July 27th we gave an extended account of the transformation of the Skating Pavilion on Stockton street into a beautiful Palace of Nature and art. The improvements and additions, of which we spoke are now nearly completed, and on August 22d the Horticultural Society will hold their exhibition there. The Pavilion, when opened to the public, will present a most beautiful and bewildering sight, with its thousands of jets of light, globes of colored glass, flowers, shrubs, crystal caves with miniature water-falls, flashing back prismatic colors cast from concealed reflectors and other novel and attractive features. The demand for season tickets has already commenced and from present appearances the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street will become as popular a resort as that which stood on the square below it was during the Mechanic's Fair. An advertisement describing some of the attractions of the exhibition and giving the price of tickets appears on another page.

Benefit of Signorina Adelina Speranza.—Signorina Adelina Speranza, the popular prima donna, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Platt's Hall on the 15th. Signora Assunta Speranza, a prima donna contralto, will appear on this occasion for the first time in public in this city. Other artists of acknowledged talent, as well as the pupils of Maestro Speranza's Musical Institute, will also appear at the same time. The concert will be given under the directorship of Senor Speranza. The full programme appears on our first page.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.—By referring to another column, it will be seen that this equestrian troupe opened at Nixon's Amphitheatre, Chicago, on the 5th, for a season of three weeks. Mr. Astredo, Chiarini's agent in this city, has secured for him the circus lot, and expects the troupe here immediately on the termination of their Chicago engagement.

Free Lecture.—On Monday evening Dr. Payne of St. Louis, will give a free lecture to the gentlemen of San Francisco on the subject of "The Social Evil." The doctor does not suppose that he can teach them more than they know about this, but he expects to give them a few valuable hints.

Capt. Badger's Central Park, Oakland.—In addition to the attractions of menagerie, museum, gymnasium and skating to-morrow Charles Alper's Metropolitan Band will perform selections of operatic music.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam sand crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

Salt Lake—Theatre was opened for a performance on Tuesday evening, July 31st, when the stage was lighted with gas for the first time. On this occasion Master J. A. McNight presented "for the first time on any stage" his drama entitled "The Robbers of the Rocky Mountains." On the following night Marshall & Co's Royal Tycoon Troupe of Japs performed to a large house, appeared at a matinee on Saturday, August 3d, and gave their last performance in the evening. On the 5th G. D. Chaplin and Miss Jean Clara Walters appeared in Fred G. Maeder's sensation drama entitled "Buffalo Bill." The theatre is now fully lighted with gas.

San Jose.—Joe Murphy commenced an engagement of three nights at the Opera House on Monday, opening in "Help." The house was crowded the first night, but fell off a little the second, and on the third night, when "Handy Andy" and "The Heathen Chinee" formed the bill, was packed full. The Mercury addresses us thus: "Take It Back, Figaro," and goes on to say:

> Thus has San Jose given three immense houses on as many successive evenings, notwithstanding the croakings of Figaro that managers lose money in this city. It is only your scribe, Figaro, that fail to draw here.

We made a humble apology yesterday—that is, as humble as we could—humble in our way—and are glad to repeat that Joe Murphy could draw houses in San Jose, and that the people of that burgh delight in drum concerts and bone solos......On Tuesday evening Mrs. Monroe and her pupils will give the opera of "Lulu" at the Opera House.

Red Bluff.—The Wilton Troupe opened to a good house at Roley's Hall on Thursday of last week, and remained until the 6th. The Sentinel speaks in the highest terms of their performance. It says:

> The Terpsichorean part of the programme more than realized the sanguine expectations of any fastidious skeptic who may have been present.

This is high praise. "A fastidious skeptic with sanguine expectations" would be a sufficiently great curiosity in himself to draw a house. We hope he was there and enjoyed the show. Mr. Wilton writes to report to Figaro that he went from Red Bluff to Weaverville, and that he has engaged the theatre at Eureka Humboldt Bay, for the next Fair, to be held on September 23th. The troupe will also play at Petaluma during the Fair there, commencing about the 9th of September. Mr. Wilton reports business good, but weather is rather sultry, averaging 108 in the shade at the coolest places.

Portland, Or.—The Oro Fino Theatre closed. East Portland Park was opened on Sunday August 4th, under the management of George B. Waldron and J. R. Ladd, with M'lle Cerretta and Ed. Montagne as the attractions.

Stockton.—Edith O'Gorman lectured at Mozart Hall on Tuesday, and lectured again at the same place on Thursday.

Virginia City, Nev.—John McCullough, supported by the California Theatre company, and Mrs. F. M. Bates commenced an engagement at Piper's Opera House on Monday evening, opening in "Richard III." There was a crowded house. On Tuesday, "Richelieu" was played, on Wednesday "London Assurance," and on Thursday evening "Ingomar." "Much Ado About Nothing" will probably be the bill for to-night.

Oakland.—Miss Anna Mehlig gave a concert in Brayton Hall on Thursday evening. The famous pianist was assisted by Miss Helen C. Dingeon and Vernon Lincoln, the English tenor.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, "Robin Hood," by the Lydia Thompson Troupe, was running at Wallack's......At the Olympic, Miss Charlotte Thompson appeared on the 29th in "One Wife," supported by Miss Lizzie Price, Vining Bowers and a good company......Geo W. Thompson and Gofty Gooft are playing in Dutch comedies at the Bowery Theatre......At Wood's Museum, Chanfrau appeared in "Kit" on the 29th ult......At the Union-square Theatre, the Vokes Family in William Brough's charming little comedy of "Kind to a Fault"......Prospective performances at the theatres which remain closed are mentioned elsewhere.

Mrs. Chanfrau, the Aimee Opera Troupe, Mr. Jefferson and John E. Owens are among the engagements effected by Mr. Barrett for the Varieties Theatre, New Orleans.

"The Red Pocket Book" is in preparation at the Boston Theatre, and will be produced at the Arch St. Theatre, Philadelphia, early in October.

"Little Nell, the California Diamond," commences an engagement at the Capitol Theatre, Albany, on September 16th.

The New York Dispatch evidently has no Irish scholar on its staff or it would not have said: "Mr. Joseph Murphy has produced a new drama entitled "Maon Bree." in San Francisco." "Maan Bree" is very bad Irish.

Maggie Mitchell will appear at the Opera House Syracuse, N. Y., early in October.

Mr. Edwin Adams has been very successful at the Academy of Music, Chicago.

Frank Mayo has had a new play written for him by Frank Murdock, entitled "Davy Crockett,".

M'lle Geraldine, who fell while performing the Lulu Sensation at the Olympic Theatre, on the evening of July 19th, fractured the cap of the knee joint, and it is extremely improbable that she will ever be able to appear again.

The Clipper says:

> Lina Edwin's Theatre has been rented for one year from the early part of September for the purpose of playing Billy Emerson's Minstrels there.

Dan Bryant's Minstrels commence their regular season, September 2d.

The San Francisco Minstrels will inaugurate their first season at the St. James Theatre, on August 26th.

"Wall Street" is the title of the new play written by Mr. Taylnure for Frank Chanfrau.

Miss Pauline Markham is engaged for the coming season at Wood's Museum.

Chiarini's Circus Company were to appear at Nixon's Amphitheatre, Chicago, Ill., on the 5th of August for three weeks.

Julien Kent, clown and vocalist, and his wife Fanny Kent, danseuse, and serio-comic vocalist, having severed their connection with Lent's New York Circus, advertise that they can be engaged.

The New York Dispatch says:

> Philip Philips, entitled the "Singing Pilgrim," will receive $2,500 in gold for six months service at the San Francisco church. Religious managers are becoming spirited.

We intend to stop going to church until we find out which of the San Francisco churches has done this thing. We have more than one church in San Francisco, though the Dispatch does'nt seem to be aware of it.

Frank Mayo is now the manager of the Rochester Opera House.

Edwin Booth has cleared $125,000 during the season just closed at his theatre, which will almost cancel the debt incurred in its erection.

Mrs. Bowers, with an efficient dramatic company, will make a three months' Southern tour, beginning in October, under the management of Mr. Spaulding, of Washington.

There are various rumors in regard to the financial success of the Boston Jubilee, but one thing is certain—that no money has been made by the affair. The prices paid to foreign artistes were enormous. Strauss swayed his enchanted bow to the tune of $17,500 in gold. Mme. Peschka-Leutner's notes were as costly as they were rare. She had $7,500, with all expenses paid for herself and husband. Godfrey was paid $3,000 in gold, while his band received about $3,000, including their expenses. The French band received nearly $12,000 and their expenses. Bendel had $1,500 and his expenses. Arabella Goddard came from London through the influence of a New York piano establishment, in their interests, although she was pledged a few thousands from the general fund. Gilmore has obtained glory but not a cent for his herculean labors. However, he has a capital of fame which will develop well in the future.

It is said that Augustin Daly will re-open the Fifth Avenue Theatre on the 29th of August, with a new play by the author of "Saratoga."

Rehearsal of "Roi Carotte" at the Grand Opera House, New York, has commenced. The Majiltons are engaged, and will appear in the new spectacle. The scenery for this piece covers 7,300 yards of canvas.

The Berger Family of Bellringers are home in Jackson, Mich., for the summer.

The New York Mercury says: "Miss Mehlig was at San Jose at last accounts, meeting with good success." The editor of the Mercury does not read his Figaro carefully, or he would not have made this mistake.

McVicker's new theatre at Chicago will be opened August 15th. It has cost $175,000, and is very handsome.

Mrs. Lander is traveling in Europe, and will return in November.

Frank Mayo recently purchased in New York a horse for $.80 which proved to be a very valuable roadster. He is said to have sold him the next day to a New Orleans man for $1,500.

Letters from Fechter to Mr. Schomberg, at Wallack's, assert his speedy return to America, in order to oversee the completion of his new theatre in Fourteenth street.

There will be no regular operatic season in New Orleans next season.

Victorien Sardou's new play, in which Agnes Ethel will opened the season at the Union-Square Theatre, is entitled "L'Americaine." The scene is laid in New York. It will be performed at the Paris Gymnase in August. Miss Ethel has purchased of Sardou the right to produce it here.

Edwin Falls Foster, editor of the New York Dramatic News, died on July 27th of disease of the heart. The last issue of the News received contains a feeling obituary notice of one who seems to have been generally beloved.

Henri Drayton, the well-known vocalist and actor, was stricken with paralysis on Friday afternoon, July 29th, it being his second affliction with that ailment.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. n

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Notice to Housekeepers.

Leave your orders at the office, 128 Kearny street, the New York Carpet Renovating Co., where Mr. Simon Leopold is the manager. A Railway Owned by the People.

Figaro was the first paper published on this coast to propose the establishment of a railroad across the continent the stock of which should be held by the people. In to-day's issue we publish the address of the San Francisco and Colorado Railway Company, and we are sure that the public of San Francisco will give it careful consideration. This railroad promises to be more profitable to shareholders than any other ever projected in this State. It will run through a portion of California which stands in need of railroad communication to bring its immense yield of grain, fruits, wines, and other products to market. Here we have a direct and great benefit to the State. A greater consideration than this, however, in a monetary point of view, is the business the settling of Arizona and the development of its incalculable wealth of minerals and precious stones will bring to the road. At the commencement of the South African diamond fields excitement vessels were chartered to take adventurers from this city to that far-off land. The building of the San Francisco and Colorado Railway will bring a richer field for labor to our very doors. The receipts from future passenger traffic will be enormous. The sooner the stock is all taken up, the sooner will California, and San Francisco especially, reap its reward. Subscriptions have already been received to the large amount of $4,630,000. The confirmation of the report concerning the richness of the diamond fields will cause the emigration of thousands to Arizona from every section of the Union, and renders the building of a railroad to the Colorado a necessity. With the immense capital that the San Francisco and Colorado Railway Company has in hand to back it there can be but little doubt but that that road will be the one which will be built to the Colorado and become the great avenue of travel by which the great overland passenger traffic by the future railroads starting from St. Louis and Texas, will reach San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO AND COLORADO RAILWAY.

Office of the San Francisco and Colorado Railway Company, 305 Sansome st.,
San Francisco, August 10th, 1872

To the Public:—On the 19th ult. this Corporation filed its articles of association, which was organized for the purpose of constructing a railroad from Mission Bay, in the harbor of San Francisco, to the Colorado river, at or near the thirty-fifth or thirty-second parallels of latitude, over the most feasible route, running through the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

Everything being done in conformity with the Statute made and provided for this purpose—the money necessary preliminary to an organization, viz: ten per cent. on one thousand dollars per mile in gold coin, deposited to the credit of the the Treasurer of the Company, in the Bank of California.

The great objects in view in constructing the road were:

First—The furnishing of a great trunk railroad below the snow line from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans, the Pacific end of which should forever belong to the People of the City and County of San Francisco and other counties through which it proposes to run, and, therefore, in sympathy and wholly identified with them and their social and commercial interests.

Second—While it proposes no warfare with any existing railroad interest, it does propose inaugurating a system closely allied with the commercial and industrial wants of our people, ENTIRELY INDEPENDENT OF ANY RAILWAY INTEREST, FREE OF ANY ALLIANCE, PRESENT OR PROSPECTIVE, WITH SUCH AN INTEREST ON THIS COAST OR STATE; AND TO ENTER INTO ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY GUARANTEES WITH THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO THAT ITS RAILWAY SHALL BE HELD AND OPERATED IN ENTIRE CONFORMITY WITH SUCH A SYSTEM.

Third—It proposes to stretch out its arms to meet the on-coming railroads at or near the thirty-fifth or thirty second parallels, and thus hasten the completion of one or both of the Atlantic and Pacific and the Texas Pacific Railroads in from two to three years, and by whatever time we do anticipate their completion, place San Francisco that much earlier in communication with Arizona, New Mexico, and the great Valley of the Mississippi; and in doing this, we propose to extend the hand of fellowship to those roads aiming at those points, to offer them just and equitable arrangements for exchange of business, and in the construction of such a long and expensive line, a moral and financial benefit that it would be difficult to overestimate.

To do this we need the cordial support of the citizens of San Francisco and the counties through which our road runs; and we need and must have the subsidy aid which the City and County of San Francisco is empowered to give to the extent of $10,000,000, and aid from other counties, which have the power in relative sums. We are aware that a great variety of views are entertained as to the best mode of securing the construction of the contemplated road; and we realize that in a matter of such vital importance to the city and State, the most intelligent and honest people may differ as to the wisest plan, and hence we do not deem it proper to charge those who differ with us with being dishonest, or being actuated by unworthy motives. We think we have canvassed all reasonable modes of accomplishing the great work before us. Whatever may have been our views as to the wisdom or desirability of having the City and County of San Francisco and other counties become directly interested in the stock of the company, or collaterally benefited by the creation of a trust for their benefit, we found ourselves confronted with the statute of the State, which prescribes the only way in which aid could be extended to this or any other Railroad Company, via: by direct donation of the bonds of the counties. The following correspondence will place this branch of the subject in a clear, and, we think, unmistakable light:

Office of the San Francisco and Colorado Railroad Company,
San Francisco, July 30th, 1872.

S. M. Wilson, Esq., Attorney-at-Law, Present.—Dear Sir: Our company desires your opinion on the following points, viz:

First—Has the City and County of San Francisco authority to grant a subsidy to aid in the construction of a railroad, and if so, to what extent?

Second—Has said City and County the legal powers to subscribe to the stock of a Railroad Company, and if so, the extent and manner of doing it?

Third—If the city and county aforesaid cannot subscribe to the stock of a railroad company, but can grant a subsidy, is there any legal device by which, in her own behalf or by others as Trustees, or otherwise, for her, she can be legally secured an interest in the stock or evidence of obligation of a railroad company, in consideration of such subsidy? An early answer will oblige

Your obedient servant,

J. MORA MOSS, President.

J. Mora Moss, Esq., President San Francisco and Colorado River Railway Company.—Dear Sir: Your letter of the 30th ultimo was duly received. The questions propounded by you require considerable examination, and their importance demanded the time consumed before making a reply. In view of your request for an early answer the conclusions arrived at are now given, rather than extended opinion. First, the authority to aid in the construction of railroads is given to the City and County of San Francisco by an Act of the Legislature entitled "An act to empower the Board of Supervisors of the several counties to aid in the construction of a railroad in their respective counties," approved April 4th, 1870, and a Supplemental Act approved on the same day. Those provide that the several counties, including the City and County of San Francisco, shall be authorized to aid in the construction of railroads, by the issue of bonds, after the expression of a favorable opinion by the people at an election in the manner prescribed. The validity of these acts is settled by the decision of the Supreme Court of this State in the case of the Stockton and Visalia Railroad Company vs. The Common Council of the City of Stockton, April term, 1871, and being valid, it follows that aid may be granted in the manner and to the extent therein provided. The amount of the bonds is limited to five per cent. of the taxable property, according to its valuation on the assessment roll last preceding the issue of the bonds; and if there is any outstanding indebtedness incurred by granting other aid to railroads, the amount of this indebtedness is to be deducted from the amount of the bonds.

Second—The City and County of San Francisco has no power to subscribe to the stock of a railroad company. The Acts above referred to contain the only provisions now in force authorizing San Francisco to aid in the construction of railroads. The aid contemplated is a donation or subsidy and not a subscription to the stock of a railroad company. Such a subscription is not within the letter or meaning of the law. The power given is simply to issue bonds, and it was not intended that any liability should be created except for the payment of the bonds. The power to become a stockholder involves very different considerations and consequences. It could not be exercised without subjecting the City and County to the same duties and liabilities imposed by law upon other stockholders, and the power can only exist by express grant from the Legislature.

Third—Having come to the conclusion that the City and County cannot directly become a subscriber to the stock of a railroad company under any existing statute and that in granting aid the corporation is limited to a donation or subsidy under the Acts of the Legislature referred to above, I know of no legal device by which the City and County can indirectly secure an interest in the stock; for the law will not allow by indirection what cannot be done directly. Nor can the City and County contract for any dividends or other compensation from a railroad company as a consideration for the subsidy, as that would be to destroy its character as a donation. Any legal scheme to evade the plain meaning of the law would in my judgment prove a mere delusion and snare.

However, the electors of the city have one great power on this subject, which can always be exercised beneficially. The law provides that "the route for which aid is proposed to be granted shall be definitely described" in the notice for the election at which the people express their will on the subject. This gives them the power to designate the termini of the route, and in effect to make the donation dependent on conditions that cannot be evaded. Respectfully,

Your obedient servant, S. M. WILSON.

Intelligent engineering parties will soon be organized and in the field exploring for the best and most direct route to the thirty-fifth and also the thirty-second parallels of latitude at the Colorado river.

It being our purpose to bring this enterprise within the reach of every citizen who desires to sustain an independent railroad, free of any other in the State or of any combination therewith, and our organisation being perfected, as before stated, and subscriptions having been already made to it to the amount of $4,630,000, we now invite the public to call at the office of the company and subscribe to the stock in such sums as may be desired by each individual.

It is due to the citizens of San Francisco and the State that the enterprise should be fairly and intelligently placed before them. We mean business, and have no purpose except what we have herein stated.

By order of the Board of Directors.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Miss Ada Gray appeared last night for the first time in a play written expressly for her by T. B De Walden, entitled "Woman; her Charms, Graces and Follies." A capital house was drawn by the popularity of Miss Gray, and the announcement of a new play. In the first act we are introduced to the following married couples. Felix Vacil (W. J. Coggswell) a bad husband with a good wife, Emily Vacil, played by Miss Mary Watson; Jenkinson O. Blurt (Frank Rea) an elderly domineering husband with a young wife, Mrs. Blurt, played by Mrs. Frank Rea; Tompkins O. Feebel (Willie Simms,) a young and silly husband with an elderly wife, played by Miss Fanny Young. So much for the married people. Miss Lucinda Downright played by Miss Ada Gray, is a strong-minded woman, who has been accustomed to paddle her own canoe, has cultivated her muscle by working in the gold mines of California, and hunting the buffalo on the boundless prairie and now endeavors to right the wrongs of her sex. She is not an enemy of the "tyrant man," however, as is proved by her evident affection for her legal adviser, Mark Manleigh, played in a quietly effective and gentlemanly manner by Harry Courtaine. Miss Ada Gray has some strong speeches to deliver in this character and gave them with telling effect last night; she has also to be handy with a pistol, and she drew that always at the right time. While Lucinda Downright does all the good she can, Mrs. Emily Crawleigh, a designing woman, admirably played by Miss Henrietta Osborne does much mischief. The serious talk is relieved by the scenes in which Esther Westbrooke appears. Miss Maggie Moore played this part in a bewitchingly natural manner seeming the incarnation of fun; she is deservedly a great favorite with the public, is always pleasing and "does her level best with every part she undertakes;" John Woodard caused some fun as an English servant. At the close of the play Lucinda Downright marries Mark Manleigh. Mrs. Vacil gets rid of her bad husband and has the consolation of getting his money, and the respective positions of the other two married couples are reversed; the formerly bullying Jenkinson B. Blurt is a henpecked husband. and Tomkins Feebel, who used to stand in awe of his wife, has turned out a perfect tyrant. This play will be performed again this evening, and at an extra matinee to morrow. To-morrow evening Miss Ada Gray will take her farewell benefit and make her last appearance. "Humpty Dumpty," the greatest of all pantomimes, will be produced on Thursday if the steamer arrives promptly.

Alhambra Theatre.

The new programme at this house drew a large and fashionable audience last night, and everything went off well. The new finale, "Sunshine Clouds and Storm," is very lively. Senator Hart has such a thorough comprehension of the political situation that the party which engages him to stamp the State will certainly carry California. Delehanty and Hengler's "Walking in the Starlight" is one of the prettiest song and-dance acts in their large repertoire. Cool Burgess's new album of fun is immense. Bob Hart's clever impersonation of Hannah in "The Dead Beats" is of itself worth a visit to the Alhambra, and Jadd Ryman's sketch entitled "How Things Get Mixed" is a screaming bit of fun, in which he, Bob Hart, Sam Rickey and T. Hengler are capital. The same bill will be presented to-night.

Bella Union.

"Pretty Black Eyed Kitty" by the Reynolds Brothers; "Dhoze Dwo Dutch Gals" by J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong; "Madame Dumplino," in which Harry Sinclair, Johnny Tuers, R. O. Marsh and Tommy Barton appeared, and "Proposition Opposed" by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell and George Reynolds, are some of the acts to be performed to-night. "The Dice of Death," an exciting melo-drama, concludes a very pleasant entertainment.

American Theatre.

Those who wish to understand Grant's policy in the Ku-Klux-Klan question may perhaps gain knowledge of it from the play entitled "The Murder of the Ku-Klux-Klan," now running to crowded houses at this house. At any rate they are sure to be amused.

Pacific Hall.

The third orchestral concert of classical and popular music under the direction of Louis Schmidt and Oscar Weil will take place this evening. On this occasion Mr. Lincoln, a new tenor, recently from London, will appear and sing two of the favorite ballads of the great English tenor, Sims Reeves: "Good Night, Beloved," by Balfe and "Let Me Like a Soldier Fall," by Wallace. Mr. Lincoln's voice is spoken of in terms of the highest praise in musical circles. The grand orchestra of forty instruments will play selections from Beethoven, Schubert, Strauss, and Wagner and Rossini's beautiful overture to "William Tell." There should be a sufficient number of lovers of really fine music in this city to crowd Pacific Hall in every part. The fashionables are always there but the 50 cent gallery should also be well filled. All can appreciate the music performed, the programme being arranged to suit all tastes.

Maguire's Opera House.

George Francis Train, who, if his popularity can be measured by the houses he draws, is the most popular man in the United States, will hold a mass convention to-night at Maguire's Opera House. He will give the audience his platform and leave it for them to decide whether or not he shall be next President; Grant and Greeley will both be roughly handled by this most original and utterly fearless speaker.

Platt's Hall.

Dr. Payne's free lecture last night drew an immense audience. He spoke well and forcibly on a delicate subject, and interested all who heard him. He will deliver a free lecture, to both ladies and gentlemen, on Monday next at Platt's Hall. The subject will be "Self-made Men."

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Removal.

Newell's Paragon Shirt Bazaar has been doing an immense business for the past year though hidden away up two flights of stairs. Now it has come out in full view of everyone and is established at 136 Montgomery street, Occidental Hotel building, and is now fast monopolizing all the fashionable custom of the city. This Bazaar has become famous for perfect fitting shirts at low prices, and Newell's shirts cover the manly breasts of our best citizens. B

Hoodlumism in Bible Times.

The Alta yesterday, under the heading, "Hoodlumism as seen from a Bible Standpoint," gave a report of a sermon delivered on Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Cunningham at the Central Presbyterian Church. We knew, when we heard that Dr. Cunningham was going preach on this subject what text he would choose. We are sorry that the Alta misquotes it. It says:

—The Rev. gentleman took for his text the 23d verse, second chapter of the Second Book of Kings, referring to Elisha coming to Bethel: "And as he was going up by the way, there came forth forty-two little children out of the city and mocked him, and said unto him, "Go up, thou bald head; go up, thou bald head."

It should read: "And as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children out of the city, and mocked him, and said unto him: "Go up, thou bald head; go up thou bald head." There were more than forty-two of these little hoodlums. If the Doctor is correctly reported by the Alta he read his text very carelessly:

The text was an evidence was of the sad and melancholy degeneracy in childhood—Elisha met by two bears and forty-two hoodlums. Instead of being received with Hosannas reproach was heaped upon him, for it was no fault of his that he was bald headed, yet they cried at him "go it, old baldy!" Though a man of years, experience and wisdom, he was treated as a fool and mocked as if he were an imposter.

Elisha was going from Jericho to Bethel and he was not "met by two bears and forty-two hoodlums," as may be seen by the verse following the Doctor's text: "

And he turned back, and, looked on them and cursed them in the name of the Lord. And there came forth two she bears out of the wood, and tare forty and two children of them.

This shows that a number of hoodlums—more than forty-two—followed Elisha out of the city of Jericho, chaffing him about his bald head. The prophet is not represented in an amiable light. There are some men, who, if pursued by a crowd of little children who called out, "bald head." "Oh, what a hat," "Ain't he a guy?" or other insulting epithets would have paid no attention to them. Not so the prophet: "he turned back and looked on them and cursed them in the name of the Lord." As the preachers say, mark what followed: "And there came forth two she bears out of the wood and tare forty and two children of them." We may hope that these two she bears discriminated between the children who called out "go up, thou bald head," and those who cried "shame," "Let up on the old man," "Lish isn't a bad sort of fellow," etc. We are astonished at Dr. Cunningham's saying that Elisha was met by those bears. If he had read his Bible attentively he would have perceived that the bears were lying in wait in the wood and did not come forth until Elisha began to curse the children. From the Alta's report of the sermon we do not gather that Dr. Cunningham made any point of the bears' tearing these children. He probably thought that the hoodlums of the present day would not be likely to fear a judgment of that kind. Altogether we do not think much of the sermon as reported. FIGARO could preach a better himself and would certainly avoid making such errors as he has pointed out.

Barnum's Pupil.

"Mr. Showman, what is that?" "That, my dear, is the Rynocory. He is cousin German or Dutch relation to the Unicorn. He was born in the desert of Sary Ann, and feeds on bamboo and missionaries. He is very courageous, and never leaves home unless he moves, in which case he goes somewhere else, unless he is overtaken by the dark. He was brought to this country against his will, which accounts for his low spirits when he's melancholy or rejected. He is now somewhat aged, but he has seen the day when he was the youngest specimen of animated nature in the world. Pass on, my little dear, and allow the ladies to survey the wonders of creation as displayed in the ringtailed monkey, a hannimal that can stand hanging like a fellow critter, only it's reserved."

Novel Rehearsals.

Rehearsals of fashionable weddings having met with success, and become profitable to professors of the art, some enterprising undertakers have set about maturing a scheme for the rehearsal of fashionable funerals.

THE OTHER WORLD.

It lies around us like a cloud—
  A world we do not see;
Yet the sweet closing of an eye
  May bring us there to be.

Its gentle breezes fan our cheek,
  Amid our worldly cares;
Its gentle voices whisper love,
  And mingles with our prayers.

Sweet hearts around us throb and beat,
  Sweet helping hands are stirred,
And palpitates the veil between
  With breathings almost heard.

And in the hush of rest they bring
  'Tis easy now to see
How lovely and how sweet a path
  The hour of death may be.

To close the eye and close the ear—
  Wrapped in a trance of bliss,
And gently laid in loving arms,
  To swoon to that—from this.

Scarce knowing if we wake or sleep,
  Scarce knowing where we are,
To feel all evil sink away,
  All sorrow and all care.

Sweet souls around watch us still,
  Press nearer to our side;
Into our thoughts, into our prayers,
  With gentle helping glide.

Let death between us be as naught—
  A dried and vanished stream,
Your joy be the reality,
  Our suffering life the dream.

Wildly Improbable.

The St. Louis Globe says: "Since it was was announced that land was selling in Florida for eighteen cents an acre, several New York editors have purchased acre lots there." We don't believe the story. No New York editor would be so reckless in the expenditure of money while lager sells for five cents a glass, with a hunk of black bread thrown in.

Not Immoral.

Muffington's wife disapproves of his going to masquerade balls on the grounds that they are immoral. Muffington tried to convince his spouse that she was prejudiced in this matter by showing her an advertisement of one in which a prize was offered "for the best character." Mrs. Muffington was not convinced.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Then at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrepins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. • J

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.
W. A. Macondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.
E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $126,000.
Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.
D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.
Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $21,000 to $12,000.
Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $22,000 to $12,000.
Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.
H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 60x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.
Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

WEDNESDAY..........AUGUST 14, 1872

A "B.nteas."

In the Clerk's office at Vincennes, Indiana, is filed a petition for a divorce, on the ground that the petitioner's wife "has run away and gone to Pike county." It concludes thus: "He further says that he has written many affectionate letters, in which he has endeavored to soften her hard heart toward him. At one time he wrote her a letter, of which he here appends a copy:

My dearest Harriet, why have you left me,
  Sighing, weeping, all alone?
With none to talk to or caress me,
  My wretched fate I much bemoan.
My eyes are swollen big with weeping,
  My nose is red and swollen too,
I have, in all respects, the poorest keeping
  Of any man who tries his duty for to do.

And your petitioner says that, in response to all his offers and entreaties, she has refused with scorn and contempt to return to his home. Wherefore he prays your Honor will hear his prayer herein, and forever divorce him from the said Harriet." The woman who could be so unappreciative as to desert such a noble character as this—who could torture a heart which is softer than his head—is unfit to live in a country over which Victoria Woodhull is expected to rule. She should at once be sent to the Cannibal Islands. She would be a tough morsel on a toasting fork.

Mere Tyranny.

It isn't quite so jolly to be a policeman in San Francisco as it used to be. Not long ago a policeman was a regular swell, dressed in the height of fashion; now he has to wear a horrid gray uniform, which hurts his feelings. The Police Commissioners, to tyrannize still further over these unhappy men, have adopted a rule that they shall not smoke or carry canes while on duty. It's no use giving a policeman a gold-headed cane now; he isn't allowed to carry it, and he can't take a cigar! This is terrible. When a policeman isn't allowed to take a drink, smoke a cigar or twirl a cane, what satisfaction can he find in his office?

"The Bells that Rang Nellie a Bride."

Words and music by Fred. Lyster. Price 40 cents. This charming ballad has just been issued, with a fine lithographic title page, at Gray's Music Store, 623 and 625 Clay-st. o

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Notice to Housekeepers.

Leave your orders at the office, 128 Kearny street, the New York Carpet Renovating Co., where Mr. Simon Leopold is the manager. He will make your carpets look as new as when they were first put down, without taking them from the floor or removing the furniture. You had better look to your costly carpets. a

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doc-

Grateful People.

Some members of the dramatic and musical professions are so grateful to critics who try to make points in their favor, who look over their short comings, and enlarge on their merits because they are trying to please the public and always do their best, that it is a pleasure to the critic to keep them before the public. There are others who are so thin-skinned, and utterly unreasonable that when they see anything in print that can possibly be construed into a slight, they forget everything that has been done for them. You may have given them credit for their faculty of making fun and causing laughter, chronicled the fact of their having drawn crowded houses in this town and the other, they take it as their just due. Woe unto you, if you should write a paragraph in which the style of Fechter, Charles Mathews or any other famous actor is spoken of as being better than that of these popular favorites. They consider themselves equal to any actors on the stage, and expect always to be so spoken of. Some of them even say of the critic "if he can't praise me (always), I don't want him to mention me at all." Who can blame the critic if he, irritated at this return for many kindly considerate notes, takes the unreasonable professional at his word, and carefully avoids ever after mentioning his name, unless when absolutely necessary?

Virtuous Indignation.

The Chronicle of Sunday devotes nearly a column of its space to scarifying Miss Frances Rose McKinley's erotic work entitled "Psyche to the Nineteenth Century, a Chant of Love and Freedom." We have not read the pamphlet in question but are willing to take it for granted that it is highly improper. What amuses us is the Chronicle's denouncing it as "dangerous to the community." In the very next column to this indignant protest of the virtuous Chronicle appear a number of "Personals," which are, of course, in that paper's opinion harmless and useful and certainly not "dangerous to the community." Here is one of them:

SAY, YOU HANDSOME MALE GALLANT,
  with BIG red dorg and loveli mustache—
I've looked for thee for long weary days, I love you oh, so dear!
Oh, why did you git up and dust, and walk off on your ear?
Chori-ous—Oh, it's hard to love! It's herd to love!
    You make me feel so queer;
    Why not jine me on "Karny" street,
    You swell heat, de your heer!
      BLUE VELVET DRESS and CAMEL HAIR SHAWL.

The Chronicle deserves much credit for its endeavors to sustain the moral tone of the community by warning the public against Miss McKinley and—publishing the "business advertisements" of ——

A Free Country, Forsooth.

Shall we never see the end of the vile despotism of our court? The latest case of infraction of our dearest rights has occured in a Pittsburgh court, where a man was sent to prison for three months. All he had been guilty of was loading his wife with a forty pound chain, burning her mouth with a red-hot poker, and trying to cut off her ears with a knife which he used for cutting fish bait. If such outrages as this can be perpetrated with impunity by our courts, of what avail is it that our forefathers were shot at Germantown, butchered at Groton, and starved at Valley Forge?

Certainly.

The editor of the San Jose Mercury, who has been abusing FIGARO in such a shameful manner for saying that there is not much appreciation of Music and the Drama in San Jose, in Tuesday's issue of his paper, urges the public to go and hear the operetta of "Leila" sung by children. He says:

Our children can sing, and for our part we had rather hear their young voices than all the prima donnas in the universe. It may be something to be able to boast of having heard Nilsson, Patti or Kellogg, but for real downright enjoyment, give us just such an entertainment as we will have to-night.

That's right. Everyone has a right to please his own taste. No doubt when Miss Anna Mehlig gives her concert the editor of the Mercury will say "It may be something to be able to boast of having heard Mehlig, but for real downright enjoyment give us a good hand organ."

The Difference.

Please illustrate the difference between a blunder and a mistake. Certainly: when a man on leaving a social party takes a poor hat in place of his own good one, he makes a blunder; but when he takes a good hat in place of his own poor one, he makes a mistake.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

There will be an extra matinee performance to-day, and Miss Ada Gray will appear in "Woman: her Charms, her Graces and her Follies." This actress is natural and pleasing even in the unnatural character of Lucinda Downright; W. Simmons finds a part to suit him in the Hon. Tomkins O. Vacil, and causes much amusement, and Miss Maggie Moore is the life of every scene in which she appears. This play will be performed for the last time to-night, when Miss Ada Gray will take her farewell benefit and close her brief but successful engagement. "Humpty Dumpty" is to be produced to-morrow night, when all San Francisco will besiege the Metropolitan Theatre and try to get in.

Alhambra Theatre.

It would be strange indeed if the theatre were not crowded, considering the admirable performance given nightly by Maguire's California Minstrels. All these artistes are first-class, and all untiring in their efforts to please the public. Cool Burgess is never let off under three encores, and has to do his wonderfully grotesque song and dance, "Nicodemus Johnson," every night. Delehanty and Hengler are recalled again and again, and have made a hit in "Walking in the Starlight." Bob Hart is a capital actor, and the most dryly humorous of stump speakers. Sam Rickey in songs, negro acts and dances is capital, and Charles Sutton in both first part and interlude gives general satisfaction.

Bella Union.

Among the many attractive features of the programme for to-night may be mentioned the double song and dance by Miss Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine; Miss Ida Fisk's ballads; Miss Jennie Johnson's serio-comic songs; the Reynolds Brothers' pretty and lively song and dance, "Pretty Black-eyed Kitty;" the extravaganza of Madam Dumpline, and the melodrama entitled, "The Dice of Death;" Johnny Tuers, Harry Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coriell and many others appear nightly.

American Theatre.

"The Murder of the Ku Klux Klan" has proved such a hit that it will probably be retained on the the boards for many nights to come. A first part and interlude of songs and dances and the drama of "The Drunkard" are also given. "The Six Fast Women of San Francisco and the Escaped Nun" is the title of a play to be produced shortly.

Maguire's Opera House.

The Opera House was well filled last night. George Francis Train met with a hearty greeting on making his appearance and at once plunged into an account of his travels and adventures since he last appeared in San Francisco. For two hours he kept his audience amused by a discourse in which he touched on every imaginable subject and treated each in a manner peculiar to himself. Applause and laughter frequently interrupted the speaker. Seizing a moment when the audience became unusually enthusiastic, Mr. Train took the sense of the house on his Presidential aspirations and was nominated for next President of the United States without a dissentient voice. He will lecture at the same place this evening, when he will probably say something about the Vigilance Committee which he is determined to institute before he leaves.

Pacific Hall.

The third orchestral concert, under the management of Louis Schmidt and Oscar Weil, was as great a success as far as the music was concerned as the two preceding ones. Mr. Vernon Lincoln has a fine tenor voice, an admirable style of singing, and a capital stage appearance. His voice has the sweetness which characterized that of Armes Beaumont and considerably more power. His voice is very good in the middle and lower registers, and possesses a sympathetic quality which will make him a popular favorite. The instrumental portion of the performance was very fine, the episode from Tannhäuser being especially well played. The expenses of these concerts is so great, that unless the hall is crowded they entail a loss on the management. We hope that the next will be so well attended that the management will be at least re-imbursed.

Miss Anna Mehlig.

A grand matinee pianoforte recital will be given on Saturday by Miss Anna Mehlig. San Francisco may feel proud of having retained the presence of this distinguished pianiste so long. Every concert has been well attended, and the matinee on Saturday will be no exception to the rule. A programme of fine selections from the works of good masters appears on our first page. Seats may be secured on Friday at Gray's music store without extra charge.

Tony Denier.

This famous clown has been stopping quietly in this city for several weeks, superintending the preparations making for the production of the great pantomime, "Humpty Dumpty," at the Metropolitan Theatre. The company and costumes arrived yesterday by the Panama steamer, and the pantomime will be produced to-morrow evening with all its original tricks and properties, with the following leading cast: Clown, Tony Denier; Pantaloon, Jos. M. Sloan; Harlequin, A. W. Maflin; Columbine, M'lle Linda de Rohne. In January, 1870, when Tony Denier was clown in the Crystal Palace Pantomime, London, Punch endorsed him in the following complimentary manner.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY."—Delighted Punch begs to express his great personal obligations to Tony Denier, the clown in the Crystal Palace Pantomime. Mr. Denier has given Mr Punch a kind of rare pleasure which Mr. Punch, as an ancient paterfamilias, rather "blasé" to Christmas junketings and jollifications generally, whether in the shape of [illegible] or transformation scenes, puddings or pantomime, did not think it was in Christmas clowning to give him.

The Crystal Palace Clown is not only a very surprising leaper and an excellent tumbler—his tumbling having, as all good clowns' tumbling should have, humor, character and meaning in it—but he understands that clown is a great acting part, and he acts it as Mr. Punch has not seen it acted since his dear old friend Joey Grimaldi was permanently engaged for the great Olympic pantomime, vice Momus, discharged. Tony Denier makes out by far the most amusing scenes of the Harlequinade, without one of those silly flip-flap or box trio-s, which are so deadly dull, entirely out of the clown's occupation—of shop-lifting and love-making; and he transacts both with a humor, significance and a drollery combined; which, by themselves, would carry a far worse pantomime; and Mr. Punch is delighted to pay his debt of honest acknowledgment for pleasure received. In short, the management of the Crystal Palace Pantomime have drawn a trump—in [illegible] clown, Tony Denier.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

This great circus, which will arrive ere long in this city, is at present performing at Nixon's Amphitheatre, Chicago. The Tribune of the 6th says: "If horsemanship and gymnastics constitute a circus, then Chicago saw the best circus on last evening that has ever shown here."

Woodward's Gardens.

These beautiful gardens are open daily, and crowds visit them to enjoy the numerous attractions of the seal pond, the menagerie, museum skating pavilion, etc. The Buislay Family will make their last two appearances on Saturday and Sunday. Last grand Skating Carnival, Saturday evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

It Won't Work.

A lady in Dayton, Ohio, was bitten on the leg by a rattlesnake, as she supposed. After drinking a large quantity of alcohol in the absence of whisky, to counteract the effect of the poison, it was found that the the cause of the trouble was a barrel-hoop she had stepped on, and which, in flying up had struck her sufficiently hard to draw blood. Now women in this neighborhood must'nt try the rattlesnake dodge when they want to go on a drunk. It may do for the country but it's a little too thin to work well with the masculine portion of the community. They've had to make too many excuses themselves for that sort of thing to be easily taken in.

Sharp Child.

A New Orleans mother was recently questioning her little girl in geography as follows: "Who first went through the Straits of Magellan?" Daisy quickly answered, "Magellan with his squadron." "What do you understand by his squadron Daisy?" The question was not in the book, but Daisy was ready for the emergency. "Oh, I know; it's one of those women that ain't quite white."

A WIFE'S VICTORY.

"Well, he's gone! In a rage—put on the wrong hat!
I can triumph—the victory's mine!
I had the last word, I am certain of that—
The last look—for I peeped through the blind.
How he spurred up poor Arab and jerked at his head!
I didn't quite hear, but can guess what he said.

"Come, Susan—a novel! Why, girl, you're so slow!
(He's a villain—a monster—a brute!)
You've brought me the Bible—on purpose, I know—
Don't simper and stand like a mute.
(He's a hectoring tyrant!—the words are too weak—Though I talked for an hour, not even to speak!)

"I know I was angry—he sat like a stone!
Wouldn't answer a word that I said!
Then he rose like a monarch who moves from his throne
And left me—I wish I was dead!
Take the novel away—I need quiet and rest
After the storm that has raged in my breast.

"I wish the first word had blistered my tongue;
I was calm till he whistled and smiled;
He ought not to mind it—he knows I am young;
He treats me, I'm sure, like a child.
Quick, Susan! my bonnet—I'll take a long walk.
Come with me, girl—and talk to me—talk!

"Be quiet! your chatter will drive me quite mad!
Don't be cross—I am perfectly cool!
And you blame your poor master because I am sad?
Why, Susan—I think you're a fool!
Should a man stand still and be flayed alive,
Or dance and sing round a mad beehive?

"Go, Susan! you tire me—I'll stay awhile yet,
Till my heart can throw off this dull pain;
I'm so sorry! I'll tell him—I know he'll forget.
Thank heaven! he's coming again!
He sees me standing alone—forlorn—
He springs from his saddle—my pain is all gone!"

A Bar to Bliss.

A Clairvoyant advertises in an eastern exchange her ability to "tell our future and unfold the record of our fate" if we will send our "hair and eyes in a sealed envelope." Alas! we cannot. We are exceedingly to have our future told; we want to have the record of our fate unfolded, but we have no hair— we are bald; and we cannot spare our eyes—we dare not entrust them to a sealed envelope. Some arrangements might be made, perhaps, if the seer would send on a reliable man to take those eyes with him in a carpet-bag; but how to do abou the hair we cannot tell. It is very sad that a man's infirmities can thus bar his way to bliss; but it is so, and we must submit.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrepins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kehman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. J

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. a

NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Mecondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $126,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First Street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $2[illegible],000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.

H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $5,000.

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

Manners.

If men could purchase manners as they do their clothing, it would be a great benefit to the majority of the human race. We are sadly deficient in that respect. We are gruff and morose, and act for the most part as if the world was made for our special benefit, and we were the only one in it. We crowd and jostle along the walk, occupy the largest possible space in the cars, tread on our neighbor's corns, and generally pay no attention to either the persons or the feelings of others. And we boast of being a people of good manners! Heaven save the mark! A company of trained monkeys have as much. We act very like the 'mildest man that ever scuttled ship or cut a throat,' and yet flatter ourselves that we are gentlemen! A man of truly polite manners, and all other things will follow in due time, and society run far more smoothly in its grooves than it does now.

Pretty Expression

The News Letter, the special and authorized organ of the Aerial Steam Navigation Company, takes the Alta's musical critic to task for saying "the composition by Beethoven was to our mind heavily played and wanting in color." Doesn't the idiot who wrote this, know that there is such a thing as musical color? In the same paper we find the following:

> Miss Georgie Loomis, a promising and handsome young lady of this city, is studying for opera bouffe. Miss Loomis is rather a girl still, but it is the opinion of M'lle Aimee that she possesses undoubted ability.

'Rather a girl" is a very pretty expression. The man who wrote it must be rather a donkey.

He and She.

Here is a libel on the female sex:

> The male mosquito lives a short, idle life, doing little harm, and subsisting upon the sweets gathered from flowers, having a dainty preference for lilies, in whose creamy petaled bells he pensively swings. The female is the noisy, aggressive sex, and makes life a burden to these unfortunate mortals encountering her. She stings them, and "beasts" about it, and not content with her own evil career, every month deposits one hundred eggs in some cool, damp place, thus multiplying and perpetuating her kind.

We don't believe that the male mosquito lives on lilies. The story is too thin. How about fleas? Does the male flea live on rose buds?

No Repetition.

"Owing to the peculiar arrangement of the programme no piece can be repeated," was the answer Mr. White received from the landlady with whom he boarded, upon asking for the second piece of pie at dinner.

"The Bells that Rang Nellie a Bride."

Words and music by Fred. Lyster. Price 40 cents. This charming ballad has just been issued, with a fine lithographic title page, at Gray's Music Store, 623 and 625 Clay-st. o

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

An Old Landmark.

The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. z

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. y

Everybody Goes There.

THE place to buy a hat is "THE" HAT STORE, 647 Washington street, the second hat store below Kearny. The stock is immense, the fashions are the latest, and the prices are the lowest. •

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

One of Our Late Editors.

The News Letter, the special and authorized organ of the Aerial Steam Navigation Company, publishes a column of paragraphs from the London Figaro under the head of 'Our Late Town Crier." As Ambrose Bierce was one of the editors of FIGARO at its start, we suppose we ought to do something of the same kind, so here goes:

A daily contemporary has been at some pains to explain the growing unpopularity of women. Fired by the example, I have prepared an elaborate and exhaustive treatise upon some of the causes which have contributed to the unpopularity of eating. It will not be published, however, until eating shall have come into disfavor; and the writer in question might advantageously have exercised an equal forbearance.

The frequent use, by the various London journals, of "unloosen," in the sense of unfasten, suggests the query, What does "loosen" mean? Persons sending replies to this conundrum are warned that no other answer than "fasten" will receive a moment's attention. Americans, however, may give any definition warranted by the spirit of their language.

The postage upon the letters to Russia has been reduced to fivepence the half ounce. This is when the superscription is in English. Letters bearing a Russian superscription will be taxed considerably more; for they may be sent to Patagonia or Madagascar, and to these countries the rates are very high.

The following is from the Daily Telegraph: "Referring to the report of the case, Best vs. Stap, which appeared in these columns of the 8th instant. Mrs. Stap asks us to state that her little boy did not die, but is at boarding school now." Alas, poor boy! It is worse than we had thought.

The new California Theatre Curtain

It is not yet definitively settled that the subject of the new drop curtain for the California Theatre is to be Yo Semite, though that subject has the most votes at present. We think it will be rather heavy. Ponderous rocks and a thin stream of water won't have a pleasing effect on a curtain, however beautiful they may look on the stage. Those in favor of Yo Semite say, "if we are to have a California scene where shall we find one so interesting as Yo Semite?" It is not necessary to have a California scene is it? Wouldn't something from "Lallah Rookh" or "A Midsummer Night's Dream" be prettier than Yo Semite? If a California scene is necessary paint Goat Island.

Death of a dog from Grief.

The Galignani relates the following incident: "The dog of the late Michael Carre, author of "Galathee," and other pieces, after having, as it were, guarded the body, exposed according to custom at the door of the deceased's residence, the faithful animal animal accompanied it to the gate of the Church of Argentil, and then to the cemetery of the village. On returning home it refused every sort of nourishment, lapping only a few drops of water, and at last expired at the door of its late master's study!

A New Song.

San Francisco occasionally adds something to current musical compositions in the way of marches, polkas and pieces of music "arranged" by local musical composers. It seldom produces a new ballad. In another column we publish the words of a new song composed by Fred Lyster and just published by Gray. It promises to become one of the popular ballads of the day.

The Bloom of Youth.

"Charley, what makes your cheeks so red?" asked his sister's admirer of a little urchin five years old. "Cause I put some of sister's paint on. She puts it on every day." It was an embarrassing disclosure all around. At least Charley thought so, after the visitor was gone.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeling is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Booken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night "Humpty Dumpty," which has been for a period of three years the most popular theatrical entertainment in the United States, having run one thousand nights at the Olympic Theatre, New York, will be produced at the Metropolitan Theatre. Burbury has been engaged for months past on scenery for this piece, and all the tricks and transformations with which it was originally produced in New York have been brought to this city. The leading characters will be filled as follows: Humpty Dumpty, afterwards Clown, Tony Denier; Buckle-my-Shoe, afterwards Pantaloon, Jos. M. Sloan; Tommy Tucker, afterwards Harlequin, A. L. Stacey; Goody Two-Shoes, afterwards Columbine, M'lle Linda Da Rhone. There are seven distinct scenes in this pantomime of all pantomimes, for which it is claimed that it contains more tricks and startling changes, inexplicable transformations and laughable situations than any five pantomimes together. We have never had a real pantomime in San Francisco (counting out the Martinettis' French pantomimes), and the introduction of this new style of entertainment will excite a veritable furore.

Alhambra Theatre.

Delahanty and Hengler, Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Sam Bickey, Charles Sutton, and the rest of the brilliant combination known as Maguire's California Minstrels will appear to-night in an immense programme of songs, dances, comic acts, great political stump speech and other specialties. The performance will conclude with Add Ryman's very laughable act, "How Things Got Mixed."

Bella Union.

There is a little of everything in the admirable programme performed at this house: fine music by E. Zimmer's capital orchestra; sweet singing by Mrs. Charles Coriell, Miss Fanny Garretson, Miss Ida Fisk, Miss Carrie Armstrong and others; funny scenes by Johnny Tuers, Harry Sinclair, Tommy Barton, J. H. Larkin and others; original dances by the inimitable Reynolds Bros.; double song and dance by Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine; and concludes with the startling drama of "The Dice of Death." Miss Kennedy, character actress and vocalist, and John Enright, burlesque orator and comedian, are underlined to appear on Saturday night.

American Theatre.

A great variety show is given at this lively little theatre every night. Miss May Leroy, Cogill and Cooper, Miss Josie Mayfield, Harry Howard, George Foster, and a host of others appear in a first part and interlude, and in the dramas of "The Murder of the Ku Klux Klan" and "The Drunkard."

Platt's Hall.

To night a complimentary concert to Signorina Adelina Speranza, prima donna soprano, will take place at Platt's Hall, under the direction of Signor Domenico Speranza. On this occasion Signorina Assunta Speranza will make her first appearance in public in this city. A feature in the admirably arranged programme will be the choruses sung by the pupils of the Italian Musical Institute, whose proficiency is the theme of general commendation among those who have heard them. Signorina Adelina Speranza will sing the Cavatina di Rosina from the opera of "Il Barbiere di Siviglia;" an aria by Bellini, and "El Besito," a Neapolitan song in costume. M. Y. Ferrer, the talented performer on the guitar; Louis Ducber, and Signor Paredes will also assist. The full programme appears on our first page. Seats can be be secured at the hall to-day without extra charge.

Maguire's Opera House.

George Francis Train had another large house last night and gave a stirring discourse on everything in general and himself in particular; the audience were thoroughly interested and amused throughout. This evening Mr. Train promises some startling exposures of the Stock Exchange reasons for a run on the banks and something about the impending panic. He will also give his platform. As Mr. Train has engagements to speak in various parts of the State, he can hold but a few more meetings here.

Miss Anna Mehlig.

A grand matinee pianoforte recital will be given on Saturday by Miss Anna Mehlig. San Francisco may feel proud of having retained the presence of this distinguished pianiste so long. Every concert has been well attended, and the matinee on Saturday will be no exception to the rule. A programme of fine selections from the works of good masters appears on our first page. Seats may be secured on Friday at Gray's music store without extra charge.

Woodward's Gardens.

These beautiful gardens are open daily, and crowds visit them to enjoy the numerous attractions of the seal pond, the menagerie, museum skating pavilion, etc. The Bisley Family will make their last two appearances on Saturday and Sunday. Last grand Skating Carnival, Saturday evening.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

About "The School for Scandal."

The comedy of "The School for Scandal" was first performed at Drury Lane Theatre on the 8th of May, 1777, and was cast as follows: Sir Peter, Mr. King; Charles Surface, Mr. Smith (gentleman); Joseph, Mr. Palmer; Sir Oliver, Mr. Yates; Crabtree, Mr. Parsons; Sir Benjamin, Mr. Dodd; Moses, Mr. Bradley; Trip, Mr. Lamash; Snake, Mr. Packer; Rowley, Mr. J. Aiken, Careless, Mr. Farren; Sir Harry, Mr. Gawdry; Lady Teazle, Mrs. Abington; Mrs. Candor, Mrs. Pope; Lady Sneerwell, Miss Sherry, Maria, Miss Hopkins. The London Magazine says "The School for Scandal," that school which knows no vacation in this world, can never want for scholars so long as life and wit and elegant satire are permitted to house together. "The School for Scandal," indeed, must live. To remember the personages of this caustic and elegant play is to revive recollections of brave wits and elegant satirists, and to keep the best and brightest company." There is doubt however about Sheridan being the author. Moore says: "In a late work professing to be the memoirs of Mr. Sheridan, there are some wise doubts as to his being the author of "The School for Scandal," to which I should not have thought while to allude—it is an old trick of detraction, and one of which it never tires, to father the works of eminent authors upon others. And thus Sheridan must surrender the glory of having written the comedy to a certain anonymous young lady, who died of consumption in Thames street.' Moore has filled several pages with extracts from Sheridan's papers, from which it appears that the play was the result of many and doubtful experiments and arrived step by step to perfection. Miss Farren succeeded Mrs. Abingdon as Lady Teazle, and John Kemble succeeded Mr. Smith as Charles Surface.

Let Her Flap.

This is the way Tilton talks about his sister, Susan B. Anthony: "She alighted, dove like, in the midst of the Cincinnati Convention, and found no resting-place for her pretty feet in that surging flood. She came down upon Baltimore, like an eagle descending from her mountain eyrie to snatch a kid from the flock, but was scared away without so much as one little lamb to flesh her beak upon. At Philadelphia, however, it was otherwise; there she and her sisters found recognition, and upon Philadelphia she drops her benediction, and over its doings flaps her wings." As long as she does'nt come back to San Francisco she may flap over Philadelphia as long as she likes.

THE BELLS THAT RANG NELLIE A BRIDE.

WORDS AND MUSIC BY FRED. LYSTER.

(Subject for a Drama of the same name by B. H. Otx, Esq)

"The sunlight was high on the mountain,
The dew sprent the valley below,
When a maiden gazed in a clear fountain,
Which, reflected, her image did show,
Her face was with pleasure elated,
Her eyes beamed with joy, and with pride,
And she murmured a prayer while she waited
For the bells to ring Nellie a bride.

A hand touched her shoulder: she started,
And turned with a look of surprise,
But somebody roguishly darted
A glance from two honey black eyes.
'Twas William, who on this glad morning
No longer could keep from her side:
So together they wait for the warning
Of the bells to ring Nellie a bride."

A Scientific Revenge.

A terribly scientific revenge was recently taken by a young chemist in Venice named Orlando Farnerini. He loved a young lady, but she loved another, who was a tailor. Orlander owed him money, and sent word he would pay it if the tailor and his betrothed would visit him in his laboratory. The invitation was accepted, and Orlando slyly got them to take part in electrical experiments. He bade them give him their hands, put one pole of a Rumkorf apparatus between the girl's fingers and the other into the tailor's hand, and then joined currents. The lovers fell to the ground in convulsive fits, but Farnerini only laughed. After trying to disengage themselves from the apparatus in vain, in five minutes they became distorted corpses. Fernerini with the utmost "sangfroid" reported the matter to the police and gave himself up.

Clinging Affection.

A Minnesota sheriff kindly allowed a convict to step outside the penitentiary a moment to kiss his wife, and the family tie proved so strong that he has not yet returned, he was quite carried away by the meeting.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearence, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kohman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Mocondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $ 26,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $2 ,000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $21,000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.

H. D. Coggswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $.5,000.

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The production last night of Fox & Denier's world-renowned pantomime, "Humpty Dumpty," and the first appearance of Tony Denier, the famous clown and pantomimist, were attractions sufficient to crowd the Metropolitan Theatre in every part. All the aisles were occupied, and standing room was at a premium. "Humpty Dumpty" was produced last night under circumstances less auspicious than had been anticipated. A. W. Maffio, the harlequin of the troupe, met with an unfortunate accident on the steamer on his way here, a pitch of the vessel during rough weather having thrown him down a hatchway and broken his arm. Then it was found that the gorgeous scenery on which Surbury has been at work for months past in order to be ready for any spectacular piece that might be put on, could not be completed for "Humpty Dumpty," the work on it being too much to accomplish in a hurry. The other drawbacks of a company of supernumeraries unused to pantomime, and a little hitching of tricks on the first night, were of course expected, and the audience had but few of these faults to make allowance for. Tony Denier is a whole show in himself; there never was a clown with such a smile—it is positively pretty in spite of white lead and black paint. His countenance is wonderfully expressive, and every movement is comical. His exhibition of the trained elephant and remarkable performance with the wooden-headed acrobats were great features, and his wonderful dance on stilts drew immense applause. To attempt to describe one-fourth of the funny things which this gifted son of Momus did last night would take up about two columns of this paper. As everyone is going to see "Humpty Dumpty," there is no necessity for us to do more than tell how some of the performers acquitted themselves. Jos. M. Sloan as Pantaloon ably seconded Tony Denier in all his fun, and tumbled about the stage as if made of india-rubber instead of flesh, blood and bones. M'lle Linda de Rhoda made a graceful and interesting Columbine; and A. L. Stacy, who undertook with scarcely any rehearsal the part of Harlequin, deserves credit for the manner in which it was performed. Miss Maggie Moore enlivened one scene in this olle podrida of acts, jokes, songs and music, with a song and dance which she executed in her usual charming style, and another with an artistic clog dance. The transformation scene and tableau with which the pantomime concludes is very pretty. "Humpty Dumpty" will be played to-night, at the matinee to-morrow, and every night until further notice. The performance to-night will of course present a marked improvement on that of last night, first nights of operas and pantomimes being very often far from perfect.

Alhambra Theatre.

To-night, Senator Hart will give a lucid explanation of the "Political Situation;" Delehanty and Hengler will appear in their original song and dance, "Walking in the Starlight;" Bob Hart, Add Ryman, M. A. Scott and J Robinson in "The Dead Beats;" Cool Burgess in his Album of Fun, and Miss Fanny Gibson. Sam Rickey, Bob Hart T. Hengler and Add Ryman in "How Things Got Mixed." This rich and varied melange will be preceded by a capital first part, in which Charley Sutton and Sam Rickey cause much amusement on the ends, and the fine voices of J. G. Russell and Willis Hayes are heard to advantage in popular ballads. The full programme will be performed at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

Mat Kelly's song, "Horace Greeley," is a popular feature in the first part performance at this theatre; the operatic overture arranged by F. Zimmer is very pretty, and the walk-around which concludes this portion of the entertainment is very lively. The act of "Amolet" by Charles Reynolds, Harry Sinclair and Tommy Berton, is very amusing; Mr. and Charles Cordell and George Reynolds are very good in the farce of "Opposition Opposed," and "The Dice of Death" terminates a lively and attractive performance. A great bill is in preparation for Saturday night and two new artists will make their appearance: Miss Kennedy character actress and vocalist, and John Knight, burlesque orator and Ethiopian comedian.

American Theatre.

Cogill and Cooper in "The Two Benjamins" and "Up at Central Park;" Miss May Leroy in popular dances, and the whole company in the sensation drama of "The Murder of the Ku Klux King" will amuse a large audience at this house to-night.

Maguire's Opera House.

George Francis Train expounded his principles and laid down his platform last night to the general satisfaction of all present. Everyone has something to say against George Francis Train; every fool seems to think he has a right to laugh at a man who certainly has a large fund of information and imparts it in a most original style, but everyone goes to hear him. Some of the subjects of his speech to-night are given on our first page. This will be the last appearance but one of Mr. Train in this city.

Miss Anna Mehlig.

A grand matinee piano forte recital will be given to-morrow at two o'clock at the above-mentioned hall by Miss Anna Mehlig, the talented pianiste. The programme comprises selections from the works of Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, Rubinstein, and Liszt. Seats can be reserved to day at Gray's Music Store, and to-morrow at the Hall without extra charge.

Platt's Hall.

A large and fashionable audience attended the complimentary concert to Signorina Adelina Speranza last night. The programme was an excellent one, and was well performed. Signora Assunta Speranza, prima donna assoluta, proved herself an artiste of high artistic culture, and the manner in which the choruses were sung by the pupils of the Italian classical Institute spoke volumes in favor of the system of tuition carried out by Signor Domenico Speranza. Signora Speranza was in good voice and sang charmingly, making a great hit in her Neapolitan song in costume.

Woodward's Gardens.

These beautiful gardens are open daily, and crowds visit them to enjoy the numerous attractions of the seal pond, the menagerie, museum skating pavilion, etc. The Buisley Family will make their last two appearances on Saturday and Sunday. Last grand Skating Carnival, Saturday evening

City Gardens.

A Grand Open Air Concert and Ball will be given in these beautiful gardens on Sunday. There will be a day and evening entertainment.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Slow Work.

The Deacons of the Third Congregational Church, write to the Call to explain the difficulty between them and the Rev. W. C Pond, concerning the admission of Chinese as members of the church. It appears that Mr. Pond did not insist on the immediate admission to the church of Chinese converts. He submitted to a postponement of two months, in order that the job of converting them might be thoroughly completed, but objected on the expiration of that term to a further postponement of six months. We really think that the Reverend W. C. Pond having the care of souls committed to him ought to be the best judge as to whether it takes two months or eight months to convert a Chinaman. If it takes eight months, the progress made in this holy work must necessarily be very slow and very expensive. It takes eight months and a lavish outlay of money to make the average Chinaman willing to be converted, and if he has to wait eight months longer before he is admitted to the church there is a chance of his dying, and the time and money of the church, to say nothing of his immortal soul, being lost.

Rather Crowded.

A few gentlemen of charitable inclination were once visiting some of the tenement houses in New York, and in one room in a basement they found four families established. Accosting an old man who sat smoking his pipe near the door, one of the gentlemen said; "Don't you find it rather crowded with so many in a room?" "Well, well," said the old man, "ther's ownly fower fimilies ov us, an ther was room enough till the ledy in the corner begun to take boarders."

Purifying the Bar.

There is a movement among the reputable members of the legal profession to purify the bar, by getting those who disgrace it struck off the rolls. Strike and spare not, says FIGARO.

Keep Cool.

An Omaha paper advises the people "not to make such a fuss about the shooting of a constable, as there are forty candidates for the office."

ELLA MINE.

The golden stars—the grapes of God—
 Hang trellised in the night.
There ripening clusters brightly shine
 With love's eternal light!
But brighter than these flowers of God,
 That blossom in the skies,
Is the holy sheen, of love serene,
 That dwells in Ella's eyes.

The saintly moon, a maiden queen,
 Sails o'er her jeweled way,
A shining thought of God she seems,
 In regal majesty;
But brighter than the queenly moon,
 That trails o'er jeweled space,
Is the light divine that seems to shine
 In my sweet Ella's face!

The night winds softly sob and sigh
 Upon the bay and shore,
As if they mourned some blissful dream
 That could return no more!
But sweeter than the night winds' song,
 That sighs across the sea,
Are those refrains and melting strains
 My Ella sings to me!

Of all the treasured gifts that God
 E'er gave to man below,
There's nothing like one faithful heart
 With love's pure flame aglow!
See earth, transfigured by its power,
 With Heaven's pure glories shine!
And such a love, from heaven above,
 I find in Ella mine!

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrepins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again,

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

The Laurel Palace.

In London and Paris are many beautiful saloons where wines and other liquid refreshments are dispensed. Search these cities through and it is doubtful whether you could find one equalling in beauty, tasteful adornment and elegance the Laurel Palace, just completed by Mr. George Kahman, at the northwest corner of Bush and Kearny streets. Nothing like it has ever been seen, never was such elaborate decoration lavished on a saloon. The interior is fitted-up throughout with polished California Laurel, and magnificent mirrors reflect its beauties on all sides. The walls and ceilings are frescoed in the most artistic manner, the paintings of scroll work, flags, and clusters of flowers being marvels of the decorative art. The wines and liquors are of a quality in keeping with the costliness of the saloon. Everything is the best that money can procure. Rare vintages of wine, the choicest brandies, and the very best brands of domestic spirits may be found here. A spacious cellar runs under the saloon, and here are stored, in tiers, liquors and wines in the wood. The Laurel Palace will be a favorite resort for those seeking refreshment after the theatre and between the acts, and will be famous as a reliable place for the purchase of family stores, in the way of wines and liquors. NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Macondrey, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $ 26,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Goddard & Co.,* buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $2[illegible],000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $2[illegible],000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000,

H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $.5,000,

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

FRIDAY...............AUGUST 16, 1872

Cowardly. Men of a certain sort delight in slandering women in inventing stories about them such as they would not dare tell about man. It is the existence of such miserable specimens of humanity that has caused all this woman's rights bother. A woman, when a man tells lies about her, cries, "Oh! if I were a man," and this wish to have the power of protecting herself leads her to try to become as much like a man as posibible, hence we have masculine women. The Republican, the organ of George Francis Train in this city, in Tuesday's issue gave, what purported to be, an account of an interview between Miss Frances Rose McKinley and George Francis Train in which long speeches were put into the mouth of Miss McKinley by the Republican man. This was copied into the Chronicle of Wednesday and now George Francis Train states that it was all sheer invention, he never having had an interview with Miss McKinley. This is mean, cowardly and detestable, but if Miss McKinley were to cowhide the editor of the Republican, as a man under similar circumstances would assuredly do, she would raise an outcry against "masculine woman."

Bad Punctuation. People should be careful to punctuate properly. As an instance of what errors bad punctuation will lead to, we refer to the following: A gentleman the other day received a dispatch from his wife, who is sojourning at one of the watering-places down the coast, which should have read as follows: "Dear——, Nurse dead drunk; myself and children sick; come down." Imagine the husband's horror on reading what it actually did say: "Dear——, Nurse dead; drunk myself, and children sick; come down."

"The Bells that Rang Nellie a Bride." Words and music by Fred. Lyster. Price 40 cents. This charming ballad has just been issued, with a fine lithographic title page, at Gray's Music Store, 623 and 625 Clay-st. o

Foreign and Domestic Drugs. Assayers, Bakers, Confectioners, Hair Dressers, Dyers, and all manufacturers needing druggist's articles, will find it to their advantage to examine the cash price list of Stroh, Schmidt & Co., importers, (successors to Hug & Schmidt) 535 Commercial st., one door below Montgomery. Health and Pleasure. There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

An Old Landmark. The Verandah Cigar Store, at the N.E. corner of Kearny and Washington streets, kept by Henry Schmidt, has been famous for the last eleven years for keeping the best Havana cigars, tobacco, choice meerschaum pipes, etc. z

Altogether the Best. It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. Y

Do Not Suffer from Corns. The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 8 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. H

A Terrible Temptation. Max Adeler, in the Philadephia Sunday Dispatch says:

A man in Boston writes to us as follows: "You have drawn prize No. 1,568.000 in the Massachusetts Lottery, being one hundred dollars and a gold watch. Please remit ten dollars, the price of your ticket, and the prize will be sent to your address."

We are glad we have drawn that prize in the Massachusetts Lottery, and it seems uncommonly kind in that Boston man to lay aside a ticket for us without any request upon our part, and then to take the trouble to write about the result. This sort of disinterestedness is so unusual that we should not incline to suspect presence of fraud if it were not for the frank, open-hearted, bland, and child-like manner in which allusion is made to the man's wish to receive those ten dollars. It might have occurred to him, we should think, to deduct ten dollars from the hundred and to send the balance and the watch; but he probably felt an indisposito break a hundred dollar bill, and he may be too scrupulously honest to touch money which is not his own. When we contemplate such exalted virtue as this we feel like going off somewhere and crying. It is pathetic in its grandeur. We will be candid with this self sacrificing philanthropist. We have not ten dollars, and we are not acquainted with any friend of the human race whose kindly feeling would be likely to induce him to lend us such a sum. But we will do better by this Boston man. We have six hundred dollars worth of elegant oil stock, which he may have the very moment he puts one hundred dollars and a gold watch into our hands. We will even agree to throw off the watch if he will come down suddenly with the cash. The territory represented by this stock is immensely valuable to any man who likes to have his land full of holes. It has six perforations to the square yard, and they vary in depth from twenty feet to four miles. A great many potatoes could be planted in one of these holes, or six or seven of these holes can be knocked into one and the land sold as a cemetery. That Boston man ought to buy a graveyard. Persons like him, we think, would be far more useful in the silent tomb than groping around in this cold and selfish world. We know that that he will get the best of the bargain. We know that we shall make a heavy sacrifice, and we know that such liberality is as rare as it is beautiful; but no man in Boston shall outdo us in liberality while we have a solitary share of oil stock left.

Snubbed. Josie Mansfield, the kept mistress of Jim Fisk, Jr., and of his murderer, Edward Stokes, has been "snubbed"—so says a telegram from Saratoga. The "snubbing" process consisted of being refused admission to all the leading hotels at that fashionable place of dissipation. We venture the assertion that when accompanied by Fisk the doors were never closed on the mistress. Fisk being dead, fashionable society rebels against contamination with his mistress.

Stephen Massett Has just written a splendid song and chorus, price 35 cents. It has been issued with a fine title page by M. Gray, 623 and 625 Clay-st. o

Dr. Doherty Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House. Y

Dr. Barlow J. Smith Gives free lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 7½, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health. The best and cheapest place in California for a sick person to get well. Q

Live Well. Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeling is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Sonobong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Oyster Trade. The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. m

SAN FRANCISCO Electric Messenger COMPANY.

THE OBJECT OF THIS COMPANY IS TO furnish Cheap, Prompt and Reliable Messengers for the delivery of notes small packages, and running of errands to and from any part of the City of San Francisco.

Offices will be established in central locations, and a sufficient number of messengers kept at each office to insure prompt attention to every call.

Each subscriber will be furnished with an electrical apparatus, to be placed in some convenient part of the house and connected by a wire with the nearest office. By pressing the signal key notice will be given that a messenger is wanted, when one will be sent forthwith to the place indicated.

Charges are as follows:

For attaching wire and apparatus	$5 00
For use of same per month	1 50
For service of Messenger (per hour or less)	15

The public will hardly fail to discover the convenience of such an arrangement, the advantages of which, in many instances, might supersede the necessity of paying out regular wages for like services.

Wires will be laid and offices established as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained.

Subscription books are now open at Room No. 20, Stevenson's Building, southwest corner California and Montgomery streets.

NEW AND SIMPLIFIED METHOD ....FOR.... PIANOFORTE and SINGING.

MONS. ALEXANDER WOLOWSKI, THE well known Pianist and Vocalist, has the honor to inform his friends and the public of San Francisco that he opens courses for Piano and Singing, by his entirely new and simplified system, the shortest in existence—reading Music at sight, accompaniments of any song by a new march of harmony, as well as the most thorough knowledge of time, by Mons. Wolowski's new invention, which has created a great sensation in the musical world. Ladies and gentlemen desirous to become fine singers or excellent performers can leave their orders at the Piano Warerooms of WM. BADGER, No 13 Sansome street; or, at Mons. W.'s residence, No. 42c Sutter street.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The season at many of the London theatres is drawing to a close. At the Lyceum, Miss Bateman was announced to have closed her engagement July 27th......At the Princess's, Fechter was to have taken a farewell benefit on July 25th, acting Hamlet......At the Queen's, Bandmann and wife were announced for the 22d in "Dead or Alive," a new drama by Tom Taylor......The St. James and Prince of Wales' closed 27th; Royalty, 2 st......At the performance to have been given at the Drury Lane on the 24th for the benefit of the Royal General Theatrical Fund, Sothern was to have impersonated Lord Dundreary, his son Lytton was to have made his debut as Lieut. Vernon, and Edmund Coles, who had returned to London after an absence of two years in America, was to have played Asa Trenchard......At the Strand, Henry J. Byron was announced for the 22d......At the Alhambra, Miss Kate Santley is announced for Sept. 1st as Cunegonde in "La Roi Carotte."......At the Royal Italian Opera, Covent Garden, "Il Guarany" was produced on July 62th and repeated on the 16th, but proved a failure. On the 15th Adelina Patti took a benefit, singing Valentina in "Les Huguenots." Season closed 20th..... At Her Majesty's Opera, Drury Lane, "Le Nozze di Figaro" was performed on the 17th, with Titiens Miss Kellogg, Nilsson, and Signors Rota and Bartello in the cast. The London press compliments Miss Kellogg's singing very highly.

At the London Concert Halls at latest dates Arthur Lloyd was doing nightly turns at the Sun, Pavilion and Royal......Mackney was at the Oxford......At the Metropolitan the Two Headed Nightingale was announced to make her last appearances prior to her departure for America.

Harry Clifton, the comic motto vocalist, died at his residence in London Eng., July 15th, at the age of 51 years. His health had been gradually failing for some years, but he did not take to his bed until the Friday preceding his decease. Mr. Clifton was a native of Hoddesdon and was educated at Chestnut. At an early age he was left an orphan. By dint of superior natural ability and perseverance he soon won for himself a name in the music hall profession, and the popularity which his songs attained is best attested by the fact that even now they are whistled by the street boy, played by every barrel organ, and sung in every town and hamlet in the United Kingdom. Harry Clifton's songs had little in common with the effusions ordinarily accepted as comic. Of all of them we may say that, if not exactly poetical, they are pure and each has a moral tendency. The kindly nature of the man was breathed in his verses. His motto throughout life appears to have been "Help one another, Boys." His generosity was proverbial, and his hand was ever ready to assist a deserving cause. Eight years ago he organized a concert company, and periodically visited the principal cities in the three kingdoms with the most signal success. His loss will consequently be widely felt.

The municipality of Paris has voted 85,000 francs toward the reparation of the Theatre Lyrique, which will cost 500,000

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Has devoted his study more particularly to chronic and specific practice, and as such is now the most successful of any Physician in San Francisco. Office 519 Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below What Cheer House. Y

Dr. Barlow J. Smith

Gives free lectures (to Gentlemen only) every Friday evening, commencing at 7½, at his Hygeian Hall, 637 California st., and examines patients phrenologically as to health. The best and cheapest place in California for a sick person to get well. Q

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeling is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. E

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. m

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

THE ALHAMBRA.—Large and delighted audiences have enjoyed the performance given at this theatre on every evening of the present week. The pie-bald farce, part black and part white, entitled "How Things Got Mixed," with which the entertainment concludes, is exceedingly funny. Bob Hart as Mr. Snoozer does a capital bit of acting; Sam Rickey as Sam Denny is very good, and does some of the lightest dancing imaginable; T. Hengler as Biddy is very amusing; Add Ryman, the author of the piece, causes much laughter as Toby, and Miss Fanny Gibson as the old maid, Mary Jane, does some good acting. The full bill will be played at the matinee to-day, when Cool Burgess, Delehanty and Hengler, and all the bright constellation will appear. W. F. Baker, the celebrated tenor; C. D. Rockafeller, alto and J. W. McAndrews, of whom we hear great things, as a plantation darkey, will make their first appearance on Monday.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The mistakes incidental to the first performance were avoided last night, and "Humpty Dumpty" pleased a large audience present. Scores of startling tricks and transformations, funny little acts, songs and dances and other features make this pantomime very attractive. The Metropolitan Theatre will of course be thronged on the occasion of the matinee performance to-day. All the children in the city want to see "Humpty Dumpty," and children of a larger growth will occupy all the available space this evening. Tony Denier with his wonderful wooden-headed acrobats, gives a most amusing burlesque on the performances given by "Signor Horatio Santi Localitas and sons," and other exhibitions of that kind. The elephant which seemed a little weak in the knees on the first night, appearing not to have quite recovered from the effects of his long sea voyage was in buoyant spirits last night, and gained much applause. "Humpty Dumpty" will be performed to-night, to-morrow night and until further notice.

BELLA UNION.—An immense bill will be presented to-night, and two new artistes will appear for the first time at this theatre. Miss Agnes Kennedy will make her appearance as Kitty Tyrell with songs, supported by Lon McCarty as Tim Malone, and Johnny Tuers as Reuben, a darkey, she will also in the course of the evening appear in a musical hit entitled "Sally on Opera Bouffe," in which she will sing Irish, Scotch and French songs in character. The other new face is J. J. Enright, who will deliver a stump speech on the topics of the day, and afterwards appear in "Shaking up the Wrong Tree," with Harry Sinclair and Tommy Bree; J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong will give "Sword and Doll;" the Reynolds Brothers will appear in "Dew D'Andee;" Josephine and Marie Zoel will appear as "Two Little Crows;" Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corlell in the new and pleasing farce of "N. I. A. B.," and this very varied entertainment will conclude with the two act melo-drama of "Jonathan Bradford; or, the Murder at the Roadside Inn," a piece of which everybody has heard, but comparatively few have witnessed. R. G. Marsh will play Jonathan Bradford, Miss Minnie Fillmore, Ann Bradford; and Harry Sinclair, Caleb Scrimmage: the rest of the cast may be seen by referring to our first page.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—The management announce for a Saturday night attraction the production of a new and original operatic local extravaganza entitled "The Three Fastest Women in San Francisco and the Escaped Nun." This will be presented with new songs, tableaux and marches. A variety performance will be given before the play.

MAGUIRE'S OPERA HOUSE.—Geo. Francis Train will deliver his last speech in this city this evening, and will next week proceed on his electioneering tour through the State. When this lecturer finally retires from the field we may be pretty sure that we shall ne'er look upon his like again. Two Trains could not exist, even in a country as large as the United States.

FREE LECTURE.—On Monday evening Dr. Payne will deliver a free lecture at Platt's Hall. The subject will be "Self-Made Men." Brief analysations will be made of the mental characteristics of Lord Bacon, Jean Paul, Byron, Poe, Humboldt, Dickens, Victor Hugo, Darwin, Webster, Clay, Greeley, Grant and others. Doctor Payne's stay in this city is limited, we understand, therefore those who wish to hear him or avail themselves of his medical skill should not delay.

HORTICULTURAL FAIR.—The Floral Fair of the Horticultural Society of California will commence on Thursday next, in the magnificent Pavilion at the corner of Stockton and Post streets, near Union Square. We have on former occasions described the many beauties of this new place of amusement soon to be opened to the public. Filled with beautiful flowers and shrubs, lighted with thousands of gas jets, and finished with fantastic rustic work, it will seem like fairy land. There will be a promenade concert every day by Schmidt and Schlotte's grand orchestra, a programme of which will be published daily. For the price of tickets and other particulars we refer readers to our first page.

MISS ANNA MEHLIG'S PIANOFORTE MATINEE.—A grand matinee piano forte recital will be given to-day at two o'clock, at Platt's Music Hall, by Miss Anna Mehlig, the talented pianiste. The programme comprises selections from the works of Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, Rubinstein, and Liszt. Seats can be reserved at the Hall this morning without extra charge.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS — THE BUISLAY'S LAST DAYS.—These gardens are open daily, and crowds visit them to enjoy the numerous attractions of the seal pond, the menagerie, museum skating pavilion, etc. The Buislay Family will make their last two appearances this afternoon and Sunday. Last grand Skating Carnival, this evening.

ARRIVALS.—The Idaho, which arrived yesterday with passengers from the Australasian colonies and the Sandwich Islands, brought the following members of the dramatic and musical profession. Mr. and Mrs. Simonsen, who have been absent from this city for many years and whose success in Australia and New Zealand we have frequently chronicled; Miss Alicia Mandeville a sprightly and pleasing burlesque actress and soubrette, whom we have missed from the San Francisco stage; Harry Kelly, a clever Ethiopian comedian, who left here for Australia a little over five years ago, and S. O'Neil, an Irish comedian, popular in New Zealand, who comes to California for the first time. We are at present unaware of the intentions of these artistes, but hope that all of them will soon make their appearance in public.

THE CHILD AMERICUS.—A correspondent of the Gold Hill News, writing from Santa Cruz under date of August 11th, says:

> Last night I went to hear the wonderful Child Americus perform on the violin. He is only four and a half years old, and is the most complete master of the instrument I ever heard except Ole Bull, and nearly equals him. But the joke of it is, although they call it a boy, it is in reality a little girl.

"Jimmy" will punch that correspondent's head next time he sees him, for calling him a girl.

SALT LAKE.—George D. Chaplin appeared in "Buffalo Bill" on the 5th, supported by Miss Jean Clara Walters.

CHIARINI'S ROYAL ITALIAN CIRCUS.—Chiarini's Circus is drawing crowded houses at Nixon's Amphitheatre, Chicago. The papers devote a large portion of their space to a description of the performance given, which they say has never been equalled in that city. Under these circumstances it may be some weeks before Chiarini comes to this city.

CAPT. BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND.—In addition to the usual attractions of the menagerie, Museum, skating in the Pavilion, etc., an open air concert will be given to-morrow by Oberlin Alpers' Metropolitan Band. These gardens are a favorite resort for picnic parties. The Agnew Guard went there last Monday, and had a very pleasant time.

CITY GARDENS.—A grand open-air concert and ball will be given in these beautiful gardens on Sunday. There will be both a day and evening entertainment.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The beautiful weather we are enjoying at present will induce many to pay a visit to the sea side to-morrow and enjoy a dinner at the Cliff House.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

SAM P. Everett, GRASS VALLEY.—Mrs. Zoe Hamilton (see Miss Baker Hamblin,) died in San Francisco, July 18th, 1867. W. H. Hamilton (her husband,) died in San Francisco from overdose of laudanum, March 25th, 1861.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SAN JOSE.—Miss Anna Mehlig gave a concert at the Opera House last night assisted by Miss Helen C. Dingeon and Vernon Lincoln. On Monday Miss Ada Gray, who played such a successful engagement in this city, will open at the Opera House, San Jose, supported by the Metropolitan Theatre company, comprising J. C. Coggswell, John Woodward, W. Simms, Harry Courtaine, Miss Fanny Young, Mrs. Frank Rea, and others. The opening piece will of course be "Article 47," and the engagement will be for three nights.

MARYSVILLE.—Mrs. Duniway lectured on Wednesday evening to a good house. Edith O'Gorman will give her lecture on Convent Life on Tuesday next.

STOCKTON.—George Francis Train will speak at the Theatre on Wednesday.

SAN MATEO.—The Child Americus Concert Troupe gave a concert this week.

SACRAMENTO.—George Francis Train will lecture at the Metropolitan Theatre on Monday evening.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—John McCullough and the California Theatre company entered upon the last week of their engagement on Monday, when the performance was for the benefit of the Magdalene Orphan Asylum. A variety bill was given, consisting of the first, second and third acts of "Hamlet," recitations of "Wife, Children and Friends," by Owen Marlowe, "Sheridan's Ride," by John McCullough, and "Schneider's Ride," by J. C. Williamson, and the farce of "Paddy's Mischief," with J. C. Williamson as Paddy Miles. The following evening "The School for Scandal" was played; on Wednesday, "The Lady of Lyons," and on Thursday evening an original play entitled "The Psychoscope," by J. T. Goodman and R. M. Daggett, of the Territorial Enterprise, was produced for the first time, with new scenery and startling effects. The plot of this play was published in FIGARO some time ago. Virginia City papers of yesterday have not yet arrived so we cannot tell with what success it met. It was to be repeated last night when J. C. Williamson had his benefit.

DENVER, COL.—E. T. Stetson opened at the Denver Theatre in "Neck and Neck," supported by Miss Fanny Morgan Phelps and company, on the 7th; he repeated the performance on the following evening, and took a benefit on Friday. Mr. Stetson is on his way back to California, bringing with him the play of "Buffalo Bill."

PORTLAND, OR.—Waldron and Ladd keep East Portland Park open every evening. Ed Montague and M'lle Garretta give an acrobatic performance. A race in tubs drawn by geese, was arranged for Sunday 11th at the Park, we don't see any notice of its having come off. The Crystal Palace Circus is announced to appear on the 20th. John Wilson's agent has been ahead with notices of the Crystal Palace Circus not calculated to help it much. This circus has done a poor business, as a poor show should.

Old Established Merit.

The oldest established shirt manufactory and the best in the city is the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, No. 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Everything in the way of gentlemen's furnishing goods at the lowest prices.

Car and Steamer News Agency.

A. Kronberg, the news agent for the steamer Capital and the cars of the C. P. R. R., besides attending to the daily distribution of FIGARO among the passengers thereon, supplies them with the latest San Francisco dailies and all the Eastern illustrated papers and magazines, at San Francisco prices.

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street.

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there. The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

F. S. Chanfrau commenced a lengthy engagement at Wood's Museum, July 29th, appearing in his own drama of "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," and has drawn very large audiences. The welcome which was extended to him was hearty and enthusiastic. During his engagement he will produce the new play of "Wall Street," which has been written for him by Clifton W. Tayleur...... The Vokes Family are crowding Union Square Theatre. From August 10th until September 16th, the house will be closed for repairs, and the manager states that it will be re-opened with an attractive comedy company on the latter date...... The Lydia Thompson Troupe have dropped "Robin Hood," and "Blue Beard" was revived on the 12th...... At the Grand Opera House the season opens Aug. 20th, when "Le Roi Carotte" will be produced for the first time in America. The following is the list of the company: John Brougham, Robert Craig, J. W. Jennings, Stuart Robson, James G. Peakes, George F. Ketchum, Martin Golden, Cline Hersee, Rosa Hersee, Bella Golden, Mary Stuart, Anne Yeamans, Emma Dietz, Mrs. John Wood, and the Majilton and Lauri Families....... Booth's Theatre was to open for the season on Aug. 16th, with the play of "The Bells," in which Jas. W. Wallack assumes the part of Mathias. In the company are D. W. Waller, F. C. Bangs, A. W. Fenno, F. Beck, B. Pateman, R. L. Simpson, James Stark, Maurice Pike, Charlotte Crompton, Mary Wells, Bella Pateman, Mary Young, Kate Heathcote, and others. Mr. and Mrs. Boucicault will succeed Mr. Wallack.

The New York Mercury has the following in its amusement columns. We republish it in order to show that a dancer, if she is pretty and good, may marry a senator and be the mother of future senators:

> Ex-State Senator Mike Norton had a son born to him on the 22d. The birth notice specifies the troy weight of the juvenile at 12 pounds 9 ounces and 3½ pennyweights. Mike's wife was Marietta Monticondo, a very pretty Italian dancer at the Olympic, who arrived here last fall and with whom Mike was a fellow-passenger on the steamer. They did star-gazing together in the midnight watches. The lady has quitted the stage since entering political life.

In New York a decided sensation has been caused by the production of an adaptation of Dumas' play of "La Princesse Georges" at the Olympic Theatre, under the title of "One Wife." The papers are loud in their condemnation of the immorality of the play. The Dramatic News says that it caused the greatest astonishment, on these grounds:

> First, that a lady of Miss Charlotte Thompson's standing in social and dramatic circles should accept such a play as the medium for renewing her acquaintance with the New York public; second, that it was possible to find a manager who would permit such a mass of immorality to be produced in his house; and third, that Miss Thompson, A. S. Cazauran and Loraine Rogers could have the audacity to put forth the theory that the language used in the opening of the second act is representative of the after-dinner language of American society. We use Mr. Rogers' name in the above connection from the fact that he published a card in one of the morning papers justifying the production of the piece. We could not, probably, find more fitting words to preface our remarks upon this very highly spiced exposition of vice than the following extract from a leading English review at the time of the production of the original: "M. Dumas' last drama is worthy of M. Dumas' earliest manner and not of his temporary relapse into Spartan virtue just after the Commune. At that time 'the Devil was sick, and the Devil a monk would be,' with many others beside M. Alexandre Dumas; but since Lutetia has grown more herself, reformation is postponed to an indefinite period. Accordingly the author of 'La Dame aux Camelias' reappears in his natural colors and takes up his old position of Surgeon-in-Ordinary to the demi-monde. The Princesse Georges is decidedly of the bagnio; our old flaunting acquaintances are back again; the Seventh Commandment once more comes gaily out, to be chipped into delicate morsels."

The translator, Mr. Cazauran, has, it seems, given a literal translation of this play. A great many things can be said in French without offending which are absolutely indecent in English. Of course the play is drawing like a house on fire, and the "jokes," translated into very "rough" English, are bandied about the streets. The News further says:

> The conception of character is thin and poor. Save Mrs. Vandyke, all the personages are merely mouthpieces through which is poured forth a surcharged stream of sensuality, lewdness and obscenity, and which the adaptor rather facetiously apologizes for as "rather broader than we are accustomed to in America, on the stage." The italics being the adaptor's, we are to take it for granted that it is what we are used to off the stage in American society.

From the unanimity of the papers with regard to the immorality of this play, even of those which scarcely ever criticise but will praise anything, we are sure that Miss Charlotte Thompson has secured a capital piece to star in.

The Clipper publishes a likeness of Henri Drayton, who died July 30th, and gives an extended account of his professional career. He was born in Philadelphia, completed his musical education at the Paris Conservatoire, and made his debut in that capital, singing Bertram in "Robert le Diable," and achieving a triumphant success. He next sang in Italian opera at Antwerp, and made his first appearance in London at the St. James, in French opera. His first appearance in English opera was at Drury Lane, where he performed his famous part of Bertram. Mr. Drayton composed several successful operas, his "Mephistophiles" achieving the triumphant run of sixty-eight nights. His histrionic ability was great, he having acted successfully in London Macbeth, Shylock, Othello, Richelieu, etc.

Lowell & Canning have received a letter from Fechter, who will arrive in New York shortly. George Boniface, as leading man, is the only engagement made for his Fourteenth-street Theatre, and no others will be made till his arrival.

The company at the Varieties Theatre, New Orleans, will be Lawrence Barrett, lessee and manager; Loraine Rogers, business manager; Jane Rignold, Miss Phillippe, Jennie Clifford, George Reignolds, Mrs. Seymour, Harry Pearson, F. G. White, O. B. Hawkins, John Lane, George Metkiff, W. J. Stanton, W. H. Southerd, John Swinburn, Willie Seymour, and others.

The Vokes Family have taken passage by the China, September 4th. They open at Drury Lane September 21st, and will return April 1st, and will travel through the West.

Pauline Markham again goes to Wood's Museum, N. Y., in September.

Rose Coghlin, who recently arrived with the Lydia Thompson Troupe, but who has not yet appeared, will be the leading lady at the Olympic next season.

Edwin Adams will not start with his company until Nov. 18th, at Bridgeport, Conn.

The New York Mercury says: "Laura Keene will visit California professionally in the Fall."

The last Clipper received says:

T. R. Jackson, late of the Metropolitan Theatre San Francisco, Cal., and J. H. Stout, ballad singer, of Simmons and Slocum's Minstrel, recently performing in that city, arrived here during the past week.

Harry Wall, the American actor and manager, returned from England on Aug. 3d. He comes as the business manager of Mr. and Mrs. Dion Boucicault.

Mr. Josh Hart's great spectacle, "Chicago," has caused an immense sensation in the city of that name. The artistic correctness of the scenery, and the splendid manner in which it has been produced have obtained for the piece an unprecedented success.

Messrs. F. D. Davies, the renowned ventriloquist and J. H. Sargent, will open the National Theatre, Cincinnati, Ohio, with a vaudeville company, September 4th.

Hughy Dougherty has made a hit in London.

The season at Wood's Theatre, Cincinnati, will be inaugurated on Sept. 4th. "The Black Crook" will be the first attraction.

The Sisters Olivia and Rose Rand are recuperating at their farm, Mount Vernon, Westchester county, N. Y.

The company at the Holliday-street Theatre, Baltimore, is to be Rose Rand, Olivia Rand, Jane Germon, Florence Orton, May Orton, Mrs. Lowry, Mrs. Wise, J. Leslie Gossin, Geo. Howard, W. S. Lowry, B. C. Smith, F. L. Keller, O. K. Fortesque, E. J. Thorne, James Parsball, and Harry Melmer.

M'lle Bonfanti and her sister sailed for Europe on Aug. 3d.

Billy Emerson's Minstrels opened at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia on the 5th for one week. They are announced to open at the Globe Theatre, Boston, on the 19th.

Jennie Worrell has gone to Europe.

Miss Anna Adams, the celebrated serio-comic vocalist, opens at the Howard, Boston, Sept. 9th.

Charley White opens the old San Francisco Minstrel Hall as a variety theatre about the middle of August.

Miss Rose Hersee, who is to appear in "Carotte" at the Grand Opera House, has been making a great success in opera in the English provinces.

Theatrical Reform.

During the last three or four years Dion Boucicault has advocated in the London papers various reforms in the management of theatres, which called forth quite a diversity of opinion on behalf of the managers. Now that he has turned manager himself we suppose that he will undertake to his theories into practice. As an earnest of this intention we notice the following preliminary announcement in the London Times of a recent date:

> Theatre Royal, Covent Garden.—The winter season of this theatre will commence in the week following the 17th of August. A more precise date cannot be announced until after August 12th. On this evening a performance of "Babil and Bijou" will take place, to enable me to judge when the entertainment may be properly presented to the public.—Dion Boucicault.

This announcement strikes, at once, at the root of a great evil, and in this day of elaborate spectacular effects, of a very great annoyance to the regular theatre-goer. It has been usual on the first nights of a new piece to hear a good deal more of the prompter's voice while the curtain was up, and a good deal more of the stage carpenter's stentorian and not always polite voice when it was down, than was either agreeable or necessary. We have never thought the managers were justified in demanding from the audience the regular prices of admission for witnessing what proved to be only a very tedious and long drawn out rehearsal. Should Mr. Boucicault's idea be adopted generally, and we shall be able to witness upon the first night of a new piece as perfect a performance as upon the one hundredth, the public will owe him a debt of gratitude. The person that pays his money to see the first performance, is entitled to as much perfection and completeness as he who sees the one hundredth.

We Can't Help It.

We have been repeatedly remonstrated with for moussing round after errors in grammar in our contemporaries and had made up our mind to reform. We really cannot cannot pass that expression of Mr. Estee in his criticism of Grant as reported in the Post one day last week:

> He cannot be trusted, because he has unduly exalted the arm of the Government. A military man, knowing nothing of statesmanship, less of politics, and less of the public men of his time, is untotally unfit for the presidency.

We may be hypercritical, we fear we are; isn't "untotally unfit" just a little inelegant, not to say ungrammatical? What does the editor of the San Jose Mercury think about it?

Confident of His Ability.

A Michigan schoolmaster writes: "i wil spel enny man, wooman or child in the hull state, for a a dickshonary, or cash pries of 100 (one hundred dollars a side, the money to be awarded by a kommittee of skool directors. There has been a darned sight of blowin in this district about mi spellin, now I want them to put up or shet up. i wont be put down by a passal of ignoramuses because i differ with noah webster's stile of spellin.

Steadfast.

A dog owned in Brooklyn has been trained to go every morning to the newstand for his his master's morning paper, which was the New York Tribune until lately; but from political motives the paper was changed. The dog, however, refused to touch any paper but the one he had been used to, and returns each morning without any, looking very sad and dejected, and therein shows that it would be difficult to make a politican of him.

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. x

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. H

TAGS.

Some time ago the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco passed an ordinance making it compulsory on every dog whose master wished him to enjoy the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, to wear a tag, showing that these rights had been secured to him by the payment of two dollars and a half by his owner. Now-a-days all respectable dogs wear tags. This is well enough, as they would be impounded and ultimately slain did they not do so. When the fashion of wearing tags by human beings—animals who walk on their hind legs and have immortal souls—first came in we do not know; but it is at the present time alarmingly prevalent in this city. There are thousands of tagged bipeds here. They wear tags of all shapes and sizes, and as a rule wear them in a different manner from the dogs. Nearly all the reporters for the press wear tags bearing the names of their masters; insurance agents wear tags; Masons wear tags, Knights of Pythias wear tags, and members of many other societies have these bits of metal attached to some portion of their person. The object of a man's wearing a tag is, we suppose, to show that he is somebody, the public generally being unable to discover it without seeing his tag. We do not know whether this fashion originated with the employers or the employed, but these badges of servitude are far more frequent than we should expect to find in a free country. If a man is proud of his master and chooses to wear a brass collar with his name on it, it is no one's business but his own; if he thinks it makes him look pretty he is mistaken. There is actually a social club in this city whose members wore tags for some time until they became disgusted with them. We don't like this tag system. We can recognize a good dog without a tag, and don't think a bit more of him because he wears one; in the same way we are not more favorably impressed with a man who wears a tag; in fact the effect on us is not such as would please the wearer—it makes us inclined to whistle for him.

Spiritualism in the Courts.

Ghosts have received legal recognition in England. One James Allen sued an old man named Armstrong for leaving his service without giving notice, and Armstrong pleaded in defence that he was so troubled by ghosts at Allen's house that he could not remain. He said that at night things rattled in the kitchen so that the house was nearly thrown down; he "heard and saw lights;" heavy things rolled over and crushed him in his bed, and a white woman came and scared him nearly to death. The old man evidently had the utmost faith in the reality of the supernatural visitations he described, and the Court ruled that he was justified in leaving under the circumstances, ordering him to be discharged from custody, and to be paid for the time he had actually served. So it has been legally decided that the undesired presence of ghosts in a house is a sufficient reason for voiding a contract.

A Hint to Mothers.

Henry Ward Beecher says:

> You cannot teach a child to take care of himself unless you will let him try to take care of himself. He will make mistakes; and out of these mistakes will come his wisdom.

Of course this must not be carried to extremes. Nothing is so apt to spoil a child as letting him take care of himself in the streets and get run over by a heavy dray.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeling is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bochen, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. m

Refused to be Comforted.

Seated by the corpse of his departed spouse walked a strong man, as if his heart would break. His dishevelled hair was moist with the sweat of agony, and his clenched hands and swollen eyes told how deep and engrossing was his grief. There was also a strong odor of stale gin in the apartment. To him came a man clad in broadcloth and bearing a bundle of tracts, upon the odd page of each one of which was printed the advertisement of a Life Insurance Company, who endeavored to console the bereaved and weeping relic. Then up rose the weeping widower in wrath, and rebuked the Tract Insurance Agent. "You talk of sympathy!" he exclaimed; "you, who were nursed in the lap of Industry, and weaned on the pap bottle of business! O, man! you can never know how great was my loss! She was a pattern wife. Nine years had we dwelt together, during which time I never had to do a stroke of work. Why, you poor wretch! she sometimes made four dollars and a half with her washing! Never, never will I find the woman who can fill her place. And whisky is so derned expensive, now too!" The strong man bowed himself over the remains and sobbed like a child, and the insurance agent turned away with a sigh, nor did he waste a single tract on the broken hearted and distracted widower.

Taking Precautions.

The French papers are full of jokes about Dumas' last novel "L'Homme-Femme." One of the last we have come across is as follows. A man is brought up before the commissary of Police. The commissary says:

"You are accused of having inflicted two stabs with a knife on your wife. What have you to say in your defence?

"I have read "L'Homme-Femme," by Alexander Dumas, fils," replies the prisoner.

"That is no excuse."

"Allow me a word. The author says yes."

"You have then surprised your wife in flagrante delictu?"

"No, sir."

"Has she a lover? Are you sure of that?"

"No."

"Why then did you attempt to assassinate her?"

"By way of precaution," replied this careful student of Dumas.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"Humpty Dumpty" has caused a furore in this city equal to that which it raised in New York. At the matinee performance on Saturday the house was perfectly thronged with ladies and children, and many were unable to get in. Saturday night the same spectacle was presented; another crowded house last night, and the rush continues undiminished. The public know that there can be no run of a thousand nights for "Humty Dumpty" in San Francisco, the engagements made ahead by Tony Denier and company limiting their stay in this city, and that therefore they must lose no time in going to see it. "Humpty Dumpty," which is now working like a charm, will be played until further notice, and there will be an extra matinee on Wednesday to accommodate the ladies and children who could not obtain seats on Saturday.

Alhambra Theatre.

Three new faces will appear at this lively theatre to-night. I. McAndrews, who is spoken of as one of the most original of plantation darkies; W. F. Baker, the favorite tenor, who was formerly a member of Lyster's Opera Troupe, and has since been winning golden opinions in the Eastern States, and G. D. Rockafeller, also. These new artistes with the rest of Maguire's California Minstrels—Bob Hart, Delehanty and Hengler Cool Burgess, Add Ryman and many others will appear to-night in a great bill. Delehanty and Hensler will present their latest production, "I Love You;" McAndrews will appear as the Watermelon Man; Bob Hart will perform the part of Professor Gas io "Nitrous Oxide," and the ever-popular farce of "Pompey's Patients" will conclude the evening's entertainment. A grand spectacular pantomime by J. S. Maffit, entitled "Comanches," is announced for next Monday.

Bella Union.

The new bill produced on Saturday night was an excellent one, and the new artists at once established themselves as favorites. Miss Agnes Kennedy has a very fine voice which she uses with artistic skill, and gained an enthusiastic encore for her song, "You're Looking as Fresh as the Morn, Darling," introduced in the amusing sketch of "Kitty Tyrrel." Miss Kennedy afterwards appeared in a musical act entitled "Sally on Opera Bouffe," in which she sang a burlesque operatic scene in a style which fairly brought down the house. She afterwards appeared as a drummer, and sang "The Bould Sojer Boy" with drum accompaniment; then as a Scotch fish-wife, with song, "Caller Herrin'," and finished by singing a French song in peasant dress. J. J. Enright appeared first in a stump speech in which he caused much laughter, made some good hits, and proved that he had considerable humor; he afterwards did a good bit of old darkey acting in the farce of "Barking up the Wrong Tree." Mrs. Coriell sang "Come into the Garden, Maud," charmingly, and was encored twice. A capital melange of songs, acts and dances by the Reynolds Brothers, Johnny Tuers, J. H. Larkin, Carrie Armstrong and others was presented, and the thrilling melodrama of "Jonathan Bradford, or the Murder at the Roadside Inn," terminated the performance. This was capitally put on the stage, correctly dressed and well played. We must defer an extended notice of it till some other time. The same bill will be played to-night.

American Theatre.

A very long and varied entertainment is given at this house. The latest production is a new operatic, local, terpsichorean burlesque, entitled "The Six Fast Women of San Francisco and the Escaped Nun." In this the ladies of the company appear in marches and tableaux. Cogill and Cooper appear nightly at this house in song and dance.

Woodward's Gardens.

These gardens were positively thronged yesterday, the attendance being fully as large as on the two preceding Sundays. The performance of the Buislays in the Pavilion gave general satisfaction. The entertainment for next Sunday will be "a revival of the days of chivalry, grand tournament on skates by knights in armor and crowning of the Queen of the Rink."

Pacific Hall.

The last grand orchestral concert of the series will be given by the vocalists and instrumentalists to Oscar Weil on Wednesday evening. Miss Helen O. Dingeon and Mr. Vernon Lincoln will appear. The professionals having volunteered their services, we hope the public will do their share and give Oscar Weil such a house that he will at least be reimbursed for his actual outlay in giving these concerts.

Platt's Hall.

To-night Dr. Payne will deliver a free lecture at Platt's Hall. The subject is "Self-Made Man." Brief analizations will be made of the mental characteristics of Lord Bacon, Jean Paul, Byron, Poe, Humboldt, Dickens, Victor Hugo, Darwin, Webster, Clay, Greeley, Grant and others. Doctor Payne's stay in this city is limited, we understand, therefore those who wish to hear him or avail themselves of his medical skill should not delay.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

"One Wife."

Miss Charlotte Thompson has excited a storm of indignation in New York, by the production of Dumas' play of "La Princesse Georges," translated and localized to suit America. Plays like "Camille" and "Froo Frou," which represent the immorality of French society went off well enough, but when a play suggesting anything like immorality in American society is placed on the stage, it is time for the Press to howl. And the Press does howl. On Saturday's issue we gave some of the comments of the Press on this play. The New York Dispatch, a paper not easily shocked, says:

> The scene is localized; a very foolish error, inasmuch as no French play can survive adaptation in any other form than its original one. Phrases are used that never were heard in this country, and the attempt to Americanize the play is a perceptible failure. Nor is the picture presented at all flattering to our American ladies. For instance, we have the mother of the heroine, who might naturally be expected to sympathize with her own daughter in her affliction, engaged with other ladies in picking to pieces the character of that daughter's husband, and making her children's domestic troubles the cause of common conversation. One married lady endeavors to cajole the husband of another into a meeting or appointment.

The idea of a French mother-in-law picking to pieces the character of her son-in-law may be conceived, but that an American mother-in-law could be guilty of such a thing is absurd as well as horrifying. The American mother-in-law dotes on her daughter's husband, makes him her idol, and he for his part, is never happy unless she is staying with him. This sentiment so widely pervading American society is happily expressed in one of the most popular ballads of the day entitled "What is Home without a Mother-in-Law?" The idea of a married lady in this land of the free and the home of the brave flirting with a friend's husband, is another impossible absurdity; such things happen in Paris every day, but should anything of the kind be discovered in New York or San Francisco, especially in the puritan city of San Francisco, society would receive a shock from which it would take a long time to recover. In spite of all this Miss Charlotte Thompson has a good card in her new play, and if she brings it here, we promise her all San Francisco will go to witness its performance, just to see if it is as shocking as the New York press have made it out to be.

Rich Without Money.

Many a man is rich without money. Thousands of men with nothing in their pockets, and thousands without ever a pocket, are rich. A man born with a good, sound constitution, a good stomach, a good heart, and good limbs and a pretty good head-piece, is rich. Good bones are better than gold, tough muscles than silver, and nerves that flash fire and carry energy to every function, are better than houses or lands. It is better than land estate to have had the right kind of father and mother. Good breeds and bad breeds exist among men (as among herds and horses. Education may do much to check evil tendencies, or to develop good ones; but it is a great thing to inherit the proportion of faculties to start with. The man is rich who has a good disposition—who is naturally kind, patient, cheerful, hopeful, and who has a flavor of wit and fun in his composition.

Couldn't Laugh.

A countryman visiting Shawano, Wis., was hit on the head by a block from one of the many buildings going up in that place. It must have hurt him some, for he said: "I'm too big to cry; but it hurts so gol darned bad that I can't laugh."

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Old Established Merit.

The oldest established shirt manufactory and the best in the city is the PIONEER SHIRT MANUFACTORY, No. 327 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush. Everything in the way of gentlemen's furnishing goods at the lowest prices.

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. •

The Old Oyster House.

For the last eight years The Bivalve kept by W Spreen 640 Market street, has been THE fashionable oyster house of San Francisco. The private rooms up stairs are very popular for wedding parties and supper parties. After the theatres call at the Bivalve three doors below Kearny for your oysters.

APHRODITE.

The wind that swept along the shore
  In one grand pæan died away.
And with the last faint echo of its roar
  Far o'er the deep there rose the break of day;
The heavy storm-cloud parted right and left,
Red burned the flashes through the rugged cleft.

And then the sun clomb in the sky,
  To send a broad'ning crimson track
Across the waves to where the wet sands lie,
  A glistening scythe that cut the wild waves back;
And now and then, with quick'ning interval,
Gleamed thro' the waves a light most magical.

And now the day was well begun,
  The sunrise rays had left the sea,
The shame-faced clouds had fled before the sun;
  Of fairest blue the heavenly canopy;
'Twas then a wave that overtopped the rest
Surged on, and bore the Goddess on its crest.

She crouched within a monster shell.
  Her blue hair around her clung,
As shaking with a heaven-created spell,
  With sudden motion to her feet she sprung;
And irridescent gleams of green and gold
Flashed from the shell in glories manifold.

Abroad her massy hair she threw
  And bared her white limbs to the day.
With happy wonder in her eyes' deep hue
  She glanced around the circle of the bay;
And from the inner chambers of the shell
A sweet Æolian music 'gan to swell.

Then when her shell car touched the strand,
  She scanned the fertile valleys o'er.
And glad at heart, she raised her pink-white hand
  And sang "I love! I love!' and evermore
With that sweet song and these sweet words doth ring
The world where Aphrodite seeks her king.

Dolly Vardens Doomed.

The Lady's Journal announces the latest fiats of fashion in New York: Already we are beginning to hear of what will probably rule in the fall, and various prognostications are indulged in, in reference to whether this or that make will be condemned at a single stroke, or allowed a gradual decline. As much as we have done by way of countenancing her, it seems a foregone conclusion that gay, coquettish, picturesque "Dolly Varden" must be driven off Fashion's stage. "She is too loud," says the disgusted New York belle; "Trop prononce entierement!" exclaims our Parisian friend, and per consequence, poor Dolly is beginning to hide her diminished head, and prepare for a quiet, though not ignominious, death. Her reign has been wide-spread, if not prolonged, and she will pass away gracefully, leaving her remains to be utilized in upholstery, robes de chambre, or, perchance, for the fingers of old-fashioned, prudent housewives to manufacture into crib-quilts for their grand babies. But with the decline of the Dolly Varden pardessue, we do not note the decline of the hat. This piquant little covering for the head, with its fresh ear-knots and clusters of flowers and feathers, a la chapeau cavalier, is far too graceful and beautiful to fair, fresh young faces to be speedily abandoned. The parterres that hung about the shoulders are gradually disappearing, but not the saucy, bewitching hat of Dickens's pretty little heroine. For the drive and promenade, at places of fashionable resort, the Dolly Varden hat will rule for this season at least, for very young ladies. Those of superior age make a compromise by wearing the Rubens hat, while broad-brimmed hats, of various styles, seem increasing in favor. It is needless to remark, "This is sensible." The fact must commend itself to all, when the effect of the hot sunshine on the face and eyes is remembered.

Rare Opportunity.

Since their only schoolma'am eloped from Green Bay, Wis., last week, the school directors have advertised for a teacher who is over forty years of age, has had the small-pox, with poor teeth, and a glass eye and wooden legs, if possible. Any girl possessing these recommendations can secure a permanent job by applying early.

More Like a Step-Mother.

The St. Louis Globe says: Mrs. Long, of New Madrid county, in this State, lifted the top of her step-son's skull off with a fire shovel, and then swore he was kicked by a mule. After looking at the corpse, the coroner said she had better be locked up, as the job was too bungling for a mule.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

NOTICE

TO TAX-PAYERS AND VOTERS

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ASSESSMENTS.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY called to the following reductions—on rich men's property—made by the Board of Supervisors now in session as a "Board of Equalization," taken from the Evening Bulletin of Monday, July 22d, 1872:

Bank of California Building, from $125,000 to $85,000.

W. A. Macondray, lot on Sansome street, from $85,000 to $63,000.

E. W. Burr, lots and buildings in Twelfth District, from $173,800 to $26,000.

Dennis Mahoney, lots on Pacific, Larkin and Jackson streets, $44,000 to $33,000.

D. Mahoney, buildings on Polk and Jackson streets, $20,000 to $16,000.

Goddard & Co., buildings occupied by Pacific Iron Works, First street, $30,000 to $20,000.

Rudolph Jordan, the old Clipper Restaurant building, Washington street, $2[illegible],000 to $12,000.

Rudolph Jordan, lot 80x100, $2[illegible],000 to $12,000.

Robert Watt, building, $26,000 to $14,000.

H. D. Cogswell, two-story brick building and basement, 80x60, northeast corner of Clark and Front streets, $20,000 to $15,000.

Etc., etc., etc., etc.

Let any poor man compare the reductions made above on the property of these wealthy citizens with that made on his own little homestead—if the Board deigned to make any—and remember that these men are mostly chronic office seekers, and will be sure to be up for some office at the next election. Is there any any poor man who would vote for them again for Supervisors, to give them an opportunity to form another Board of Equalization—for the Rich.

Outraged Authors.

Jos. T. Goodman and R. M. Daggett of the Territorial Enterprise newspaper, published in Virginia City, wrote a play called "The Psychoscope" about a year ago, and have ever since been waiting for an opportunity to produce it on the stage. The engagement of John McCullough and the California Theatre company at Piper's Opera House afforded this long-looked for opportunity, and on Thursday evening last "The Psychoscope" was presented for the first time on any stage. The result was anything but satisfactory to the authors, if we may judge from what appeared in the Territorial Enterprise on the morning following:

OPERA HOUSE—"THE PSYCHOSCOPE."—The announcement of a play written by two citizens of Virginia excited sufficient local interest to fill the theatre last evening. Never, we venture to say, did an audience enter the portals of the Opera House with a more favorable predisposition, or leave it with a keener sense of disappointment. What "The Psychoscope" may be, as conceived by its authors, it is impossible to determine from the abortive rendition of last night. If it merited condemnation the company righteously dealt out to it justice untempered by mercy, for they damned it from the first scene to the last; but if it possessed a single redeeming quality, it is at least entitled to an humble place among the list of slaughtered innocents. At present we shall make no other claim for it than a modest crown of martyrdom. It was written in English, but spoken in God knows what dialect; it was designed to have had some tolerable situations and effects, but by some strange fatality they all became simply intolerable; and the dialogue, which was supposed to have some coherency, ran into utterances as confused and unintelligible as the jargon of Babel. From this sweeping charge of wanton or irresponsible butchery, we except Messrs. Wilson, Buckley and Plympton; Mrs. Edmonds, Miss Tracy, Miss Chambers Mrs. Robinson and Miss Fherle, who exhibited conscientious painstaking and fidelity to the text; and Mr. Eberle, whom the illness of Harry Edwards compelled to assume a part without opportunity for preparation. There were different degrees of excellence or wretchedness—whichever you please—among the others, but the best was bad enough, and we prefer to remain silent rather than to become specifically profane over their outrages. The same piece is announced for this evening, on the occasion of Mr. Williamson's benefit; in addition to which the farce of "Paddy's Mischief" will be given, together with a recitation of "Sheridan's Ride," by John McCullough, and of "Schneider's Mule" by the beneficiary.

The Gold Hill News says that "The Psychoscope" is "peculiar," and offers a mild objection to the introduction of "vivid and elaborate parlor scenes from the shades of the frail and the fair," and to the language being "far more forcible than elegant." On the succeeding night the play was performed again, and in Saturday's Enterprise a column and a half synopsis of the plot and criticism of the performance appeared. The charge of "The Psychoscope's" being "improper" is indignantly repelled on the grounds that the people represented on the stage had to speak just as they did. It might be suggested that the impropriety consisted in representing such people on the stage. It will do in Paris but not in Virginia City or San Francisco.

LETTER FROM AUSTRALIA.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

MELBOURNE, July 1st, 1872.

DEAR FIGARO:—The dark clouds that have for so long a time hovered over our theatrical world are rapidly disappearing, and as far as I can see, in the course of a few months the dramatic circle will be in a most prosperous condition. In fact, at this present time actors and actresses are at a premium. I find that I have so much to communicate by this mail that, like the parsons with their sermons, I must divide my epistle into heads. First, in this colony of Victoria. After some tedious negotiations George Coppin succeeded in leasing the ground on which the old Theatre Royal stood on payment of something like £5,000 good will and a moderate yearly rental for ninety-nine years and accepted tenders amounting to some £20,000 for the erection of a new temple of the drama, to be ready for occupation in November. The foundation stone was laid the week before last by Wm. Pitt in the absence of Mr. Coppin, and real work is now the order of the day. Finding his health failing him through constant attacks of his old enemy, the gout, Mr. Coppin has again allied himself in partnership with Messrs. Harwood, Stewart & Hennings, his old confreres. Mr. Harwood, who has lately returned from India, left by the last English Mail for London in search of novelties. Mr. Hennings will be engaged in the scene painting and decorations for the new house, and Mr. Stewart, who is without exception one of the best, most assiduous and able acting managers, will assist Mr Coppin. So much as concerns the new Theatre Royal. On the site of the old Varieties Mr. Hoyt, an enterprising American, is building an opera house to be ready in September. The Princess Theatre at the close of the present opera season is to be opened in the interest of the drama, and the Polytechnic is to be renovated and altered to a vaudeville theatre. So that, altogether, the prospects of the members of the sock and buskin are brightening.

THE FUTURE PROSPECTS OF THE DRAMA

ST. GEORGE'S HALL

Is still under M. Coppin's management, and a tremendous hit has been made in the production of those elegant comedies, "The Palace of Truth" and the late T. W. Robertson's "School." The latter is now in its fifth week and drawing crowded houses. It is well mounted, and finely played by Mesdames Hattie Sheppard, Eleanor Carey, Jenny Bruce and Mrs. Edouin Bryer, Messrs. Appleton, Ireland, John Dunn, Greville and Sefton. The comedy of "M. P.," by the same author, is in rehearsal.

THE POLYTECHNIC HALL

Is occupied by a "commonwealth" consisting of Messrs. P. W. Lawrence, G. W. Collier, T. Lewis, H. N. Douglas, Mrs. Harry George, Mrs. Woolridge, Miss Alice Woolridge, Mrs. Charles Jones and Miss Lizzie Bushe. At the commencement of the season the business was very bad indeed, but by patience and perseverance, and the production of good pieces carefully played, they have succeeded in pulling in the people.

ST. JAMES'S HALL

Is the building that was erstwhile tenanted by Dr. Jordan's Anatomical Museum, and is now opened by the late proprietor of the Varieties, Mr. Zapler, with a variety entertainment. The company at present engaged consists of Miss Rose Mortimer, Miss Julia Holland, and Messrs. Sam Hyman, J. Stewart (tenor , W. Rogers and A. Romer (Alf. McLaren the retired pugilist). Business good.

THE COLLOSEUM

Is still the refuge for the dregs and scum of our metropolis. No spirituous or fermented liquors are allowed to be sold, the license to this den having, to the credit of the licensing bench of magistrates, been positively refused. Poison, however, in the shape of cordials is nightly distributed to the roughs who there assemble.

KHESTMAYER'S WAX-WORKS

Is now one of our settled institutions, and I can fearlessly assert that for novelty and truthfulness of delineation of public characters it can hold its own with that of the famed Madame Tussaud in London.

To the untiring energy and determined pluck of William Saurin Lyster this hemisphere is indebted for the firm root opera has taken, and it is with sincere pleasure that I pay this humble tribute to his ability.

THE PRINCESS OPERA HOUSE

Is now under the management of Messrs. Lyster and Cagli, with the most complete Italian opera company we have ever had. Signoras Bosisio, Zenoni Ribaldi and Tamburini Coy, Signors Coliva, Coy, Dondi, Grandi and Rosnati are the principals. During the season we have the usual stock operas, but the triumph of the season as yet has been "L'Africaine," in which Armes Beaumont took the town by storm for his thoroughly artistic performance of Vasco di Gama. "Saffo" was splendidly produced on Saturday night with a very strong cast, and the scenery by John Hennings (who is without a superior in any part of the world) was of the grandest and most artistic description. Messrs. Lyster and Cagli finding considerable trouble in obtaining in Melbourne a theatre to be at their service at such times as will suit their seasons of opera, are in negotiation with the government for a grant of land opposite the present Opera House, on which to build a National Academy of Music in accordance with all the latest novelties and improvements. On all sides the idea is favorably received, but Mr. Coppin has considered it his duty to urge the Melbourne corporation to oppose the application, which is to be publicly heard this week before J. J. Casey, the Commissioner of Public Lands.

THE NEW THEATRE ROYAL

Will, according to the plans be one of the handsomest extent. The horse shoe shape has been adopted and the walls will be carried up ten feet higher than in the old building, the roof being of a conical or saucer shape, in the centre of which there will be an air shaft. The public accommodation will consist of a dress circle, above which will be a full tier of boxes, and beyond that a gallery. There will also be a full range of boxes at at the back of the pit, and the architect, Mr. Geo. Browne, has so arranged the pillars and supports that they will nowhere intercept a perfect view of the stage. The proscenium will be on the improved plan adopted lately by the London Theatres, being a simple picture frame in gold ornamental fret work. The stage will have a clear sweep of 110 feet from the front of the orchestra to the back of the stage. In the old house a considerable portion of the stage was lost by the painting rooms occupying a large space. These rooms in the new plans are up-stairs on a level with the flies. All the stair cases are to be of stone. The front elevation on Bourke street is to be rebuilt, and will be a story higher than at present. The vestibule will have a large and handsome gallery around it supported by large and elegant iron pillars.

THE NEW PRINCE OF WALES OPERA HOUSE

Is to be opened in about two months, by Mr. L. M. Bayless, with his wife, Mrs. Mary Gladstane and Mr. James Carden as the stars. Several important engagements are pending as the new manager is determined to spare neither time, trouble or expense to carry away the palm of victory in catering for the public amusement.

THE PRINCESS THEATRE,

at the conclusion of the Opera season, will be opened under the management of Messrs. Stuart O'Brien and H. Holmes, who will produce the latest London plays. The company already engaged includes Miss Adelaide Bowers (Mrs. J. B. Steele), Miss Eloise Juno and Messrs. J. B. Steele, John Monroe and Daniels. The historical drama of "Marie Antoinette" is to be the initial performance.

MRS. MARY GLADSTANE

has again returned from another very profitable visit to Adelaide, S. A. The entire press highly commends her thoroughly artistic performances an opinion that has been endorsed—and deservedly too—by all the leading journals in this colony. This talented lady shortly meditates a visit to England, and it is more than probable Mr. James Carden will accompany her to that country. I know it is one of the longings of his existence.

MISS KATE WARDE,

well known in private life as Mrs. J. H. Vinsoe, after lingering for some months died a few days back, of pulmonary consumption and. Those who knew her, speak highly of her generous disposition of her kindliness of heart, and great regret is felt in all circles at her decease. She was buried in the Melbourne cemetery on Saturday week last, and was followed to the grave by nearly all the actresses in the metropolis.

THE PROVINCES.

At Ballarat the Theatre Royal is occupied by the Foley Dramatic Company, and with a semi-serious entertainment. "Mazeppa" has had a good run, Miss Blanche Grey playing the hero to perfection. Miss Juno, Mr. and Mrs. Lachlan McGowan and Mr. James are included in the company. At the Alfred Hall Keith and Phillippe with their menagerie are doing well. H. Rainer with his panorama of the American War is showing to good money at the Mechanics' Institute.

SANDHURST.

There is no theatre now in this town but Mr. Harry Stanley after considerable opposition has obtained a long lease of the orderly room, turned it into a small theatre and is playing comedy and burlesque—at this present "Meg's Diversion," and "Orpheus and Eurydice," with Mr. R. Roberts and and Miss Polly Lake as leading artistes.

OFF TO INDIA.

By the next mail Mr. and Mrs. O. W. B. Lewis (Miss Rose Edouin) accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lawrence, Mr. Peter Mansergh, Irish comedian, and a few others will leave here for Calcutta to open a new dramatic season there in October next. By the September mail from here Mr Henry Burton will take his large stud of horse and the most complete circus company yet organiz d for a tour through the Indian Empire.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

In Sydney there is a plethora of amusements. The Victoria Theatre is opened under the management of Mr. T. H. Rainford with burlesque as the staple entertainment. Messrs. Charles Young J. L. Welsh, and W. Andrews, Miss Maggie Oliver and others are in the company. A benefit is to be given to Mr. J. S. Bartlett on the 5th inst. The Masonic Hall is turned into an Opera House with Madame Agatha States, Miss Lucy Chambers, Mrs. Fox, Signors Susini, Cecchi, Olendini, Susini, and Mr. Edward Farley forming the company. The season has been very good. The Enderby-Jackson Troupe have done an excellent business at the School of Arts. Bird's Circus is also in Sydney. The Cafe Chantant and the Scandinavian concert Halls are filled nightly.

ADELAIDE.

Mr. Sam Lazar, the well-known lessee of the Theatre Royal, is in Melbourne organizing a company for South Australia. It is more than likely he will take over the Melbourne Royal company to produce Robertson's comedies. CALL BOY.

New Style Jewelry.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

This popular theatre was crowded last night. W. F. Baker, a California favorite who has lately been singing in the East, met with a hearty greeting on making his re-appearance, and sung "Mollie Darling" in capital style. L. McAndrews, who made his first appearance on the San Francisco stage last night, is somewhat of the same style of Ethiopian comedian as the popular Charley Howard, though he represents the muscular plantation nig rather than the old darkey. His dancing and singing were both very comical and caused much amusement. G. D. Rockafeller appeared in the farce of "Nitrous Oxide," and his fine alto voice was also heard to good advantage in the first part. Add Ryman and Cool Burgess took the ends in this portion of the entertainment, and made things very lively. Delehanty and Hengler made a hit in their very pretty song and dance, "I Love You," and were repeatedly encored. Bob Hart made a capital middle-man, and was very good in the negro farce of "Nitrous Oxide." "Pompey's Patients" terminated one of the most lively bills of the season. It will be given again to-night.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The frolics of Tony Denier, the most comical of clowns, the wonderful tricks and transformations, the little entractes introduced, and the songs and dances of Miss Maggie Moore, make "Humpty Dumpty" the most popular of pantomimes. The company are all in thorough training, and everything works smoothly. The peals of laughter with which the theatre nightly resounds, prove sufficiently that "Humpty Dumpty" is a success. An extra matinee will be given to-morrow.

Bella Union.

The artistic singing and acting of Miss Kennedy is thoroughly appreciated by the audience. J. J. Earight is a great favorite and causes much laughter in his local stump speech; Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine are capital in their double song and dance, "Two Little Crows," and a number of other performers appear in specialties. As we observed yesterday the play of "Jonathan Bradford" with which the entertainment concludes, is put on the stage in a manner which does infinite credit to the stage manager, R. G. Marsh, and the mechanical artists of the Bella Union Theatre. The set scene representing four rooms as in "The Cherry Tree Inn," which Boucicault founded on this play is very effectively arranged, R. G. Marsh does some capital acting as Jonathan Bradford; Lou McCarthy is very good as Dan McOraisy; Harry Sinclair fills the eccentric role of Caleb Scrimmage with much skill; Miss Minnie Fillmore, although the part of Ann Bradford is not strictly in her line, acts it very well indeed and altogether the play is well represented.

American Theatre.

"The Six Fast Women of San Francisco" and "The Escaped Nun" is the complicated title of a complicated drama being performed at this house to large and well-pleased audiences. There is a little of of everything in it—songs, dances, tableaux and marches. It will be repeated to-night in connection with an attractive variety entertainment.

Bay District Agricultural Association.

The Third Annual Fair of the Bay District Agricultural Association will commence on next Monday. In addition to the race the attractions of a grand tournament by "Knights from Yolo county," and other horsemen is promised and a concert will be given daily by the Second Artillery Band. An advertisement appears on our first page.

Platt's Hall.

This hall was thronged last night when Dr. Payne delivered a lecture on "Self Made Men." He kept his audience thoroughly interested and amused for over two hours. The examination of persons from among the audience as to their mental characteristics caused much fun. Another free lecture will be given at the same place on Monday; this will be to ladies only.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Taking Precautions.

The French papers are full of jokes about Dumas' last novel "L'Homme-Femme." One of the last we have come across is as follows. A man is brought up before the commissary of Police. The commissary says:

"You are accused of having inflicted two stabs with a knife on your wife. What have you to say in your defence?

"I have read "L'Homme-Femme," by Alexander Dumas, fils," replies the prisoner.

"That is no excuse."

"Allow me a word. The author says yes."

"You have then surprised your wife in flagrante delictu?"

"No, sir."

"Has she a lover? Are you sure of that?"

"No."

"Why then did you attempt to assassinate her?"

"By way of precaution," replied this careful student of Dumas.

New York Boys.

"Eli Perkins" talks right out sometimes, regarding matters and things; and this is what transpired between him and a sentimental young lady at Saratoga, who was admiring the Seventh regiment, at their late encampment there.

An innocent young lady asked me to-day if the Seventh regiment fellows had seen service—been in many engagements.

I told her they had—that almost every man had been in at least a dozen engagements, and many of them were probably engaged to several young ladies that very moment.

'To several! Now!" she exclaimed, opening her big brown eyes.

"Well," said I, "you know that New York is a large city."

"Yes."

"Now some of them are sweet on girls below Fourteenth street—to girls that they never take up town—girls that they take to "Humpty Dumpty," Niblo's, and Wallacks."

"Yes."

"Then some of them are sweet on girls on Twenty-third street—sweet on sentimental girls, who dote on the Fifth-avenue Theatre, the Academy of Music, and Pike's Opera House."

"Yes."

"And some of them have 'girls on the string' away up the park—girls who delight in Thomas' garden concerts, and rides on the Park. These Eleventh street, Twenty-third street and Central Park girls never see each other, and so they are all right. They ain't like Cincinnati or Boston girls, who know every other girl in town, and who trip a fellow up if he looks at anybody else."

"Alas!" said my young lady friend with a sigh, "the dear innocent girls in New York ought to know this—it ought to be ~~to~~ published—it—"

"Sh! I never," I replied, "I'm the last one to go back on our New York boys."

The Unkindest Cut of All.

The Oakland News, which, since Calvin McDonald left it has become as stupid as any of our San Francisco papers, sympathizes with the editor of the Overland Monthly in his trouble about having had stolen articles imposed on him as original. It says:

But these accidents on the part of editors are by no means peculiar to California. A poem was lately published as original in the Waverly Magazine, which had some time prior been published in another journal.

This is cruel, mentioning the Waverly Magazine in the same breath as the Overland Monthly! The Waverly Magazine, the literary idiot asylum of the United States which is full of "pieces" by milk and water young ladies and soft-headed boys who wish to see themselves in print and buy copies of the magazine to circulate among their friends! The Overland Monthly isn't quite a Waverly Magazine yet. We knew what it is but know not what it may be.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE LOVERS.

They linger in the garden walk,
Talking as only lovers talk;
Sweet, foolish trifles, love's delight
With joy and faith their faces bright.

Sometimes she stops and plucks a rose,
To hide the truth her sweet blush shows;
Scattering the rose-leaves in air,
A dainty shower o'er face and hair.

With laughing looks she sees them fly,
Then sudden stops and breathes a sigh;
For youth and love as soon are gone,
And age death and are hastening on.

He gathers from the garden plot
A tuft of pale forget-me-not;
She takes them with a careless jest,
Then hides them in her snowy breast.

He lays a rose-bud in her hair,
Whispering she is wondrous fair;
While tenderly his loving hands
Linger o'er the rippling bands.

They pause to watch the evening sky,
And see the golden sunlight die;
A squirrel, started from his lair,
Breaks the calm quiet of the air.

She trifles with her golden curls,
Till the bright flag the wind unfurls,
And blows a tress across his face,
Touching his lips with soft embrace.

They reach the great hall door at last,
He holds her slender fingers fast,
Then kisses them, as well he may,
While she, all blushing, speeds away.

Insincere.

A patriotic Gaul protests against the German language on account of its insincerity. As he remarks: "When an Allemand say to you 'Kommen sie ans,' he do not mean come in ze 'ouse, but, tout au contrairie, come out of ze 'ouse."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere. m

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeling is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. E

FIGARO

CIRCULATES AS HOUSE PROGRAMME IN every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

IS DISTRIBUTED EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

IS CIRCULATED EVERY DAY ON THE Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

IS MAILED EVERY DAY TO ALL THE principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

IS "HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES IN THE BEST SOCIETY, IS placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

Electric Messenger COMPANY.

THE OBJECT OF THIS COMPANY IS TO furnish Cheap, Prompt and Reliable Messengers for the delivery of notes, small packages, and running of errands to and from any part of the City of San Francisco.

Offices will be established in central locations, and a sufficient number of messengers kept at each office to insure prompt attention to every call.

Each subscriber will be furnished with an electrical apparatus, to be placed in some convenient part of the house and connected by a wire with the nearest office. By pressing the signal key notice will be given that a messenger is wanted, when one will be sent forthwith to the place indicated.

Charges are as follows:

For attaching wire and apparatus	$5 00
For use of same per month	1 50
For service of Messenger (per hour or less)	15

The public will hardly fail to discover the convenience of such an arrangement, the advantages of which, in many instances, might supersede the necessity of paying out regular wages for like services.

Wires will be laid and offices established as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained.

Subscription books are now open at Room No. 22, [illegible]son's Building, southwest corner California and Montgomery streets.

OFF FOR

The Diamond Fields

THE NEW GOLCONDA

Diamond Mining COMPANY

HAS BEEN INCORPORATED, WITH 50,000 Shares of $100 each, to send a party of eight or ten picked men, under an able and reliable Superintendent well known in mining circles.

Off Immediately to the Diamond Fields,

By the Denver route. The party is in possession of maps and reliable information as to the locality not only of the Diamond Fields of Harpending & Co., but of

RICH GOLD AND SILVER MINES

Also, in the adjacent mining regions of Arizona and New Mexico, some of which will be secured for this Company without delay, whether valuable diamond mines can be obtained or not.

Twenty thousand shares of stock are set aside for a working capital, of which

A LIMITED NUMBER ONLY

Will be offered for sale at present, at the very low rate of $1 per share, in order to insure a quick sale and a speedy departure from the city.

In order to insure the fidelity of those who form the prospecting party, each member is to receive 1,000 shares of the stock of the Company, and good wages at the end of six months' faithful service, besides their outfits and expenses from the start. An essayer and a physician, who are themselves experienced prospectors, are included in the party.

Articles of Agreement

Protecting the rights of stockholders from the acts of dishonest Directors, are embraced in the Certificate of Incorporation and cannot be evaded.

No Assessment can be Levied

Until the working capital is exhausted, and no stock can be issued (except to raise the fund to send the party to the fields)

UNTIL CLAIMS ARE SECURED

For the Company and active operations commenced to develop them.

THIS COMPANY MEANS BUSINESS,

And will not lose a moment's time in getting its party on the ground.

Not at all Likely.

The Washington Critic of the 16th says:

We have had our suspicions of the California diamond sensations from the start. It was altogether too promising a thing to be well founded, and it is far more probable that a ring of speculators has been trying to swindle the public than that such treasures were lying undiscovered all this while on the borders of Arizona. The idea is becoming quite general now on the Pacific slope that the report of diamonds, rubies, etc., on the Arizona border, is a cruel hoax. If this be so, a vigilance committee, to take especial charge of the speculators, would not be amiss.

The Critic doesn't understand the people of California. We never get up vigilance committees on such slight grounds as the above. If a man is swindled out of his money in California, be takes it coolly, and sets himself at work to make some more. We should require a vigilance committee once a month if a wild cat company could provoke one. Besides, these "speculators," worth millions, are not fit objects for a vigilance committee, anyhow.

An Idiotic Dentist.

An American dentist resident in Paris, was recently called in by a young and blooming countess to extract a tooth. She hesitated to undergo the operation, when a young gentleman (whom the dentist supposed to be the countess's husband) consoled her by having a sound tooth drawn, thus showing her that the pain was not to be dreaded. The dentist afterwards related this instance of conjugal affection in a ball-room and created a sensation, as the husband of the countess is a very old man with not half a dozen teeth in his head. That dentist must have been a perfect idiot. He might have known that young man wasn't the countess's husband.

It Sounds Improper.

We learn from an advertisement in the British Nation Society's Monthly Paper that a clergyman in Surrey wants a schoolmaster and mistress, and says that "that they must stand in such relation to each other as to be able to live in the same house." Why this vagueness? The clergyman cannot be supposed to wink at anything immoral, but why does he not say that the people for whom he advertises must be husband and wife?

An Accomplished Barber.

An exchange goes into ecstasies over a barber who plays the cornet, French horn, and other instruments, teaches music, administers a clean shave, cuts hair, deals in canary birds and sings in the choir of the Presbyterian Church.

Important Correction.

The Post of yesterday has the following correction:

In our item in our Saturday's issue, giving an account of a Hoodlum serenade to a recently married couple, it is stated that some of these young scamps had formerly been schoolmates of the young lady, which may possibly convey the impression that she had been in the habit of associating with such scrapegraces. Nothing could be more erroneous, as the young lady was educated at Mills' Seminary, and is of the highest respectability.

We should think the Post's statement that the hoodlums had formerly been schoolmates of the young lady might "possibly" convey some such impression. Now the reflection rests on the husband. Did he go to school with the hoodlums? We don't know that he was much to blame if he did. Many respectable people believe in the public schools, and because a boy turns out to be a hoodlum after completing his education there, the public schools are not to blame for it, are they?

A Liberal Paper.

Not long ago the Call would have made "fun," in its way, of Spiritualism. Last week it devoted a considerable portion of its space to a report of a lecture on the subject, by Miss Chamberlain, and yesterday gave up nearly a column to reports of two capital lectures delivered on Sunday on the same subject, by the Hon. J. M. Peebles. Mr. Peebles said:

When in London he was introduced to many scientific men and several members of the aristocracy, all of whom were supporters of the true doctrine. Therefore he answered the question, "Who are the Spiritualists?" by stating his belief that they were the "scholars, poets, judges, and the brains of the world."

Under these circumstances the Call doubtless very sensibly thought that it was a little too late in the day to make fun of Spiritualism as a belief.

Posthumous Politeness.

Here is an odd letter found in the pocket of a young girl who committed suicide by drowning near Swinton, England, the other day:

MY DEAR MOTHER.—I have been and drowned myself because I would not stand to be put upon for nothing at all through illness. Please to meet me in Paradise.

That "please to meet me in Paradise" is nearly as polite as the epitaph placed upon his wife's tombstone by a man named Kemp. It ran:

She once was mine,
But now, O Lord,
I her to thee resign,
And remain, your obedient, humble servant,
ROB'T KEMP.

Wanted, Some Bible Sharps.

If the Rev. Dr. Cunningham must have his sermons reported in the Call, he should be careful to give out his text distinctly. If the Call wishes to report them, it should procure the services of a bible sharp who will not make mistakes. We had a good deal of trouble smoothing out that tangle about Elisha, the bears and the hoodlums, and can't be always watching the clergy. Dr. Cunningham's text last Sunday according to the Call, was the fourth verse of the 31st chapter of the Second Book of Samuel. The Second Book of Samuel contains only twenty-four chapters, this was impossible.

Greeleyish Writing.

An English peer recently tried to disfranchise himself. When the last Reform bill was before the House of Lords the noble lord offered an amendment that no one should be allowed the franchise who could not write his name in a legible hand. The clerk, whose duty it was to read the amendment to the House, was unable to decipher it, so Greelyishly was it written.

The Way with those Jealous Fools.

A jealous husband in Louisville followed a happy married couple across the river to Jeffersonville, the other day, thinking that the veiled lady was his wife. He came near being pitched into the Ohio river by the irate companion of the lady, and, after discovering his mistake, waited until after dark and then sneaked home to his wife, who was in bed and asleep.

A Distressing Picture.

An engraving in a late number of the Illustrated London News is entitled Between Love and Riches. It represents a puzzled looking young woman, bounded on the west by an aged relative of the late Mr. Shylock, proffering countless jewels; and on northeast by a shirt-collarles young idiot fingering a cheap lute, and smirking as hard as he can smirk. What the mischief the beggar with the banjo has to do with it all we fail to discover. It is comforting to reflect that, whatever may be the vagaries of art, in real life lovers do not tolerate the presence of spectators.

Metropolitan Theatre.

We think that everyone intended to take another look at "Humpty Dumpty" during its last week' and now when it is produced in a reconstructed form with hundreds of new tricks and the startling business of the Red Gnome, the temptation to do so becomes irresistible. T. Morton as the Red Gnome drew thunders of applause by the agility he displayed in somersaults and leaps: H. Nelson, as Harlequin, did splendidly taking his flying leaps in good style; Tony Denier, as Clown, was here, there, and everywhere; M'lle Linda do Rhoda, as the graceful Columbine, was all that could be desired, and J. M. Sloan was a very funny Pantaloon, while much new fun is introduced such as the clown's fishing, in which he catches a remarkable catfish, the manufacture and final explosion of the steamboat, the fireworks exhibition, and the capital gymnastic feats by Tony Denier, T. Morton and H. Nelson, the most popular features of the old version, the Masonic Temple scene, the wooden headed acrobats and others are retained. "Humpty Dumpty Reconstructed" has taken a new lease of life, and will draw like a house on fire. On Friday Tony Denier will take his farewell benefit. The last "Humpty Dumpty" matinee will be given on Saturday, and on Monday, E. T. Stetson will commence an engagement in "Buffalo Bill."

Alhambra Theatre.

A splendid audience was present last night, when a new programme was given, and two new artistes made their first appearance in San Francisco, and indeed in the United States, both of them having recently arrived from Australasia. Benjamin Clarke, who sung "The Star of Love" in the first part, proved himself the possessor of a very pleasing tenor voice of good quality, which cultivation will do much to develop and strengthen. He received a most enthusiastic encore, and was accepted as a valuable addition to the already strong choral force of this theatre. The first part over, Barry O'Neil made his appearance in the character of one of those Dundrearyish swells who are so amusing on the stage, and sang "Deuced Clevah!" in good style. Encored, he gave another specimen of a man about town in "Fashionable Fred, the Pet of the Ladies;" another encore brought him back in a grotesque black suit, in which he sang a song about a tailor and a crow, and rivalled Milburn in the extravagance of his contortions; again called out, he sang about a green-grocer, a song that might be comic in England, but doesn't seem funny in California. Mr O'Neil will do well to substitute some other song for this, which he can easily do, his repertoire being large. Altogether, Mr. O'Neil made a decidedly favorable impression in his "swell" songs; his swells were real swells, and his gentlemanly style and ease of manner took well with the audience. Delehanty and Hengler performed some lively songs and dances; the act of "P. P. P. P.," by Cool Burgess, Add Ryman and Miss Fanny Fanny Gibson, caused roars of laughter; J. McAndrews gained his full share of applause in "The Watermelon Man;" Sam Rickey convulsed the audience in "Bad Whisky," and the pantomime of "The Comanches," capitally put on the stage, wound up this rich entertainment in good style. Never were such real Indians seen before on the stage. Cool Burgess as Mah-gah-gee, the Raven, made the blood of the spectators run cold, and Sutton, Delehanty, Hengler, Ryman and others worked up the agony in splendid style. Bob Hart as Ebenezer Snowball gave a genuine bit of darkey character acting. Miss Fanny Gibson was all that could be desired as Martha Buckskin, and the play was most effectively performed, some of the tableaux being particularly striking. This attractive programme should crowd the Alhambra to overflowing every night this week.

Bella Union.

First part, interlude and afterpiece are all entertaining. The double song and dance "Sunbeams," by Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine is very pretty; Miss Jennie Johnson's serio-comic songs are much applauded; Mrs. Charles Coriell is encored again and again in her ballads; the Reynolds Brothers are great in song and dance; John J. Enright and Johnny Toers are very amusing in negro acts; Miss Agnes Kennedy's operatic and character songs are a feature of the entertainment, and the extravaganza of "Grounds for Divorce" will wind up this evening's amusement very pleasingly.

American Theatre.

"The Six Fast Women of San Francisco and the Escaped Nun;" the burlesque of "Julius Cæsar" and a melange of songs, dances and negro acts please the patrons of this establishment. H. Depeco, the manager, is to have a complimentary benefit on Friday evening.

Bay District Agricultural Association.

There was a large and highly fashionable attendance at the Agricultural Park yesterday, when the third annual Fair of the Bay District Agricultural Association commenced. The parade of stock was very fine, the music by the Second Artillery Band delightful, and between the heats of the races the Child American gave performances on the violin in the parlor of the hotel to the general satisfaction of the ladies and gentlemen present, who gave the talented child substantial proofs of their appreciation. The races were spirited and exciting. To-day three of the fastest pacers in the State: "Defiance," "Longfellow" and "Warrior," will run a race. At two o'clock the tournament of knights will take place, and will doubtless attract a large attendance.

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday evening, August 31st, the grand skating tournament for a diamond eagle medal with diamond skate attached valued at $250, will come off. This will be open to all amateur skaters who have resided on the Pacific Coast for one year. It will be under the management of Callie Curtis, Champion Skater of America. The winner of the medal, if he hold it against all competitors for two years, is to retain it as his absolute property with the title of ex-champion. On Sunday next the Child Americans Troupe composed of the Child Americans (Master James Speight, aged five years, a wonderful violinist,) Miss. May Leslie, an accomplished vocalist and pianiste: Professor Speight, violinist, and Edgar Stanley, a capital tenor, who have been performing with great success in the towns in the Interior will appear in a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music.

The Horticultural Fair.

The Pavilion on Stockton street presents an ever fresh appearance, the cut flowers being replaced by others before they fade and additions being constantly made to the exhibition. As a fashionable promenade this place supplies a want long felt in San Francisco. The music by Schmidt

The Opera Season.

Great attempts are being made to rush the Sontag opera season, but the public of San Francisco, with recollections of the Bianchi-Kellogg fiasco, the silver-voiced tenor fraud, and the late disastrous season under Signor Bivata, don't seem in any hurry to subscribe. They make rude remarks about being unwilling to purchase an enveloped porcine.

LECTURE ON COCOS ISLAND.—Captain Fannie Brown lectures at Platt's Hall, Thursday 29th inst. Subject, Cocos Island Mystery, and will tell the ladies what man to vote for. After giving a description of the island and other particulars, the lecturess is to speak in the trance condition, under the influence of Captain Delaney, the chief of the pirate band who buried the treasure, and who is now anxious that it shall be brought to light and be made good use of.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

As a Matter of Course.

M. J. Keating, Superintendent of the Almshouse, having reduced the expenses of that institution to a minimum, while providing its inmates with every comfort, is, as a matter of course now accused of extravagance and worse. Dr. E. Kelly accuses him of having bought expensive luxuries such as champagne, chicken, pate de foie gras, etc., and having them charged to the county as beef. This has all grown out of the fact that Superintendent Keating makes nice little dishes of the frogs which he is carefully rearing. The next accusation will be that he charges the county with food for his frogs. We are sure that Superintendent Keating will come out of the investigation with flying colors.

A Speculator.

An exchange says: "A thrifty citizen insured the life of his wife to the amount of $10,000, the other day, took home a box of the little red Maryland plums and enjoyed a whole evening in watching his wife eat them. His enterprise had its reward. Deducting $298 for funeral expenses, he is $9,702 richer than he was a week ago."

Bed and Board.

A Cincinnati wife left her husband's board, but took the bed with her. He is puzzled to know how to word a legal notice of warning to prospective creditors.

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 619 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 101d Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Stop Stranger.

Don't "stop and dry the falling tear," but stop before you pass No. 101 Third street, and see whether you cannot buy your shirts, socks, neckties and underwear cheaper there than you can at any store in the city. z

The Best Remedies.

Dr. Perry's Last Chance, for pain. Dr. Perry's Webfoot Pills, for all bilious complaints. J. R. Oates and Co., corner Sansome and Commercial streets, sole agents.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. E

The Significant Hat.

In the time of Gessler and William Tell there was much significance in a hat. So it is now. The first thing that attracts the eye is the hat. Therefore buy a fashionable hat at "The" Hat

Bed B ard of F [illegible]im.

The Paducah News tells this story, for the truth of whic it vouches: "A professional gentleman, well known in this city, had not seen his on for a long period of time, owing to the ot that the latter retired to bed before t e former returned home, and in the mo ning the father always left before the s n got out of bed. One morning the lady of the house managed to get the father and son together at the breakfast table, and by way of a joke remarked: 'Son; let me introduce you to your father.' 'How do you do, father,' said the hopeful; 'I don't remember ever having met you before, but I have heard ma speak of you.'"

A Terrible State of Things.

A little girl of our acquaintance is the happy possessor of a snow-white cat. The other day a large black cat found its way into the house. Jenny rushed to her mother in great distress, crying: "Mamma, here's a horrid Hoodlum cat trying to make pussy go out for a walk with him."

Once too Often.

A curious and fatal accident lately befel a gymnast in Switzerland, named Paul Mohon, who gained his living by the strength of his jaws. On this occasion he took a barrel of flour in his teeth and attempted, with no other aid to throw it over his head. The molars stood it, but his backbone wasn't equal to it, and snapped in two.

Pleasant Lodgings.

At the door of a house on Howard street the following announcement appears: "Music Lessons, piano and bass viol, from eight in the morning until eight in the evening.', Underneath this: "Furnished apartments." We should like to room in that house.

He Knew It.

That was a cool Scottish "aside" of an old dealer, who, when exhorting his son to honesty in his dealings, on the ground of its being the "best policy," quietly added, "I hae tried baith."

Eloquence Unabridged.

Grand Haven enjoys the spreading presence of a young lawyer who "looks back into the untrodden paths of the future, and beholds the footprints of an Almighty hand."

Not Particular.

A man who applied to one of our citizens for help for his destitute children, on being asked what he needed, said he was not particular "if he couldn't get bread he would take tobacco."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. D

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street.

SOME DAY.

BY FLORENCE PERCY.

You smooth the tangles from my hair
With gentle touch and tenderest care,
And count the years ere you shall mark
Bright silver threads among the dark—
Smiling the while to hear me say,
"You'll think of this again some day."

Some day I shall not feel as now,
Your soft hands move across my brow;
I shall not slight your light commands
And draw the long braids through my hands.
I shall be silent and obey,
And you—you will not laugh that day.

I know how long your loving hands
Will finger with these glossy bands,
When you shall weave my last, last crown
Of these thick braidings, long and brown;
But you will see no touch of gray
Adorn their shining length that day.

And while your tears are falling hot
Upon my lips, which answer not,
You'll take from these a little tress,
And leave the rest to silentness,
Remembering what I used to say,
"You'll think of this again some day."

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

PACIFIC HALL.
SEVEN FRESH, PRACTICAL AND CLASSICAL LECTURES.

COMMENCING ON MONDAY NIGHT, SEPtember 2d. To the Ladies and Gentlemen of La Belle San Francisco, by DR. PAYNE, of St. Louis, the Anthropologist, who has already given ten general talks to the people at Platt's Hall and Mercantile Library to big houses. The lectures at Pacific Hall will be entirely different from those given previously.
FIRST LECTURE.—"Physiognomy" or "The Human Face Divine"—all about the chin, eyes, nose, ears, muscles, facial nerves and expressions, and [illegible].
SECOND—The Physical, Mental and Moral Nature of Woman—various types of women, etc.
THIRD.—Great Sensation Lecture on "Style," which drew three thousand people in Chicago and St. Louis.
FOURTH.—"National Characteristics: or, the Bold Peculiarities of the Representative Men of all Nations."
FIFTH.—Pathology, Physiology and Anatomy of the Human Brain, its diseases, causes, mania, insanity, etc.
SIXTH—"Blunders and Mistakes of Men of Genius."
SEVENTH—"Immortality of the Soul," demonstrated by the light of the Natural Sciences."
Nice little keepsakes to all the ladies at the close of each lecture, also a cloth bound scientific book to the Champion Ugly Man and Champion Handsome Man. Candidates placed on the stage and the ladies doing the voting; and a book to the most energetic lady, and one to the most intelligent. Subject selected from the audience and the gentlemen rendering the decision. Professional sketches of character on the stage, just for fun, as usual. Visitors received at the Russ House; Private Parlors, for Medical attention; advice and examinations, etc.

Brain Work.

Brain-work costs more food than hand-work. According to careful estimates and analyses of the excretions, three hours of hard study wear out the body more than a whole day of physical labor. Another evidence of the cost of brain-work is obtained from the fact that though the brain is only one-fortieth the weight of the body it receive about one-fifth of all the blood sent by the heart through the system. Brain workers therefore require a more liberal supply of food, and richer food than manual laborers.

It is absolutely necessary that writers for the Press, who have to use their brains, should eat pate de foie gras, squabs, teal duck, halibut, sole au gratin, and food of that description. Proprietors of newspapers, who only need pork and beans, do not appreciate this physiological fact in fixing the income of their editorial staff. It is a pity.

Against the Eight-hour Law.

Some curious statistics about small birds have recently been laid before the British House of Commons. The thrush is said to work from 2:30 in the morning until 9:30 in the evening, or nineteen hours. During this time he feeds his young 206 times. Blackbirds work seventeen hours. The male feeds the young forty-four times and the female fifty-five times per day. The industrious titmouse manages to spread 407 meals a day before its voracious offspring. According to one naturalist their food consists largely of caterpillars.

Pretty Talk.

Swinburne tells us that Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe "is a whimpering priestess of whatever god provides over the most vicious parts of virtue, the most shameless rites of modesty, the most rancorous forms of forgiveness, the very Horalia of evangelical faith and love," and that she has "lips foaming with inebriated virtue and and comes reeling from delirious riots of religion."

Thoroughly Broken.

Uncle Broadacres, after trying a horse described as "thoroughly broken, and afraid of nothing," came to the conclusion that there was no misrepresentation. He moved as though every bone in his body had been broken, and as he was continually afraid, while there was nothing to be afraid of, he seemed to answer the description.

Civilization.

The latest civilized requisition from the Sandwich Island is a call upon a Boston lithographer to furnish forty thousand illuminated marriage certificates. Who will get the contract for divorce blanks?

Agents for Horton's Tobacco Antidote. B

Rather Cooling.

Young Blifkins, son of old Blifkins, the banker, he of the Dolly Varden pants and vest—was recently caught in a shower, and took refuge under the portico of a dwelling on Beacon street. A very attractive young lady—a pretty maiden who sat by the open window, seeing his situation, sent out a servant to him with an umbrella. Blifkins went away in ecstacy; and on the following day, having attired himself in the most elaborate and stunning array of starch and jewels, he took the umbrella, which was an old one, and laid it away with his treasures of conquest as a souvenir; and then he went forth to replace it with an affair of the most costly description. Thus equipped, he called upon the lady to return the flattering loan. She admitted him to her presence and received the umbrella apparently without noticing the exchange; and it was not until she had listened with becoming gravity to his highly dramatic acknowledgements that the truth beamed upon her. She saw that he labored under the enchanting impression that she had been smitten by his appearance.

"Weally," said Blifkins, in sweet, poetic mood, "your tender act touched me. Aw—it touched me deeply,—it did—'pon honaw."

"Indeed, sir," replied the maiden, with charming naivete, there was no need of this gratitude on your part. As you stood beneath our portico you obstructed my view of a gentleman at an opposite window, who had been observing me, and I sent the umbrella as the readiest means to get rid of your unwelcome presence!"

Blifkins went home, and broke up the old umbrella, and consigned its hated fragments to the ash-barrel.

The Prayers of the Press.

If that suicidal lady in Troy should die, she would be a loss to the itemizers. She has already tried to drown herself, has taken Paris green, jumped out of a third story window, tried to elope with a waiter who could not see it, shot at a man whom she said proved false to her, been bitten by a rattlesnake, got locked up for traveling around the streets clad in a necklace and an innocent smile, and has been, since her earliest childhood, a source of much joy to the local's heart. She last week took a dose of strychnine which is likely to cause her death. The reporters of the city are in deep tribulation as to whether or not she will die. They have secured the best medical attendance, and, strange as it may appear on the part of newspaper men, have offered prayers for her recovery. If there is anything in the prayer of the men in the storm—"Hearken to me, Oh, God! for I don't trouble you often"—she will recover.

"The Song of the Shirt."

Shirley Brooks, who succeeded Mark Lemon as editor of Punch, delivered a lecture, some ten years since, on "Modern Satire." In it he told a story of the publication of Tom Hood's "Song of the shirt," which, if ever heard in America, has probably been forgotten ere now. The author inclosed the poem to Mark Lemon in a note of apology, saying: "I sent it to a first-rate magazine, and they wrote back: 'It is hardly the thing for genteel people.'" It is odd that Hood's greatest work should have been repulsed in this way, at a time when his jingling rhymes, unworthy of his genius, were eagerly sought. In like manner, Thackeray's "Lovell the Widower," the most successful of his shorter stories, was "returned with thanks" three times before it finally found its way into a magazine.

Here She is Again.

The centenarian hero of Waterloo, the shower of toads, the sea serpent, the young lady with a lizard in her stomach, the mastodon's jawbone, the ancient negress that nursed the Father of his Country, the calf with two heads, and the lady that makes a needle-book of herself, becoming somewhat stale, the vigorous old woman of eighty-five, who does all the work on a large farm with her own hands, and support a numerous family of great grandchildren, has started on the rounds again. She is sojourning just now in Brown County, Ind.

Hens.

The Danbury News says; "The quintessence of the omnivorous is supposed to be imaged in the hog, but a hog is a Peabody among animals alongside of a hen. Hens are by nature monopolists. When the subject of victuals is mentioned they are evidently listening. Throw a handful of corn into a ten-acre lot, and every hen in the inclosure will get a dab at it. The last hen on the spot may not secure more than two kernels, but nothing in the hen's appearance will indicate that. It will step around with as much precision and gratitude as any in the flock, and wear the most pensive smile you ever saw. A hen will not eat everything it sees, but it will try to, and there isn't one on the face of the earth but that can tell you the taste of everything it has seen within a radius of a half mile of its house.

AMUSEMENTS. Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

To-night Danler, the most jovial of clowns, will take his farewell benefit and on this occasion new features will be introduced in "Humpty Dumpty Reconstructed." Horatio Nelson will perform on his wood and straw piano; and Messrs Morton and Oarbett will appear in the celebrated Majilton Hat Spinning Act. This will be the last night but two of "Humpty Dumpty Reconstructed" and "The Red Gnome." To-morrow there will be a matinee and on Sunday night the last performance will be given.

Alhambra Theatre.

Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Add Ryman, Delehanty and Hengler, I. McAndrews, Barry O'Niel, Charley Sutton and the others forming the brilliant combination known as Maguire's California Minstrels, can give an entertainment which cannot be surpassed by any other company. The vocalists comprising W. F. Baker, Benjamin Clark, J. O. Russell, M. Ainsley Scott, G. D. Rockafeller and others give a splendid first part and altogether the performance can scarcely be improved on. The house has been crowded from pit to dome every night this week. The full programme will be performed at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

The company at this house comprises so many popular favorites, and such an excellent programme is nightly presented under the experienced management of R. O. Marsh, that all tastes are gratified and the house is crowded. The revival of the extravaganza of "Grounds for a Divorce," in which the female swimmers appear, has proved a popular move. A great bill is in preparation for Saturday night.

American Theatre.

To-night a new piece entitled "Woman's Virtue" will be produced, with Foster, Howard, Cooper, Devoy, May Leroy, and others in the cast. The usual first part and variety entertainment by the company will be given. The benefit of H. Dopson, the manager, is to come off next Friday evening.

Pacific Hall.

The farewell concert given by Miss Anna Mehlig at this hall last night, was in every respect a great success. A large and fashionable audience was present; the programme was well arranged and was finely performed throughout. Fred Lyster's new song, "The Blue and the Gray," was excellently well sung by Mr. Lincoln. The gem of the performance was Weber's "Polonaise in E," delightfully executed by Miss Anna Mehlig. The orchestra was a very fine one. The fantasie entitled "Sounds of the Harp," was performed in a most effective manner, and Mendelssohn's grand "Wedding March," concluded one of the best concerts of the season. Miss Anna Mehlig will give her last pianoforte recital at Pacific Hall on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will on that occasion make her last appearance in San Francisco.

Bay District Agricultural Association.

The Fair of the Bay District Agricultural Association will terminate on Saturday. It has been attended by large and fashionable crowds since its opening. The drive out is a pleasant one, the races are exciting, and the music is delightful. The Child Americus, who is now performing there reaps a liberal harvest from appreciative auditors. There will be two capital races to-day.

City Gardens.

On Sunday a grand mining festival will be held at this popular resort, when the scenes of memorable forty-nine will be re-enacted for the entertainment of visitors. There will also be an instrumental concert, all sorts of races, greased pig and pole diversions, with grand display of fireworks

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday evening, August 31st, the grand skating tournament for a diamond eagle medal with diamond skate attached valued at $250, will come off. This will be open to all amateur skaters who have resided on the Pacific Coast for one year. It will be under the management of Callie Curtis, Champion Skater of America. The winner of the medal, if he hold it against all competitors for two years, is to retain it as his absolute property with the title of ex-champion. On Sunday next the Child Americus Troupe composed of the Child Americus (Master James Speight, aged five years, a wonderful violinist,) Miss. May Leslie, an accomplished vocalist and pianiste: Professor Speight, violinist, and Edgar Stanley, a capital tenor, who have been performing with great success in the towns in the interior will appear in a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music.

The Horticultural Fair.

The Pavilion on Stockton street presents an ever fresh appearance, the cut flowers being replaced by others before they fade and additions being constantly made to the exhibition. As a fashionable promenade this place supplies a want long felt in San Francisco. The music by Schmidt and Schlette's Band is delightful. The Fair will be open on Sunday from 3 to 5 P.M. and 8 to 10 P.M. A sacred concert will be given in the afternoon, and new flowers added to the exhibition.

Chiwrini's Royal Italian Circus.

This equestrian troupe, which has been performing at Nixon's Amphitheatre, Chicago, to immense houses, will arrive in San Francisco to-night. The names of the company appear in the list of passengers passing Corlia on the 29th inst., as follows: Signor O. Chiarini, William, George and Frederick Carle, Catalina Holloway, Marie, Adelaida, La Patite Francis and Guiseppe Reeboda. Amelia Brydges, Emelie Cadeway. Theo ore and Belen Oubs, La Petite Emelie, George Holland, Adolfe Gonzales, Harry Clark, Miss Fanny Carle, Miss Minnie Grace, Senorite Teresa Ruiz, E. Rowland. Emelie Rowland, Senor Jose Romano, J. Nichols. C. Royal, O. Agrati and B. Snyder.

To Arrive To-night.

Among the passengers to arrive to-night in San Francisco from the East are Yankee Robinson, advance agent of Conklin & Co's Circus, his wife, and Mrs. Joseph Proctor.

How they Manage Girls in France.

An American lady friend of mine, says Olive Logan, was to give a grand dinner on the occasion of her birthday. Some of her French acquaintances were invited.

One afternoon when I was calling on my friend, the name of a French countess was announced. After salutations, she said, "I came here to-day principally to ask you a question—is the young Baron de Luynes to be at your dinner?"

"Yes," answered the American lady.

"Then," said the countess, "you must not feel hurt if I do not bring my daughter Victorine."

"Why, Madame la Countess," said the American lady, "Monsieur de Luynes is a charming young man."

"True, true! A very charming young man—far too charming to throw any young girl [illegible] and in the [illegible] contact with. He is poor, [illegible] army. I wish my daughter to marry a man of equal fortune with herself, and one who is not a soldier."

When the countess left I said to my friend, "Do you not think she was looking rather too far ahead? There is a good wide difference between meeting a gentleman at a dinner party and marrying him."

"That is the way with the French," she answered: "they never expose their children to the temptation of falling in love with a person whom they may not marry."

"Wear 'em Clean Out!"

From Meridian, Mississippi, we have copies of two epistles from a colored brother and sister in that region to a school teacher, who desire that their offspring shall be duly corrected and properly educated. The first is from a colored preecher:

Mr. H——, esquier: If you plees to take my childring and correct them for evry falt, plees, deer sir, don't let them off but send them out to cut plenty of hickkerys, and wear 'em! wear 'em! wear 'em clean out! She is 13 years old and William is 6. Yours in the Lord, Rev. John Brown.

The second is from a fond mother:

Mr. Teacher,—if my gal gits contrerry and don't behaiv respecterbal and don't lern fast and don't get into gogeraphy, take the hide clean of ov her if she is 16 & kicks up a fus.

I didn't write this. I aint much eddicated. It it rote by very truly yours,

Polly Peterson.

I ame to have her grow up like Yankee folks.

Wait for the Applause!

At one of the London Philharmonic concerts a singer marked on the conductor's copy of his song, "Wait for the applause," at a particular passage. At the performance there was a sudden cessation of the orchestral accompaniment, to the no small amazement of the auditory, and the discomfiture, of course, of the artiste. "What are you stopping for?" asked the singer of the conductor, who drily replied, "I am waiting for the applause, according to your written directions." The director, we need scarcely add, was never afterwards troubled with instructions to wait for the applause.

Swallowing Greeley.

The Petaloma Crescent relates the following:

A Greeley and anti-Greeley man were heard talking politics in front of McGuire's drug store one day last week, when the Greeley man said: "It was very hard for us old Democrats to swallow Greeley, but we did it." "Yes," said the anti-Greeley man, sotto voce, "but it was a d—d sight harder for us to see you do it."

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions, Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. B. H. Cowan's Institute, 310 Kearny street, from 1 to 6 P.M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. References given if required. H

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll around to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests. •

BETRAYED.

Thus, where the palmy verdure made
A hiding-place of tropic gloom,
She breathed of him who had betray'd,
And her whose beauty was her doom:

"Bend, bend above her till she learns
The hidden secret of your eyes;
And, stricken with the horror, turns,
Scared at the guilt that in them lies.

"Pour vows into her dainty ear,
Vows poison-sweet no bee would sip,
Until her brow with passion sear,
And crimson as her crimson lip.

"Grasp with the hand no longer mine,
The fairer palm that but to hold
Quickens thy blood like summer wine—
Fear not if love be over-bold!

"Spare not the arts you did not spare
To win a heart already won;
Eager as fowler with the snare,
Leave not the prey till all be done.

"For her—may she your vows believe,
And with her life her love entwine;
Then learn you live but to deceive,
And die! So vengeance shall be mine!"

The Footlights, Salt Lake.

The Footlights, the programme paper of the Salt Lake Theatre comes to us enlarged. It seems to be doing a good business judging from its advertising columns. The Salt Lake people appreciate the advantage of advertising in a small paper read by everyone.

Music Hath Charms.

In Switzerland, a milkmaid who is a good singer gets more salary than others, because under the influence of music cows "give down" better and give more milk. An Eastern farmer is trying to hire Parepa-Rosa and Kellogg to sing around his pump.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,

FIGARO

CIRCULATES AS HOUSE PROGRAMME IN every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

IS DISTRIBUTED EVERY DAY THROUGH all the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

IS CIRCULATED EVERY DAY ON THE Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

IS MAILED EVERY DAY TO ALL THE principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

IS "HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES IN THE BEST SOCIETY, IS placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S

PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has re-opened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER,
N. E. corner Kearny and Jackson streets,

Letter From W. W. Fowler.

W. W. Fowler, business manager of the Berger Family, writes to us from Jackson, Michigan, under date of August 21st. We make the following extracts from his letter:

The Berger Family arrived home all safe over a month ago. Show news hereabouts is dull, owing partly to the election excitement and partly to the hot weather at present existing. Most, or at least a great many of the leading stars in the country, among whom are Jefferson, Owens, Booth, Mrs. Bowers, and some others, intend playing with companies of their own this season and not "starring." Sol Smith Russell goes out this season by himself in a monologue entertainment throughout the Southern States. He is getting up some elegant printing all of which is new.

The Berger Family intend travelling throughout the West Indies and perhaps will visit Mexico this season. Their trip to California was sufficiently profitable to them to make it likely that they may visit California again at no very distant day.

Emerson's Minstrels are meeting with good success everywhere. Sheridan and Mack are great favorites. Yankee Robinson with a company of acrobats, etc., is en route for California and Japan. The Yankee is well known in the States and when he lets loose, on '-bills and out-advertises any concern travelling. Very truly yours,

W. W. FOWLER, Manager B. F. B. R.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

CHARLES HAAKE, Proprietor.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Sanitarium Salt Water Baths.

O HERE !—Why don't you take Salt Water Baths regularly? Try one to-day, at the "Sanitarium," foot of Powell street, North Beach. Only 25 cents. Steam baths 50 cents, or two warm bath tickets. DRISCOLL & HAGEN. T

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 649 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Soreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests. •

A Pleasant Location.

Persons desiring comfortable lodgings in a Central location, should visit the Alhambra, and inspect the fine suites of rooms to let there. The building is a very fine one and is well lighted and ventilated. •

Foreign and Domestic Drugs.

Assayers, Bakers, Confectioners, Hair Dressers, Dyers, and all manufacturers needing druggist's articles, will find it to their advantage to examine the cash price list of Stroh, Schmidt & Co., importers, (successors to Hug & Schmidt) 535 Commercial st., one door below Montgomery. Agents for Horton's Tobacco Antidote. N

Sam Moore,

Formerly of Russ House Carriages, can be found in front of Coleman Bros. clothing establishment, southwest corner Bush and Montgomery sts., or Dexter Stables. Carriage orders left at either place promptly attended to day or night, at reduced rates. BG

The Significant Hat.

In the time of Gessler and William Tell there was much significance in a hat. So it is now. The first thing that attracts the eye is the hat. Therefore buy a fashionable hat at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny. N

PIANOFORTE and SINGING.

MONS. ALEXANDER WOLOWSKI, THE well known Pianist and Vocalist, has the honor to inform his friends and the public of San Francisco that he opens courses for Piano and Singing, by his entirely new and simplified system, the shortest in existence—reading Music at sight, accompaniments of any song by a new march of harmony, as well as the most thorough knowledge of time, by Mons. Wolowski's new invention, which has created a great sensation in the musical world. Ladies and gentlemen desirous to become fine singers or excellent performers can leave their orders at the Piano Warerooms of WM. BADGER, No 13 Sansome street; or, at Mons. AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—Tony Denier had a good house on the occasion of his benefit last night, and was funnier than ever. "Humpty Dumpty Reconstructed" with the Red Gnome feats, and the new tricks, and transformations, will be played at the matinee to-day, this evening and to-morrow night for the last time. This very attractive entertainment has given great pleasure to the public, and all will wish to see it once more before it closes. Seats can be reserved for the matinee by applying at the box office early.

THE ALHAMBRA.—Large and fashionable audiences have thronged this house every evening, and all have thoroughly enjoyed the excellent entertainment given. Such an aggregation of minstrel talent would crowd any theatre in the United States: Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Add Ryman, Delehanty and Hengler, I. McAndrews, Charley Sutton and Sam Rickey are all stars in the minstrel profession, and few companies can boast of such vocalists as Benjamin Clark, W. F. Baker, J. O. Russell, G. D. Bockafelier and M. Ainsley Scott. Barry O'Niel is excellent in small songs, dresses well and has a good style, which he will soon learn to adapt to suit a California audience. This company will all appear at the matinee to-morrow, to-night and again to-morrow night, in the programme published on our first page.

BELLA UNION.—As usual a new and very attractive entertainment has been prepared for the delectation of the Saturday night patrons of this popular variety theatre. After a fine first part winding up with a lively walk around, Mrs. Chas. Cortell will sing a ballad entitled "The Valley of the Chamouni;" this will be followed by Miss Agnes Kennedy's comic set entitled "The Little Savage," in which she, R. G. Marsh and Lon McCarthy will appear; Misses Ida Fisk, Fanny Garretson and Minnie Loder will sing popular ballads; Geo. and Charles Reynolds will appear in double song and dance; Matt Kelly and Tommy Bree in "Banjo Lessons in Two Minutes;" Miss Josephina and Maria Zoel in double song and dance; J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong in "Love at de Nord Beach;" Miss Kennedy will sing Sir Henry Bishop's Echo Song, with violin obligato by E. Zimmer. Johnny Tuers, J. H. Larkin, Harry Sinclair and Tommy Bree will appear in the new negro act of "The Hospital Nurse." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cortell in "The Fellow that Looks Like Me," and the extravaganza of "The Swimming Baths" will conclude this rich entertainment.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—"The Three Fast Women of San Francisco and the Escaped Nun" has proved such a hit that it retains its place on the bills. In addition to this there will be a new first part and interlude to-night, and the new play of "Woman's Virtue" will also be performed.

MISS ANNA MEHLIG'S LAST PIANOFORTE MATINEE.—Miss Anna Mehlig will give her last concert in this city this afternoon, at Pacific Hall, and doubtless it will be thronged on the occasion. Of the many pianists who have visited San Francisco there have been none so successful—none who have given so many concerts as this eminent artiste. Miss Mehlig goes East next week, to return to us at some future day, we hope.

ITALIAN OPERA.—The subscription books for the season of Italian opera at the Metropolitan Theatre, are open at Thomas Houseworth's, Lick House Block. The Success is encouraging, over $5,000 having been already subscribed.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS—SKATING TOURNAMENT.—This evening the long anticipated grand skating tournament for a diamond eagle medal with diamond skate attached valued at $250, will come off. This will be open to all amateur skaters who have resided on the Pacific Coast for one year. It will be under the management of Callie Curtis, Champion Skater of America. The winner of the medal, if he hold it against all competitors for two years, is to retain it as his absolute property with the title of ex-champion. On Sunday next the Child Americus Troupe composed of the Child Americans (Master James Speight, aged five years, a wonderful violinist,) Miss May Leslie, an accomplished vocalist and pianiste; Professor Speight, violinist, and Edgar Stanley, a capital tenor, who have been performing with great success in the towns in the interior will appear in a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music.

AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION FAIR.—To-day is the last of the Annual Fair of the Bay District Agricultural Association. The parade of stock will take place at 2 o'clock. At 2 o'clock there will be a race for a purse of $500, free for all trotting horses that have never beaten 2.40. The band of the Second Artillery will be in attendance, and the Child Americans will give a violin performance in the parlor. There will be a large and fashionable attendance, and all who visit the Fair will enjoy themselves.

CITY GARDENS—GRAND MINING FESTIVAL.—On Sunday a grand mining festival will be held at this popular resort, when the scenes of memorable forty-nine will be re-enacted for the entertainment of visitors. There will also be an instrumental concert, all sorts of races, greased pig and pole diversions, with grand display of fireworks

THE HORTICULTURAL FAIR.—The glittering Pavilion on Stockton street presents an ever fresh appearance, the cut flowers being replaced by others before they fade and additions being constantly made to the exhibition. As a fashionable promenade this place supplies a want long felt in San Francisco. The music by Schmidt and Schlotte's Band is delightful. The Fair will be open on Sunday from 3 to 5 P.M. and 8 to 10 P.M. A sacred concert will be given in the afternoon, and new flowers added to the exhibition.

OFF FOR PORTLAND.—The following artistes will leave to-day to join G. B. Waldron's Oro Fino Theatre company in Portland: Mrs. E. F. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Crosbie, Mr. and Mrs. Lipsie, Samuel Piercy, J. H. Vinson, W. H. Portier, James Barrows and R. H. Cox.

MR. AND MRS. MARTIN SIMONSEN.—These favorite artistes will commence an engagement at the Alhambra Theatre on Monday, September 9th. During their stay in the Australasian colonies they have won golden opinions. Mr. Simonsen is a splendid violinist, and Mrs. Simonsen is a vocalist of great ability and fine culture.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—The majority of those who attended the Fair at Agricultural Park during the week went on to the Cliff House. At this famous hostelry a dinner can be obtained which surpasses anything in San Francisco and an appetite to eat it is sure to be given by the sea breeze.

"BUFFALO BILL"—E. T. STETSON.—On Monday night the popular young tragedian, E. T. Stetson, will commence an engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre and produce the sensation drama of "Buffalo Bill," which has made such a hit in New York, Chicago, and many other cities in the United States. Thousands have admired this drama, and, to quote the bills of the day:—"Proclaim it the last and great New York sensation, being, as it were, a great Indian society drama with border life perils." That "being as it were" is very pretty. "Buffalo Bill" draws like a house on fire everywhere, and is sure to crowd the Metropolitan Theatre for many a night.

THE CALIFORNIA THEATRE COMPANY.—John McCullough and the California Theatre company returned from Virginia City early in the week. They played a four weeks' season at Piper's Opera House to good business. Most of the company have gone ruralising in the interior until the theatre reopens, doubtless glad to be free for awhile from rehearsal calls and the prompter's bell.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SACRAMENTO.—The Bee gives the following account of theatrical prospects in Sacramento:

> Mrs. Proctor will arrive in Sacramento on Friday next with the nucleus of a first-rate theatrical company, with which Mr. Proctor intends to run the next Sacramento season. Among those whom Mrs. Proctor will probably bring is Miss Kate Denin, deservedly a popular actress here. Mrs. Proctor will complete the formation of the company here, and among those who have signified a willingness to accept positions are Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds and Mr. and Mrs. Bates, of whom Mr. Edmonds is an improving, careful and reliable actor. Mrs. Proctor intends to open at Stockton on September 10th next and play there during Fair week, and then the following Monday open permanently at the Metropolitan, which has been cleaned, whitewashed, painted and thoroughly repaired and beautified throughout. H. S. Beals, Esq., will act as agent. Mr. Proctor is running the "Red Pocket-book," and that miraculous French man-of-war, in the Eastern cities, and making bushels of money. He will come here only when his play ceases to make money there.

Mrs. Proctor, as the Bee anticipated, arrived last night. Mr. Proctor has not yet commenced making bushels of money with "The Red Pocket-book." By referring to our Eastern summary, our readers may see when and where this play is to be produced. The Bee also says:

> A letter has just been received from Yankee Robinson at Chicago, which place he is about to leave for New York, to obtain a menagerie to accompany his great circus. He will be here in Sacramento during Fair week with the grand combination of circuses, and wants to obtain the use of the plaza whereon to pitch his tents.

STOCKTON.—Professor J. M. Mathews and wife gave an entertainment at Mozart Hall on Thursday evening. It consisted of phrenological examinations, mesmerism, and electro-biological experiments.

MARYSVILLE.—Miss Minnie Walton will appear at the the theatre during next week supported by a company comprising Fred Lyster, E. J. Buckley, Miss Mary E. Wadsworth and many others. This actress is such a general favorite, and acts so naturally and so well that we are sure that she will please the people of Marysville.

COLUSA.—The Wilton Troupe, who have just completed a most successful tour through the Northern portion of the State, appeared at Chopin's Hall on Monday in "Miralda, the Cigar Girl."

SAN JOSE.—Manager Bert, of the Metropolitan Theatre, determined to encourage any slight taste for theatricals that may exist in San Jose, will open the Opera House on Monday with Joe Murphy in "Maum Cre," supported by Miss Maggie Moore and other members of the Metropolitan Theatre company. Miss Phœbe Couzens lectured at Music Hall on Thursday evening to a "fair" audience.

RED BLUFF.—The Wilton Troupe performed "Miralda the Cigar Girl, or the Yankee in Cuba," on Thursday of last week at Boley's Hall to a large house.

GEORGETOWN, COL.—The Amelia Dean Troupe came to smash here. Charley Vincent and Amelia Deane have become "all-gers;" he slings hash in a foundry of that article, and she slings beer in a saloon. Under these circumstances they eat and drink.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—On Tuesday night John Maguire, who tried to start a theatre in Oakland without any money was the recipient of "a grand complimentary benefit at Piper's Opera House." A San Jose audience, that is "small but appreciative," attended. Mr. Maguire is trying to get up a travelling company.

SALT LAKE.—E. T. Stetson made his appearance at the Salt Lake Theatre on Wednesday, August 21st, in "Neck and Neck," and repeated his performance next evening. On Friday, "Illusion; or, The Dream of Life," was presented. On Monday, 26th, Mr. Stetson took a benefit and appeared in McCloskey's drama of "Daring Dick, the Detective; or, High, Low, Jack and the Game."

PORTLAND, OREGON.—The Fall and Winter season at the Oro Fino Theatre under the management of G. B. Waldron, will commence immediately on the arrival of the artistes mentioned in another column as leaving this city to-day. The following members of the profession are in Portland under engagement: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pulford, Frank Cleaves, Richard Clinton, Miss Minnie Pixley and Mr. Potgoldt, scenic artist. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Waldron will take an active part in the production of new dramas.

The Crystal Palace Circus gave its last performance on the 22d. The Herald of that date says:

> We cannot help but make an especial mention of Master Fellon, announced as the "Iron Boy." Apparently about twenty years of age, he lifts heavy weights, among others a dumb bell weighing 165 pounds, over his head with the greatest of ease. The muscles of his body are seen just like cords.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, "The Bells," which is a translation of "Le Juif Polonais" ("The Polish Jew,") which ran over 200 nights at the Lyceum Theatre, London, is drawing good houses at Booth's Theatre with James W. Wallack as Mathias......The Grand Opera House opened under the management of Augustin Daly on the 21st with the grand spectacular play of "Le Roi Carotte," and the following company: John Brougham, J. W. Jennings, Martin Golden, Julian Cross, Mrs. John Ella Dietz, Mrs. Yeamans, Mary Stuart, Robert Craig, G. F. Ketchum, Oline Hersee, The Majilton Family, Rose Hersee, Miss Norwood, Jennie Yeamans, Bella Goldau, Emma Howson, Stuart Robson, J. Peakes and others......The date assigned for the reopening of the Fifth Avenue is September 3d. The season now commencing will be its fourth. The establishment remains, as heretofore, under the competent management of Mr. Augustin Daly. The opening play of the season will be a new comedy, illustrative, it is said, of local social life. It comes from the pen of Mr. Bronson C. Howard, the author of "Saratoga," and it is called "Diamonds"—a felicitous and promising appellation. One scene in this, carefully painted by Mr. Roberts, will show the grand saloon of a fashionable New York club. "Diamonds" will be followed by a new drama, from the pen of Mr. Mosenthal, the author of the well known play of "Deborah" ("Leah, the Forsaken,") portraying fashionable life in Berlin......"The Red Pocket Book" is to be produced at the Olympic Theatre on September 2d with the following ladies and gentlemen in the cast: Nell Warner, Joseph Nagle, Harry Hotto, Harry Eytinge, M. Kennedy, J. Brutone, A. Bradley, H. Liston, Fred Marsden, J. Freeman, the Misses Rose Coghlan, Ida Vernon, Alice Sinclair and Stanley. W. H. Daly will be the stage manager and prompter. The attractions at the Olympic Theatre during the coming season will be as follows: M'lle Aimee and her new opera company will play four weeks commencing October 14th; Lucille Western will play an engagement commencing Nov. 14th. From Dec. 11th four or five weeks have been reserved for strong features. On January 6th or 13th Lawrence Barrett will commence an engagement; Miss Lydia Thompson and her burlesque company will begin a series of performances on Feb. 10th or 17th, to be followed by G. L. Fox and his pantomime company, who will perform in "Humpty Dumpty" until the close of the season......The San Francisco Minstrels reopened on the 26th the St. James' Theatre. Bernard has made a fortune and retired from the stage......The Lydia Thompson Troupe are running "Blue Beard" at Wallack's Theatre......At Niblo's Garden work is going on steadily. The walls are rising rapidly, and it is probable that the reconstructed Garden will be ready for occupation and business on about the first of November. For the new play which is to be produced at Niblo's, on its opening, the following named artistes are engaged, so say the quid nuncs: M'lle Rosetta, a renowned European prima donna; M'lle Corneille d'Anake, a French performer of marvellous beauty and much artistic ability: and Master Henry Collard, a dwarf with a phenomenal voice, and who is generally known in England as the "Pocket Sims Reeves." We gave an account of what was to be done at the other theatres and minstrel halls in last Saturday's issue.

The list of engagements for the Italian opera season in New York has been considerably changed, and is now said to stand as follows: Sopranos, Mme. Lucca, Miss Kellogg, and M'lle Deveille; contralto: Mme. Sasz, from Madrid; tenors, Abrugnedo and Vizzani; baritones, Moriami and Sparapani; basses, Jamet, and Coulon: buffo, Ronconi; conductors, Maretzek, Bergmann, and Carlberg.

Frank Bret Harte, according to current rumor, has written a play for the next season for the Fifth Avenue, which Mr. Daly intends to produce. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hall, who have, since they left San Francisco, met with good success in New York, have left that city under an engagement for England, India and Australia, which is to extend over several years.

John Brougham has finished his play upon the life of Joan D'Arc. It is said by those who have had the pleasure of reading the manuscript to be a work of great care, and one of the best plays upon that subject yet written. The right to play the piece in this country has been acquired by Miss Helen Temple.

The engagements of Mr. and Mrs. Dion Boucicault, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Shiel Barry and C. Alexander, are Booth's Theatre, New York, Sept. 23, eight weeks; Globe Theatre, Boston, Nov. 18, three weeks; Walnut-street Theatre, Dec. 9, three weeks; Baltimore and Washington 28th, two weeks; McVicker's, Chicago, Jan. 13, three weeks; De Bar's, St. Louis, Feb. 3, two weeks. Will then fill time till May 16 in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, when Mr. Boucicault will return to Covent Garden, London, to resume the management of that theatre for a summer season. Mr. Harry Wall, who is New York, will be business manager for Mrs. Boucicault on both sides of the water. Mr. Boucicault proposes to write seven new pieces during his stay in America, skeleton plots of which he has already found.

Mrs. W. J. Florence has entered a convent in the suburbs of Paris, for the purpose of completing her knowledge of the French, German, and Italian languages, and studying music. She has the reputation already of being one of the most accomplished women on the American stage. Her seclusion will be of only eighteen months' duration. Mr. Florence left for New York on the 12th inst., and will probably appear at the Union Square Theatre, having secured three pieces peculiarly adapted to the business which will hereafter characterize that establishment. Lotta is in a convent, Mrs. Florence is in a convent; soon no actress will be perfect till she has been to a convent. Under these circumstances we say to Miss Maggie Moore, "go, get thee to a nunnery."

The Baltimore Evening Bulletin, speaking of amusements in that city, says:

> J. W. Albaugh and wife (Miss Mary Mitchell) will come early in October with their new play of "Poverty Flat," founded on that well-known poem of Bret Harte's, "Her Letter." The Lily of Poverty Flat will be a charming impersonation in the hands of Mrs. Albaugh. Following them the engagements so far concluded are as follows: Lawrence Barrett will produce "Julius Cæsar," aided by Frederick Robinson, who was the leading man in Miss Jane Coombs' company of last season. F. S. Chanfrau will produce "John Garth," with J. H. Jack and Miss Annie Firmin in the cast. The next sensation will be "The Red Pocket Book," a new play by Proctor, founded on the French tale from which Charles Reade was accused of plagiarizing the plot of "Foul Play."

John Jack and Miss Annie Firmin having been quite successful in their specialty, Brougham's "John Garth; or, True to Herself," have added to their attractions a new society play, by Maeder, entitled "Lady Thornhurst's Daughter." They began their season at Albany, on the 16th inst., and will play engagements in Montreal, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Louisville, Baltimore, etc., and will inaugurate a new theatre in Jersey City during the season.

The Boston Courier of the 10th, says:

> At the Globe Theatre, on Monday night, Emerson's California Minstrels, who are great favorites on the Pacific Coast, will begin a short engagement. This troupe is a very complete one in all its details, and in its vocal, instrumental, and terpsichorean attractions, and in the delineation of negro peculiarities has probably never been surpassed in this city. The troupe includes Billy Emerson, a new face here, whose fame has preceded him; Ben Cotter, well known in this city from his former connection with the Cotton and Murphy troupe; Sheridan and Mack, whose ability in what are called lightning changes has been well appreciated by our citizens, and other popular performers. The musical portion of the entertainment will be superior to exhibitions generally of this description, and will include, according to the announcement, a vocal corps of eight of the finest voices in America, and an orchestra of ten solo performers. Mr. Thomas Maguire, the well-known California Manager, is associated with Mr. Emerson in the proprietorship and direction of this company, which is a guarantee that the entertainment will be all that can be desired by the most exacting.

This company opened to a splendid house, and in spite of hot weather have drawn crowded houses. The press of Boston are loud in their praises of this great combination of artistes.

D'Atalie, M'lle. Angela and Little Zephyr, the French athletes, who are traveling with Kleckner & Co.'s circus and menagerie, are reported as creating a sensation in the towns they visited. After the close of the tenting season they will visit California.

Lilian Adelaide Neilson, lately the leading lady at Drury Lane, who is to star at Booth's this season, had been for some years married to a Mr. Lee, the son of an Episcopal parson, rector of somewhere or other near London. When not playing, she generally passes her time at the home of her father-in-law. This semi-alliance between Church and Stage is pleasing and encouraging.

The Boston Courier of the 18th says:

> A concert will be given at the Coliseum next Sunday afternoon by a choir of 20,000 Sunday school children and a large orchestra collected from the different bands of the city. It will be for the benefit of the House of the Angel Guardian, and this, with the novelty of the entertainment, will no doubt attract a large audience.

What a treat those 20,000 squalling children would afford the editor of the San Jose Mercury!

The hoarding has been removed in front of the Fechter Theatre, in Fourteenth street, New York, showing the Corinthian architecture of the facade, which presents a very imposing appearance. The building will soon be ready for occupation.

Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels reopened at the new Arch street Opera House, Philadelphia, 16th.

Miss Caroline Hayes has recently purchased a farm at Stroudsburg, Pa., within three miles of the Delaware County Gap. Harry Hawk, late comedian at Wood's Museum, Philadelphia, and who travels with Furbush & Wilton during the coming season, is rusticating at her farm during the Summer.

Joe Jefferson opens at Augusta, Me., September 2d. His son, C. B. Jefferson, manages the business during the entire season. A strong company is engaged.

Morlacchi, the celebrated danseuse, will star the season in "The French Spy" and "La Bayadere," under the management of John Burke.

Miss Carlotta Leclercq will travel under the management of John Canning.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers plays in Philadelphia, commencing October 7th.

Edwin Adams will appear at Bridgeport, Conn., on November 7th.

Claude Burroughs is engaged for the ensuing season at the Union Square Theatre.

J. T. Raymond is to appear in "Our American Cousin" with Sothern, at Wallack's, in October.

Charlotte Crampton is engaged at Edwin Booth's Theatre.

Lucille Western will play at the Olympic Theatre, New York, in December.

F. S. Chanfrau is at Wood's Museum, N. Y.

J. B. Booth is the manager of the Boston Theatre for next season.

E. L. Davenport is manager of the Chestnut, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Baker (Alexina Fisher Baker) are engaged at the Walnut, Philadelphia.

Miss Carlotte Leclercq opens at Mrs. John Drew's Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, in September.

Ed. Marble and Katy Wilson are engaged for the Academy of Music, Chicago.

Frank Mayo opened the new Opera House at Rochester on August 26th, with Miss Virginia Howard as leading lady.

Miss M. E. Gordon will travel with John E. Owen's company.

The veteran John Collins, Irish comedian, will make his first appearance in Baltimore during the coming season.

Mr. J. B. Selwyn and Mr. C. R. Thorne, Jr., will both be connected with the Chestnut street Theatre, under Mr. E. L. Davenport's management the coming season.

Mr. John Brougham is said to be writing a play for the Union Square Theatre, New York, in which Miss Griswold—the talented pupil of Mr. James Steele Mackaye—will sustain the leading part.

Conklin Brothers' Circus, Council Bluffs, 16th; Omaha, 20th and 21st; Fremont, 22d; Grand Island, 24th; North Platte, 25th, and push for San Francisco, whence they will embark for Japan.

The New York Clipper says:

> The Blind Tom Concert Troupe will start on a fall and winter tour early in September, going through Canada, thence through the northern part of Iowa and across the plains to California.

Emerson's Minstrels, Boston Globe Theatre, 19th one week; thence New York, at Lina Edwin's Theatre. Somebody stole a $250 watch and chain, in Washington, of Ben Cotton, a member of this troupe.

Annie Adams, Aimee's Varieties, Pittsburg, 19th. Thence Boston.

Charley Howard, Aimee's Varieties, Pittsburg, 19th; Metropolitan, Washington, Oct. 7.

J. H. Milburn, La Petite DeAngelis and others are at Fox's American Theatre, Philadelphia. La Petite DeAngelis should go to a nunnery pretty soon to complete her education. She is very popular as a juvenile star.

The Boston Folio says:

> Another "diamond" of the Lotta stamp has appeared.—Maggie Moore, in San Francisco.

Yes, San Francisco is a regular dramatic diamond mine. Maggie is a genuine gem, but needs polishing a little—in a nunnery.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

The only novelty at the London Theatres for the week ending August 4th was the production at the Grecian Theatre of Paul Merritt's drama, in three acts, entitled "[illegible], or Linked by Love," which is thus spoken of by the Sunday Times: "It is a success, and will doubtless hold its own for some time to come."......The Princess's was reopened on Aug. 3d, under the management of James Guiver, with Byron's "Haunted House," preceded by "The Unfinished Gentleman."......At the Strand, Henry J. Byron was acting in "Not Such a Fool as he Looks."......At the Britannia, a new and original drama by George Lander, and entitled "The Verdict of the World," was to have been produced on Aug 5th......No changes have occurred at the other theatres.

From the London Times, July 26: "Probably in the history of the theatrical profession there is no fact more extraordinary or more honorable than the appearance of Mr. Sothern on Wednesday night. In the middle of an American engagement, he crosses the Atlantic for the express purpose of representing his great character, Lord Dundreary, for the benefit of the Royal General Theatrical Fund. Of course, everybody was delighted with an exhibition of character which bears witness to an original genius worthy of Rabelais; but the cheers which welcomed his graceful words of farewell were given not merely to the great actor, but to the generous benefactor. The deed of charity done, Mr. Sothern recrosses the Atlantic and pursues the course of his engagement. In the Spring of next year, it is said he will reappear at the Haymarket."

The husband of Grisi, M. de Melay, is living in France with a large fortune. His wife bought him off with a heavy sum in order to live with Mario. Divorces were not very practicable in England in those days, except for unfaithfulness, and then at great trouble and expense; and Grisi having laid herself open to that charge, could not sue her husband for the same cause. In France divorces are impracticable for any cause whatever. The eldest daughter of Grisi and Mario is residing in Scotland with a noble family. The youngest is in Florence with her father. Mario has been lately singing privately at Court in Rome with success.

Great preparations are being made at the Opera Comique at Paris to provide a series of attractive novelties for the next season, three new works being at present in preparation—"Don Cæsar de Bazan," by M. Jules Massenet; "Le Roi do Sait," by M. Delibes, and "Le Florentin," by M. Lenepveu. Among other works announced are "L'Ambassadrice," "Roman et Juliet," and "Dinorah;" or, as it is always termed in France, "Le Pardon de Ploermel." In the last-named opera the heroine's role will be allotted to Mme. Carvalho, who created it with so much success in London.

The "Lady of the Lake" is to be the next Sir Walter Scott drama at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, London. It will be from the pen of Mr. Andrew Halliday, the author of the previous adaptations of Scott's novels produced at this house. It will be brought out in a style of scenic and historical embellishment unusual even at this house, upon the opening night of the season.

Madame Parepa-Rosa having accepted an engagement for the Italian opera season at Cairo, Egypt, has declined the contract forwarded to her for Moscow and St. Petersburg, for which cities Herr Rosa was offered the post of joint conductor with Signor Bavignani. In 1873 Herr and Madame Rosa will make another tour, with English opera company, in the United States.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg has been the most attractive of the operatic stars during the past season in London if the united praises of the critics can be relied upon as expressing the opinion of the public. She proved a better card for the management than even Campanini, the new tenor.

Only six theatres to let in London at the prese time. Even "varieties" are dull.

The Prussian band made over fifty thousand do lare in America.

A "penny" opera house is to be erected in Pari Of course the performances will be as cheap as th admission fee.

Signor Mario is unable to leave Florence, and subscription is on foot in London to relieve h necessities.

M'lle Nilsson's wedding presents are valued upwards of $500,000. The Princess of Wales se her an elegant diamond bracelet.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg was to leave Englan for America in the Cuba, August 31st.

At the Oxford Music Hall, London, Eng., th fresh attractions announced were the Fakir Oolu (Prof. Silvester) and Hawley, America gymnast, on a new flying trapeze.

Herr Holtum was performing at the Sta Clock Concert Hall, Birmingham, Eng.

A. G. Vance and his concert company performe at Chatham, Eng., July 24th and 25th.

Mr. Charles Mathews commences an engageme at the Gaiete Theatre, London, October 7th.

The new Paris opera house will cost $8,000,00 The sculpture and painting alone will cost $2,000,00 and the ornaments $360 000.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

Woman's Influence.

Whatever political theorists may say the destiny of the human race is in the hands of the women; and their citadel and throne is home. No place deserves the name of home where woman is not seated in her womanly character. And wherever woman dwells in her honest and chaste relations, she is in advance of her male companions—her husband, brothers, children, in whatsoever is honest and of good report. Let them but follow her counsels—it may be timid, still judicious; let them heed her warnings, impulsive perhaps—perhaps illogical—but always having an intuition of the right as their foundation, and they cannot greatly wander. Woman's character and influence is the complement of man's nature. And whenever men and women agree in the efforts to make home pure and happy, the inmates of that household have a protection better than all the Solons among lawgivers could devise. The family is a divine institution, old as the race of man, and he or she who profanes it is guilty of sacrilege.

A Crocodile Fight.

There was a man down in Florida named Stiles, and he had a tame alligator. And one day Stiles sailed out with that petted ichthiosaurus, for the purpose of finding an untamed crocodile with which to organize a fight. After a while Stiles found one sunning itself upon the bank of the river. Thereupon Stiles approached and set his own docile alligator to rallying with warlike intent upon the untutored denizen of the everglade. Just as the fight began Stiles stepped closer, in order to obtain a better view of the combat, when all of a sudden both alligators discontinued hostilities, and, uniting their energies, proceeded to bite Stiles in half and to lunch off of him. And yet, despite the consequences of the agreement between these two reptiles, there are men who actually undertake to encourage the co-operative system.

A Pat Reply.

A one-legged Welsh orator, named Jones, was pretty successful in bantering an Irishman, when the latter asked him, "How did you come to lose your leg?" "Well," said Jones, "on examining my pedigree, and looking up my descent, I found there was some Irish blood in me, and becoming convinced that it was settled in that leg, I had it cut off at once." "Be the powers," said Pat, "It would have been a denced good thing if it had only settled in your head."

Not Here.

A young friend of ours, whose opinions derive a tinge of bitterness from the beer he imbibes, says that although it is quite true that "one swallow does not make a summer," a summer like this makes one swallow—a good deal of liquid. (N. B.—We clipped this from a paper published in New York where it is warm. We have not had any summer in San Francisco yet but expect the dog days to commence early in December.)

An editor who reads his exchanges on Sundys was informed by his minister that he would find much "new matter" in the Old and New Testaments.

Mr. Greeley has recently been interviewed by the dairymen, and in response to an inquiry said: "The best butter is undoubtedly an old ram."

An Irish lover remarked that it is a great pleasure to be alone, "especially when your sweetheart is wid ye!"

Æsthetic Taste in San Francisco.

Anything that does not need much culture flourishes in California. Esthetic taste requires taste and is the growth of cities; it does not flourish in San Francisco. The Press is not æsthetic in a marked degree and it consequently seizes on every ghost of an opportunity afforded it to praise San Francisco for its taste in music and the fine arts. Of course no such a thing exists but people like to be told that they are æsthetic in their tastes. Certainly those who have the means to gratify such tastes are not remarkable for possessing them. Our rich people will go to the opera but they won't pay a fair price for it. They do not encourage Art; they prefer to use their money in "speculating," i. e., gambling. A large majority of them hold with our School Directors that Art is not much account anyhow, and is indeed immoral. They like the pictures in The Day's Doings because they are "racy," and they would look at the pictures of Ruben's with the same idea, and would'nt let their daughters see them. The Art Association having tendered an invitation to the children of the Public Schools to visit their exhibition, the School Directors refused it on the grounds that the studies of arms and legs were "immoral"—one of them said "beastly." This reminds us of the vinegary old virgin who made one of a party to visit an exhibition of sculpture. One work of art was much admired by the rest of the company; the old maid turning to one of the gentlemen of the party said, "it may be very fine but don't you think it is indecent?" "Mademe," replied the gentleman, "I do not, but I think there is much indecency in your remark." That old girl had been forbidden when young to go to an art exhibition and was on the lookout for indecency everywhere. It is a pitiful fact that the æsthetic taste of San Francisco is not at all in proportion to its wealth. On Friday and Saturday there was a sale of rare and valuable works at Cobb's Auction Rooms. The collection was the property of H. H. Moore, bookseller, made by him during the last two years in Europe and the East. There were the finest works of Dore, beautiful editions of Shakspeare, costly engravings of the pictures of history, beautifully bound editions of the poets, rare editions of standard works, an original edition of Gilray, a perfect mine of literary wealth. In any other city in the world with a population equal to that of San Francisco, the auction-room would have been thronged with ladies and gentlemen representing the wealth and culture of the city, and a spirited competition for the acquisition of these treasures would have been kept up. How was it in the wealthy city of San Francisco? The sale was attended by a dozen or so booksellers and a score or so of men with taste but without money, who stood like impecunious boys at the window of a candy store wishing they had the the means to buy. It will be some some time, we fancy, before any other bookseller ventures to invest his capital in rare and costly works to sell to the rich people of San Francisco who like to gamble with their money too well to spend it in anything which they cannot eat, drink or wear.

Oyster Trade.
The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Beecher's Letter Writer.

Henry Ward Beecher closes a characteristic article in the New York Ledger on letter-writing with the following sensible advice:

Do not begin a letter with an apology or an explanation. Time is precious. Letters are multitudinous. Men do not like to open and clean a letter like a fish before they can eat it. State your business in the first line. Then, when you have stated your business, you can go on, if you wish with explanations and apologies, which the receiver can read or not, as he pleases. Thus, if one writes, "Dear sir,—I desire to borrow a thousand dollars without any interest or security," and adds eight or ten reasons why, the receiver does not need to read further than the first line.

Never begin thus: "Dear Sir—You will be surprised to receive a letter from an entire stranger," etc. Bless your dear heart, one now-a-days is surprised at anything else! Surprised! I am surprised when I do not get a peck a week.

There are a few rules which men should commit to memory, in corresponding with busy people.

1—Don't write at all.

2—When you can't help it, be sharp, short and legible.

3—When you want money, don't begin with piety or flattery. Beg first, and be pious afterward.

4—Don't beg of anyone with whom you are not personally acquainted. Die but don't beg.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

"Humpty Dumpty" finished his amusing capers on the stage last night, and departs "universally regretted." "Now," as Tony Denier used to say, "we'll have something else." Enter E. T. Stetson the popular young tragedian, who has been running a neck and neck race with the first stars in the profession through all the states. Mr. Stetson, when he was here before produced a sensation play which was exciting enough, but the part he played did not give him much chance to display his talent to good advantage. This time he brings no gloomy melo-drama, but a regular rip-tearing sensation, which has crowded any number of theatres in the East night after night for a lengthy period. Buffalo Bill is a real live man who lives and moves, and has his being, and his whiskey and scalps on the boundless prairie. There are no long speeches, we understand, in this play it is all action. Miss Maggie Moore has a character to suit her in Kitty Muldoon; Miss Henrietta Osborne plays the heroine, Lillie, Buffalo Bill's sister, and W. J. Coggswell, John Woodard and F. M. Bates are also in the cast.

Alhambra Theatre.

A very attractive programme has been arranged for this evening. The first part with Bob Hart and Charles Sutton on the ends will be very lively. Barry O'Neil will appear in new character changes; Bob Bert, Cool Burgess, Sam Rickey, J. Robinson, and M. A. Scott, will perform the Ethiopian farce entitled "High Jack the Heeler; the quartette, "What Seems so Bright?" by W. F. Baker, G. D. Rockafeller, J. O Russell, and M. A. Scott, will be a pleasing feature in the interlude; Delehanty and Hengler will give one of their latest productions in the song and dance line—"Where Flowers Blush and Bloom;" J McAndrews will appear in his great character of Uncle Pete, assisted by G. D. Rockafeller and the capital pantomime of The Comanches," which made such a prodigious it last week will remain to the performance until further notice.

Bella Union.

The new bill performed on Saturday night and again last night at this theatre proved a very popular one and every act elicited generous applause from the large audience present on each occasion. The first part is lively and pleasing; Mrs. Charles Coriell's ballads are very popular; Miss Agnes Kennedy is a favorite both as an actress and vocalist; George and Charles Reynolds are ever popular; Johnny Tuers is the most popular of nigs; J. B. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong are constantly producing new acts, and the afterpiece is particularly amusing.

New American Theatre.—"The Three Fast Women of San Francisco and the Escaped Nun" has proved such a hit that it retains its place on the bills. In addition to this there will be a new first part and interlude to-night, and the new play of "Woman's Virtue" will also be performed.

Woodward's Gardens.

On Saturday evening all the cars on the streets leading to this popular resort were thronged with people on their way to the great tournament for the championship of the Pacific Coast and gold and diamond medal. The Pavilion speedily filled. The following entered the lists for the prize. G. E Bacon, O. King, P. S. Bisley, F. O. Patterson; F. Hollub, and T. Morris, Baker and King were so far in advance of the others in the art of skating, that it soon became evident that to one of these the prize must be awarded. At the close the score of points for varied performances stood as follows: Norris, 128; Bacon, 118; King, 129; Riley, 66; Patterson, 38; Hollub, 27. T. Morris was pronounced the winner and was awarded the gold medal ornamented with twenty-two diamonds, valued at $250. Yesterday thousands visited the gardens and in addition to the usual attractions of the menagerie, seal pond, the museum, the conservatories, etc., enjoyed a very pleasing entertainment given in the Pavilion by the wonderful baby violinist, "The Child Americus." Miss May Leslie, Edgar Stanley, and Professor James Speight. A capital programme of songs, duets and instrumental performances was excellently well carried out.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

This great combination of equestrian and gymnastic artistes with a magnificent stud of horses, will open on Thursday evening in the pavilion on Jackson street. That Chiarini will carry out a long and prosperous season of horse opera in this city is certain.

The Horticultural Fair.

As the many beauties of the Horticultural Pavilion become better known its adaptibility for a place of public promenade is better appreciated, and it is becoming a popular place of meeting for friends who here pass away an hour or so pleasantly enough amid beautiful flowers, while listening to sweet music.

Pacific Hall.

Dr. Payne will deliver the eleventh lecture of his course at Pacific Hall to-night. He will terminate his lectures this week.

Platt's Hall.

Sanitarium Salt Water Baths.

O Here !—Why don't you take Salt Water Baths regularly? Try one to-day, at the "Sanitarium," foot of Powell street, North Beach. Only 25 cents. Steam baths 50 cents, or two warm bath tickets. Driscoll & Hagen. T

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests.

Foreign and Domestic Drugs.

Assayers, Bakers, Confectioners, Hair Dressers, Dyers, and all manufacturers needing druggist's articles, will find it to their advantage to examine the cash price list of Stroh, Schmidt & Co., importers, (successors to Hug & Schmidt) 535 Commercial st., one door below Montgomery. Agents for Horton's Tobacco Antidote. x

Washing Returned in One Day

And we never disappoint, at the What Cheer Laundry.

Artificial Digestion.

If a person loses an arm, a leg, or hair, teeth, etc., he can get an artificial substitute that will answer a very good purpose. Artificial digestion is now proposed. It is by the use of pepsin, which is prepared for this purpose. It is obtained sometimes from the stomach of the sheep, but most generally from that of the pig. It keeps well for years, and is always ready for use, a grain of it being sufficient to dissolve 800 grains coagulated white of an egg. Distilled water dissolves it, and when filtered it yields a clear colorless solution.

Man's Inhumanity to Women.

Mrs. Shaw appeared before the Recorder to prosecute her husband for insult and and abuse. "What have you to complain of?" inquired the Magistrate. "My husband neglects me, sir," was the answer of that spiteful lady, thrown out with a sort of a jerk. "Indeed! How is that?" "He leaves me at home, and when I complain of it, insults and abuses me." "Can you give an instance of it?" "Yes; he went to the cock-fight on Sunday, and wouldn't let me go with him, and said if they fought hens he'd send for her.

Why Should He?

An exchange says:

A young man was drowned at Portland, the other day, and a man who saw him doing it refused to assist, for fear of wetting his clothes.

We don't see that this man needed any assistance in drowning. If we saw a man drowning we should refuse to assist unless we were very much down on him. We would assist some people.

Union Hall.

A Grant and Wilson Republican mass meeting will be held at Union Hall this evening, when the Hon. John Shermen, United States Senator from Ohio, and Col. John W. Forney of Pennsylvania, will address the people on the political questions of the day. This is the only occasion on which these distinguished speakers will address the people of this state.

Be Temperate, B Gratz Brown.

Look not upon the watermelon when it i red, nor upon the stewed cherry when it giveth its color in the cup; at last it biteth like a soft-shell crab, and stingeth like the cholera morbus.

A Good Run of Business.

An Ohio 'squire has married thirty-nine runaway couples from Kentucky within the last four months.

A petrified buffalo, full size, standing end in the act of eating, has been found near Spinneyville Iowa.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. z

A Pleasant Location.

HUMAN EYES.

BY ETHEL LYNN.

I grow afraid of human eyes,
  Flashing and shining every where,
Holding such fearful mystery
  Of silent souls in prison there.

Afraid of that sweet solemn thing,
  That upward looks from children's eyes,
Wistfully gazing far away,
  As tho' homesick for Paradise.

Afraid of eyes, tho' fair they beam.
  Starry and dark, or bright and blue;
Crafty and cold, or soft and warm,
  All with a soul still looking through;

Peering from out each curtained gate,
  Watching beneath the eyelid's fall;
Asking, answering, quest and glance,
  Without a word or breath at all,

Leaping from quick and busy brain,
  Muscle and nerve like serfs obey,
And hasten to the spirit's call
  To gather lash and lid away,

Till by the iris's shifting shade
  It stops and looks at you and me;
An eye—a soul—or ill—or good,
  Demon or angel mystery.

Mentor or siren, friend or foe,
  The wily tongue may weave its spell;
But there outlooking stands the soul,
  A steadfast tale of truth to tell.

If Anger holds her court within,
  Or starry Hope, or bitter Woe,
Or gentle Love, or dewy Faith,
  Truth telegraphs the tidings through.

Till mortal eyes no more they seem,
  But armed soldiers, sent to stand
Between the body and the soul,
  The pickets of the Spirit Land.

Street Music in Detroit.

They are having a pleasant time in Detroit, according to a news paper in that city. A man bought his boy a trumpet a few days ago, and his neighbor, mad at the tooting, bought his boy a drum. Another mad neighbor got his boy a "California devil," one of those things which screech a man's hair up on end. The man across the road gave his boy an old boiler and a club, with instructions to pound all day, and he also spends most of his own time shoving a lawn-mower around. It is expected that the other man will set up a steam-gong in his yard and blow it forty-eight hours a day, and that his antagonist will buy a million band-organs and rig them to a steam saw-mill and tear the ear-drums out of the other man. The people of the town are already beginning to take to the woods, and the price of real estate is falling fearfully.

Signs.

When you see two young persons seated in the centre of a pew in church, you may make up your mind they are engaged, or going to be; but when one is at the head and the other at the foot of the pew, you can immediately determine that they are married.

A Hard World.

A young man endeavored to find out the age of a horse by counting his teeth. Those he couldn't see to count he felt. He told the doctor who sewed up his hand that this was a hard world for a laboring man

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

FIGARO

Circulates as house programme in every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

Is distributed every day through out the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

Is circulated every day on the Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

Is mailed every day to all the principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

Is "here, there and everywhere," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

Circulates in the best society, is placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

TUESDAY.............SEPTEMBER 3, 1872

Equal to the Occasion.

Mr. Howard Paul, assisted by Miss Nelly Ford, pianiste, has been giving his songs and impersonations at Wiesbaden and Schwebach, Germany. At the latter place the following incident occurred: As the doors were about opening it was discovered that the tickets had been forgotten, and neither checks nor counters of any description were procurable at such short notice. Mr. Paul was equal to the occasion. He sent to his hotel, borrowed several packs of playing cards, and arranged that all the red suits were to be admitted to the reserved seats and the black to the area. This plan was simple enough, but the medley of Russians, Germans, Americans and French who compose the audiences at Continental watering-places looked somewhat bewildered on receiving hearts and clubs in exchange for their thalers, and at last it was found advisable to engage one of those wonderful polyglot waiters, who can slang you in a dozen tongues, to stand at the door and explain why one visitor who had the deuce of diamonds was entitled to a better place than another couple who had just been served with the king and queen of clubs.

Too Bad.

The Yolo Democrat is indignant at the Call for making fun of the Knights of Yolo, who "tournamented" at the Agricultural Park. It says:

> But they are men, gallant men, and gentlemen withal, and we, on their behalf, resent the insult cast upon them by the Call.

It further says:

> On Thursday the Call tried to heal the wounds it had inflicted by applying slimy praise to the second day's performance.

This is very unpleasant. The picture of the Call trying "to heal the wounds it had inflicted by applying slimy praise" suggests that of the dogs licking the sores of Lazarus.

The Force of Habit.

"John" has been to New Haven, and this is what he saw: "Yesterday I saw a pale, haggard-looking cuss sneaking through the bushes back of the barn. I watched the chap and saw him crawl into some tall grass; then he drew a flask and shot himself down the throat with some gin. I says to him "My friend, you are from Maine? He said he was, and that he got so accustomed to hiding when he took a drink that the stuff didn't taste good in the house any more."

How Would that Be?

A clergyman who owned a farm found his plowman sitting on his plow, resting his horse. Quoth the clergyman: "John, wouldn't it be a good plan to have a good stub scythe here, and be cutting a few bushes along the fence, while the horses are resting a short time?"

Wouldn't it be well, sir," said John, "for you to have a tub of potatoes in the pulpit, and while they're singing peel 'em ready for the pot?"

Sufficient Reason.

The reasons why Arabella Goddard did not leave a son in a New York dry goods house, are because she dislikes the dry goods business, and because she has no son.

The Buffalo Courier has taken the pains to count the host of the children of Dickens's brain, and finds the number to exceed two thousand and one hundred!

"Could cuss, but not cipher," was what a fond father was obliged to admit of his son.

Information Wanted and Given.

The London Spectator, comparing a certain speech to another, says "It is just as full of professional prejudice and hatred of pekins." Pray; what is a "pekin?" Possibly we ought to be ashamed of not knowing, but we frankly confess our ignorance. Is it a technical term, or is it slang? If it could be found in any English dictionary, or belonged to any European tongue that we know anything about, we might be ashamed of our want of knowledge. But we openly confess that we don't know. We assume it to be a new word, or a newly adopted word from some tongue unknown to us. Such inventions, or such instructions, are becoming so common of late that one need have no hesitation in asking their meaning. We might, for instance, make an exchange with the Spectator, word for word. We, also, have a new word, fresh from California, which probably that journal has not yet heard of; and that word is hoodlum. Who, a month ago, knew what a hoodlum was? Probably the London Spectator does not even yet know. It need not then be puffed up with its pekins; we don't believe it ever heard of a hoodlum. But we will be generous and not wait for an exchange of courtesies. It may explain pekin to us at its leisure; but we now tell it that a hoodlum is a larrikin. —[N. Y. Post.

For the information of the N. Y., Post we will explain that "pekin" is a word used in the army for civilian. A pekin may be masculine or feminine. The wives of army officers are particular about admitting "pekins," or the wives of civilians to their society.

Very Irreligious.

That Sacramento Bee is a very irreligious paper. It pitches into clergymen just as if it had a right to do so. We like to set Dr. Cunningham right when he misquotes a text from the Bible, but we do it in a Christian spirit. We don't ever write unkind things like the following which we find in the Bee of Saturday:

> The California Christian Advocate, edited by two ministers, has had several articles on "The Wine Question," and in the latest one it says: "But for the consent of those who cultivate the grapes, to have the fruit converted into alcoholic drink, it would not be done. Those who furnish the grapes and those who make it into wine and brandy are as really engaged in the work of cursing society, as the saloon keeper himself. They are are alike guilty and equally responsible for the crimes and wretchedness which are inseparable from the business." And the same pastors do not practice as they preach They deal out wine in their churches at the the Sacrament

That's another thing altogether. We suppose the Bee would claim on the same grounds that these clergymen could not with any decent show of honesty preach against cannibalism. Things of this kind should be treated in a religious spirit. As we expect shortly to gain the privilege of circulating a Sunday edition of FIGARO in all the churches we give our contemporaries warning that we shall always take up the cudgels for the clergy when they attack them.

"The Angels in the the Panorema Business," is the heading given by the the Chicago Times to its description of the aurora-borealis.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

A Change for the Better.

Samuel Williams, literary, musical and dramatic editor of the Bulletin has returned from his visit to the East. The gentleman amateur, who was put in to fill his place has gone into the interior to hunt bears. We hope he is a better hunter than he was critic; if he be not he may meet with the fate of those young hoodlums mentioned in the Bible as chaffing Elisha because he resembled Uncle Ned.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

This theatre was crowded last night when the popular tragedian, E. T. Stetson, appeared after an absence of nearly a year, and the drama of "Buffalo Bill," founded on Ned Buntline's sensational story of the same name, was produced for the first time in San Francisco. Mr. Stetson has in Buffalo Bill a character which affords him full opportunity to show his style of acting, which is of the deeply impressive sort. Buffalo Bill's father having been shot when he was a boy by one Jake McLandless he registers an oath to take his life. He does'nt want to kill him in the first act but just wings him with a bullet in the arm. He informs the audience that his aim is to save Jake McLandless until he can "roast him on the spot where he shot his father." He further expresses the joy with which he will gaze on his victim while he is roasting, when he sees "every nerve and sinew throb like the strings of a harp swept by a maniac's hand." Ned Buntline is a strong writer and "Buffalo Bill" is the strongest kind of drama. The applause was furious at the numerous exciting situations. As to fun Miss Maggie Moore, as Kitty Muldoon, with the most natural brogue imaginable made the audience fairly roar with laughter; Simms had a character which suited him well and caused many a hearty laugh. John Woodard did some good character acting as the old Vet who "fit into the Mexican War," and made much fun with his game leg. W. J. Coggswell as Phil Rover seconded Mr. Stetson as Buffalo Bill well; D. J. Crowell made a capital Indian in the character of Fire-water Tom; Miss Henrietta Osborne as Lillie, Buffalo Bill's sister, carried the sympathy of the audience with the heroine in her troubles and read her pathetic speeches with good effect. Some of the comic scenes took so well that the house fairly rung with laughter and the thrilling scene of the bowie knife fight on the blazing prairie was a grand success, the curtain falling on its conclusion midst thunders of applause. There is sensation enough in Buffalo Bill to satisfy anyone and thousands who have read the story will visit the Metropolitan Theatre to see its thrilling scenes acted on the stage. This play will be performed every night until further notice.

Alhambra Theatre.

A large and fashionable audience enjoyed the excellent entertainment given last night by Maguire's California Minstrels. First part, interlude and afterpiece were all thoroughly good, and the loud applause each act drew forth showed how well its merit was appreciated by the audience. "High Jack the Heeler," in which Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Sam Rickey, M. A. Scott and J. Robinson appear, is a most amusing piece. Barry O'Neil introduced some new character sketches, which took immensely. L. McAndrews achieved another triumph in the character of Uncle Pete. The quartet, "What Beams so Bright?" was finely sung by W. F. Baker, G. D. Rockafeller, J. G. Russell and M. A. Scott. Delahanty and Hengler made a prodigious hit in "Where Flowers Blush and Bloom," and the pantomime of "The Comanches," with its numerous fine tableaux, terminated the evening's entertainment. The same bill will be played to-night.

Bella Union.

After a capital first part to-night, Mrs. Charles Cornell will sing a ballad from "Linda di Chamounix" which has been most enthusiastically encored on the last three evenings. After this, Miss Agnes Kennedy's comic act entitled "The Little Savage" will be performed; the Reynolds Brothers will appear in original songs and dances; J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong in original Dutch acts: Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine in "We're so fond of Dancing;" Johnny Tuers, Tommy Bree, Harry Sinclair and others in acts, and the whole company in the extravaganza of "The Female Swimmers."

American Theatre.

The play of "Woman's Virtue" has proved quite a success, and in conjunction with that of "The Six Fast Women of San Francisco," a good first part and interlude of songs and dances draw good houses. Friday is set apart for a complimentary benefit to H. Dopson the proprietor.

The Horticultural Fair.

As the many beauties of the Horticultural Pavilion become better known its adaptibility for a place of public promenade is better appreciated, and it is becoming a popular place of meeting for friends who here pass away an hour or so pleasantly enough amid beautiful flowers, while listening to sweet music. Master Theodore Planel will give a violin performance every evening this week. This evening General George B. McClellan, Governor Booth, and ex-Governor Stanford, will visit the Fair.

The Fabbri Opera Troupe.

The following members of the Fabbri Opera Troupe arrived here on Sunday: Miss Inez Fabbri, Prof. Mulder Fabbri, Miss Anna Engler, Jacob Kuller, L. Emsbach and K. Moza. The troupe will give operatic concerts on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday of next week, prior to commencing a season of opera the week following at Maguire's Opera House.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Platt's Hall.

Sanitarium Salt Water Baths.

O HERE!—Why don't you take Salt Water Baths regularly? Try one to-day, at the "Sanitarium," foot of Powell street, North Beach. Only 25 cents. Steam baths 50 cents, or two warm bath tickets. DRISCOLL & HAGEN. z

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 649 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests. •

Foreign and Domestic Drugs.

Assayers, Bakers, Confectioners, Hair Dressers, Dyers, and all manufacturers needing druggist's articles, will find it to their advantage to examine the cash price list of Strob, Schmidt & Co., importers, (successors to Hug & Schmidt) 535 Commercial st., one door below Montgomery. Agents for Horton's Tobacco Antidote. z

Washing Returned in One Day

Perils of the Stage.

The uninitiated sometimes regard the actor's life as one of idleness and romance; on the contrary, it demands hard work, close attention, self-denial, and is as full of dangers to life and limb as any professional existence, except that of the soldier in actual warfare. We allude not only to those engaged in acrobatic feats, but to those who pursue the loftier walks of the drama. A real tragedy was recently enacted at one of the Washington theatres, in which an actor was mortally wounded by being struck in a vital part by the wadding of an overloaded firearm. It often happens that a performer receives some serious and painful bodily harm while in the execution of his role, but unless actually disabled, the devoted servant of the public conceals as best he may his injury from the audience, and continues his representation to the close. No less heroism and fortitude is displayed by actresses under similar circumstances, who often laugh and sing and seem the embodiment of merriment throughout a night's performance, while oppressed with sickness or suffering acute agony from some untoward accident. Perhaps the hardest duty that performers have to fulfil is to entertain the audience, as they most often do, while their hearts are wrung by the recent death of some near friend or relative; to make others laugh while their own souls are in the shadow of a deep sorrow; to counterfeit emotion while real grief is tugging at their heart-strings.

A Mad Teetotaller.

There is a new religion of total abstinence. Doctor Prosper Despine, of Paris, is its prophet. He proposes to establish great nurseries for the propagation of a certain worm which destroys the roots of the vine. Hence, no vine—no wine; much-maddening liquor. The morality of the plan is as low as its wisdom. An American potato hater would be equally justified in breeding the potato-bug by the million. Dr. Despine is entitled to credit for his resolve to go to the root of the matter; but he evidently suffers from an overplus of misdirected zeal. The idea of the grape being the cause of much drunkenness is an absurd one. If there were not a vine in the world men would still make alcohol out of corn, rye, potatoes, swill—anything. Good wine is responsible for but a small portion of the drunkenness which curses the world.

A Pleasing Picture.

A Western editor pictures a reporter, in a proposed new style of school reader, thus: "Here is the face of a reporter. See how joyful he looks. He has just heard that a man has cut his own throat, and he is going for the item. Should you like to be a reporter, and get licked on dark nights, and see dead persons, and climb up four pair of stairs.

Very Sweet.

An exchange says:

Ah, yes, and the other place begins with H too, and so does Hoodlum.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

HESPERUS.

There is a silence in the quiet woods,
  There is a holy stillness in the west,
When day, contented, ere its farewell, floods
  The fields in tranquil light and bids them rest.

There is a silence in the weary town,
  When frequent footsteps lessen one by one;
And last good-nights have fainter, fewer grown,
  And all the hustle of the day is done.

Yet not the silence of the setting sun,
  Nor all the twilight darkening with increase,
Brings unto weary mortals, every one,
  The tender comfort of a natural peace.

The wild bird, tired of its song, may rest,
  And hide its head within its trusty wing;
The early sun shall wake it from its nest—
  Tomorrow morn it will as bravely sing.

The flowers may close their petals for the night
  And stay their beauty in the dewy gloom;
Upon the glory of the morning light,
  More fresh, more fragrantly, the rose will bloom.

Yet not with men is such a dream of peace;
  The fierce thought racks throughout the silent night;
And longing, lingering cares without surcease,
  Wear on the troubled soul into the light.

Railroads have three gauges—a broad gauge, a narrow gauge, and a mortgage.

Whom do great men marry? Most of them marry women.

A Grant paper says that John Allen, "the wickedest man in New York," is out for Greeley. As John died some time since, he is probably glad to get "out" for anybody.

It is said that nine of Barnum's camels and dromedaries have died of envy since they saw the humps on the backs of some of our daughters of fashion.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Pacific Oyster House, 337 Bush street, above Montgomery; open Day and Night.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

SEVEN FRESH, PRACTICAL AND CLASSICAL LECTURES,

COMMENCING ON MONDAY NIGHT, SEPtember 2d. To the Ladies and Gentlemen of La Belle San Francisco, by DR. PAYNE of St. Louis, the Anthropologist, who has already given ten general talks to the people at Platt's Hall and Mercantile Library to big houses. The lectures at Pacific Hall will be entirely different from those given previously.

FIRST LECTURE.—"Physiognomy" or "The Human Face Divine"—all about the chin, eyes, nose, ears, muscles, facial nerves and expressions, and so on.

SECOND—The Physical, Mental and Moral Nature of Woman—various types of women, etc.

THIRD.—Great Sensation Lecture on "Style," which drew three thousand people in Chicago and St. Louis.

FOURTH.—"National Characteristics; or, the Bold Peculiarities of the Representative Men of all Nations."

FIFTH.—Pathology, Physiology and Anatomy of the Human Brain, its diseases, causes, mania, insanity, etc.

SIXTH—"Blunders and Mistakes of Men of Genius."

SEVENTH—"Immortality of the Soul," demonstrated by the light of the Natural Sciences."

Nice little keepsakes to all the ladies at the close of each lecture, also a cloth bound scientific book to the Champion Ugly Men and Champion Handsome Men. Candidates placed on the stage and the ladies doing the voting; and a book to the most energetic lady, and one to the most intelligent. Subject selected from the audience and the gentlemen rendering the decision. Professional sketches of character on the stage. Just for fun, as usual. Visitors received at the Russ House; Private Parlors, for Medical attention; advice and examinations, etc.

General Admission, only	25 cts

An Unpleasant Remedy.

Mrs. Muffington read the following in a paper the other day:

Mosquitoes abominate peppermint. The knowledge of this fact may be of service to many who are annoyed daily by these petty nuisances.

She got a pound of peppermint lozenges and began to eat them. She was the whole evening chewing peppermint lozenges because she read that "mosquitoes abominate peppermint." Muffington also abominates peppermint; this his spouse had forgotten. When he came in from the club he exclaimed "Phew what is this stench?" Mrs. Muffington explained that she was eating peppermint lozenges because mosquitoes abominate peppermint. "So do I," thundered Muffington. "I'm sorry, dear," said his wife, "don't be angry, kiss me, won't you?" "Not much!" replied Muffington, "you had better chew some garlic to kill the smell of that stuff; it's more pleasant. I must get out of the room. I can't stand it." So Muffington slept on the sofa in the dining room that night and Mrs. Muffington lamented that she had, in trying to annoy and thwart the social mosquito in his pursuit of happiness, banished the partner of her joys and sharer of her sorrows from her couch.

Powerful Smell.

A Toledo paper tells an amusing story of the acute sense of smell of a tobacconist in that city. He, together with his clerk, was examining some tobacco submitted for his inspection. After carefully inhaling the flavor by three or four protracted sniffs, he exclaimed to his clerk: "John, can't you smell old leather in that tobacco?" John presented it to his old olfactories, and "said he thought he could." The chief then smelled again, and thought he could also detect a very slight flavor of maple sugar. The last aroma John pronounced beyond his powers. Samples of leaf tobacco, you know, are taken from each end of the hogshead and also from the middle, there was found an old boot-heel, full of maple pegs! Judgment on "tobakka" from that "individ," is now regarded as final!

Easily Cut.

A gentleman took the following telegram to a telegraph office:

Mrs. Brown, Chestnut street, Philadelphia. I announce with grief, the death of Uncle James. Come quickly to read will. I believe we are his heirs. JOHN BLACK.

The clerk having counted the words, said: "There are two words too many, sir." The gentleman looking at the telegram, said: "All right, cut out 'with grief.'"

Like Cures Like.

A Troy boy having swallowed an emetic, his friends, supposing he had taken poison, gave him another emetic, which made that youth very happy for some time. He says he can now appreciate the feelings of the whale when Jonah was cavorting around his intestines.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

A Defence of Pretty Woman.

After all, is the world so very absurd in its love of pretty women? Is woman so very ridiculous in her chase after beauty? A pretty woman is doing a woman's work in the world, but not making speeches, nor making puddings, but making life sunnier and more beautiful. Man has forsworn the pursuit of beauty altogether. Does he seek it for himself, he is guessed to be frivolous, he is guessed to be poetic, there are whispers that his morals are no better than they should be. In society resolute to be ugly there is no post for an Adonis but that of a model of a guardsman. But woman does for mankind what man has ceased to do. Her aim from childhood is to be beautiful. Even as a school-girl she notes the progress of her charms, the deepening color of her hair, the growing symmetry of her arm, the ripening contour of her cheek. We watch, with silent interest, the mysterious reveries of the maiden; she is dreaming of a coming beauty, and panting for the glories of eighteen. Insensibly, she becomes an artist; her room is a studio, her glass an academy. The joy of her toilet is the joy of Raphael over his canvas, of Michael Angelo over his marble. She is creating beauty in the silence and the loneliness of her chamber; she grows like any art-creation, the result of patience, of hope, of a thousand delicate touchings and re-touchings. Woman is never perfect; never complete. A restless night undoes the beauty of the day; sunshine blurs the evanescent coloring of her cheek; frost nips the tender outlines of her face into sudden harshness. Care plows its lines across her brow; motherhood destroys the elastic lightness of her form; the blush of her cheek, the quick flash of her eyes, fade and vanish as the years go by. But woman is still true to her ideal. She won't know when she is beaten, and she manages to steal fresh victories even in her defeat. She invents new conceptions of womanly grace; she rallies at forty, and fronts us with the beauty of womanhood; she makes a last stand at sixty, with the beauty of age. She falls like Cæsar, wrapping her mantle round her—"buried in woolen 't would a saint provoke!" Death listens pitifully to the longings of a lifetime, and the wrinkled face smiles with something of the prettiness of sixteen.—Saturday Review.

A Society Item.

Spotted Tail is now 47 years of age. He is plain in his dress, possesses mild and expressive features, and black hair descending to his shoulders. A scar on his nose was caused by a slash of a sword received in a broil, in which he cleaved the skull of his antagonist with a tomahawk. Although an infidel in belief, he asserts that a portion of his tribe, a long time ago, while crossing the Platte, were saved from drowning by a sudden and miraculous fall of the river.

We don't understand how Spotted Tail can be "an infidel in his belief." Infidels don't believe in any creeds at all, but are ready to accept the truth when convincing proofs are brought. The belief of an "infidel" is simply nil.

Flattering.

An editor relates how a colored barber made a dead-head of him. He offered him the usual dime for shaving, when the fellow drew himself up with considerable pomposity, and said, "I understand dat you is an editor." "Well, what of it?" said we. "We neber charge editors nuffin." "But, my woolly friend," we continued, "there are a good many editors travelling now-a-days, and such liberality on your part would prove a ruinous business!" "Oh! neber mind," replied the barber, "we make it up off der gemmen."

The City of Refuge.

Detroit is a tip-top place for an enterprising reporter. He never has to cudgel his brain for news, if the Free Press is not given to boasting: "If your wife has eloped, come to Detroit and find her. If your husband has scooted with the hired girl or your neighbor's wife, come here first of all. If your daughter has fled or eloped to get married, strike for Detroit. All these people make right for this point, or everybody thinks they do. The chief of police, the newspapers and business men, are almost daily in receipt of letters or telegrams to the effect that elopers are making for Detroit and should be caught. Women come here to look for runaway husbands, and husbands arrive here to inquire for runaway wives. Half of the detective business consists in hunting up such parties and sending them home."

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

Barry O'Neil in character sketches; Delehanty and Hengler in song and dance; Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, and others in acts; W. F. Baker, G. D. Rockefellar, J. G. Russell, and M. A. Scott in a quartette; I. McAndrews in his great character of Uncle Pete, will form part of the attractions for to-night. The very popular pantomime of "The Comanches," with its thrilling scenes of life among the Indians, and beautiful tableaux, will terminate the entertainment.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Everyone is going to see "Buffalo Bill" at the Metropolitan Theatre. There was another large audience last night, and the applause and laughter proved that this terrifically sensational drama, with its Indian fights, oaths of vengeance, comic love scenes and thrilling bowie knife duel on the blazing prairie suited the taste of those present. The more highly seasoned a play is now-a-days, the more of a success it is. Highly seasoned French dramas are improper. There is nothing "improper" about "Buffalo Bill;" the applause of the audience is called forth by patriotic and filial sentiments and daring deeds. Miss Maggie Moore fairly divides the honors with Mr. Stetson, and all engaged in this play do their level best with the characters in which they are cast. "Buffalo Bill" every night until further notice.

Bella Union.

To-night in addition to the popular acts which have delighted the audience every night this week; songs and dances by the Reynolds Brothers; ballads by Mrs. Charles Oorfell; "We're so Fond of Dancing," by Marie Zoel and Miss Josephine;" "The Hospital Nurse," and many others, the farce of "The Two Polts," will be presented by Lon Mo-Carthy, Matt Kelly, R. G. Marsh, Tommy Bree, Will Bark, Minnie Fillmore, Jennie Johnson, and Miss Josephine.

American Theatre.

Songs, dances, tableaux and sensational plays make up an attractive programme at this place of amusement. Harry Howard, May Leroy, Oogil and Cooper, G. H. Foster, Josie Mayfield and other popular favorites appear nightly.

Pacific Hall.

The Fabbri Italian and German Operatic Combination will make their first appearance before the San Francisco public in a grand operatic concert at Pacific Hall on Friday night. This troupe arrived in New York from Europe late in the Spring, and gave four months of grand opera at the Academy of Music and Grand Opera House. The prima donna, Signorina Inez Fabbri, is from Vienna, and is said to be a first-class lyric tragedienne; Miss Anna Elzar is a mezzo soprano; Herr L. Eisenbach is the tenor of the troupe, and Herr Jacob Muller is reported to be the possessor of a baritone voice which will create a furore. The programme of the first concert will appear in to-morrow's FIGARO.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

This great combination of equestrian artistes, acrobats and gymnasts, comprises the following: Signor O. Chiarini, William, George and Frederick Carlo, Catalina Holloway, Marie, Adelaide, La Petite Francie and Guiseppe Reebeda, Amelia Brydges, Emelie Cadoway, Theodore and Belen Coba, Le Petite Emelie, George Holland, Adolfo Gonzales, Harry Clark, Miss Fanny Carlo, Miss Minnie Grace, Senorita Teresa Ruiz, E. Rowland, Emelie Rowland, Senor Jose Romano, J. Nichols, O. Royal, O. Agrati and B. Snyder. The first performance will be given to-morrow. The programme will appear in FIGARO.

Woodward's Gardens.

Callie Curtis, the champion skater, takes a farewell benefit to-night at the Pavilion in Woodward's Gardens. A large number of volunteers will appear and the entertainment will conclude with a social dance. Sunday, Sept. 8th, Grand Skating Tournament.

The Horticultural Fair.

As the many beauties of the Horticultural Pavilion become better known its adaptibility for a place of public promenade is better appreciated, and it is becoming a popular place of meeting for friends who here pass away an hour or so pleasantly enough amid beautiful flowers, while listening to sweet music. Master Theodore Planel will give a violin performance every evening this week.

The Buislays.

The Buislays are busy at work on their new balloon at the City Gardens. They will have everything ready and make their first ascension there Sunday, September 15th—weather permitting.

For Sacramento.

Walter Rogers has leased the Academy of Music, Sacramento, for a month, and is organizing a company to open there on the 10th inst.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

City Gardens.

The Sarsfield Guard, Capt. H. O. Bateman, will hold their first annual picnic at these beautiful gardens on Sunday, Sept. 8th. A varied entertainment, games, etc., will be given, with prizes. Dancing day and evening at both pavilions.

New Style Jewelry.

Strangers and others contemplating making purchases of Jewelry should inspect A. Hirschman's elegant stock of new styles of jewelry, watches and silverware, at 133 Kearny street, between Sutter and Post. Everything at lowest cash rates. F

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 649 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreen leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests.

A Pleasant Surprise.

The birthday of the wife of our friend Skinner was on the 14th. For a week before the anniversary she was out of town. Skinner knew she was coming home to pass the day, and he determined to arrange a pleasant surprise for her. He knew she was very fond of music, so he had a band organ built in under the parlor sofa, out of sight, and he connected the crank with a water-wheel stationed in the cellar under a spigot. Mrs. Skinner returned on the evening of the 13th, and Skinner thought he would say nothing of the birthday present until morning. That evening Mrs. Skinner was sitting in the parlor on the sofa trying to put the baby to sleep, and Skinner sat there, chuckling to himself, and thinking how astonished she would be when she knew about it. At half-past eight o'clock the water-pipe in the cellar burst, and all of a sudden that hidden organ gave two or three preliminary wheezes which frightened Mrs. Skinner nearly out of her senses, and then it tore out in full blast with variations of "The Prisoner's Hope." Mrs. Skinner, amazed and confounded, screamed and went into hysteries, dropping the baby and nearly battering out its brains against the edge of the table; and the baby yelled, and Mrs. Skinner sobbed, and the hand organ gave a snort every now and then, and roared around through the "Kiss Waltz," and "Mary Blaine," and "Pop Goes the Weasel," until Skinner was almost crazy, and he ran out and got an axe and smashed the whole concern, sofa, organ and all, to pieces. Even then, after Mrs. Skinner revived, that wheel in the cellar continued to revolve and to jerk the last three notes of "Prisoner's Hope" out of the remaining pipes at intervals. So they have no music in the Skinner family now, and old Skinner is hunting around for a sofa to match the rest of his furniture.

The Sweetest Moment in Lovemaking

"Perhaps there is no period," says Anthony Trollope, "so pleasant among all the pleasant periods of love-making as that in which the intimacy between lovers is so assured, and the coming event so near, as to produce and endure conversation about the ordinary little matters of life; what can be done with the limited means at their disposal; how that life shall be begun which they shall lead together; what idea each has of the other's duties; what each can do for the other. There was a true sense of the delight of intimacy in the girl who declared she never loved her lover so well as when she told him how many pairs of stockings she had got. It is very sweet to gaze at the stars, and it is sweet to sit out among the haycocks. The reading of poetry together out of the same book, with brows all close, and arms all mingled, is very sweet; the pouring out of whole hearts in writing words which the writer knows would be held to be ridiculous to anybody but the dear one to whom they are sent, is very sweet; but for the girl who has made a shirt for the man she loves, there has come a moment in the last stitch of it sweeter than any stars, haycocks, poetry, or superlative epithets have produced."

[We publish the above at the request of a friend of ours who is much in need of shirts, and who says there is a girl in San Francisco who is sweet on him. She has a sewing machine. We don't suppose it will be any use. San Francisco girls don't care about trying experiments of this kind.]

An Agricultural Exhibition.

An agricultural paper describes a fair at which the articles on exhibition consisted of only a pair of geese, a calf, and a pumpkin. It rained in the night and the geese swam off, the calf broke loose and ate the pumpkin, and a midnight marauder stole the calf, so that the next day the fair closed and the twenty-five cents taken was returned to the visitor.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. E

I AM RICH.

Yes, I am rich, although the world
  Would doubtless call me poor;
But I've so many blessings that
  I scarce can count them o'er.
Then how can I be poor? No, no!
  I'm rich, and God has made me so!

The sun, that through my casement shines,
  And dances on the wall,
Is just as bright, and warm, and glad,
  As that in lordly hall;
And none can rob me of its light,
  Thank God! I'm free and have my sight!

The vines and roses by my door,
  So beautiful to see,
All fresh and sweet with scent of Heaven—
  Do they not bloom for me?
They fill with fragrance all the air,
  And fill my heart with praise and prayer.

No need of lute or dulcimer
  To cheer my lonely way;
The robin and the oriole
  Sing to me all the day;
And, through the night, the whipporwill
  In plaintive notes sings to me still.

The breeze that bears the ships away
  To isles beyond the sea,
Brings rosy cheeks and happy smiles,
  And wealth of health to me.
Oh, how I love the sweet, fresh air!
  It tells me God is everywhere.

If I'm in need, some friendly hand
  He sends to my relief;
If sorrow comes, some loving heart
  He brings to share my grief.
I never can be poor; no, no!
  I'm rich, and God has made me so?

A Lively Town.

The man or woman who loves adventure we recommend to go to Coffeyville, Kansas. Here is the manner of life in that enterprising town: A woman, being refused a drink, began to shy paving stones at the bar. The marshal interfering, she shot him in the hip; the mayor she knocked out of time with a paving stone, and the sheriff she chased round several squares, and he escaped with the loss of one heel. The lady then went around the town frightening the inhabitants so that they thought of calling out the militia. But her excitement was calmed down by the soothing harmony of a tamborine, bones and flute, which were sweetly playing that tender melody, "Sheep's meet's too good for niggers." So overcome was she by her emotions that she sat down on the curbstone and sobbed herself asleep. This gave the mayor a chance to creep up to her, and he knocked her brains out with a club. A very lively city, indeed, is Coffeyville.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrepine;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES AS HOUSE PROGRAMME IN every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

IS DISTRIBUTED EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

IS CIRCULATED EVERY DAY ON THE Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

IS MAILED EVERY DAY TO ALL THE principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

IS "HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES IN THE BEST SOCIETY, IS placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

SEVEN FRESH, PRACTICAL AND CLASSICAL LECTURES,

COMMENCING ON MONDAY NIGHT, SEPtember 2d. To the Ladies and Gentlemen of La Belle San Francisco, by DR. PAYNE of St. Louis, the Anthropologist, who has already given ten general talks to the people at Platt's Hall and Mercantile Library to big houses. The lectures at Pacific Hall will be entirely different from those given previously.

FIRST LECTURE.—"Physiognomy" or "The Human Face Divine"—all about the chin, eyes, nose, ears, muscles, facial nerves and expressions, and so.

SECOND.—The Physical, Mental and Moral Nature of Woman—various types of women, etc.

THIRD.—Great Sensation Lecture on "Style," which drew three thousand people in Chicago and St. Louis.

FOURTH.—"National Characteristics; or, the Bold Peculiarities of the Representative Men of all Nations."

FIFTH.—Pathology, Physiology and Anatomy of the Human Brain, its diseases, cancers, mania, insanity, etc.

SIXTH—"Blunders and Mistakes of Men of Genius."

SEVENTH—"Immortality of the Soul," demonstrated by the light of the Natural Sciences."

Nice little keepsakes to all the ladies at the close of each lecture, also a cloth bound scientific book to the Champion Ugly Man and Champion Handsome Man. Candidates placed on the stage and the ladies doing the voting; and a book to the most energetic lady, and one to the most intelligent. Subject selected from the audience and the gentleman rendering the decision. Professional Sketches of character on the stage, just for fun, as usual. Visitors received at the Russ House; Private Parlors, for Medical attention; advice and examinations, etc.

A Wonderful Hair Restorative.

Everyone must have noticed those abominable caricatures of the genial Horace Greeley and the moral B. Gratz Brown on the transparency in front of the Democratic Committee Rooms on Montgomery street. They resemble those pictures which one sees in advertising handbills, headed "Before Using It," "After Using It." Greeley is represented with no more hair on his head than a watermelon, while B. Gratz Brown is "bearded like the pard," or even more so. A countryman the other day actually did mistake that transparency for an advertisement of a hair restorative. He thought Greeley was "Before" and B. Gratz Brown was "After." While gazing at the pictures he was heard to exclaim: "Ef tha stuff brings tha hair out like that, dog my cats ef I don't have a bottle of it!" and he bolted up stairs to find the man that had it for sale.

A Feathered Jimmy McGinn.

An old toper went to sleep in a fence corner. A buzzard spied him and thought it was something dead. The bird circled slowly around, coming nearer to the man with each circuit. Finally it alighted on the fence over him, and surveyed the body. Still uncertain, it raised its great wings and swooped down to the ground beside the man. Then it eyed him intently for some time, and seemingly satisfied, struck the man's cheek a sharp blow with its beak, taking a small mouthful of meat. At this the man elevated his head and looked the offal bird square in the face. "See here, now," said he, "ain't you jest a leetle too smart?"

Home News from Abroad.

A Boston clergyman was lately detected in a heinous sin. After a trial before the Superior Court, he received fifty lashes on his bare back, and was then branded in the forehead with a red-hot iron. The punishment was inflicted by the "Executioner of Boston." All this must be true, for the Roman-Zeitung, of Berlin, relates it at length.

From the Sandwich Islands.

An interesting letter from an occasional correspondent in Honolulu appears in another column. We had to cut it in the most ruthless manner in order to accomodate it to our limited space. Correspondents must remember that very long letters are sure to be cut short however good they may be.

The latest case of absence of mind is that of a young lady who, on returning from a walk with her lover the other evening, rapped him on the face and kissed the door.

If you want to talk heavy science, say "protoxide of hydrogen," instead of "ice." It sounds bigger, and not one man in ten will know what you mean.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

House Rent.

The prices of food and clothing have fallen greatly during the last ten years, but the rent charged for houses remains at an absurdly high figure. We do not know that landlords as a class are more stupid than people who have not houses to rent, but their short-sighted policy would seem to prove it. When the population of San Francisco was unsettled, and so many people took a house for one month only and then left it, there was some reason in charging a high rent to cover the cost of repairing the house for the reception of a new tenant. Now there are thousands of persons in search of houses which they wish to occupy for a term of years. They would not be willing to pay a year's rent in advance, but having obtained a house at a fair rent, would pay month after month with unfailing regularity, and would not at the end of every month go "looking around" for a cheaper house, as under the present system so many do. Landlords could make more money out of their houses if they would let them for a year. The rent could be paid monthly, as so many persons receive their wages monthly or weekly, but it should be computed at so much a year. As it is now, a house is let for one month, is often damaged considerably by a tenant who does not care how it looks, as he does not intend to stay there because his rent is too high, and then lies idle two months. If rents were reduced to a reasonable figure many landlords would receive rent for them all the year round, and the tenants would add improvements in the form of gardens, which would much increase their value. Small houses at a low rent form the most serious want of San Francisco at the present day. The number of houses in which one sees the announcement "furnished or unfurnished room to let" proves this. Most of the people who hang out these signs would rather have a house to themselves. They don't like to take lodgers; they are obliged to do it in order to pay rent for that portion of the house which they need. The rent charged for houses in San Francisco is out of all proportion to the value of land and the cost of building, and yet the landlords do not get rich. The do not pay enough attention to getting good and permanent tenants for their houses, and do not offer sufficient inducements to such. There was a meeting of landlords in this city we believe some time ago, we suppose it was a sort of conspiracy against those who are forced to live in other people's houses to get as much money out of them as possible. We did not hear of anything being said about offering liberal terms to yearly tenants who would take care of and improve their residences. When landlords offer something of this kind, the population of San Francisco will become more settled and more prosperous, and the landlords will draw more interest on the money they have invested.

Buffalo Bill Coming.

"Buffalo Bill," the reel hero of the Plains, whose real name is Cody, is en route for this city, and will arrive here this week. Like Jack Hayes, Kit Carson and other frontier heroes, he is a quiet, unassuming, gentlemanly man, and not at all the Roaring Ralph Stackpole that flash writers make him.

John Morrissey has introduced a new antidote for Saratoga ennui in the shape of "French pools." The ladies throw themselves into these pools eagerly, and come out stripped pecuniarily speaking.

There are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they have no business, and the other is that they have no mind.

The Significant Hat.

In the time of Gessler and William Tell there was much significance in a hat. So it is now. The first thing that attracts the eye is the hat. Therefore buy a fashionable hat at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny. N

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The manner in which the drama of border life entitled "Buffalo Bill" is presented reflects credit on E. T. Stetson, all engaged in its representation, and on the management for the manner in which it is placed on the stage. The scene of the blazing prairie with the train of cars rushing through the flames in the distance is most effective, and the bowie knife duel between E. T. Stetson in the character of Buffalo Bill and O. Wilson as Jake McCandless is terribly exciting. During the play Miss Maggie Moore will sing Stephen Massett's new song, "Open the Door." E. T. Stetson will during his engagement produce the drama of "Neck and Neck," and other plays by popular authors which have never been performed here; therefore "Buffalo Bill" must be withdrawn before long

Alhambra Theatre.

The bright and sparkling pantomime of "The Comanches," a sort of pocket edition of "Buffalo Bill," can be retained on the stage but a few nights more; all should see it before it is withdrawn. It is preceded by a capital first part in which Benjamin Clarke and W. F. Baker, tenors; J. G. Russell, baritone; G. D. Rockafeller, alto; M. A. Scott, basso, and others sing beautiful ballads and choruses to the accompaniment of the splendid orchestra led by Geo. T. Evans, and an interlude in which Barry O'Neil, Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Delehanty and Hengler, L. McAndrews, and others appear in amusing acts and varied specialties.

Bella Union.

The farce of "The Two Polts" forms a pleasing finale to a capital entertainment. Miss Agnes Kennedy appears nightly in her sketch entitled "The Little Savage," and also in a bouquet of ballads; Mrs. Charles Coriell receives three or four encores nightly; the Reynolds Brothers are called upon for many songs and dances, and from the curtain rises until it falls the audience are kept continually amused.

American Theatre.

To-morrow H. Dopson, the proprietor of this place of amusement will take a benefit. A great bill will be presented this evening, and the favorite vocalist and comedian, Hogby Morton, will reappear. On Monday evening Tommy Barton and Snale Robicson will commence an engagement at this house.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

To-night Chiarini, the prince of circus managers, will open his season of equestrian opera in the pavilion on Jackson street. The members of the troupe are all stars in the profession, Signor G. Chiarini's fame as the best horse-breaker in the world is wide-spread; the Carlo Brothers, William, George and Frederick, are famous acrobats; Belen Cuba is one of the few female bare-back riders living; Theodore Cuba is the most original of equestrian actors; M'lle Gracie, the lady with the iron jaw, is an exceptional phenomenon; Catalina Holloway is known as a dashing equestrienne; Miss Amelia Brydges is a famous funambuliste; Miss Fanny Carlo, who was known on the stage as Miss Fanny Brown, and left it for the equestrian arena, is renowned for her beauty and grace; the Recheda Family give an entertainment by themselves; G. Holland is a forward somersault equestrian, E. Rowland the English trick clown, Harry Clarke a sensational gymnast, Adolf Gonzales champion leaper and tumbler, La Petite Emilie an infant equestrienne, and Senorita Ruiz the most exquisitely graceful lady rider in the profession. Every one of the stud of thirty horses is a trained artiste, and "Don Pedro," the monkey equestrian, and "Pempero," the wild guanaco, are stars of the arena. Chiarini's Circus has always been famous for its orchestra; a band of musicians selected from the best talent in the city will very night perform choice selections.

Pacific Hall.

The first concert by the Fabri Operatic Combination will come off to-morrow night. The troupe is a good one throughout. The New York Times, in endorsing the troupe, says of Herr Mueller: "He is gifted with one of the finest baritone voices it has ever been our pleasure to hear." The company come well recommended by the Eastern press. Tickets for sale at Gray's Music Store to-day from 10 till 4.

The Horticultural Fair.

As the many beauties of the Horticultural Pavilion become better known its adaptibility for a place of public promenade is better appreciated, and it is becoming a popular place of meeting for friends who here pass away an hour or so pleasantly enough amid beautiful flowers, while listening to sweet music. Master Theodore Planel will give a violin performance every evening this week.

Woodward's Gardens.

The delightful place of resort is open daily and presents thousands of attractions. Sunday there will be a grand tournament of knights in armor on skates.

The Great Trotters Coming.

Mr. J. M. Duncan, President of the Bay District Agricultural Association, received a dispatch yesterday from Budd Doble, the trainer of "Goldsmith Maid," notifying him that the "Maid" and "Lucy" had taken cars that morning at Chicago for Sacramento. These two flyers are engaged to appear on the Sacramento Course September 28th, for $10,000, Society's purse; at Agricultural Park in this city, October 5th, for $7,500 purse, and subsequently at Sacramento, against "Occident," Gov. Stanford's horse, for $7,500 purse.

The Sonntag Troupe.

Miss Anna Sonntag, engaged for the Bianchi opera season at the Metropolitan Theatre, left New York yesterday en route for this city. Miss Sonntag is accompanied by her father and Signor Nicholas Revara, director, from the Imperial Opera House, Vienna. Signore Bacosi (the tenor) and Rossi (the baritone) are to follow shortly.

LETTER FROM HONOLULU.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

HONOLULU, S. I., August 6th, 1875.

Our tropical little city has been recently favored with a variety of entertainment, dramatic and otherwise, which is something unusual with us at this dull season of the year. The well known and popular stars.

MME. MARIE DURET AND GEO. PAUNCEFORT,

In conjunction with J. H. Leroy and others have lately given a successful dramatic season of several week's duration at Buffum's Hall. The opening night was inaugurated under the patronage of the American Minister Resident and the officers of two of Uncle Sam's ships, then in our harbor, and the elite of the city was well represented. A young lady of Honolulu added great eclat to the occasion by making her first appearence on any stage as Alicia in "Lady Audley's Secret," and acquitted herself admirably. Madame Duret was superb in the title role, and Mr. M. B. Harvey, one of the veterans of the Honolulu stage, made his reappearance after an absence of over twelve years in the character of Luke Marks. The acting throughout of the various characters was excellent and the mis-en-scene perfect, in fact, I would challenge any similar place of amusement to produce a more complete unity of effect and style, both in acting and stage adornments, the view from the auditorium being the embodiment of perfection. Real flowers and vases—not painted or property ones—but genuine, live exotics, filled the hall with their fragrance, and added a home-like charm to the scene around. These were tastefully arranged about the entrance and more especially about the stage, with a lavishness that would probably bankrupt a "property man" in a first-class 'Frisco Theatre to procure. Valuable paintings adorned the walls, plate mirrors, costly furniture and carpets, statuary and articles value were all properly and judiciously arranged to please the taste of all—a complete success in all its details; a boudoir of grace, harmony and flowers—and reflected great credit on the managerial ability and skill of the proprietor, Mr. Geo. Williams, both as regards taste in arrangement and lavish generosity in supplying. It requires no "red tape" to get any article requisite at this comfortable and cozy bijou of a theatre. What a contrast to the

ROYAL BOTANICAL THEATRE,

As it is facetiously termed, at the other end of the street, with its old dilapidated, haunted and poverty-stricken scenes, so ghastly and weird-like in its loneliness, that it is no wonder the public don't patronize it. Even the "Garden of Hesperides" encircling it, as has been said, won't make it popular.

THE AUSTRALIAN STAR COMBINATION,

Comprising Madame Fanny Simonson, an accomplished vocalist; Martin Simonson, the well-known violinist and composer (old Californians;) Harry Kelly, an excellent comedian and character dancer; N. B. Clarke, a pleasing tenor, and Barry O'Niel, comic singer; arrived by the July steamer from Auckland en route, and remained a month.

PROFESSOR PLUMMER,

The accomplished reader and humorist, who came here from California several weeks since in precarious health, has so far recovered that he was induced, at the general solicitation of our residents, to give two of his inimitable entertainments. Being well known from a former visit, his appearance at Buffum's Hall crowded that place to its utmost capacity on both occasions.

AMATEUR ENTERTAINMENT.

The choir of the Roman Catholic Cathedral in this city, composed principally of Hawaiian ladies, gave a grand concert, consisting of operatic and other selections, at Buffum's Hall a few evenings since, for the purpose of raising funds to buy a new organ. Mme. Duret and Geo. Pauncefort, who gave their valuable aid, appeared in the petite comedy of "A Morning Call," which proved a most acceptable attraction.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.

Among those who have recently "gone from our gaze" to visit more gay and festive scenes is the charming little blonde who is doubtless still remembered by the majority of San Francisco theatre-goers as "La Petite Carito." Although nearly ten years have elapsed since I last saw her on the stage with the tableaux vivant and ballet troupe under the direction of Mons. Schmidt at the old Metropolitan, she is still the same fascinating little divinity, and hardly appears a day older. She retired from the stage a few years since, and has been residing here for the past year. Music is now her forte. For the present, adieu.

LESSONS WORTH PRESERVING

A lesson in itself sublime,
A lesson worth enshrining,
Is this:—"I take no note of time
Save when the sun is shining."
These motto words a dial bore,
And wisdom never preaches
To human hearts a better lore
Than this short sentence teaches.

There is no grove on earth's broad chart
But has some bird to cheer it;
So hope sings on in every heart,
Although we may not hear it.
And if to-day the heavy wind
Of sorrow is oppressing,
Perchance to-morrow's sun will bring
The heavy heart a blessing.

We bid him joyous moments haste,
And then forget their glitter;
We take the cup of life, and taste
No portion but the bitter;
But we should teach our hearts to deem
The sweetest drops the strongest;
And pleasant hours should ever seem
To linger 'round us longest.

The darkest shadows of the night
Are just before the morning;
Then let us wait the coming light,
All boding phantoms scorning;
And while we're passing on the tide
Of Time's fast ebbing river,
Let's pluck the blossoms by its side,
And bless the gracious Giver.

Just Like an Editor.

A subscriber wrote to the editor of a Newark paper to ask the meaning of the phrase, mors omnibus communis. The editor said that it was a French sentence, intended to explain something about Morse's omnibus being of service to the community. At the same time, he said, "the sentence was constructed by some ediot who thought he understood French, when he don't, and consequently several important words were left out. When," demanded this eminent journalist, "will Americans learn to cling to their own language and use it exclusively instead of trying to spread themselves in bastard French?" And yet this journalist actually dead-heads upon railroads and at circuses, upon the theory that he is a former of public opinion.

"The Watch-dog's Honest Bark" is the pleasant heading for a column of hydrophobia items in an Indianapolis paper.

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Booken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmegundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Sonchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 640 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Green leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent cure, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

SEVEN FRESH, PRACTICAL AND CLASSICAL LECTURES,

COMMENCING ON MONDAY NIGHT, SEPtember 2d. To the Ladies and Gentlemen of La Belle San Francisco, by DR. PAYNE of St. Louis, the Anthropologist, who has already given ten general talks to the people at Platt's Hall and Mercantile Library to big houses. The lectures at Pacific Hall will be entirely different from those given previously.

FIRST LECTURE.—"Physiognomy" or "The Human Face Divine"—all about the chin, eyes, nose, ears, muscles, facial nerves and expressions, and [illegible]

SECOND—The Physical, Mental and Moral Nature of Woman—various types of women, etc.

THIRD.—Great Sensation Lecture on "Style," which drew three thousand people in Chicago and St. Louis.

FOURTH.—"National Characteristics; or, the Bold Peculiarities of the Representative Men of all Nations."

FIFTH.—Pathology, Physiology and Anatomy of the Human Brain, its diseases, causes, mania, insanity, etc.

SIXTH—"Blunders and Mistakes of Men of Genius."

SEVENTH—"Immortality of the Soul," demonstrated by the light of the Natural Sciences."

Nice little keepsakes to all the ladies at the close of each lecture, also a cloth bound scientific book to the Champion Ugly Man and Champion Handsome Man Candidates placed on the stage and the ladies doing the voting; and a book to the most energetic lady, and one to the most intelligent. Subject selected from the audience and the gentlemen rendering the decision. Professional sketches of character on the stage just for fun, as usual. Visitors received at the Russ House; Private Parlors, for Medical attention; advice and examinations, etc.

An Outrageous Theft.

Charles H. Day is writing up some of the troubles of showman for the New York Clipper. He relates how a terrible accusation was brought against a travelling company thus:

At last the company appeared in a temple of amusement where every word spoken upon the stage went chasing his fellow about in space, reverberating till it was lost in a jargon of voices indistinguishable to the auditor.

Tyler lost no opportunity in button-holing the proprietor of the edifice, and expatiated upon the vileness of the acoustic properties. The proprietor admitted all, but said in a persuasive way:—

"You know how it is yourself, Mr. Tyler; there's so many of these scalawag companies travelling through the country that take everything out of the building that they can lay their hands on when they come to leave, that I sometimes wonder that there is a chair or a scene left. Why, it want a month ago that Pilgrim's Progress showed here, and when they left they packed up the curtains of the private boxes with their own duds and carried them off, and I didn't know anything about it until two days afterwards."

"That is the way it is all over," interrupted Tyler. "Respectable showmen, like respectable merchants, have to suffer for the misdoings of vagabonds."

"Jest so," returned the "hall man," slapping George upon the back; "here is an example in your own company—nice people every one of them, gentlemen and ladies, but you've got to suffer on account of those who's been afore you. One of the principal things I did when I first opened this place was to have a lot of them acoustic properties made and put in here for the benefit of those that played here, and I don't know whether you'll believe it or not, but them Pilgrim's Progress fellows stole every one of them and stuck them in their trunks 'long with the box curtains."

A Useless Theft.

A New London reporter uses plain language: It will be no object for the person to keep the thermometer he feloniously took from our front door. The scale thereof is not adapted to the climate whither he is hastening and where the altitude of heat is beyond thermomertical reckoning. Steal from us if you must, misguided friend, but do take a ten, or a duster, or a refrigerator, anything that will be of practical service to you in that locality where the watermelon breedeth not and a cucumber is a greenness of the gone-by time.

Hit Him Hard.

A young merchant who is trying to struggle along in a falsely economical way, took a class in a Sunday-school recently. During the progress of the lesson he asked "What is solitude?" and was visibly disturbed when a miserable boy promptly answered—"The store that don't advertise!"

Not Quite.

The Figaro, in Paris, pays its assistant editors 15 000 francs a year for two hours labor daily.

The FIGARO in San Francisco does not pay quite so much.

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Aid for Art.

The discovery of a means of casting in solid stone gives great encouragement to the sculptor's art by carrying out the mechanical details of his work in a style of perfection which he himself could not surpass by means of laborious work with the chisel and graver. The Sacramento Union of the 4th says:

The Capitol Commissioners met yesterday at the Governor's office, and entered into a contract with P. Mezzara, the well-known sculptor of San Francisco, for the clay models, retouched and finished, and the requisite molds in plaster for casting in stone of the statuary intended to be placed on pedestals now constructed on top of the exterior wall of the Capitol. The groups designed for the north and south porticos and for flanking the frontoon will be each fourteen feet long by ten feet high. At each corner of the building will be placed statues eleven or twelve feet high, representing respectively "War," "Peace," "Prudence" and Force," and on the intervening pedestals between corners and centres will be placed and arranged six statues seven feet high—"Fama," "Eloquence" and "Verity"—and fourteen richly ornamented and figured vases from three and one-half to five and half feet high. All of these groups, statues and vases are to be cast in solid stone by the Pacific Stone Company, whose President, James A. Hayward, of San Francisco, entered into a contract with the Commissioners yesterday for the full completion of the work. By the terms of these contracts the work is to be fully finished and in place before the adjournment of the next Legislature. The total cost of artistic and mechanical work, materials and finishing will be $34,000. The statuary for the pediment is already completed, and will be placed in position as soon as the roof, now being rapidly constructed is finished.

The adaptability of this stone, and its imperishable nature, will lead to its being employed in preference to bronze or marble for the ornamenting of public buildings, and its comparative cheapness will do much towards encouraging the art of sculpture. The Pacific Stone Company are enabled by this invaluable invention to carry out the designs of architects and sculptors with perfect fidelity; and we shall shortly see a class of private residences rise in this city which could never have been erected without this new building material.

Weak in the Jaw.

A few days ago a woman in Lancaster, Pa., was "jawing" her children, the neighbors, the hired girl, and everybody in particular, when her husband entered and interposed a mild word. She opened her mouth for an angry reply, but a spasm contracted her cheek, her lower jaw fell, and she could neither speak nor shut her mouth, but remained in that position; her tongue hung out, and her eyes nearly started from their sockets. She had dislocated her jaw-bone in her violent effort to make a stinging reply to her husband. A surgeon was called, who reduced her dislocation, bound up her head and prescribed a quiet diet. The old man is now enjoying the quietest time he has had for forty years. That woman now reads with a most envious feeling of "the lady with the iron jaw," one of the stars with Chiarini's great circus troupe.

An Apt Simile.

Whoever is a master of language, and hath a mind full of ideas, will be apt, in speaking, to hesitate upon the choice of both; whereas common speakers have only one set of ideas, and one set of words to clothe them in, and these are always ready at the mouth; so people come faster out of church when it is almost empty, than when a crowd is at the door.

The Seat of Learning.

The city of Oxford, England, with its 75,000 inhabitants, could recently boast of not having a single criminal in its prison, an unusual circumstance which was marked by the hoisting of a white flag on the tower of the jail.

Dry Times.

The local editor of an exchange, in giving thanks for a serenade, says: "In many localities this might be a thin way of expressing one's appreciation of a favor of this kind; but here, where the wells are nearly all dry, and the town is surrounded by a prohibitory law two miles wide, nothing better can be tendered."

With an Eye to Business.

At Pioche, Nevada, the other day, a man was observed walking along the streets, smoking a short clay pipe, with a leaky keg of powder on his shoulder. Two enterprising undertakers were following him at a respectful distance.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

The number of people who had witnessed the play of "Buffalo Bill" was computed at 150,000 some time ago. That number has been considerably increased since the production of the play at the Metropolitan Theatre. Every night the house has been crowded, and every night loud and prolonged applause has testified to the pleasure afforded the audience by the thrilling scenes of fights with Indians, surprises, attacks and pursuits. This play will be performed at the matinee to-morrow. Other novelties are in preparation.

Alhambra Theatre.

The entertainment at this house is excellent. First part, interlude and afterpiece are all bright, lively and attractive. Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, Add Ryman, Barry O'Niel, Delehanty and Hengler I. McAndrews and other talented artistes forming the combination known as Maguire's California Minstrels, all do their very best to amuse, and succeed admirably, as the large audiences and their liberal applause prove. The bill which has delighted so many this week, and which appears in full on our first page will be played at the matinee to-morrow.

Bella Union.

Matt Kelly's song in the first part, entitled "Horace Greeley," takes well with the audience as the vociferous applause which follows it proves. Johnny Tuers, J. H. Larkin, Harry Sinclair and Tommy Bree cause much amusement in the farce of "The Hospital Nurse;" Marie Zoei and Miss Josephine are much applauded for their double song and dance "We're so fond of Dancing;" Mrs. Charles Corieli is one of the most popular balladists of the day, as well as a pleasing actress, and "The Two Polis" which concludes the entertainment is full of fun.

American Theatre.

To-night a bill presenting extraordinary attractions will be performed for the benefit of H. Dopson, the proprietor of this go-ahead theatre. "The Six Fast Women of San Francisco," "Woman's Virtue," and a melange of ballads, acts, comic songs and dances will form the evening's entertainment.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

Sharp at eight o'clock last night the sale of tickets was stopped, the immense pavilion being already packed to suffocation. Hundreds were unable to obtain admission, and went away determined to put in an earlier appearance to-night. The beautiful new pavilion of snow-white canvas presented a bright and cheerful appearance, and the poles which supported it were adorned with the bright-hued flags and coats of arms of the various republics of the American continent. The dress circle part of the house was comfortably arranged with chairs backed by crimson hangings. Altogether the pavilion last night, packed as it was by thousands of people who seemed piled from the ground to the top awning, was a sight not often seen. A capital orchestra under the direction of the popular cornet player, Jos. E. Green, played for an overture "Italians in Algiers" in excellent style, and then the grand entree was made. Four ladies on beautiful cream-colored horses and four cavaliers on grays went through a few evolutions, and then Signor Chiarini made his entrance on his magnificent charger "Monte Cristo." He received an enthusiastic welcome, and proceeded to put his troupe through a number of complicated manœuvres. The graceful Senorita Ruiz, pretty Miss Fanny Carlo, the dashing Miss Katie Holloway, the accomplished and fascinating M'lle Amelia Brydges, the daring and skillful Miss Minnie Grace, and the brilliant Ethiopian princess, Belsu Cuba, make this ne plus ultra of circuses particularly rich in female beauty and talent. La Petite Emilie, an infant equestrienne, put down in the bills as three years old, and who does not look a day older, is already the pet of the public. With some of the wonderful performances of Belsu Cuba and Theodore Cuba the public are familiar, but they have during their absence added new and thrilling feats to their varied repertoire. Such horses as those introduced by Signor Chiarini are seen in no other circus in the world; they are models of grace and symmetry, and their intelligence equals, if it does not surpass, that of the average biped. "Prince" and "Duke" are two of these stars of the hippodrome whose performance last night drew shouts of enthusiastic applause from the vast assemblage. "Sylvan," another beautiful and intelligent quadruped, was equally successful in gaining the approbation of the spectators. Among the many startling and novel performances introduced may be mentioned Miss Katie Holloway's backward and forward act of equitation, leaping over banners and streamers; M'lle Amelia Brydges' graceful and elegant poses and varied performances on the tight-rope, comprising an admirably executed solo on the snare drum, gun drill and skipping rope dance; "Le Concert Diabolique" by the three Carlo Brothers, William, Frederick and George, who performed varied feats of gymnastics, each meanwhile playing a violin; this was an extremely grotesque and original act; M'lle Millie Grace, "the lady with the iron jaw," executed astounding feats on the trapeze with Henry Clark, and capped the climax by swinging by her legs from the trapeze, supporting Mr. Clark suspended by a strap, the end of which she held between her teeth. The trained guanaco, a beautiful animal allied to the camel species, inhabiting the Andes, executed the most surprising leaps, and charmed and pleased all by its obedience and docility. The very comical pantomime of "Bobby Trot," arranged by William Carlo, wound up this brilliant hippodromatical and gymnastic exhibition, and sent the audience home in high good humor. The same bill will be performed to-night and at the matinee to-morrow.

The Horticultural Fair.

As the many beauties of the Horticultural Pavilion become better known its adaptability for a place of public promenade is better appreciated, and it is becoming a popular place of meeting for friends who here pass away an hour or so pleasantly enough amid beautiful flowers, while listening to sweet music. Master Theodore Planel will give a violin performance every evening this week.

Woodward's Gardens.

The delightful place of resort is open daily and presents thousands of attractions. Sunday there will be a grand tournament of knights in armor on skates.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

Pacific Hall.

The Fabbri Italian and German opera combination will give their first concert this evening. The programme is a very good one as may be seen by referring to our first page. We had the pleasure of hearing the members of this troupe at rehearsal yesterday, and can promise those who attend this evening, a rare musical treat. Signora Inez Fabbri, prima donna assoluta, is an artist with a good school and power of execution; Miss Anna E zer, who is between fourteen and fifteen years of age, has a mezzo-soprano which will develope into a contralto of extraordinary quality and power. At the present time this young artiste uses her voice with much skill, and does credit to Professor Mulder-Fabbri's musical tuition; she has a lower register which will secure for her fame and fortune. Herr L. Eisenbach, the tenor, was yesterday suffering from change of climate (as every tenor who has visited San Francisco has suffered on his arrival): his voice is, however, rapidly recovering, and he confidently expects that to-night the "veil" will be removed. Herr Muller has a magnificent baritone voice, well cultured, fully developed, and managed with artistic skill; it also possesses a sympathetic quality all too rare in baritone voices. Added to this he has a splendid stage presence, ease and grace of deportment and every movement and gesture bespeaks the lyric actor. San Francisco does not often go wild over a singer—it did over little Sbriglia and now it has another chance. Muller is handsome enough for a tenor, has a superb voice and is a cultured artiste. What more would you have to make him a lion in musical circles? Professor Mulder-Fabbri is a talented conductor, a fine pianist and a musical composer of much merit, as we learned from listening to his "Bacchanale" song yesterday by Signora Fabbri and Herr Muller; this is a composition possessing much originality and full of music. We prophesy a most successful season for these artistes who have arrived amongst us unheralded save by the laudatory notices which appeared in the New York papers while performing in that city. Seats can be secured to-day at Gray's Music Store from 10 A. M., till 4 P. M.

Adolphe Hartdegen.

This famous violincello player, whose performances at the Boston Jubilee were so highly spoken of by the press, will appear at the Horticultural Pavilion to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Adapting from the French.

We notice in yesterday's Call a paragraph entitled "Easily cut." This was taken from FIGARO of the day preceeding, and was one of our little "adaptations" from the French. We "adapted" it from the French, and the Call in plain English nipped it from us. We made a gentleman go into a telegraph office with the following telegram:

> Mrs. Brown, Chestnut street, Philadelphia. I announce with grief the death of Uncle James. Come quickly to read the will. I believe we are his heirs.
>
> JOHN BLACK.

And on finding there were two words too many, tell the clerk to cut "with grief." We want to show how nicely we do this kind of conveying, so we give the telegram in the original:

> "Mme Duval, rue , 15 Paris, annonce avec douleur mort oncle Vincent. Arrive vite. Ouverture testament. Crois que nous sommes legataires.
>
> "DURANT."

We wouldn't do this kind of thing, and then sell the stuff to the Overland Monthly as original, but when we find a little stray orphan of a French paragraph without anything to shew whose it is, we adopt that little orphan, "locate" it somewhere in the United States, and then send it off on its travels round the Press. The Call has given our last protege an early start in life.

The Same Old Laugh.

The other day a worthy lady detected her two sons laughing immoderately. Suspecting that she was the cause of their disrespectful mirth, the good woman involuntarily loosened her slipper and called up the culprits: "Thomas, what made you laugh?" "Nothing made me laugh; I laughed on purpose." "None of your impudence, sir. John, why were you laughing at the door, just now?" John—"Wasn't laughing at the door; I was laughing at Tom." Tom—"and I was laughing at John." The matron assumed a dignified attitude. "Now my boys, what were you both laughing at?" Boys [in a triumphant shout]—"We were both laughing at once!" The good lady summoned all her energies for a final effort, and resolved to corner the boys by settling a question. "Now then, I want you tell me, Tom, what made John laugh, and you laugh?" Tom—"John didn't laugh a new laugh; it was the same old laugh!"

NEVER GIVE UP.

Never give up! it is wiser and better
  Always to hope than once to despair;
Throw off the load of doubt's cankering fetter,
  And break the dark spell of tyrannical care.

Never give up! or the burden may sink you,
  Providence has kindly mingled the cup,
And in all trials and troubles bethink you,
  The watchword of life should be — Never give up.

Never give up! there are chances and changes
  Helping the hopeful a hundred to one,
And amid the chaos, high wisdom arranges
  Ever success—if you'll only hope on.

Never give up! for the wisest is boldest,
  Knowing that Providence mingles the cup.
And of all maxims the best as the oldest
  Is the true watchword—Never give up.

Never give up though the grape shot may rattle,
  And the full thunder clouds over you burst,
Stand like a rock, and the storm of the battle
  Little can harm you, though doing their worst.

Never give up! if adversity presses
  Providence has wisely mingled the cup,
And the best counsel in all your distresses
  Is the stout watchword of—Never give up!

Not Good Friends Generally.

North Carolina, since the close of the war, seems to be acquiring an unenviable reputation for lawlessness and crime. As a specimen of the way in which the peaceful avocations of life are carried on in the "Old North State," we give the following incident as we find it reported:

"Do you wish to sell that cow?" asked one neighbor of another, as the latter was driving home one of his stray kine.

"No, not by a good deal," was the reply.

"Well, I guess I'll take her then."

"That means one of us, I take it," said the owner of the cow, drawing a pistol.

"Well it does," coolly replied the other, also drawing his revolver.

Shots were instantly exchanged, and the firing was kept up until the pistol chambers were exhausted. Each man was slightly wounded, and one went into his house and the other drove his cow home. The traveler who witnessed the unexpected affray had the curiosity to ask the cow driver what occasioned it.

"O nothing 'tick'ler," was the reply; "we an't good friends ginerally, so we jes' let's drive whenever we git an excuse."

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Booken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. n

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bonton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bonton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. o

Engaging Manners.

There are a thousand engaging ways, which every person may put on, without running the risk of being deemed either affected or foppish. The sweet smile, the quiet, cordial bow, the earnest movement in addressing a friend, or more especially a stranger, who may be recommended to us, the graceful attention which is captivating when united with self possession; these will insure us the good regards of all. There is a certain softness of manner which should be cultivated, and which, in either man or woman, adds a charm that is even more irresistible than beauty.

After the Fair.

After spending the early part of the evening at at the Horticultural Pavilion on Stockton street, many stroll round to the famous "Bivalve" oyster saloon, 649 Market street, three doors below Kearny. The private rooms up-stairs are very popular for parties, and W. Spreeo leaves nothing undone that can add to the comfort of his guests. •

FIGARO

CIRCULATES AS HOUSE PROGRAMME IN every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

IS DISTRIBUTED EVERY DAY THROUGH out the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

IS CIRCULATED EVERY DAY ON THE Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

IS MAILED EVERY DAY TO ALL THE principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

IS "HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES IN THE BEST SOCIETY, IS placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has re-opened his old Medical Institute at the old stand where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE.—The rush to see the new sensation drama of "Buffalo Bill" continues undiminished. Every night the house is crowded, and every night the audience applaud most heartily the thrilling speeches so impressively delivered by E. T. Stetson, the hearty fun of Miss Maggie Moore, and the startling situations of the play. "Buffalo Bill" will be performed at the matinee to-day, this evening, and to-morrow night for the last time. On Tuesday E. T. Stetson will appear in the drama of "Neck and Neck," the terribly realistic hanging scene in which caused such a sensation when it was presented some time ago at this theatre.

THE ALHAMBRA.—At the matinee to-day and again this evening the capital bill which has afforded so much pleasure during the week will be given. Among the many entertaining features are "High Jack the Heeler;" "Where Flowers Blush and Bloom," song and dance by Delehanty and Hengler; "Uncle Pete," by J. McAndrews and G. D. Rockefeller; the beautiful quartette, "What Beams so Bright?" by W. F. Baker, O. D. Rockafeller, J. G. Russell and M. A. Scott; Bob Hart, Cool Burgess, and others in songs and acts; Barry O'Neil in character acts, and the beautiful pantomime of "The Comanches." On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Simonsen, the talented violinist and sweet vocalist will commence an engagement at this house.

BELLA UNION.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Coriell, the Reynolds Brothers, J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong, Johnny Tuers, Marie Zoel, Miss Josephine, Harry Sinclair, Miss Jennie Johnson and a host of others appear to-night in a great variety programme which is published on our first page. Among the new features of the entertainment at this house we may mention the character song of "Dolly Varden," by Mrs. Charles Coriell; "Der Habby Bair," by J. H. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong; a new fancy dance by Miss Carrie Chapman; the negro acts of "Miss Tibbit's Lodgers" and "The Black Chemist," and the farce of "A Race for a Widow," with which the performance will conclude.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE.—Dopson had a bumper benefit last night. A great number of attractive features are comprised in the programme for to-night. As this place of amusement is always crowded on Saturday night, it is necessary to go early in order to obtain a seat.

PACIFIC HALL.—The Fabbri Italian and German Combination gave their first concert in this city at Pacific Hall last night. There was a goodly attendance of the lovers of fine music, though the hall was not as well filled as it would have been had the public fully appreciated the merit of the artistes who were to make their first appearance before them. There never was a more enthusiastic audience, the applause was positively stormy, and encore after encore was insisted on in the most peremptory manner. We are sure all present thoroughly endorsed our criticism of yesterday which was as follows: Signora Inez Fabbri, prima donna assoluta, is an artist with a good school and power of execution; Miss Anna Ezor, who is between fourteen and fifteen years of age, has a mezzo-soprano which will develope into a contralto of extraordinary quality and power. At the present time this young artiste uses her voice with much skill, and does credit to Professor Mulder-Fabbri's musical tuition; she has a lower register which will secure for her fame and fortune. Herr L. Eisenbach, the tenor, was yesterday suffering from change of climate (as every tenor who has visited San Francisco has suffered on his arrival here); Herr Muller has a magnificent baritone voice, well cultured, fully developed, and managed with artistic skill; it also possesses a sympathetic quality oft too rare in baritone voices. Added to this he has a splendid stage presence, ease and grace of deportment and every movement and gesture bespeaks the lyric actor. San Francisco does not often go wild over a singer—it did over little Sbriglia and now it has another chance. Muller is handsome enough for a tenor, has a superb voice and is a cultured artiste. What more would you have to make him a lion in musical circles? Professor Mulder-Fabbri is a talented conductor, a fine pianist and a musical composer of much merit, as we learned from listening to his "Bacharala" song yesterday by Signora Fabbri and Herr Muller; this is a composition possessing much originality and full of music. To-morrow evening, these accomplished artistes will give another concert, the programme of which appears on our first page. On Wednesday next they will give their first operatic performance in costume at Maguire's Opera House.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Now, when we are at length enjoying a little summer weather, the Cliff House road is crowded with fast teams conveying people to Captain Foster's ne plus ultra of seaside hotels. Hundreds will visit this beautiful resort to-morrow, and those who have no teams can get out by cars and omnibus at small expense.

THE HORTICULTURAL FAIR.—M. Adolphe Hartdegen has been engaged by the management. This famous violoncello player, whose performances at the Boston Jubilee were so highly spoken of by the press, will appear at the Horticultural Pavilion this afternoon and evening. Next week will be the last of the Fair, and increased attractions will be offered.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS—SKATING TOURNAMENT.—A great tournament of knights in armor on skates will take place here to-morrow. Great preparations have been made to make this the finest tournament of the season.

THE HANDEL AND HAYDN.—The Handel and Haydn Society will perform Haydn's grand oratorio of "The Creation" at Platt's Hall on Friday evening, September 20th. George T. Evans will be conductor. Mrs. Marriner, Mr. Campbell, Sam Mayer and others will sing the solos.

BENEFIT OF MISS MINNIE WALTON.—Miss Minnie Walton, the favorite actress and vocalist, will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit at Pacific Hall on September 19th. A concert by the best vocal and instrumental talent in the city will constitute the entertainment.

BADGER'S CENTRAL PARK, OAKLAND.—In addition to the standing attractions at this pleasant resort—menagerie, museum, gymnasium, skating rink, etc.,—a concert will be given to-morrow by Charles Alpers' Metropolitan Band.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

CHIARINI'S ROYAL ITALIAN CIRCUS.—Last night, as on the preceding night, every available inch of room in the spacious pavilion was occupied. We have nothing to add to our extended notice of the performance which gave yesterday save that E. Rowland, the English trick clown, succeeds in causing as much laughter as any clown who has visited this city, and performs all his gymnastic feats in the most finished style. The beautiful new pavilion of snow-white canvas presented a bright and cheerful appearance, and the poles which supported it were adorned with the bright-hued flags and coats of arms of the various republics of the American continent. The dress circle part of the house was comfortably arranged with chairs backed by crimson hangings. Altogether the pavilion last night, packed as it was by thousands of people who seemed piled from the ground to the top awning, was a sight not often seen. A capital orchestra under the direction of the popular cornet player, Jos. E. Green, played for an overture "Italiana in Algieri" in excellent style, and then the grand entree was made. Four ladies on beautiful cream-colored horses and four cavaliers on grays went through a few evolutions, and then Signor Chiarini made his entrance on his magnificent charger "Monte Cristo." He received an enthusiastic welcome, and proceeded to put his troupe through a number of complicated manœuvers. The graceful Senorita Ruiz, pretty Miss Fanny Carle, the dashing Miss Katie Holloway, the accomplished and fascinating M'lle Amelia Brydges, the daring and skillful Miss Minnie Grace, and the brilliant Ethiopian princess, Belen Cuba, make this ne plus ultra of circuses particularly rich in female beauty and talent. La Petite Emillie, an infant equestrienne, put down in the bills as three years old, and who does not look a day elder, is already the pet of the public. With some of the wonderful performances of Belen Cuba and Theodore Cuba the public are familiar, but they have during their absence added new and thrilling feats to their varied repertoire, such horses as those introduced by Signor Chiarini are seen in no other circus in the world; they are models of grace and symmetry, and their intelligence equals, if it does not surpass, that of the average biped. "Prince" and "Duke" are two of these stars of the hippodrome whose performance last night drew shouts of enthusiasm and applause from the vast assemblage. "Sylvan," another beautiful and intelligent quadruped, was equally successful in gaining the approbation of the spectators. Among the many startling and novel performances introduced may be mentioned Miss Katie Holloway's backward and forward act of equitation, leaping over banners and streamers; M'lle Amelia Brydges' graceful and elegant poses and varied performances on the tight-rope, comprising an admirably executed solo on the snare drum, gun drill and skipping rope dance; "Le Concert Diabolique" by the three Carlo Brothers, William, Frederick and George, who performed varied feats of gymnastics, each meanwhile playing a violin; this was an extremely grotesque and original act; M'lle Millie Grace, "the lady with the iron jaw," executed astounding feats on the trapeze with Henry Clark, and capped the climax by swinging by her legs from the trapeze, supporting Mr. Clark suspended by a strap, the end of which she held between her teeth. The trained guanaco, a beautiful animal allied to the camel species, inhabiting the Andes, executed the most surprising leaps, and charmed and pleased all by its obedience and docility. The very comical pantomime of "Bobby Trot," arranged by William Carlo, wound up this brilliant hippodromatical and gymnastic exhibition, and sent the audience home in high good humor. The same bill will be performed to-night at the matinee to-day and again to-morrow evening.

PACIFIC COAST DRAMATIC NEWS.

SAN JOSE.—If any one can draw a house in San Jose, Joe Murphy can; but what we asserted has proved to be the case: during his first engagement in that liberal city the San Jose people got rid of all their spending money for a year. The press of San Jose patted Manager Bert on the back for his "energy" in sending up Joe Murphy and a company to amuse them and their visitors during Fair week, but they did not care about paying out money to see him. He opened on Monday to "a fair house"—a "fair house" in San Jose means only a hundred dollars or so below expenses—and played afterwards to houses that were actually no fair. Soft words don't butter parsnips, or Manager Bert would have been able to board his troupe luxuriously. The San Jose correspondent of the Call said in his letter which appeared in yesterday's issue:

> Manager Bert appreciates the services of the San Jose press in their efforts to place the merits of the troupe before the San Jose public. He extended an invitation to the proprietors, reporters, compositors and office boys to attend during Murphy's engagement.

That shows how business was. If manager Bert had given a "free" theatrical performance he would have pleased the San Jose people, but would not have reaped much profit. The Child Amarions Concert Troupe with a knowledge of the idiosyncracy of the San Jose being, did actually advertise "A Free Show" and gave it. They did this at the Agricultural Park in San Francisco during the late fair, and the child violinist reaped a good harvest of silver half dollars, and gold two-and-a-half pieces every day. But in San Jose, the people went to the "free show," heard the child play the violin, said he was a wonder, and never wondered or cared if he was going to have any supper that night. Oh! they are a liberal set those San Jose people. Of course some made the boy presents, but those were people from San Francisco who had come to San Jose to see the stock exhibition.

HELENA, MONTANA.—A correspondent writes to tell us that there has been nothing in the way of amusement for some months. He says:

> A small but good dramatic troupe of five or seven people would do well all this Fall and Winter. Times have never been as good as at the present.

MARYSVILLE.—Miss Minnie Walton, supported by a company comprising Miss Mary E. Wadsworth, the talented vocalist, Fred Lyster, H. D. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Buckley, and others, opened at the theatre on Monday, and have given a varied performance consisting of vaudevilles, acts of operas, and songs and dances, during the week. The attendance has been very good. A matinee was given on Wednesday, and the company will perform this afternoon and evening. Miss Minnie Walton is an immense favorite, as she is sure to be in every place in which she appears. Her acting has that "one touch of nature which makes the whole world kind."

PORTLAND, OR.—Charles Vivian, M'lle Marie Gangain, Ed Montague, M'lle Garratto and others gave performances at the Oro Fino Theatre on the 30th and 31st ult. The Oregonian says:

> In addition to the repairs and alterations made to the Oro Fino Theatre at the hands of carpenters and stage accessories. A Mr. Ketzoldt, an artist of rare abilities, who arrived recently from Europe, is engaged in painting a new set of scenery and a drop curtain. The latter is a very handsome acquisition to the appearance of the stage, and will represent the Bay of Naples with Mt. Vesuvius in the background.

We think we have seen the city and bay of Naples with Mount Vesuvius in the background on the drop curtain of a theatre once or twice. The theatre was to open to-night with "Macbeth." The following artistes compose the new dramatic company: O. B. Waldron, Mrs. E. F. Stewart, James Vinson, W. C. Crosbie, Mrs. R. Fulford, Robert Fulford, Minnie Pixley, Samuel Piercy, Carrie Lipsis, Richard H. Cox, Mrs. Crosbie, F. Cleaves, W. B. Gortier, Ellas Lipsis, Herr Ritsaldt, Charles Anker, Charles Bray, J. Roos, J. Loller, F. Huber, O. Williams.

OAKLAND.—Mrs. L. I. L. Adams, "the Oriental Traveller," is going to show "a great prophetical panorama of the Grant, Greeley and Train Campaign of 1872," at Broadway Hall on Sept. 11th and will lecture on "the situation."

VIRGINIA CITY.—Conklin Brothers' Great Philadelphia Circus, Samwells' School of Educated Animals, and Yankee Robinson's Big Show combined are announced to show at Virginia City on the 11th and 12th.

GOLD HILL.—Conklin Brothers' Circus and the other attractions specified under the head of "Virginia City" will exhibit at Gold Hill Tuesday, September 10th.

OLYMPIA, W. T.—The Vivian Troupe consisting of Charles Vivian, M'lle Marie Gangain and Mr. Nesfield, baritone, under the management of J. H. Church, performed in Columbia Hall on the 24th ult. The Crystal Palace Circus gave an exhibition on the 28th ult.

WOODLAND.—The Wilton Troupe appeared in "East Lynne" at Washington Hall last Saturday.

SACRAMENTO.—The Bee thus chronicles the movements of Mrs. Proctor who is at present forming a company in this city:

> After playing at Stockton she will open the Winter season at the Metropolitan on the night of September 19th. On Monday night, the 30th of September, Stetson, now playing at the Metropolitan in San Francisco the two latest sensational pieces, "Neck and Neck" and "Buffalo Bill," will open here, supported by most of the company, and with the special scenery of the pieces, now in use at the Bay.

Walter Rogers has taken the Academy of Music for the Fair week, and will open there with Sam Rickey, Harry Kelly (recently arrived from Australia), Cogill and Cooper, Geo. Foster and others.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

In New York, "Roi Carotte" was produced at the Grand Opera House on the 26th instead of the 19th. The Home Journal says:

> It has been generally remarked that play-goers were tired of opera bouffe and spectacular plays; and so they were tired of pieces that appealed far for their success to the very coarsest tastes by vulgarity of language and indecent exposition. "Roi Carotte," on the contrary, has a plot of some interest, at least, and the dialogue, with the music, fine dresses, wonders in scenery, and a large and powerful cast of actors and singers, is sufficiently attractive without the introduction of such outside shows as performing dogs and trick ponies. It is not fair to judge immediately of the merits of a new performance, produced with extraordinary mechanism and strange scenic effects, under all the disadvantages of a first night; which did not conclude, by the way, until one o'clock on Tuesday morning. One's patience, if not one's temper, is certainly put to the test on such an occasion, when the mercury is running up among the nineties. When the piece is curtailed a little and condensed a good deal; when the instrumental and vocal performers are in more harmony—in a word, when the play is running smoothly, then will be the time for opinion and criticism. As it is, nothing is easier than to predict for "King Carrot" a long and prosperous reign, and to congratulate Mr. Daly on the success of his opening night.

....."The Bells" still form the attraction at Booth's......Fifth Avenue Theatre was to open on the third of September with a new comedy entitled "Diamonds," from the pen of B. C. Haward, in a most elaborate setting of scenery and costumes ....."Blue Beard" is still on at Wallack's. ......The farewell benefit of the Vokes Family took place at the Academy of Music, on Monday evening, September 2d. "Belles of the Kitchen" and "Black-Eyed Susan" were performed...... The San Francisco Minstrels opened at St. James Theatre on the 26th. The company as at present organized comprises the following artistes: Beaumont Reed, the renowned London balladist; C. Fredericks, baritone; J. Norris, basso; Johnson and Powers, who have no superior as song and dance men; Messrs. Mullaly, Withers, Smidt, T. Mollaly, Leavitt, Blakeny, Percy, Jnoh, Trigg and Emmett. And then there are the great originals, Billy Birch, Dave Wambold, Charley Backus, whose stage-appearance every theatre-goer is familiar with......At White's Athenæum, 595 Broadway, Joe Lang and Luke Schoolcraft are on the ends, C. H. Sturme, an old San Francisco favorite, sings in the first part. Harry McCarthy appears in protean sketches, Signor Loyrenia exhibits his trained birds and cats, and a very lively variety performance is given......Bryant's Minstrels opened on the 26th. Messrs. Kelly and Leon Harry Norman, Dan Bryant, Dave Reed, Harry Raynor, and other well-known artistes appear among the troupe......J. B. Studley is playing in a version of "The Belle" at the Bowery......The Union Square Theatre is to open on the 16th...... The new play written by M. Victorien Sardou for Miss Agnes Ethel is called "Agnes," in compliment to the lady herself, it being a custom now prevalent among French authors to call their plays after the name of the principal actress...... At the Theatre Comique which opened on the 19th a new play by John F. Poole entitled "City Life; or, Ins and Outs of New York," was succeeded on the 29th by another by the same author entitled "Broadway by Daylight, Gaslight and Moonlight"......"The Red Pocket Book" was to be played on the 2d by the company whose names we gave last Saturday....At Wood's Museum a burlesque troupe was to appear on the 9th. The list of names included Miss Lisa Weber, Miss Belle Howitt, Miss Pauline Markham, Miss Emma Grattan, and Mr. Richard Mosell.

Madame Janauschek will return to the United States at Christmas.

The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette of the 25th ult. says:

> Emerson's California Minstrels, who have been playing at the Globe Theatre during the past week, are certainly the best combination of its kind with which we at present are acquainted. The performers are excellent in their special departments, and the entertainment is fresh, sparkling and artistic. The bright, particular star of the organization is of course, Billy Emerson, who not only exhibits considerable skill as a dialect actor, but is unsurpassed in the particular song and dance he that he affects. He sings well, and has histrionic talents of no mean order. Next comes Ben Cotton, whose song, "Hannah, How's Your Ma?" made a veritable hit, and whose bone playing is one of the features of the performance. Mr. Heywood, the falsetto singer, and Mr. Lours, the baritone, are both capital, and the orchestra is effective without overpowering the voices, no small recommendation, in view of the noise that prevails in most minstrel bands. The whole entertainment deserves the highest praise, and as the company only remain another week, we heartily recommend our readers to pay them a visit at the Globe, if they would not miss seeing the liveliest and the most admirable minstrel performance we have had here for many years.

The Courier says of the star of the troupe:

> Billy Emerson as a song and dance man has few equals, introducing into his performances many original and unique movements hitherto unknown in this part of the country, and sings with more power and expression than most performers in this line of business, besides being an actor in dialect specialties of more than average merit.

James Steele Mackaye has gone to Europe to study for three years, during which time he will edit and publish the collected manuscripts of the late Francois Delsarte.

The New York Tribune says of James W. Wallack's impersonation of the leading character in "The Bells:"

> He made Mathias, not a repulsive assassin, whom everybody would summarily commit to his doom, but a man of winning temperament and picturesque peculiarities, the victim, indeed a momentary criminal impulse and temptation, yet engaging and picturesque, and neither a Thug nor a Pariah. Built upon this basis, the delicate structure of his art won fervent sympathy as well as intellectual admiration. In expressing the tenderness of paternal feeling, Mr. Wallack was always proficient—as all must be aware who recall his Matthew Elmore. That tenderness suffused portions of his performance, last night, and helped to make it magical. The more thrilling quality of it, doubtless, was the actor's imaginative sensitiveness to the boding sounds of the bells of warning and menace. His face blazed, his figure was petrified, with an all-possessed sense of that dire blood-curdling summons. Nothing short of genius is ever equal to such moments of imaginative exaltation as there were in his dream-scene, or can make them real to other minds and hearts. Mr. Wallack's acting was hailed with such plaudits as are seldom heard in any theatre.

The Theatrical News speaks as follows of the new drama entitled "Dixie," written for Johnny Thompson, the lively fraud, and produced by him at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn:

> Thompson, as a song and dance man, is an object of consideration—as an actor, a subject of excoriating criticism. The drama in itself presents no trick, device, or ingenuity of any kind that can claim originality. It is sufficient to say in this respect it was written for Johnny Thompson. The nigger on his muscle, his benevolence, his gratitude and his affection were amply portrayed, but never a sentiment or a situation astray from the worn paths of Poole and his followers was expressed or exhibited. It was to an eye at all experienced painful to behold the difference between Thompson in his song and dance and Thompson in those situations which require dramatic force and fervor.

Tom Harold, one legged song and dance performer, is creating a sensation at the Cricket Variety Hall, at Pueblo, Colorado. Signora Honorom and son, jugglers and snake charmers, were the latest fresh appearances.

Master Donald Harold, last season connected with Simmons & Slocum's Minstrels, has unfortunately lost his voice since his return with the troupe from their California tour.

Dolly Davenport, who is engaged as stage manager at the Academy of Music, New Orleans, under the management of David Bidwell, also to manage at Mobile, during the coming season, will not leave for those cities until fully recovered from his present illness.

Bret Harte's play is entitled "An American Comedy." It will be brought out at the Fifth Avenue Theatre.

Edwin Booth will produce Shakespeare's "King John" with great splendor at his theatre before next Spring.

We know, of course, that the Buislays' balloon caught fire at Woodward's Gardens, and did not rise from the ground at all. The way they tell the story in the Eastern papers is as follows:

> One of the Buislay Family came near meeting with a terrible death in San Francisco lately. A new feat introduced by them, at the close of many other wonderful performances, is the ascension of an immense balloon containing one of the brothers, who, when it reaches an altitude where it is almost lost to the naked eye, drops over the side upon a trapeze bar and goes through his performance with the most complete sangfroid. On the occasion in question the balloon took fire. When within ten feet of the ground an explosion followed, and the fragments of the balloon dropped upon the heads of the audience in all directions. In the midst of the smoke young Buislay dropped without injury. If the explosion had taken place ten minutes later he would, without doubt, have met with a fearful end.

In Washington, D. C., John T. Ford is rapidly pushing to completion the new opera house on the site of the old Wall's opera house, which was destroyed by fire last winter. Mr. Ford proposes to open it January 1.

Aimee and bouffers, Omaha, Sept. 27, Olympic, New York, Oct. 14, two weeks.

Rubinstein, the pianist, will sail for New York 31st, and his twelve concerts will begin at Steinway Hall about the middle of September. He will then travel under Jacob Grau's management.

The license charge at Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory, for circuses is $100 per day; ball shows $30.

Howard Athenæum, Boston, opened 26th with Gotty Goott, George W. Thompson, the Rigl Sisters, Amelia Parizuti, and a ballet of twenty, with Mr. Zawistowski as ballet master. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, character eccentrics, from the Alhambra, London, and the Misses Cerito and Patti Rose, also from the London Music Hall, will likewise appear.

Tamberlik, the famous king of tenori robusti, is to visit the United States with his grand Italian opera company, immediately after his Havana season. The company comprises the following eminent artists: Soprani, Madame Blume, Madame Bolli Paoli, and M'lle Beillac. Tenori, Signori Tamberlik, Ronconi, Polermi, and Testa. Prime donne contralti, Madame Natalie-Testa, and M'lle Braccioli. Primi baritoni, Signori Perago, Mariconi, and Bartoli. Primi bassi, Signori Rossi, Galli, and Ricciardi. Representations will be given in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, and New Orleans. Tamberlik has been for the last twenty years the leading tenor of London Paris, Madrid, and St. Petersburgh, and the only competitor of Mario; and it is a very strange coincidence to see the two king-tenors of Europe coming here at the same time. Mr. De Vivo, is Tamberlik's manager.

Frank Chanfrau, supported by a company of his own selection, will play "Kit" at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn during the week commencing September 9th. The scenery and appointments will be the same as those used in the production of the piece at Wood's Museum.

It is said that sheet iron thunder will soon be displaced at McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, by an electric battery, which will produce real lightning as well as genuine thunder.

The name of Miss Olive Logan's comedy, which will probably be produced at the Union Square Theatre during the season, will be "A Business Woman."

W. S. Gilbert's great fairy comedy, "The Palace of Truth," has been produced in a costly manner and with great success, at the Academy of Music, Chicago.

The Fall and Winter season at the Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, was to be opened on Sept. 3d, with the appearance of the Lydia Thompson Troupe.

Mrs. F. Chanfrau will play at the Boston Theatre, in February next. Her engagements for the season are all closed, and extend far into Spring.

The Royal Lyceum, Toronto, has been undergoing extensive alterations and repairs, and is now the finest theatre in Canada.

On Monday, Sept. 8th, Miss Pauline Markham and Miss Belle Howitt will reappear at Wood's Museum.

Mr. P. T. Barnum has subscribed $91 to the fund for the widow and child of the late Henry Drayton.

Mr. Frank Mayo is at the New Opera House, Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Kate Fisher is at Detroit, Michigan.

A series of benefits in aid of the family of the late Henri Drayton, will shortly be given under the direction of a committee composed of representatives of the press and the theatrical profession.

Carlotta Patti is announced to sing in concerts at Steinway Hall on Sept. 16th.

FOREIGN DRAMATIC NEWS.

From the following preparatory trumpet blast in an Eastern contemporary we fancy H. J. Byron is coming to the United States:—Henry J. Byron, the talented dramatist and burlesque writer, is at present playing a very successful engagement at the Strand Theatre, London, appearing as Sir Simon Simple in his own play "Not Such a Fool as he Looks," a character in which he is greatly superior to Charles Matthews. If some of our enterprising managers could persuade Mr. Byron to visit America we are sure a mine of wealth would be the result of the speculation. He is an able actor, his De Lacy Fitzaltamont in "The Prompter's Box," being one of the most entertaining impersonations on the English stage; and a prolific and versatile comedy writer. Mr. Byron is at present engaged on a new comedy for Mr. Sothern, to be given at Wallack's Theatre during the next season."

Mr. Charles Levi, the agent for the Strakosch Brothers, has just arrived in New York from Europe, whither he had gone in order to perfect arrangements for the forthcoming season of grand Italian Opera. He says that, in all probability the great tenor, Mario, will visit this country in Spring, and appear in a number of operatic impersonations, in which he is without a rival. Madame Carlotta Patti has been engaged by Max Strakosch for a concert tour through the United States, the inaugural concert of the series, to be given at Steinway Hall, on September 19th.

Long suffering "Dolly Verden" has at last been dramatized—a version of "Barnaby Rudge," under that name, having been brought out at the Theatre Royal, Belfast, Ireland, in which the simon pure Dolly is represented.

Madame Nilsson-Rouzaud's wedding presents amounted to £12,000 sterling in value, and not £200,000, as the crazy item-gobblers have put it.

Mario comes to the United States in the Spring, to sing for $1000 per night for a season of fifty nights, prior to his final retirement from the stage.

J. M. Bellew, who has figured with considerable success as a dramatic reader in England, is coming over this fall and will make a tour of the country in the character of Hamlet.

One of our Eastern contemporaries says:

> Madame Stella Bonheur, a California woman, who is possessed with the idea that she can sing tried Italian opera in Berlin, and ignominiously failed.

The family of a famed Polish musician, Moniusko, left destitute, has been granted an annual pension of 2,000 roubles by the Emperor of Russia.

Sims Reeves is willing to come over this side and sing for $100,000.

England's soldiers with swords rusting in inglorious ease, are amusing themselves. We learn from the late London papers that the 19th Lancers have erected a large marquee in the rear of the Royal Marine Barracks at Woolwich, and recently gave a circus performance for the amusement of the garrison. They have a well trained stud of trick horses and ponies, and some of the non-commissioned officers and men displayed extraordinary skill in feats of horsemanship and gymnastic exercises. The Hon. E. Willoughby officiated as clown.

An American travelling circus was established at Amiens a few weeks back, and made a procession through the town, when the musicians, costumed as Prussian soldiers, played the "Marseillaise." The utter bad taste of this proceeding raised the just indignation of an excited crowd, and the company was forced to make a precipitate retreat from the town.

The Theatre Lyrique is to be rebuilt. It was, during the Commune, burned in Paris.

Johann Strauss is giving a series of twenty concerts in Baden-Baden, with his orchestra.

Constantinople is to have an opera house.

George Boniface had closed at Lisa Edwin's little Queen's Theatre, Dublin.

LADIES, READ THIS!

DO NOT ALLOW YOURSELVES TO BE IMposed upon any longer by purchasing TUCK MARKERS which are neither durable nor practical. Before purchasing one, try Graff & Co's make, and if you have one already that is not Graff & Co's make, throw it away, get a good one, and you will save both time and money. The self-registering slides of Graff & Co's TUCK MARKER are invaluable, and ought to be examined by all ladies.

Oyster Trade.
The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

The Opera Season in New York.

Mr. Max Maretzek has announced his intentions for the Fall and Winter season in a little pamphlet. From this we learn that in addition to Mme. Lucca and Miss Kellogg Mr. Maretzek has engaged M'lle Rosina Leveille, prima donna soprano; Senora Eleanor Sanz, prima donna contralto, who comes from Madrid with a high reputation; Signor Abrugnedo, first tenor, whose voice is said to combine the power of Massoloni with the range of Wachtel; Signor Vazzini tenor di Grazia, a great favorite in London; Signors Moriami and Sparapani, first baritones; MM. Jamet and Conlon, bassos; and Signors Ronconi, Cotto, Bertachi, Manreas, and Lyall, and M'lles Ferretti and Cooney.

Mme. Lucca is to appear as Selika in "L'Africaine," Valentine in "Les Huguenots," Leonora in "Trovator," Zerlina in "Don Giovanni," Agatha in "Der Freischutz," Mignon, in "Mignon," Leonora in "La Favorita," Cherubino in "Le Nozze di Figaro," and Zerlina in "Fra Diavolo."

Miss Kellogg will be seen as Violetta in "Traviata," Lucie in "Lucia," Annetta in "Crispino e Comare," Linda in "Linda di Chamounix," Martha in "Martha," Gilda in "Rigoletto," Amina in "La Sonnambula," and Catrina in "L'Etoile du Nord." The new operas to be produced are Gounod's "Mereille," and Petrella's "Duchess of Amelfi."

The orchestra will number forty-nine picked performers, under the direction of Carl Bergmann, G. Carlberg and Maretzek. The chorus singers, some of whom are from the London Opera Houses, will be sixty-eight in number, under the supervision of Signor G. Santi, a noted European chorus master. The wardrobes for the principals are being made under the supervision of Mr. Harris, stage-manager of Covent Garden; those for the chorus will be furnished by Mme. Barron, of the Porte St. Martin Theatre, Paris, and will be the most elaborate ever seen in this country.

The first series of performances will begin in New York on Monday, September 30th, terminating on December 12th; then the troupe goes to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, returning to New York on the 3d of February, where it will remain until the 7th of February.

Rushing Business at the Bivalve.
So great is the rush of business at the Bivalve that W. Spreen, the proprietor, finds it necessary to enlarge his accommodations for ladies and families. The ladies' department is now enlarged to double its former size, and family dining rooms have been added. The Bivalve Oyster and Dining Saloon, 643 Market st., three doors below Kearny, is immensely popular. A

Live Well.
Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Booken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city — English breakfast tea — Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. B

Health and Pleasure.
There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer,"
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

MONDAY............SEPTEMBER 9, 1872

A Good Place for Young Men.

The Bonndont Freeman states that in the mountains of Shandeken there are hundreds of young ladies from the city boarding during the hot weather. One farm house in Broad Street Hollow contains no less than forty school ma'ams. The country is completely overrun by women, who, by the aid of exercise and mountain air, have become as fresh, ruddy and handsome as any lot of girls can be. In the mountain gorges, between Shandsken and Lexington, there is hardly a house but has a dozen or two. Most of them are young women who work with their brains, and take this Summer vacation because it is cheaper than living in the city. It is almost as much as a man's life is worth to travel through that section now-a-days, especially a young man. A young gentleman was travelling along the road leading to Lexington the other day, and says he never before had such a greeting. It was a perfect ovation. Young ladies crowd the piazza and wave their handkerchiefs, while hardly a piece of romantic woods could be passed without half a dozen handsome girls would spring into view to catch a glimpse and welcome the comer. It much resembled a journey of the King of France in old times, when the cry of "Vive le Roi!" resounded from the wayside. The cry is not "Vive le Roi!" in this case, however, but, "O, there's a man! o-o-o!" and there is a clapping of hands, and waving of handkerchiefs, and shouts of joy—in fact a perfect and most delightful welcome.

A Rose by any Other Name.

Agnes Ethel's new play, written for her by Sardon, is called "L'Americaine."—Times.

M. Sardon has written a new play for Agnes Ethel, which bears the appropriate title of "Agnes."—Herald.

A new play which is to be produced the coming season, at the Union Square Theatre by Miss Agnes Ethel, bears the title of "Aqua."—Sun.

How is this? We have reliable information that the name of the play is "The Lilly of the West," but the Clemtown Cohort, always ahead on those matters, sets us all right with the following item: "Mrs. Agnew Estelle, the well-known tragedienne, is to appear during the Winter in an entirely new tragedy, written for her by the popular American playwright, Mr. Sardine; its title is "Ague."

Wouldn't Do.

A man was hauled up the other day before the police Court, charged with being a vagrant, having no visible means of support. The accused produced two shares in a diamond company, and twenty shares of stock in the Bulletin-Railroad. It wouldn't do—he was vagged.

O HERE!—Why don't you take Salt Water Baths regularly? Try one to-day, at the "Sanitarium," foot of Powell street, North Beach. Only 25 cents. Steam baths 50 cents, or two warm bath tickets. DRISCOLL & HAGEN. T

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 317 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. •

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

CLAIRVOYANT.—Madame Clara Antonia, the clairvoyant, and Independent Trance Medium. Office, 426 Kearny Street. Consultations in English, French and German. T

A Treat for the Boy.

The notice of Chiarini's Circus in Friday's Bulletin was evidently the work of the office boy. The youth was not only allowed to dead-head into the show on the Bulletin, but also to write it up. This is how he begins:

A—good—cir-cus—is—a—good—thing—a poor—one—is—an—a-bom-i-na-tion. That—which—open-ed—last—night—on—the—old—Jack-son—street—lot—is—a—good—one—and—Chi-a-ri-ni—has—been—here—be-fore.

The composition is a pretty good one for a boy, but he was wrong to say the guanaco exhibited was "the—first—of—these—an-i-mals—ever—brought—under—the—con-trol—of—man." If there is not a Natural History in the Bulletin office, a Webster's Dictionary would give sufficient information. Webster says "it is domesticated." Seriously speaking, it is a disgrace to San Francisco that the leading evening journal should entrust the notices of amusements to Tom, Dick and Harry. It is not only a circus notice that is written in the above style; "criticisms" of operatic and dramatic performances and concerts are either couched in English like the above, or consist of two or three words: "concert—to-night," "'Hamlet'—to-night," "The Fabbri Troupe to-night." A column or so less railroad jabber and an occasional article on music and the fine arts, written by some one who knows a little about them, would be an improvement in the Bulletin.

A Sharp Retort.

The London Orchestra relates an anecdote about one of the most popular dramatists and humorists, albeit a good Christian, belonging to that ancient race which furnished the arts with so many celebrated names. It is necessary to premise this, in order to explain a sharp little thrust which this gentleman recently received, and which he certainly drew down on himself. On the production of "Pygmalion and Galatea," when all the town was congratulating Mr. W. S. Gilbert on another capital work, the gentleman referred to, with somewhat unnecessary candor, wrote: "My dear Gilbert—I don't like your 'Pyg.' Yours, X. Y. Z." To this frank epistle Mr. Gilbert concisely replied: "My dear Z—No more did your forefathers. Yours, W. S. Gilbert." The Semitic joker subsided.

Mrs. Jolly.

An Eastern contemporary has the following pleasing bit of information:

M'lle Marie Aimee sailed on Saturday for Europe in the steamer France. She will return immediately to begin an engagement at the Olympic, in opera bouffe. It is not generally known that this excellent artiste is the wife of the younger Jolly, of the well-known Broadway firm in the dyeing and scouring line.

No, it is not generally known. We didn't know it, but we always thought there was a "jolly" look about her.

Just So.

The Portland Oregonian says:

A critic in the Figaro is after Joaquin Miller's "Isles of the Amazon" with a dissecting knife.

That is the instrument a critic should always use. We expect some envious Oregon writers will go after it with a meat-axe.

The End of the Righteous.

Samuel J. Brown, the reverend Cincinnati boy-killer and pious pioneer pear protector, is said to be slowly dying of old age and the hot weather at his refuge near Valley Junction.

Yielding to Prejudice.

Mrs. Woodhull, on her trip to Europe, is accompanied by her husband. She says she is forced to yield to the prejudices of European hotel-keepers in this matter.

Well Brought up.

Agnes Cooper, born to wealth, and finely educated, is the most successful female thief in St. Louis. Education is bound to tell.

Chemical Treatment of Diseases.

Dr. Cook, No 55 Second street, treats all chronic diseases chemically, the only successful mode of curing disease. The afflicted, by all means, should consult the Doctor without delay. His experience is ample and his remedies sure. Y

A Pleasant Location.

What Cheer Laundry

Employs no Chinamen, and should be patronized by everybody. •

Chinese Compliments.

It is not always safe to joke, even with the benighted Celestials. A fine young lady of Portland, Oregon, on hearing from one of her Chinese domestics his determination to return to his native land, twitted him on the subject of matrimony. "Well, well! Ah Wam is going back to get a wife, I suppose?" "Me? yes." "What sort of a girl is she?" "Belly nice, nice woman!" "Well, tell us, Ah Wam, is she one of the aristocratic sort—'A No. 1,' you know—nice girls, who have such nice little wee feet!" Ah Wam (very innocently)—"Oh, no, no! oh no! not little feet! great big feet! all same yours!"

Highly Pleased.

From the cordial manner in which the Grant papers endorse the proceedings of the Louisville Convention and the admiration they express for the noble patriots who composed it, one would imagine they were willing to change front and vote the straight Democratic ticket. Their disgust at the at the idea of Democrats voting for Greeley, who has abused them so heartily, is terrible. They would not say a word against Democrats if they would only vote the "straight ticket," as they used to.

Getting Even.

A gentleman afflicted with remarkably long ears was seated in the stalls, and overheard the jocular remarks of a neighboring young man to another, which were by far too loudly expressed. The proprietor of the ears turned round sharply thereat and said: "Sir, it is true my ears are very large indeed for a man, but yours are very small for an ass."

THE GREAT REMEDY

....FOR....

KIDNEY DISEASES

AND CURE FOR

FEVER AND AGUE

KING Quinine Dethroned AT LAST!

COLEMAN'S

Comp. Extract of Eucalyptus!

Dr. J. S. Coleman, of San Francisco, and several eminent physicians of Europe, have been co-operating during the past two years and experimenting in hospital practice with the medicinal properties contained in the Eucalyptus, and the results show that as a cure for Fever and Ague it is better than Quinine, as in 118 test cases, when Quinine had been given unsuccessfully, 91 were cured with Eucalyptus alone.

In the U. S. Marine Hospital, where extensive experiments were made with Dr. Coleman's Extract, severe cases of Fever and Ague were cured with this remedy.

It has been also proved in the same hospital that when prepared by Dr. Coleman's peculiar process, it is a most invaluable remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinal Canal, and many cases were cured with this preparation alone, that had been pronounced incurable by any other known remedy. For these diseases it can be confidently relied upon as the most efficacious remedy ever offered to the public Unlike most other valuable remedies, it is a pleasant cordial, and is not rejected by the most sensitive stomach. The popularity which Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus has already attained has given birth to several base imitations. None but Coleman's is genuine.

Dr. Coleman refers by permission to the following well-known gentlemen in San Francisco, who can vouch for its efficacy, from personal experience and knowledge:

G. N. Arthur, of J. D. Arthur & Son, Agricultural Warehouse, cor. California and Davis sts.

E. G. Mathews, Grain Merchant, 266 Davis st.

The Season of Italian Opera with M'lle ANNA SONNTAG as the prima donna, will commence at the Metropolitan Theatre on September 30th.

Figaro will continue to be the regular programme of the house and circulate in dress circle, orchestra and parquet.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Crowds went to see "Buffalo Bill" performed at the matinee on Saturday, in the evening and again last night. This thrilling, sensational drama will be performed for the ninth time to-night, therefore all who have not seen it should avail themselves of this opportunity of witnessing the great scene of the blazing prairie and bowie knife duel amidst the flames. Very shortly Mr. E. T. Stetson will appear in the exciting drama of "Neck and Neck," in which he has drawn crowded houses in every part of the United States.

Alhambra Theatre.

An entirely new programme will be performed at this popular theatre this evening. In the first part, W. F. Baker will sing "The Virginia Rosebud;" Benjamin Clarke, "The Gray Hairs of My Mother;" J. G. Russell, "When the Moon with Glory Brightens," and Bob Hart and Charles Sutton will make fun on the ends. After this, Mme. Fanny Simonsen will sing a romance from the opera of "William Tell;" Cool Burgess, Add Ryman, Miss Fanny Gibson, G. D. Rockafeller and J. [illegible] Robinson will perform the amusing negro act of "The Other Fellow;" Martin Simonsen, the famous violinist will execute De Beriot's "Scena de Ballet;" Delehanty and Hengler will appear in songs and dances; I. McAndrews in "Uncle Pete," and the performance will conclude with Add Ryman's ever-popular "Burlesque Court Scene."

Bella Union.

The new bill presented on Saturday night, drew a good house in spite of outside attractions, and proved a most popular one. Mrs. Charles Coriell made a hit in her character song entitled "Dolly Varden," and looked deliciously piquante in her pretty costume. The act of "Miss Tibbets' Lodgers," in which Johnny Tuers appeared as Jemima Tibbets, caused roars of laughter; "The Black Chemist," by Charles Coriell, George Reynolds and Charles Reynolds, was equally successful, and the concluding piece entitled "A Race for a Widow" was particularly amusing, R. G. Marsh making quite a character of Adolphus de Cremerne. The same bill will be played to-night.

American Theatre.

The sensation pieces produced at this house take immensely, and run for a long time. There is always something new in the first part and interlude and a very lively and varied performance is given.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

A new programme will be given at the circus to-night. George Holland, the somersault rider, will make his first appearance in his daring act; the monkey equestrian and numerous other novelties will be produced. A family matinee will be given on Wednesday.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attendance was large yesterday at these gardens, and the skating tournament in the pavilion was a complete success. In the tilting match, T. Zimmit held the field against all knights, and was crowned with the victor's laurel—California of course. Next Sunday novel attractions, and a balloon ascension.

City Gardens.

The picnic of the Sarsfield Guard was well attended yesterday, and proved a very enjoyable affair. Next Sunday the Buisley Family and balloon ascension in the new balloon "City of San Francisco."

The Fair.

This will be the last week of the Horticultural Fair, and increased attractions will be presented. Immense pyramids, bouquets and fountains of flowers ten and twelve feet high have been constructed. Newman's exhibit of silk-culture, cocoons, silk worms, feeding and spinning, reeling of silk from the cocoons, etc., will be at the Hall all this week. Grand concert every afternoon and evening.

Pacific Hall.

The Second Operatic concert by the Fabbri Troupe last evening was a complete success, both musically and financially. The attendance was large and the encores most enthusiastic. The troupe have made a sensation, and have a brilliant season before them. On Wednesday evening they will appear at Maguire's Opera House, and give the first and fourth acts of "Il Trovatore," and the third act of "Rigoletto" with full chorus and orchestra, and also a concert interlude. We predict an overflowing house.

John Wilson.

This popular circus manager returned from New York on Saturday. He has been East to engage talent for the coming Fall and Winter season in this city. At the close of his present country tour his company, with increased attractions now under engagement, and his splendid stud of trained animals, will return here, and locate in a magnificent new Hippodrome, to be constructed after the models of such institutions in Europe, for a dashing Fall and Winter season.

Another Circus Coming.

Yankee Robinson, agent for Conklin Brothers' Circus, has been in town several days making arrangements for its coming season in this city. The company consists of fifteen ring performers, a troupe of trained animals, dogs, goats, etc. It will not exhibit here until after the Sacramento Fair. By the way, Yankee Robinson bears the reputation of being a good Yankee comedian. Can we not have a touch of his quality before the footlights in the meantime?

Variety Talent.

Mr. McCabe, the theatrical agent, has received proposals from a full variety company of six gentlemen and seven ladies, for engagement in this city. Managers can obtain further information by applying at his office.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

French gewgaws alone cost us $17,500.000 a year.

Altogether the Best.

It is curious, but true, that J. A. Shaber, 707 Market street, near Third, should sell furniture and bedding cheaper than any other dealer in this city. Try him and you will be convinced. Y

Circus Horses in Battle.

In Saturday's issue we mentioned the fact that England's soldiers having nothing better to do were playing circus. We reproduce the paragraph:

> England's soldiers with swords rusting in inglorious ease, are amusing themselves. We learn from the late London papers that the 19th Lancers have erected a large marquee in the rear of the Royal Marine Barracks at Woolwich, and recently gave a circus performance for the amusement of the garrison. They have a well trained stud of trick horses and ponies, and some of the non-commissioned officers and men displayed extraordinary skill in feats of horsemanship and gymnastic excercises. The Hon. E. Willoughby officiated as clown.

We think this sort of thing ought to be put a stop to. We are not at all afraid that it will spoil the men; the Hon. E. Willoughby would fight none the less bravely on the battle field because he played the clown in the garrison, but the horses may be ruined for service. It would not matter much if the Honorable E. Willoughby charged the enemy, exclaiming "Here we are again" or cut down his man with a joyful shout of "you know how it is yourself," but if these trick horses and ponies did circus tricks on the battle field, demoralization of the whole regiment might ensue. However, this style of training for H. B. M.'s troops may be of some advantage to them. A troop of cavalry, each man standing on his horse instead of sitting astride, charging with shouts of "hoop la," might bewilder the opposing troops so much that their overthrow would be easy. Signor Chiarini should at once proceed to England, and take command of some of these circus troops.

Incorrigible Kisser.

Some few days ago, a man stole a kiss in Providence, and was fined fifteen dollars and costs. In St. Louis the price is a little higher. A man out that way lately culled a kiss from the lips of a school girl, and was fined twenty-five dollars. Besides this, he was horsewhipped by the girl's brother, shot at by the girl's father, berated by the girl's mother, and considerably demoralized in the region of his scalp by his own wife. Here the fearful punishment should have ended, but it was not to be, for his mother-in-law heard about it, and sympathized with her injured daughter to such an extent that his life was a burden to him. We must say that we look upon Providence as a more encouraging place for the indulgence of osculatory eccentricities than St. Louis. However, would it be believed, the incorrigible wretch says he will do it again as soon as his mother-in-law dies? When last heard from, the old lady had threatened to leave the house of her recreant son-in-law forever, and was only prevailed upon to stay by the pleading of her heart-broken child. The cause of all this trouble was called "a brute" by his wife for volunteering to order a carriage for his mother-in-law, and manifesting disgust when he found she was not going after all. Such is the way of the world!

A Nice Mixture.

This is what the Gloucester paper says: "One of the biggest doses of 'lasses and water' ever mixed in this harbor, was on yesterday forenoon, when eighty blooming damsels were bathing on the Pavilion Beach at one time."

The Significant Hat.

In the time of Gessler and William Tell there was much significance in a hat. So it is now. The first thing that attracts the eye is the hat. Therefore buy a fashionable hat at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny. N

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Bocken, who has catered for the public since 1849. provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. E

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

She is modest, she is beautiful;
Free and easy, but not bold—
Like an apple, ripe and mellow,
Not too young, and not too old,
Half inviting, half repulsive,
Now advancing, and now shy;
There is mischief in her dimple,
There is danger in her eye.

She has studied human nature,
She is schooled in all her arts,
She has taken her diploma
As the mistress of all hearts.
She can tell the very moment
When to sigh and when to smile,
Oh! a maid is sometimes charming,
But a widow all the while.

You are sad. How very serious
Will her handsome face become;
Are you angry? she is wretched,
Lonely, friendless, tearful, dumb.
Are you mirthful? how her laughter,
Silver sounding, will ring out,
She can lure, and catch, and play you,
As the angler does the trout.

All old bachelors of forty,
Who have grown so bold and wise,
Ye Adonises of twenty,
With your love looks in your eyes,
You may practice all the lessons
Taught by Cupid since the fall,
But I know a little widow
Who could win and fool you all.

How She Played on the Piano.

Somebody who saw and heard thus describes the performance: It was a young woman, with as many white muslin flounces round her as the planet Saturn has rings, that did it. She gave the music-stool a twirl or two, and fluffed down on it like a whirl of soap suds in a hand-basin. Then she pushed up her cuffs as if she were going to fight for the champion's belt. Then she wriggles and twists herself into a position similar to a traveling turtle, elevates her sentimental eyeballs as if studying the frescoes on the ceiling, and after having gobbled the necessary inspiration, throws herself at the piano as if to wreak suppositious vengeance from every flat and sharp on the guilty key-board. She hammers it; caresses it; flirts with it; hugs it—in fact overcomes it, and after pounding all manner of life out of it is conveyed away wriggling and apparently fainting, while the gents are enraptured, and the ladies applaud with "faint praise." For all this we spend fortunes and support fraudulent female seminaries.

"Othello" Explained.

"You see," said Hans, who was explaining the play of "Othello" to his son, "der Moor he git med pooty quick out, yoost pecause Cassio gits a leedle deshdimonial from Deshdimooy."

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clam and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

Rushing Business at the Bivalve.

So great is the rush of business at the Bivalve that W. Spreen, the proprietor, finds it necessary to enlarge his accommodations for ladies and families. The ladies' department is now enlarged to double its former size, and family dining rooms have been added. The Bivalve Oyster and Dining Saloon, 640 Market st., three doors below Kearny, is immensely popular. A Liberal Praise.

There is nothing mean about the Sacramento Bee when it wishes an entertainment to succeed. Miss Mehlig gave a concert on Thursday and this is what the Bee said:

> Miss Mehlig, the greatest pianiste living or dead, gives a concert to-night, assisted by a tenor and a violinist who are acknowledged by the musical world to be almost without peers.

She was assisted by Adolph Hartdegen—who plays the violoncello not the violin—and Vernon Lincoln, the tenor. The latter will be pleased to sing in Sacramento again if the Bee will say once more that as a tenor he is almost without a peer. This is bad for Mario though, if he goes there. We don't know what the Bee has left for him in the way of praise.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES AS HOUSE PROGRAMME IN every Theatre in San Francisco.

FIGARO

IS DISTRIBUTED EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT the centre of the city, in all Hotels, Restaurants, Saloons, Stores and Offices.

FIGARO

IS CIRCULATED EVERY DAY ON THE Oakland Ferry Boats to catch the passengers that arrive by the great Overland Train.

FIGARO

IS MAILED EVERY DAY TO ALL THE principal hotels in California, Nevada and Oregon—the papers left in the theatres at night being gathered up and saved for that purpose.

FIGARO

IS "HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE," and is constantly meeting a change of readers in the Theatres, Traveling Conveyances, Hotels, and public resorts generally.

FIGARO

CIRCULATES IN THE BEST SOCIETY, IS placed in the hands of nearly all who come to the city to make purchases, and is therefore the best of advertising mediums.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S PRIVATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE

N.E. cor. Jackson and Kearny sts.

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, formerly of Lock Hospital London, and the last twelve years of San Francisco. DR. TOZER informs the afflicted that after visiting all the HOSPITALS IN LONDON AND PARIS and spending one year in the most celebrated Hospital in London, the LOCK, he has reopened his old Medical Institute at the old stand, where he can always be found. DR. TOZER has for forty years met with unparalleled success in the treatment of disease generally known as CHRONIC AND SPECIAL COMPLAINTS. DR. TOZER is in every way responsible, binding himself to effect a permanent CURE, or making no charges. Those who cannot afford to pay for advice and medicine will be charged for medicine only. THE MONTHLY RESTORATIVE PILLS, never known to fail in giving relief in cases for which they are recommended, are to be obtained only at my office. Price $5 per box. Full direction on each box, sent by Express or otherwise.

DR. TOZER does not imitate the advertising Quacks who make it a practice to publish false affidavits and other false references, but refers to the most respectable people in the State, whom he has CURED of diseases which others have failed to cure.

THE GREAT REMEDY
....FOR ...
KIDNEY DISEASES
AND CURE FOR
FEVER AND AGUE

KING Quinine Dethroned AT LAST!

COLEMAN'S

Comp. Extract of Eucalyptus!

Dr. J. S. Coleman, of San Francisco, and several eminent physicians of Europe, have been co-operating during the past two years and experimenting in hospital practice with the medicinal properties contained in the Eucalyptus, and the results show that as a cure for Fever and Ague it is better than Quinine, as in 118 test cases, when Quinine had been given unsuccessfully, 91 were cured with Eucalyptus alone.

In the U. S. Marine Hospital, where extensive experiments were made with Dr. Coleman's Extract, severe cases of Fever and Ague were cured with this remedy.

It has been also proven in the same hospital that when prepared by Dr. Coleman's peculiar process, it is a most invaluable remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinal Canal, and many cases were cured with this preparation alone, that had been pronounced incurable by any other known remedy. For these diseases it can be confidently relied upon as the most efficacious remedy ever offered to the public. Unlike most other valuable remedies, it is a pleasant cordial, and is not rejected by the most sensitive stomach. The popularity which Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus has already attained has given birth to several base imitations. None but Coleman's is genuine.

Dr. Coleman refers by permission to the following well-known gentlemen in San Francisco, who can vouch for its efficacy, from personal experience and knowledge:

A Saucy "Male Boy."

Apropos of an announcement in the Lumpkin Independent that it suspended publication for a week, in order that all hands might enjoy the Fourth and the Spann hanging in Webster county, the Columbus Enquirer tells this story: "One Johnson Hooper edited the East Alabamamian, in Chambers county, three or four centuries ago, in the early recollection of the editor of the Enquirer. The mail-boy who brought the news Friday afternoons was always tardy until an opportune hanging brought him to time at once. Hooper was so tickled that he wrote an article hoping that a negro or mail rider would be hung every Friday. The mail boy thus neatly replied: "Mr. Hupper—Ser: Yu think yu dune a mity smart thing abusing the male rider. But Ile let yu know Ile go to see a nigger hung whenever I durn pleas and not ask nu leave of you or your dod-rotted Easturn Allyhamean. I reckon bull yearlins' horns would gro jest as they allers did, and water would run down hill, if your pesky Eastern Allyhamean was'nt printed at all. Its made a god-durned fool outer yu, and yu never had but mity little sense before. Ile see as many niggers hung as I want to, and hope you may catch the same. THE MALE BOY."

Truly Polite.

An elegant writer says: "He that is truly polite knows how to contradict without adulation." We know one of that sort. Let statement be made to which he disagrees, he instantly contradicts in some such courteous phrase as, "Well, of all the brainless fools and idiotic twaddlers I've ever listened to, you take the rag. Your language is as imbecile as the idea it clothes is outrageous. You should study the primer, and take to the eating of fish to give you a few brains." Any man that isn't pleased with such respectful contradiction must be without a proper knowledge of what constitutes the true Chesterfieldian standard of politeness.

The Unfit Temperance Candidate.

An Illinois editor, in an article upon the aurora borealis, says: "Here we lean over the verge of the infinite, longing to grasp its mysteries—lost in the profundities of immensity." Previous to this his friends intended to run him for Congress upon the temperance ticket: but now the project has been abandoned, because they say that a man who would "lean over the verge of the infinite" in order to try to grasp the aurora borealis, in the middle of the night, must get into conditions which unfit him for the duties of Good Templarship.

Squarza's Punches.

One of the most famous institutions of California is Squarza's Punch. It is found in every city, village and mining camp in the State. It is delicious, wholesome and unlike anything else. The proprietor of this delightful beverage notifies his patrons that he has opened at No. 817 Kearny street, between Pine and Bush streets, a BRANCH of his old and popular symposium on Leidesdorff street. •

Oyster Trade.

The oyster trade in California is assuming gigantic proportions. Emerson Corville, of the Saddle Rock, 410 Pine street, furnishes from his own oyster beds at San Bruno millions of oysters to all parts of the Pacific Coast. His Eastern transplanted oysters have a fame which has extended all over the continent, and the "Saddle Rock" is known everywhere.

Chemical Treatment of Diseases.

Dr. Cook, No. 55 Second street, treats all chronic diseases chemically, the only successful mode of curing disease. The afflicted, by all means, should consult the Doctor without delay. His experience is ample and his remedies sure. T

American Bohemianism.

As already intimated, any literary Bohemianism we may have had here is but a pale imitation of the French article. We possess no sufficient supply of the raw material. There exist in Paris hundreds of occupations more or less immediately connected with art and literature which are almost unknown in this country. We have a very feeble idea of the immense numbers who there encumber all the avenues to employment in these strange callings. There is the vaudeville for instance. Success in a vaudeville to a young French litterateur is equivalent to mounting the first rounds of the ladder of fame, with the perspective of becoming Scribe or Alexandre Dumas. Scores of young men every year essay the vaudeville avec couplets. Scarcely one in one hundred succeeds, and the majority of the remainder fall gradually by the wayside, many of them closing life's struggles with the hospital or the morgue. Literary life here is a more practical affair, with generally practically objects. With us the tetes exaltees do not abound. Intellectual activity in America runs in other channels than poetry and the drama—as, for instance, stock, railroads, and municipal government.

It is on the outskirts of speculative commerce, of Wall street and the new Court House, that the true American Bohemian is to be found. Here are the believers in brazen mediocrity, the admirers of smart rascality, the disciples of the creed that the test of merit is success, the fanatics in the faith that success in life means simply to make money, the preachers of the doctrine, "Every man has his price!" We have seen these people rise from the gutter to walk on moquette and flaunt the Egeria-Traviata and their stolen finery in the faces of honest men and women. We have seen them in power. We have witnessed the rise of that dangerous toleration of dishonest success which is equivalent to incipient admiration of villainy. Let us look to our Bohemianism.

Ought to be Satisfied.

The San Jose Mercury is howling against FIGARO for saying that Manager Bert did not make money there. It says:

> He has had five splendid houses, including the matinee, and two that more than paid expenses. So, FIGARO, wouldn't it be well for you to shut up?

We confess. FIGARO is in dust and ashes. Mea culpa, mea maxima culpa! If Manager Bert had two houses that more than paid expenses, and five "splendid houses" when he didn't lose more than fifty or sixty dollars a night, he ought indeed to be satisfied. Any manager who wishes to do more than pay expenses in San Jose is a robber.

A Real Sinecure.

Jack H. has a government berth, we won't say what it is or where it is. Jack worked very hard to get it and now enjoys it thoroughly; he goes so seldom to the office that he is scarcely known there. The chief of the department, who is a splendid fellow, went the other day into Jack's office. By most wonderful chance he was there at his desk. With his head resting on his arm he slept—snored. One of the other clerks was about to wake him but the chief said: "No, no, pray don't wake him; he'll be angry if you do." Berths like that which Jack enjoys are all too few.

A Blessed Discovery.

There is a remarkable soda lake at Ragtown, in Churchill county, Nevada, that has a capacity to supply the world. An acquaintance says that every morning he wishes he was living near that lake. He doesn't mind paying for the brandy—it's the expense of the soda water that galls him.

Essay on Widows.

Says Sophie Sparkle, in her last Saratoga letter to the New York Mail:

As for the widows, we have several specimens of feminine mourners here.

They have such an agreeable way of mourning, too. They wear such dainty toilettes, such airy black dresses, such cunning little widow's caps, for there is no use being a widow unless you let people know it by wearing a cap.

We have jolly widows here whose lives seem perpetual sunbeams; we have fair, languishing widows, sentimental widows, tall stately widows, widows who are rigid and serene, to whom no man would even venture to propose, and widows whose every glance is a mantrap to catch some unwary heart.

"Beware of the vidders," said Samuel Weller, and we repeat it, "Beware of the vidders."

Do not imagine a widow is rich because she spends her season at Saratoga. Diamonds and costly garments are not necessary to a widow's wardrobe, and she may or may not have these articles at her command.

It is very easy to borrow a little boy, have one or two stylish mourning dresses most elaborately weeded; a cap or two of muslin, which is after all an apology for a cap, being a becoming white bow with two long ends—and to come here and pass for a young widow.

Papas who have failed to marry off their daughters after several expensive seasons at Saratoga, and who find them on their hands decidedly passee, might humor the widow farce and find it quite economical.

We notice that all the rich widows—those who really have all they wish at command have no idea of getting married again. They enjoy their independence too heartily to relinquish it, which entitles them to be placed upon the list of sensible widows.

AMUSEMENTS, Etc.

Alhambra Theatre.

Mme. Fanny Simonsen the vocalist, and Martin Simonsen the violinist, were favorites with our public some years ago, when they appeared at the Eureka Theatre with the original San Francisco Minstrels, Birch, Backus, Bernard, Wambold, Sam Wells and others. Since then they have met with the greatest success in the Australasian colonies, Mme. Simonsen filling leading roles in opera, under the Lyster management, and the talent of Mr. Simonsen as a violinist being generally acknowledged. When Mme. Simonsen made her appearance last night she received the hearty greeting accorded to an old favorite. In the romance from "William Tell" she showed that during the time spent in the Australasian colonies her voice gained in strength, tone and culture; in response to an encore Mme. Simonsen sang the comic song, "Not for Flo," and being again encored an Irish ballad. Martin Simonsen played a scene de ballet by De Beriot in admirable style, proving that he too had well spent the time of his absence in acquiring a further mastery of that wonderful instrument, the violin. His bowing is firm, and at the same time leger, his fingering adroit and facile, and his execution of difficult passages is perfectly delightful. Martin Simonsen is a violinist of a high order of merit. That the audience present at the Alhambra last night was one capable of appreciating his genius was shown by his receiving two encores. One peculiarity of Mr. Simonsen's playing is that it is entirely without flourish; there are no airs and graces—nothing but music, beautiful music; he does not cover a slur by a twist of the fingers or a flourish of the bow; he is in earnest, his soul is in his instrument and the effect is the most intense gratification for all who can appreciate real talent. Mr. and Mme. Simonsen will appear again this evening with Maguire's California Minstrels.

Metropolitan Theatre.

Though the management have "Neck and Neck" and other sensational plays in readiness for production so great is the popularity of "Buffalo Bill" and so large the attendance every night that this piece will be retained on the bills for two nights longer. "Buffalo Bill" as represented by E. T. Stetson is a hero far more popular than the tragedy hero of olden time, and the sentiments he utters are received with stormy applause by the gods. The new version of "Neck and Neck" is underlined for Thursday night. Saturday the only "Neck and Neck" matinee. The sensation drama of "Illusion" is in preparation.

Maguire's Opera House.

The Fabbri Italian and German Opera combination will give their first operatic performance in costume, with orchestra and and chorus, tomorrow evening at Maguire's Opera House. Part first will consist of Acts I and IV of "Il Trovatore," with Signora Inez Fabbri as Leonora, L. Eisenbach as Manrico, Jacob Muller as Il Conte di Luna and Miss Mora as Inez. This will be followed by an English ballad "Farewell," by Miss Anna Elser; a romanza by Jacob Muller in costume, and a Spanish scene, "La Naranjera," by Miss Anna Elser in appropriate dress. Part third will be the fourth act of "Rigoletto;" Signora Inez Fabbri as Gilda, Miss Anna Elser as Madeline, L. Eisenbach as the Duke, and Jacob Muller as Rigoletto. The box office will be open for the sale of tickets to-day from 10 till 4.

Bella Union.

Among the many attractive features in the excellent variety performance given at this theatre may be mentioned the original songs and dances by the Reynolds Brothers; Mrs. Chas. Correll's ballads and comic songs; songs and dances in costume by Marie Zoe and Miss Josephine; a amusing Dutch acts by J. Larkin and Carrie Armstrong, and negro farces by Johnny Tuers, the Reynolds Brothers and others. The performance concludes with the play entitled "A Race for a Widow."

American Theatre.

While the first part and interlude are continually being changed, and there is always something new the sensational plays of "The Six Fast Women" and "Woman's Virtue" are so popular that they are still retained on the bills. Other novelties are in rehearsal.

Chiarini's Royal Italian Circus.

The new programme of equestrian and gymnastic acts presented last night by the splendid troupe performing in the pavilion on Jackson street was a great success. The new artistes who made their appearance—quadruped, biped and quadrumanous gained immense applause. Garibaldi, the Italian horse, Abd El Kader, the beautiful snowy steed, George Rolland the wonderful somersault artiste, and Don Pedro, the monkey equestrian, are all stars of the first magnitude, and the Recheda Family are a whole show in themselves With a troupe possessing such a large repertoire a change of performance could be given every night. To-morrow there will be a matinee performance.

The Fair.

This will be the last week of the Horticultural Fair, and increased attractions will be presented. Immense pyramids, bouquets and fountains of flowers ten and twelve feet high have been constructed. Newman's exhibit of silk-culture, cocoons, silk worms, feeding and spinning, reeling of silk from the cocoons, etc., will be at the Hall all this week. Grand concert every afternoon and evening.

Woodward's Gardens.

The attractions at these lovely pleasure grounds are so numerous that thousands visit them during the week. Next Sunday there will be a popular entertainment and a balloon ascension.

To Arrive To-night.

Miss Anna Sountag and father with other members of the Italian Opera Troupe will arrive in this city to-night.

ANATOMICAL MUSEUM.—One of the most complete collections of the kind in the United States, comprising hundreds of costly and beautiful wax models, is daily on view (to gentlemen only) at the Museum on Montgomery street. An hour may be profitably spent here.

When they finish a game of base ball at Dubuque, Iowa, they toss up a nickel to see which side shall kill the umpire.

A Theatrical Lark.

Two of the most popular comedians in London, are Toole of the Gaiety, and Lionel Brough, of the Holborn. Some time ago they both appeared conjointly in a drama, in which they wore very ragged woebegone costumes, and at the desire of eminent artists in Regent street, they went in their rags to be photographed. While waiting "between the plates" Toole suggested to his brother comedian to sally out and call upon a certain mutual acquaintance—a stuck-up pompous sort of person, and who would be horribly shocked at receiving visitors in such a garb. Brough, who is a confirmed joker at once assented and, popping on their battered hats, out into the street the pair slipped, and made for the house of their would-be-swell friend. "Rat! tat! tat!" went the knocker in the most pronounced manner, and in order to make it appear that the visitors were of more than ordinary distinction, they pulled the bell almost out of its peaceful socket. The house resounded with its tintinabulatory din.

Neat but flurried housemaid, followed by a boy in buttons rushed to the door with great anxiety of expression. At the sight of the cadger-looking men their first impulse to shut the door in their faces.

"Hey! stop—is Mr. ——— in?"

"No, he's not and we don't open the door to beggars," said the maid. "We have no cold meat here."

"Get out, do," squeaked out the page from the rear of the maid's crinoline.

"I axes your pardon," said Toole, in an assumed tone, "you are making a slight mistake, my pretty main. We want to see your master," and he mentioned the gentleman's name and that of his wife.

"We have important business with him," chimed in Brough, giving his tatters a twist, "it's awful important."

The girl's face wore a dazed aspect, and she said:

"Master never sees the likes of you at his house. He's most partickler, ain't he Charles?" appealing to the page. "You must be making a mistake."

"Oh, no we ain't," responded Toole with extreme gravity. "But I'm sorry William is out," (the Christian name of the gentleman); "I have got no card about me" (pretending to fumble among his rags), "but when he comes in to dinner just say his two cousins from the Workhouse called as they were passing through London."

The maid stood aghast, "the buttons" let out a wild laugh, and the two comedians turned back to the photographic studio to see how the last plate had developed. Toole protests that the mind of that maid will have undergone a curious revolution in regard to the lofty character of her master since his cousins called.

Liberal Credit.

The credit system has been carried to a very fine point in some of the rural districts, if we may judge from the following dialogue, said to have recently occurred between a customer and the proprietor: "Haow's trade, Squire?" "Wa-al, cash trade's kinder dull naow, Major. Betsey Nipper has bort an egg's worth of tea, and got trusted for it till her speckled pullet lays."

The Significant Hat.

In the time of Gessler and William Tell there was much significance in a hat. So it is now. The first thing that attracts the eye is the hat. Therefore buy a fashionable hat at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny. N

Live Well.

Those who eat good dinners are amiable. Bad feeding is the cause of many crimes. Those who dine at the Pioneer Restaurant, on Washington street, at the corner of Dunbar Alley, live well, and are consequently happy. Henry Booken, who has catered for the public since 1849, provides for his customers Lake Tahoe trout, Salmagundi soup, game, tame geese, delicious entrees, and everything the heart of man can desire. The best cup of tea in the city—English breakfast tea—Souchong and Orange Pekoe—can be obtained here. E

Health and Pleasure.

There are not too many pleasures in San Francisco. Nothing is more pleasant, nothing more health-giving than a drive into the country now and then. Those who cannot afford to keep a carriage of their own, can find one equal in elegance to any private conveyance at the Occidental Carriage stand. Frank Bouton has there, and at his stables 1016 Stockton street, carriages of every description. His drivers are careful and experienced, his charges are moderate. The moral of the above is: go to Frank Bouton at the Occidental Hotel when you want a carriage. O

FIFTY YEARS APART.

They sat in the winter gloaming,
 And the fire burns bright between;
One has passed seventy summers,
 And the other just seventeen.

They rest in a happy silence,
 As the shadows deepen fast;
One lives in a coming future,
 And one in a long, long past.

Each dreams of a rush of music,
 And a question whispered low;
One will hear it this evening,
 One heard it long ago.

Each dreams of a loving husband,
 Whose heart is hers alone;
For one the joy is coming,
 For one the joy has flown.

Each dreams of a life of gladness,
 Spent under the sunny skies;
And both the hope and the mem'ry
 Shine in the happy eyes.

Who knows which dream is the brightest?
 And who knows which is the best?
The sorrow and joy are mingled,
 But only the end is rest.

A Ram.

The appearance of the late American iron clad Stonewall, steaming into one of the harbors of Japan created considerable astonishment on board a Dutch craft that was crawling slowly out, and the skipper, thinking that anything strange upon the water must be English, hailed her with, "Vat Sheep is das," and was puzzled for the rest of his voyage by the hoarse response from a Yankee officer: "No Sheep, but a Ram."

A Level-Headed Jap.

There is a Japanese gentleman in New York who reads the Tribune and Times daily. The Tribune shows up Grant and the Times shows up Greeley. He declares he can't understand why the people should get into such a state of excitement as to which one of two enormous rascals shall live in the White House for four years.

Come Now, Stop It.

The Call's "critic," not satisfied with breaking the English language on the rack, has taken to torturing French. In Sunday's issue he calls Chiarini "le roi de la manege," which is as near as he can get, without understanding French to "le roi du manege." This sort of thing must be stopped at once.

A Nice Little Present.

An enthusiastic admirer of Victor Hugo arrived recently from Russia in Paris. He brought with him a large trained bear, which he desired to present to the author of "The Man Who Laughs." M. Hugo gratefully accepted the present, but had the bear sent at once to the Jardin des Plantes.

Oysters.

In strolling round the other night,
To look at 'Frisco by gas light,
Our careless feet, by chance did stray
To where a fountain's ceaseless play
Of waters bright, did make a screen
Through which a sweet bouquet was seen;
While mossy stone and pearly shell,
O'er which the waters softly fell,
Made that window seem to be
Some fairy grotto of the sea.
"Stop," said my friend, "let's go in here—
It looks so nice—and try their cheer."
"All right," I said, "I must agree
That this place suits me to a 'T.'"
No sooner had we found a seat
Than at our side a waiter neat
Made his appearance, asked our wish—
Said they had almost any dish
That we might name. We found it true,
And cooked magnificently, too;
All kinds of oysters, juicy, fat,
Cooked every style; just think of that,
And if your mouth don't water, then
You're different from other men.
They'd clams and crabs and terrapins;
In fact, we found they had within
That cosy place all kinds of game,
Fish, flesh or fowl which we could name,
While every dish was, I am sure,
Prepared to tempt an epicure.
The ladies, too, have found, 'twould seem,
That they have here the best ice cream;
So here they flock, the little sinners,
To get what they call "such nice dinners."
Whoever doubts this let him rush
To three hundred thirty-seven Bush,
And there this truth he'll find made plain:
Who goes there once will go again.

THE GREAT REMEDY

... FOR....

KIDNEY DISEASES

AND CURE FOR

FEVER AND AGUE

KING Quinine Dethroned AT LAST!

COLEMAN'S

Comp. Extract of Eucalyptus!

Dr. J. S Coleman, of San Francisco, and several eminent physicians of Europe, have been co-operating during the past two years and experimenting in hospital practice with the medicinal properties contained in the Eucalyptus, and the results show that as a cure for Fever and Ague it is better than Quinine, as in 118 test cases, when Quinine had been given unsuccessfully, 91 were cured with Eucalyptus alone.

In the U. S. Marine Hospital, where extensive experiments were made with Dr. Coleman's Extract, severe cases of Fever and Ague were cured with this remedy.

It has been also proven in the same hospital that when prepared by Dr. Coleman's peculiar process, it is a most invaluable remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinal Canal, and many cases were cured with this preparation alone, that had been pronounced incurable by any other known remedy. For these diseases it can be confidently relied upon as the most efficacious remedy ever offered to the public. Unlike most other valuable remedies, it is a pleasant cordial, and is not rejected by the most sensitive stomach. The popularity which Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus has already attained has given birth to several base imitations. None but Coleman's is genuine.

Dr. Coleman refers by permission to the following well-known gentlemen in San Francisco, who can vouch for its efficacy, from personal experience and knowledge:

O. N. Arthur, of J. D. Arthur & Son, Agricultural Warehouse, cor. California and Davis sts.
E. O. Methaws, ... Merchant, 208 Davis st.

Attention, Good Livers!

MR. P. BERGES, FORMERLY proprietor of the Miners' Restaurant, has taken the management of both the Miners' Restaurant on Commercial street and the Miners' Branch on Market street, in partnership with MR. A. DRAYEUR, who has been connected with the firm for years. Improvements have been made in the cuisine departments that will render the Miners' more popular than it has ever been during the 21 years of its prosperity. Our Bills of Fare embrace all the delicacies of the season. Our motto is "Good Fare, Good Cooking and Moderate Charges."
